LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Clymer McClenahan made a business trip to Altoona on Wednesday.
Mrs. F. M. Fisher visited an aunt in Lewistown who has been ill for some time.
Mrs. Hiram Lee, of State College, was a guest of her aunt, Mrs. Amelia King, in Centre Hall, last week.
Clarence Heim, of Harrisburg, and Fred Zettle, of Orangeville, Ill., spent over Sunday with the W. F. Colyer family.
Willard B. Eckle, of Bellefonte, who deserted from the U. S. battleship on Sept. 29, 1920, after a little more than four months service, was arrested at the former place by Sheriff Dukeman the other day and placed in jail awaiting the action of the government authorities.
Ladies' wearing apparel, of the latest styles, will soon be shown at Kessler's department store, Millheim. Miss Jeanne Kessler, an experienced buyer, is now in New York City for the purpose of making purchases which will meet the fastidious tastes of the Kessler trade.
Lewis Beightol, for several years employed as a farm hand by Thomas Delaney, at Old Fort, has leased one of the Fisher farms, near Penn Hall, tenanted the past year by Arthur Cummings, and will move there April 1st. Mr. Delaney has secured the services of Orvis Swartz, of Centre Hall.
Lewistown is in the midst of a great revival campaign, and the large Methodist church is unable to accommodate the large crowds which are clamoring for admission. Centre Hall folks will be interested in knowing that Miss Rebecca Kreamer, formerly of Centre Hall, and a talented musician, is organist for the large choir of two hundred voices.
Mr. and Mrs. H. Harter, of Bellefonte, narrowly escaped serious injury Friday afternoon when their automobile was struck by the Pennsylvania-Lehigh flyer as it left the Mill Hall station to back up to Bellefonte. The machine was hit at a crossing and was badly damaged. Mr. Harter was injured. His wife was bruised and was kept at the Bellefonte hospital several days.
The Young People's Missionary Society of the Luthera church, on Monday evening, held a Valentine party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sharer, whose daughter, Miss Maybell, is an active member of the society. The evening was devoted to social features, splendid refreshments being served before the members of the party realized that it was time for the last number on the program.
On Friday night of last week, Paul Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Smith, entertained the class in the Lutheran Sunday-school taught by Mrs. W. W. Kerlin, in a handsome manner. A brief program was rendered and the remainder of the evening not consumed in storing away splendid refreshments, was devoted to playing various games. Next month's meeting of this class will be held at the home of Miss Ethel Frank.
The season and the low prices obtainable for furs of almost all kinds have both been responsible for the comparatively small number of furs held in store by Jeremiah Zettle, the veteran trapper, hunter and raw fur dealer, of Spring Mills. While he considers his business at low ebb, to others the collection of furs now on hand and about to be shipped is large indeed. The stock is safeguarded against theft by a series of ingenious locks, trap doors and traps, leaving no chance to deplete his stock by theft as was done last season.

Farmers' Institute.

The Farmers' Institute held in this district at Spring Mills, on Friday, was voted a success by every one who attended, and was of a character to warrant even a much larger attendance than was given it. The subjects discussed were practical and were discussed in the same way, the volley of questions following each speaker proving a real interest had been aroused.
Singing by the Vocational School children at the opening session was highly pleasing and their music and manners as highly complimentary to their instructor and the institution they represented. At the evening session the words to a number of familiar tunes were thrown on the screen, the whole audience joining in the singing of them. To further enliven the occasion, "The Long, Long Trail" and "Keep the Home Fires Burning," were sung at one and the same time, the audience having been previously assigned their part. The inspiration to unlimber the lungs was accomplished by two leaders on the platform, the diversion being enjoyed greatly, and, like is usually the case in a contest, both sides did best.

Scarlet Fever Again.

John Thomas, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Delaney, immediately east of Centre Hall, is ill with scarlet fever, and the Delaney home has accordingly been quarantined.

A Call to Prayer.

The Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions and the Council of Women for Home Missions are again uniting in a Call to Prayer for observance in 1921 of a joint Day of Prayer for World Wide Missions.
Friday, February 18, at 2:30 p. m., in the Reformed S. S. room in Centre Hall, has been set apart as the day.

Test Your Seed Corn.

If you have not already tested your seed corn for germination, now is a good time to start. Corn that has come through to this time without injury will be safe for the remainder of the winter. It is estimated that fifty per cent. of Centre county's farmers test their seed corn. Which fifty per cent. do you belong to? Every ear of corn planted means from four to six dollars worth of corn next fall. Can you afford to plant many poorly germinated ears? It costs no more to produce a field of corn with a hundred per cent. stand than with a sixty per cent. stand. If you will send or bring a sample of your corn to the Farm Bureau at Bellefonte we shall be glad to run a germination test for you.—County agent.

