Philadelphia Record.

Governor Sprout has approved a bill passed by the last Legislature proposing to place a tax on anthracite coal mined in Pennsylvania.

"The Record" would like to know what the Governor of Pennsylvania, and the members of the Legislature who voted for such a bill upon the urging of the Governor, mean by such contempt for the law.

We have a Constitution in Pennsylvania which the Governor and the members of the Legislature, before assuming office, under oath promised to protect and enforce.

Under the Constitution, when any of its provisions are in doubt the question is referred to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, and the interpretation of that body is the law which the Governor and the members of the Legislature are sworn to respect and enforce.

In 1913 the Legislature of Pennsylvania passed a bill, which was approved by the then Governor, placing a tax upon anthracite coal. As a result of the passage of that bill the consumers of Pennsylvania and elsewhere were required to pay millions of dollars in added price for the coal which they purchased and consumed.

The question of the constitutionality of this law, passed in 1913, was raised, and the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania decided that the Constitution of Pennsylvania prohibited the imposition of such a tax.

It was the Constitution of Pennsylvania, as thus interpreted by the Supreme Court, which Governor Sprout and the members of the last Legislature swore they would protect and defend.

What does the Governor of Pennsylvania mean by this defiance of the Supreme Court interpretation of the Constitution of Pennsylvania?

What did the members of the Legislature have in mind when they brazenly violated their oaths of office?

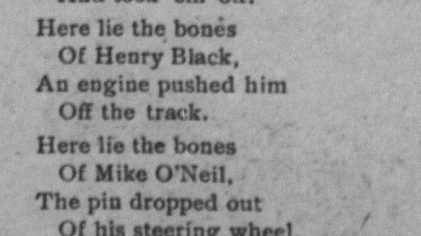

Modern Epitaphs.

Here lie the bones
Of Jephth Snicker,
He took one drink
Of home-made lickor.

Here lie the bones
Of Henry Goff,
He thought 'twas spring
And took 'em off.

Here lie the bones
Of Henry Black,
An engine pushed him
Off the track.

Here lie the bones

Of his steering wheel.

THE DEATH RECORD.

POORMAN.—Mrs. Eliza (Markle) Poorman, widow of James Poorman, passed away at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Markle, at Boalsburg, on Friday morning, after an illness of only ten days. She had, however, been in feeble health for some time, an attack of pneumonia, last winter, hastening her end. She was aged about seventy-five years. Her husband preceded her a few years ago, and there survive two children—S. I. Poorman, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. Harry Markle, of Boalsburg.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon and burial made at Boalsburg, Rev. S. C. Stover officiating.

MILLER.—Mrs. Arthur Miller passed away at her home in Erie on Friday, May 6th, after a long term of suffering with cancer. She was aged about forty-two years and was born at Farmers Mills, being before marriage Miss Rosie Armbruster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Armbruster. She married Mr. Miller at Bellefonte, and the couple later moved to Erie. A daughter, aged 12, survives. Also two sisters: Mrs. Elmer Hettinger and Mrs. Harry Shreckengast, both of near Farmers Mills. Burial was made at Erie Tuesday of last week.

MEEK.—Mrs. Eliza G. Meek died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Grace Sutton, Altoona, Tuesday of last week, of a complication of diseases following an illness of a year. She was born at Pine Grove Mills, Oct. 31, 1865, and was a member of the Emory East End Methodist Episcopal church of Pittsburgh. She is survived by five children.

Fishing for Trout, Catches $55.

While fishing for trout in Spring Creek, near the fair grounds, on Saturday, William Garman, of Bellefonte, noticed something floating down the stream. When he saw that it was a pocketbook he secured it and found that it contained $55 in bills, with no clue to the identity of the owner.

Mr. Garman thinks that the pocketbook may have been lost last Monday, when the circus exhibited at the fair grounds, and had fallen near the stream until rising water carried it in his direction.

Little Trout Alive Inside Bigger One.

Eddie L. Feigh, of Coalport, one of a trout fishing party in Centre county, has a new fish story. Mr. Feigh reports catching one eighteen-inch trout with a seven-inch trout inside.

The originality in Mr. Feigh's story is that the little fellow, not the big one, got away.

It seems that in cleaning the big trout on the bank of the stream, he saw the movements of the other trout inside and cut carefully, but when the fish was liberated, it eluded him and flopped its way back into the stream before it could be captured.

Mr. Feigh, oddly enough, was glad the fish got away, as it would have made his catch run over the limit.

TUSSEYVILLE.

Boyd Jordan spent several days in Altoona.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holderman and family spent the week end with friends in Lewistown.

Miss Martha Douty, of Rebersburg, spent a week at the home of Emmet Jordan and family, after attending commencement exercises at Centre Hall.

