

THIRTY-FOUR YEARS AGO

Paragraphs of News Taken from the Files of the Reporter of 1887.

JUNE 29, 1887.

Mrs. Dr. Alexander, of this place, is seriously ill with typhoid fever.

Walking to the station is now a pleasure—there's a boardwalk, you know.

John Lingle, one day last week, accidentally fell through the hay hole of the barn, which at first did not seem to have been of serious consequence, but he has been suffering much illness, supposed from the effects of the fall.

Mr. Lee, who recently moved here from York county, has the frame of his new house up just below the southern limits of the town. His brother, William Lee, has a house staked off on the adjoining lot.

Potters Mills has a subscription out to raise a drum corps in that place.

The wheat yield in the county, this harvest, will be only half a crop.

Lumbermen are thinning out the trees along the mountain road between here and Pleasant Gap. At the rate our timber is being cut and shipped to eastern markets the time is not far distant when the lumbering camps will disappear from our valley.

Since a solid boardwalk has been completed to the station, Mr. Willow, the mail carrier, thinks of making a velocipede that will carry him and his mail pouches to the trains.

Cyrus Durst and D. T. Wieland purchased of Felix Burkholder, each an improved hay tedder, which works to perfection.

The next new house to show its head will be Dauberman's; the foundation is completed and the framing is proceeding. When the Presbyterian church, on a nearby lot, is up, that end of town will have little gap left between it and "milltown"—and Centre Hall will continue to improve.

Little Tot Dies After Eating Tablets Prescribed for Mother.

Luella, 18-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Davis, of Philipsburg, died last Thursday morning under peculiarly sad circumstances.

The child, a little tottler just able to get around through the house and eager to clasp everything within reach, got hold of some tablets that had been prescribed for its mother for heart trouble. Unnoticed by the mother the babe ate some of the medicine, and at once became very ill. Dr. W. R. Heaton was summoned, and all possible was done to save the child's life. Death came about an hour and a half after it had eaten of the tablets.

The fatality has been a sad blow to the parents, and especially to the mother whose health has not been good.

Motor Accidents Are Increasing.

The automobile accident toll continues to climb at an alarming rate despite every possible precaution and the records of Sergeant R. N. Ickes of the state constabulary located at Hollidaysburg, just completed for the month of May, shows a total of seventy-three accidents, or better than two a day. One was fatal.

The records show that there were sixty-three accidents between vehicles and ten between vehicles and pedestrians. Injuries suffered by pedestrians in all but the case of the fatal crash, were light. Several resulted from boys running directly into the cars.

MILLHEIM.

The local United Evangelical church is being repainted this week by Charles F. Miller and his crew.

Mrs. Agnes Kelley and her daughter, Mrs. Norman Zester, and two children, of Atlantic City, N. J., are guests at the George Ulrich home.

John M. Boob, a student at the Pierce school, Philadelphia, came home Tuesday afternoon to be present at the funeral of his grandfather, John Bubb, today (Thursday).

Harry C. Hassinger, who is receiving vocational electrical training through the U. S. government, on Monday was transferred to Williamsport and in several weeks expects to be sent to Hog Island ship yards where he will be located for some time.

The 1921 Community Chautauqua in Millheim was a grand success financially, as well as in the way of entertainment. Each number of the program was highly pleasing to the patrons who attended the several sessions. The out-of-town patronage was very good this year and not a few of those are numbered among the fifty-one guarantors for the 1922 Chautauqua.