TUSSEYVILLE.

Boyd Jordan, who is employed at Reading since the holidays, spent over Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Jordan.
Miss Jennie Botorf visited her aunt Angeline Botorf, of Lemont, over Sunday.
Mrs. John Fohringer was brought to her home at Colyer on Monday afternoon from the Bellefonte hospital where she had been for eight weeks. She is improving slowly.
Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Jordan took a trip to Woolrich on Tuesday where they visited Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Rickert.
The stork visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Barger and left them a nine pound baby boy.
Mrs. John Bubb and Mrs. Harry Horner spent Thursday quilting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Holderman.
Mrs. Elmer Miller spent a few days last week at the C. D. Bartholomew home at Centre Hall.

CHESTNUT FENCE POSTS FOR SALE.—The undersigned offers for sale a lot of chestnut fence posts.—W. M. GROVE, Spring Mills, Pa.

BOALSBURG.

Mrs. Frank McFarlane spent Monday at Bellefonte.
William G. Fisher, of Sunbury, was a recent visitor with his mother here.
Mrs. Harry Kuhn and Mrs. A. J. Hazel were Bellefonte visitors on Saturday.
Mrs. Claude Werkheiser and daughter, of Stroudsburg, are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Gerhart.
Lieut. Francis Meyer, of Baltimore, visited his friend, Captain Febiger, several days last week.
Mrs. H. W. Lonerberger, of State College, is spending some time here caring for her father, D. W. Meyer, who has been sick.
Sunday afternoon, February 20, Rev. Kirkpatrick will preach in the Presbyterian church, here.
Mrs. Frances Stottard of near Philadelphia, visited her niece, Mrs. George Febiger, from Saturday until Wednesday.

MILLHEIM.

From The Journal
Elmer E. Hubler, the auctioneer, has purchased 32 acres of farm land adjoining his home at Rockville from C. H. Smull. The consideration was $2500.
J. Frank Lose has purchased the J. M. Weaver farm, at Fiedler, which he has tenanted for a number of years. The farm contains fifty-three acres and the purchase price was $8,500.

On Friday night rats disturbed the ring neck pheasants which are being cared for over winter by R. S. Stove, in his stable, and two of the female birds flew against the wall with such force as to break their necks.

Last Thursday was the seventieth birthday anniversary of Ex-Prothonotary W. F. Smith, of Penn street. In the evening his only daughter, Mrs. M. A. Sankey, her husband and children came down from their home near Potters Mills and a pleasant evening was spent in celebration of the birthday anniversary.

George E. Mensch, who was in a Monesson hospital suffering with rheumatism, was brought to his home here on Monday. His son-in-law, G. P. Musser, of Yeagertown, went to Monesson on Saturday and arranged for his removal, and he and W. J. Throssel, who is employed in that town, brought him home. He has improved to such an extent that he can walk but he still is unable to use his hands.

LOST.—Auto wheel and tire, for Maxwell car, on road between Centre Hill and Potters Mills. Return to Brown Hackett, Centre Hill.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

ATTENTION, FARMERS.—I still have a blocky, nicely marked pure-bred Holstein Bull calf, from a good type cow.

I brought pure-bred Holstein cows from New York State, in January, from which I want to raise a pure-bred herd of cows. I will not sell heifer calves from these cows at present, but the bull calves will be sold. I did not buy the best cows in New York State, as my pocket book was not thick enough, but the cows I did buy are much above the average of the cows I saw and I do not believe there are very many herds of cattle in Penns Valley that would become spoiled by the use of a bull from one of these cows.

We are offering them at less prices than you can get the same quality anywhere else.

We some times have grade calves that are much above the average and I believe that farmers not wanting to raise pure-breds would some times do well by buying these and raising them in place of some very common stock. It takes five years to raise a cow to maturity and I believe a few dollars spent for an extra good calf to start with would be money well invested and our calves and their dams you can see before you buy, but if you send away for your calves you do not know what type of cattle they are bred from. For some years there have been calves and cattle advertised in all the farm papers. I often questioned whether any one breeding establishment could be so large as to be able to breed all the cattle to fill the orders received from such extensive advertising. When I was to New York I learned the secret. Some of these dealers canvass several counties and buy calves from the dairymen for a few dollars apiece. It does not matter how cheap they buy them but these calves are often from very common stock. I saw hundreds of such common cows and if I had to keep and feed them to try to earn a dollar from them, I would not take them as a gift. So I would suggest that if you are in the market for Holstein calves, give us a call.—JOHN SNAVELY, Centre Hall, Pa.
