The boro authorities should see to it that the pike through this town be put stop, boiling with rage. in decent condition by the parties having charge of it. The condition of the road through town, as far as the station, is a shameful one, and the matter should be looked after. There is a law to bring about an improvement in the neglected road.

EASY TO BANISH THE "BLUES"

Attention to Diet and Cultivation of Optimism.

A fit of the "blues" is as much an intoxication as a drunken spree, and a bad attack may disqualify a person for wise and efficient action as thoroughly as alcoholic intoxication.

A person subject to the "blues" should in his most lucid and optimistic moments resolve to make no important decision, and to set a special guard over his conduct, while under the influence of the flood of poisons to which the condition is due,

The real cure for the "blues" lies in prevention by removing causes.

The foul breath and coated tongue noted in these cases are abundant evidence of the poisonous origin of the "blues." The adoption of a poisonfree diet is almost invariably followed quickly by a change in the mental state.

It is important, then, that we cultivate optimism and forcing the mind into optimistic channels of thought.

This can best be accomplished by reading optimistic authors and talking with optimistic people. An excellent plan is to set oneself the task of curing some other neurasthenic suffering from his pessimism, by deluging him with optimistic ideas and expressions. Adopt a diet that will introduce poison-free foods into the dietary and assist the elimination organs in carrying out as rapidly as possible the polsons that may be formed in the natural body functions. These things are not miraculous, but can be adopted into one's daily life with the utmost

HAD TO OVERLOOK FOIBLES

Herbert Spencer's Fussiness a Trial to Those Who Did Not Know His Real Kindness.

More examples of Herbert Spencer's them will bear the telling.

A friend had the opportunity of seeing in full working order the famous ear-stoppers that Spencer used /to wear. Probably some frivolous remark of the friend obtained him this privilege, for in the middle of the meal Spencer, with a fixed glance at him, pressed the spring that closed the hole of each ear.

After luncheon the host and friend sat chatting in the garden, when there tired carriage, the message adding that "we are not to talk."

When they were returning from Spencer's funeral Sir Michael Foster told this friend the following story:

Spencer detested cushions, and the trouble was to find a chair that was hard in the seat and yet comfortable. So, at a last resource, he had a seat covered with some inches of soft plaster of paris, and sitting on that made an impress from which a wooden seat of an exactly fitting pattern was cut. Against a certain undeniable fussiness there should be set the fact that Spencer had a soft place in a heart that seemed adamant, and there are stories of spontaneous acts of kindness and of offers of help to the troubled and bereaved that redeem much unlovely behavior.

HE HAD BUSINESS ELSEWHERE

Diner Didn't Care to Wait to See the Result of His Carelessness With the Pie.

Dr. Fabyan Franklin has a friend who vouches for this story. Coming cowntown on the elevated one morning, he was struck by the explosive temper of a red-faced, choleric man on a seat nearby. This man, annoyed because a youth facing him had placed his feet on the seat which the man occupied, burst out in a storm of passion, denouncing the youth in tones ville orphan school on Wednesday that aroused the attention of passengers in the adjoining cars. He finally stamped out on the platform at a

That noon Doctor Franklin's friend wenf into a self-service restaurant for lunch. Getting a plate of vegetables and meat, and one of pumpkin pie, he placed them on the broad extension arm of one of the chairs provided for lunchers, and made room beside them for his cup of coffee. As he was finishing his lunch he reached for the pumpkin pie, and clumsily knocked it off the chair arm. To his horror he saw it disappear Undue Despondency Can-Be Cured by into the gaping pocket of a large overcoat carelessly flung over the next chair-and then he perceived the owner of the overcoat bearing down upon him, all unconscious of the accident, with a plateful of food. It was the same red-faced, choleric man whose frightful temper had amazed the elevated passengers! As soon as the culprit had perceived that he waited to see no more. -New York Evening Post.

An Expressman.

Speaking of juries, a veteran Clevelander recalls the difficulty experienced in securing a jury in a noted alleged poisoning case of many years ago. One of the men summoned was both dense and deaf, with a limited knowledge of English, defects which were developed as his examination proceeded. "Have you formed or expressed any opinion regarding this case?" the lawyer for the defense asked.

"Hay?" "I say, have you formed or expressed -formed or expressed-do you get

"Yes, yes. Farmed or expressed. Sure, I haf farmed and now I am expressing. Dot's all right."

But the expressman was excused.

Amber Long in Use.

The modern use of oil of amber, both externally and internally, is often mentioned. It has been denied that amber was known to the Greeks in very early times, the Greek electron having been used as a name both for it and for an amalgam of gold and silver, a species of gold ore washed down by the Pactolus; but amber has actually been found at Mycenae, and the fact that the electron necklace mentioned in the Odyssey is said to have been a gift from Phoenicia means

The Phoenicians are known to have introduced amber into the East, and Herodotus says it was brought from the River Eridanus in the extreme west of Europe.

Pets of Prisoners.

Visitors to prison have noticed that prisoners. like other folk, are fond of pets and that their pet is generally a canary or other species of bird. There is a reason for this: A bird takes up little room and requires little food, whereas larger animals could not very easily be kept in confinement. Most prisons have rules forbidding inmates to keep pets, but visitors to several of the smaller prisons have sometimes observed mice as well as birds and an occasional dog sharing cells with prisoners. In one of the large state prisons a long-term prisoner was permitted to have as pets several dogs of the toy variety.-New York Times.

"Do Rats Talk to Each Other?" Asks Mr. M. Batty, R. I.

"I got five cakes of Rat-Snap and threw pieces around feed store. Got about half a dozen dead rats a day for two solid weeks. Suddenly, they got fewer. Now we haven't any. Who told them about Rat-Snap." Rats dry up and leave no smell. Three sizes: 35c 65c, $1.25.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hail's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative power of Hail's Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality-and DEMAND it.

They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy-because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTY AFTERTASTE.

Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.

And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.
