

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. James P. Herring, of Altoona, visited her sister, Mrs. Laura Lee, last week.

Centre Hall will play the Coburn base ball team at the latter place on Saturday afternoon.

I. O. O. F. memorial services will be held as follows: on Sunday: At Zion, 2:30 p. m.; at Tusseyville, 4 p. m.; at Sprucetown, 5 p. m., and Centre Hall at 6:30 p. m.

Mrs. John Garis and children, of Bellefonte, have been spending some time at the Byron Garis home in Centre Hall while Mr. Garis is assisting his father at the mason trade.

The local Reformed church was crowded to the doors Sunday evening, on the occasion of Children's Day services, which were a credit to all who participated.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Rowe, of Atlantic City, N. J., are expected here this week, where they will spend the greater part of the summer at the former's parental home.

Mrs. C. B. Drumm, of Sunbury, and Rev. and Mrs. Ira Goss, of West Milton, are being entertained at the Lutheran parsonage. The ladies mentioned are mother and sister, respectively, of Rev. Drumm.

Lee Frazier, a student in the Western Reserve law school, at Cleveland, Ohio, is home for the summer vacation. Harold Alexander, from Penn State, and Miss Miriam Huyett, from Susquehanna, are also at home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Foreman left on Wednesday on a pleasure trip to Washington, D. C., expecting to go from there to Newport News, Virginia, and on the return trip will visit Atlantic City, Philadelphia, and other points.

Graduation exercises of the Teachers' Training class of the Lutheran church at Farmers Mills will be held Thursday evening of next week. Rev. Rine, of Minerville, will address the class. Everybody is welcomed to hear these services.

Dr. A. G. Lieb has purchased the property south of the Miss Mary Fisher home, Main street, from W. G. Runkle, of Bellefonte, and expects to move the present building back and put up a brick cased structure in front. The consideration was $1000.

At a farewell banquet given by the Williamsburg Lutheran pastorate to Rev. J. M. Rearick and his family, a few days ago, a purse containing $118.25, and later increased to $144.75, was presented to the pastor. About four hundred and fifty people attended the banquet which was held in the dining hall of the church. Rev. Rearick goes to Elk Lick, Somerset county.

The enrollment for the 1921 summer session at the Central State Normal School will far exceed that of any previous year. The indications are that every room in the dormitories of the school will be occupied and the principal has called upon the townspeople of Lock Haven to open their homes to the young people who come to attend the nine weeks' session, and is preparing a comprehensive list of boarding places so that students will be able to find accommodations immediately.

Erdman West, of New Brunswick, New Jersey, spent the past week in Centre Hall, having come to visit his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth West, at the Mrs. H. J. Lambert home. Mr. West is connected with the State Department of Agriculture in New Jersey, and since his graduation from Penn State, a few years ago, has won several well merited promotions with that department, until now he holds a very responsible position. His profession is that of plant pathologist, and as such he has been doing good work toward establishing a higher standard for the State of New Jersey in its position in agriculture.

Dr. and Mrs. D. G. Smith returned to their home in Freeport, Illinois, on Monday, after a visit among friends here and at Penn Hall, the former homes of Doctor and Mrs. Smith. They left Freeport several weeks ago with Boston, Mass., as their objective point, where Dr. Smith attended the meetings of the American Medical Association. The trip was made in their Studebaker car, and proved a very delightful one. The doctor was enthusiastic concerning the fine roads in the New England states, they having gone all the way up to Maine and after leaving Boston, running to Philadelphia, and then up through Pennsylvania, stopping there for several days. Upon their reaching home they will have traveled over 4,000 miles, and the only trouble experienced up until the time they reached Centre Hall was a slow leak in one of the tires, which trouble was corrected at Centre Hall, and was found to be due to a small nail having penetrated the casing.

A Pleasing Chautauqua.

Although Centre Hall and community's Chautauqua had not reached its close when the Reporter went to press, Wednesday morning, enough good things have been presented to warrant the statement that it has given universal satisfaction and deserving of a permanent place in the life of the community.

