Some farmers began husking corn beginning of the week.

The local lecture course committee will meet in the boro council chamber this (Thursday) evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Brungart, Mrs. Samuel Durst and son Edward, attended the funeral of Mrs. (Rev.) J. M. Rearick, at Middleburg, on Sunday.

Harry C. Shirk picked a crop of fine quinces on his home lot last week, one of which measured 13-2 inches in circumference, and was the largest quince Mr. Shirk says he ever saw.

Miss Lola Ulrich, of Centre Hall, left last Thursday for Battle Creek, Michigan, where she will spend some time among relatives and friends. She will also visit her father, T. Benton Ulrich, at Kokomo, Indiana.

Saturday evening, October 1st, installation of officers will take place in the hall of the local I. O. O. F. The new district deputy grand master, C. L. Hollobaugh, of State College, will do the installing. A good turnout of Odd Fellows is desired.

There was a veritable flood of automobiles in town Saturday night. It's "Liz" and not Nancy that stands at the post while her owner transacts business and visits among his neighbors who are tall in town at least the last night in the week.

Willard Smith, who four years ago began farming on the Lee farm, near Tusseyville, now owned by John B. Fortney and his sister, was among the Reporter's callers on Saturday. Mr. Smith is counted a good farmer and is making a surplus for both himself and his landlords.

F. V. Goodhart, the furniture dealer, set a good example in his neighborhood when he cut down the poplar shade trees to the front of his store and business place. The poplar, as a shade tree, is a nuisance, and should be removed from the streets. Indeed, the town council would serve a good cause if they would forbid the planting of the poplars within the borough. Such regulations are in force in many incorporated towns.

Mrs. Mary E. Christine, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Crowl, of Elysburg, and Mrs. Grace Hull, of Shamokin, are visiting at the T. L. Moore home, in this place. September is almost at her finish, and what a delightful month it has been—not too dry, not too cold, but just right for all kinds of work.
