

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Patronize the Orange Social in the Grange hall, Saturday evening.

Miss Anna Garis has been visiting her brother, John Garis, in Bellefonte, the past week.

Mrs. W. H. Hockenbury, of West Brownsville, was a guest of Mrs. Harry W. Harper, last week.

Mrs. George F. Shook and son, James Shook, of near Penn Hall, visited relatives in Centre Hall on Sunday.

R. P. Campbell, the Penns Cave proprietor, attended the Agricultural Show at Harrisburg, last week.

Omar Kauwell, who has been visiting here for several weeks, returned to his work at Canton, Ohio, on Wednesday.

Mrs. Elmer Campbell, of Linden Hall, is visiting friends in Punxsutawny, Bellwood, Juniata, Altoona and Tyrone.

This is the week of the Centre County Auto Show, at Bellefonte. Many local motor enthusiasts have been in attendance.

A. C. Ripka has been appointed administrator in the estate of John W. Angstadt, late of Spring township, deceased.

Mrs. Earl Tibbens and family, of Bellefonte, visited Mrs. Tibbens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Lee, on Sunday.

Millheim was entertained by the Liberty Bell Girls on Wednesday evening. This proved the finest program ever rendered by any lyceum.

John M. Coldron expects to return home from Baltimore, Md., to-day, after having undergone a successful operation in one of the hospitals in that city.

W. F. Colyer started his milk route through Centre Hall on Wednesday morning, selling bottled milk at 10 cents a quart, which is a reduction of two cents over other prices.

Guy W. Jacobs, manager of the Steubenville (Ohio) Ice Company, and his baby daughter, Frances, were arrived in Centre Hall on Saturday evening for a few days' visit with Grandmother Jacobs.

The ground hog had a peaceful day outdoors, on Wednesday, for there was no shadow to frighten him into his winter quarters. Consequently winter is about over, according to the belief of the ground hog's friends—but, wait and see.

The first shipment of baby chicks by Kerlins Grand View Poultry Farm, for the oncoming season, was made on the last day of January. The chicks were consigned to Florida, consequently should suffer no ill effects on account of their long journey in winter weather.

The following from this place attended the twenty-first anniversary meeting of Williamsport Consistory, Scottish Rite Masons, at Williamsport, last week: Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shoop, R. P. Campbell, Dr. H. H. Longwell, William Booser, and Miss Lena M. Emerick.

The borough financial statement for the year 1920 appears in this issue of the Reporter. The statement appears this year in a very simple and intelligible form, so that any school boy or school girl can understand it, due, in great measure, to the careful preparation by the secretary of the council, F. M. Fisher. The figures show the balance on Jan. 1st, 1921, to be $3156.20, more than $1000 in excess of the balance at the beginning of last year.

Mrs. Louis Irvin was a guest for a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Meyer, in Centre Hall. Mrs. Irvin will be remembered here as the wife of the hardware man, who did business in the foundry building until it was destroyed by fire. She has been living in Philadelphia, but recently sold her home there and is now on her way to Erie where her sons—Daniel and Harold—are located. The former is a civil engineer, and the latter is employed by an electrical concern.

Seriously Ill with Scarlet Fever.

Miss Mary Dutrow, aged nearly fifteen years, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dutrow, is in a very critical condition at her parental home in Centre Hall, suffering with scarlet fever, which caused her to take her bed just a week ago. The young lady, who has lingered in practically an unconscious condition for the past few days, and the crisis in her illness is being awaited with great anxiety on the part of her parents and friends.

The attending physician is Dr. H. H. Longwell. On Wednesday a trained nurse from Williamsport came to the Dutrow home, so that every attention will be given the young lady to restore her to full health a strength, a hope which the Reporter shares with the entire community may come to a full realization.

TUSSEYVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ramer attended the funeral of Mr. Zook, at Milroy, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Flora Lingle and Miss Estie Lingle, who had been keeping house for Charles Stoner, have returned to their home at Colyer, and Mrs. Anna Padons is keeping house for him again.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Horner and family of Linden Hall, spent Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rockey.

Miss Jennie Bottorf visited among friends at Centre Hall last week.

Mrs. Arthur Holderman spent Tuesday afternoon at the home of Rev. Dudenford, at Colyer.

YOU ARE INVITED TO BE PRESENT OPENING DAY.

C. F. Condo's Grand Opening at 161 Columbia Avenue, Saturday January 15—Store Will be Closed All Day Friday, January 14.—It Will Pay You.

The following is taken from a Vandergrift (Pa.) paper, and the Mr. Condo referred to is a former resident of Centre Hall:

A stranger going into a town is very apt to judge the character of the town by the kinds of stores he finds there. For this as well as other reasons it is to the interest of every merchant doing business in a town to make his place of business as attractive as possible as by doing so he favorably advertises his own business in particular and his town in general. With this idea in mind, our local merchant, Mr. C. F. Condo, who has been with us in the meat and grocery business for some years, has been constantly adding to his high grade stock and improving his room and equipment until he now has a meat market and grocery which from point of equipment and appearance as well as to sanitary condition cannot be equalled outside the large cities, in fact, few large cities can boast its equal and none have anything better.