Those who spent Sunday at the Mr. and Mrs. Lot Condo home were: Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Condo and child, Mr. and Mrs. Baker and family and Mammie Fultz, all of Milroy.

MILLHEIM.

(From The Journal)

A Kessler's home on North street was wired for electric current last week by H. C. Hassinger.

Mrs. M. A. Sankey and children, of near Middleburg, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Smith several days last week.

Miss Lida Winkleblech, who is a student at a pharmaceutical college at Madison, Wis., arrived at her home in Millheim last Friday to spend her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Winkleblech.

Mrs. H. H. Litzell on Monday entered the Bellefonte hospital for an operation.

H. C. Hassinger is having an addition built to the rear of his residence on Penn street.

Flanders poppies will be the Memorial Day badge in Millheim, according to plans made by the local post, American Legion. The post is obtaining a supply of poppies, artificial flowers, made in homes for war orphans in France, and will be sold at ten cents each. The proceeds will go to the war orphans.

One day last week S. W. Gramley, president of the Millheim Memorial association, received a letter from W. Harrison Walker, Esq., of Bellefonte, stating that he could now get from the war department a gun to be placed on top of the monument erected in front of the Millheim town hall, providing that a formal request be made of the war department signed by the borough officials and officers of the Keystone post, American Legion. The request has been made and the gun is expected here in due time.

Awful Thought.

It was Dora's first trip on the ocean and the water kept on going so-saw and slipside and heaveho, and all sorts of uncomfortable, disagreeable things; so that Dora began to get a little giddy and dazed and tired and hazy. Clipping a large doll in her arms, she stood upon the deck by her mother's side. "Mamma!" she suddenly exclaimed, and her face turned to a delicate pale green. "Yes, darling; what is the matter?" "Oh, nothing, mamma! But I—I don't think the rabbit I had for dinner could have been quite—quite dead!"

VIEWPOINT NEVER THE SAME

In Classifying Themselves the Sexes Have Always Differed and Probably Always Will.

It may be said without fear of contradiction that a given man's ideal of a woman, and that same woman's ideal of herself, are two absolutely different things. For as regards themselves the sexes vision differently. So, general masculine ideals of femininity, and feminine ideals of itself, are most unlike. We have John's John, and Mary's Mary; and John's Mary, and Mary's John; and this square is far more difficult even to apprehend, much less resolve, than is the squaring of the circle, or any mental glimpsing of the fourth dimension of space. Yet if the eternal two ever did really understand each other, interest would immediately cease; for what you understand you appropriate, in a sense you become that thing. In creating them male and female, therefore, so like yet unlike, Providence constituted a distinction and difference that should prove a perennial source of interest and joy; with incidental exasperations, it may be, and perpetual wonder.

"Just like a man," "just like a woman," are the commonest of phrases—but what it is to be "just like a man," or "just like a woman," who can truly say? Does man understand woman any better today than he did in the Stone age, or woman understand man? Between the two is forever fixed the enchanting bridge—not chasm—of a perpetual why. The "central core of identity" in each may be trusted to keep its secret—the secret of a delight and God-given attraction.

GRAPE SPRAYS.—If you want to prevent a repetition of last year's damaging grape rot, spray the vines now with Bordeaux mixture, three parts copper sulphate, four parts lime to 50 parts of water. This spray can now be applied in northern counties where the blossom buds are forming, and in the southern sections as the blossoms fall. Both applications should be made for the best control of rot.
Three pounds arsenate of lead to fifty gallons of Bordeaux for the grape spray at this season will control flea beetles, berry moth, and other bothersome insects. Soap emulsion controls leaf hoppers.
BORDEAUX MIXTURE.—With grape spraying season here, and potato spraying fast approaching, it is well to learn immediately how to make Bordeaux mixture at home. The process is very simple; your county agent or the State College Experiment Station will give the necessary information.
DAIRY PASTURE.—To supplement August pastures, soy-beans should be sown the latter part of May, 1 bushel per acre. A mixture of sorghum, one half bushel, and cow peas three-fourths bushel per acre, sown about June 1st, will also give good August pasture.

A BUSINESS RUSH!

We have never in our business history experienced such an early rush of business as we have witnessed this season. Hardly a month elapsed before our first purchases for the Spring Season were almost all disposed of. This ready response in buying from the people in our vicinity urged us to make a second trip to the Eastern markets for a complete replenishment of our stock.

We are pleased with the patronage thus far given us because we know our trade is beginning to realize and appreciate the care and taste of our selection in buying. They are beginning to realize the full values received for lowest prices paid, but our initial purchases were only a forerunner to the newly arrived merchandise. We have made some truly wonderful purchases of new merchandise and want to convince everyone of what we term as wonderful.