Chautauqua opened Sunday evening with a free concert by the Theresa Sheehan company, a group of three charming young ladies. Theirs was a program of music and readings of exceptional merit. Possibly one of the best numbers on the program was Miss Sheehan's graphic portrayal of the sinking of the ill-fated Titanic, in which she depicted all the harrowing scenes of that historic disaster. It was a masterpiece.

On Monday afternoon and evening the Colonial Maids, three in number, gave a lively entertainment of music, employing numerous costly instruments, upon which they performed with true skill. Their appearance in various costumes ad'ed charm to their endeavors. One hundred per cent. satisfaction was the verdict.

On Monday evening, after a short entertainment by the Colonial Maids, Mr. and Mrs. Gale occupied the stage, which had a colorful Indian setting. The Gales gave us something truly unique in worth-while entertainment. It was a story of the Red Man, the American Indian, gathered at first hand by Mr. and Mrs. Gale. During their hour's performance and interesting talk they imparted to their most appreciative audience more knowledge of our American Indians than the best students of history has been able to gather in years from the pages of his textbook. They dressed in a number of costumes worn by the leading tribes, sang their songs, told their stories, showed their picturesque ways of wooing their loved ones, exhibited many crude instruments of music, etc. While Mr. Gale was most pleasing in all his story telling and performance as it concerned the male Indians, his good wife was even more pleasing in her portrayal of the life of the Indian squaw, showing in minute detail the home life of the various Indian tribes. Her Indian lullaby was the one best thing of the evening, in the minds of many. Mrs. Gale is a charming speaker and her audience gave her the best attention, eager to catch every word of her wonderful message from the lands of the Red Man. If you were there, we venture the assertion that you considered this one entertainment worth the full price of your season ticket.

Andrew Harnly's lecture on "Making Democracy Safe for the World," on Tuesday afternoon, was in the minds of many one of the grandest lectures local audiences have been privileged to listen to. "The Master Orator with a Message" he has been called, and the title fits him perfectly.

"Her Husband's Wife" proved a "scream" on Tuesday evening. This 3-act comedy drama was presented an exceptionally strong cast. It was a stellar attraction, indeed.

Are you a booster for Chautauqua? If not, can you give one good reason?

Boozer-Ererrick.

C. William Boozer and Miss Lena M. Emerick, both of Centre Hall, were married on Tuesday at 12:30 p. m. by Rev. S. C. Stover at the Reformed parsonage in Boalsburg. They were accompanied by Miss Carrbell Emerick, sister of the bride, and Miss Ethel Rowe and Shannon Boozer. Immediately thereafter they departed for New Rochelle, New York, where a few days will be spent with Mr. and Mrs. D. Earl Fleming, the gentlemen being lifelong friends. After a week's honeymoon the happy couple will return to Centre Hall and take up housekeeping in part of the Goodhart property which was fitted up some time ago awaiting the arrival of the bride to convert it into a home.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Emerick and is a young woman of noble character. As a telephone operator in the local Bell exchange she proved highly efficient and uniformly courteous. In church work the bride has been a leader and diligent worker. In every way is she well fitted for the responsibilities connected with the well regulated home. The bridegroom is a skilled mechanic, and is the efficient secretary of the local Masonic lodge.

The Reporter extends congratulations.

Foreman-Wicks.

John F. Foreman and Miss Helga Miriam Wicks were united in marriage in the M. E. church at Johnstown on Wednesday morning of this week. The groom is a former Centre Hall boy, and a son of F. A. Foreman, of State College. After his graduation from the Centre Hall High school he entered the Valparaiso University, at Valparaiso, Indiana, completing a course in engineering. He now holds a responsible executive position with a large coal company at Portage. Mr. Foreman is a young man of exceptional ability, and his altogether pleasing personality has won for him a host of warm friends who join the Reporter in wishing for him and his happy bride all the happiness and prosperity possible.

The Saver Makes; The Spendthrift Breaks.

The man who spends less than he earns is a civic asset, while he who spends his all may some day become a civic liability. The man who saves looks into the future with confidence, while he who spends faces the cold charity of his friends and relatives—or the poorhouse. The optimist is the man with a bank account, while the pessimist is a spendthrift. Which kind of a man are you? Open a Term Savings Account at this bank—$1 is sufficient—it will earn 3 per cent compound interest and pay rich dividends in happiness.