This is not an idle boast as this statement is verified by the fact that Mr. Condo has just completed the installation of the latest and most up-to-date system of refrigeration in which the temperature is reduced and controlled by the forcing of ammonia through jets by electrical power which will place his meats in easily accessible refrigerator display cases where they can readily be seen by the customer to best advantage, while they will at the same time be out of reach of curious hands, yet always be kept at an even temperature of any degree of coldness desired.

In addition to the splendid retail meat trade which Mr. Condo has built up during the past few years which has enabled him to splendidly equip his store room he has also established a large and growing trade in the grocery line. This line has been constantly added to until he now has a complete stock of the very choicest and best groceries to be found anywhere. His stock of canned goods is also large, choice and very attractively arranged. His line of pickles and relishes as displayed in glass on the cases fairly makes one hungry at the sight of them.

In fact the appearance of the entire store is one of cordial welcome and invitation to buy liberally and come again soon.

As to prices, the waiting lines in front of Mr. Condo's counters at a busy hour would indicate that the goods as well as the prices are highly satisfactory to his customers. We note but one article near the door. It is a barrel of olives marked 50 cents a quart. One of Pittsburgh's best known popular priced markets display the same leader at 65 cents per quart. Draw your own conclusion.

In addition to the new display cases and a new and up to date refrigerating system above referred to Mr. Condo has added a cashier's booth and many other improvements which he naturally wants the general public, especially the housewives of Vandergrift and vicinity, to become acquainted with. In order to bring this about as quickly as possible he has decided to have a grand opening and be at home as it were to his customers and friends all day Saturday, January 15. In order to better get ready for this grand little party on Saturday he has decided to close his store all day Friday.

Now Mr. Condo wishes to extend a most urgent invitation to all who eat red meat and enjoy good fresh groceries of the choicest variety to come to his store on Saturday, January 15, at their convenience whether they come to buy or not and inspect his equipment, stock and manner of doing business. He knows that he has an up-to-date equipment, a splendid stock and it is his desire that you should appreciate and enjoy it with him, so come.—Advertisement.

Heavy Sentence for Firebug.

Albert Smith, the 19-year-old son of a wealthy real estate owner, of Fairhope, pleaded guilty in criminal court at Uniontown, on Saturday, to thirteen charges of arson and was sentenced to serve not less than 42 or more than 85 years in the western penitentiary, at Pittsburgh.

LINDEN HALL.

Paul Ishler, who has been ill with diphtheria, is able to be around.

George Roan recently underwent an operation for a cataract on his eye, in the Wills Eye hospital, Philadelphia.

Mrs. J. E. Campbell is visiting friends in Bellwood, Juniata, and Punxsutawny.

Miss Ruth Callahan went to State College where she will be employed for some time.

A farewell party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Keller on Friday evening. The Kellers expect to move to Pleasant Gap the first of March.

Harry Keller and his mother spent Sunday with Mrs. Keller's sister, Mrs. J. H. Williams, at Pine Grove Mills.

Miss Edwina Wieland and Miss Mabel Ivery, of Altoona, spent the week end at the former's home, here.

FACTS ABOUT LEGAL TENDER

Points in Law Which Seem to Show That Money Can Sometimes Not Be Money.

In a Philadelphia police court a number of years ago there came up an interesting question that related to a nickel.

The coin in question had been offered to a street car conductor by a tough citizen, who, inspired by an alcoholic sense of humor, inserted it in the toe of his boot and proffered it thus.

A row ensued, which wound up in court, where the conductor was vindicated, the judge declaring that he was under no obligation to accept money offered in such fashion.

What constitutes a lawful "tender" of money is a question that occupies many pages in the law books, an exchange remarks.

A man has been known to offer a bucketful of pennies in payment of a debt to a creditor with whom he had a quarrel; and in most instances the creditor has felt obliged to accept the coin.

But there was no such obligation, for pennies under the law of the United States are not legal tender in amounts above 25 cents. If you owe me a dollar and offer me 100 pennies it is no payment unless I choose to accept them.

How about nickels? Exactly the same. They are not legal tender in amounts over 25 cents.

Silver dimes, quarters and half dollars are legal tender up to $10. Above that sum they may be refused and the creditor may justly claim that no lawful proffer of money has been made to him.

NO MACHINERY FOR ANCHORS

Indispensable Shipping Adjuncts Are Still Constructed by Manual Labor Exclusively.

Strange though it may seem, anchors are made by men and not by machines. At one time Germany seemed anxious to capture our anchor industry. High wages were offered to tempt our smiths to go to Hamburg and Lubbeck to shape the anchors for the great Hamburg-American liners then on the stocks. Fortunately for Britain the attempt failed and the business remained this side of the North sea.

The ancient anchor shape was, and is, good enough for light shipping, but the mud-hooks of the present day mammoths must have a more extensive grip on the sea floor. They are vast pieces of metal work, in weight running up to many hundredweights.

Anchor smithing is about the only shipbuilding trade in which machinery has failed to displace men. The blackest of black squads are the anchor smiths; their work is continually among white hot metal, among fumes, smoke, glare, and dust.

The hammers regularly welded by them are the heaviest known in any industry.—London Tit-Bits.
