

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

D. A. Boozer, the beginning of this week, went to Reading on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud K. Stahl, of Philadelphia, visited Mr. Stahl's parental home near Centre Hall, this week.

A Rally Day Service will be observed in Trinity Reformed church, Centre Hall, next Sunday morning at 10:30.

Asher C. Confer, of near Spring Mills, was a caller at this office last Thursday and extended his subscription well toward 1923.

J. D. Meyer, vice president of The First National Bank of Tyrone, spent Sunday at his parental home in Centre Hall.

The country is most beautiful at this season and this brings out many autos filled with those who love nature's great display of beauty.

William Wolf and son, of Bellefonte, are laying the brick for the Dr. Lieb dwelling house. The work is nearly completed and looks fine.

The local High school was closed on Tuesday for two weeks, owing to measles in the home of Prof. Bartiges, whose little daughter, Harriet, was taken ill on that day.

Mrs. L. W. S. Person will be in Centre Hall at the residence of Mrs. M. E. Strohm, the 26th, 27th, 28th and 29th of October, with a complete line of millinery goods.

Several days ago John H. Puff plucked one of a number of clusters of cherry blossoms from a tree in the D. A. Boozer orchard. The cherry tree was also well covered with a second crop of half-grown leaves.

Mrs. A. S. Fleck, of Haskell, N. J., who with her children Arlene, Theodore and Rodger, had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Brooks, in Centre Hall, for several weeks, returned to their home.

Prof. E. R. Gehr, director of the Gregg Township Vocational School, was a pleasant visitor at this office on Monday afternoon. Prof. Gehr is doing good work at the school, which was plainly shown on Friday at Spring Mills.

J. C. A. Heckman is one of Gregg township's farmers who is all pleased with the corn crop that has just been harvested on his place. From 33 acres there was a return of 4,618 bushels, for an average of 140 bushels per acre. If there any better yields Mr. Heckman would like to hear about them.

Mrs. Emma Young and daughter, Miss Rachel Young, of Boalsburg, were visitors in town on Monday afternoon, and Miss Rachel appeared quite joyful when her mother permitted her to call at the Reporter office for the purpose of enrolling as a subscriber. "I like so to read the home news," said Miss Rachel, who is a winsome young Miss.

There is plenty of big corn this season being talked about. William Kern, of Oak Hall Station has two corn ears big enough to hear themselves talked of. One of these ears is 12 1/2 inches long, weighs one and one half pounds, sixteen rows, with a total of 992 grains. The larger ear is a half inch longer, same number of rows and a total of 1008 grains.

George E. Heckman, for about eighteen years tenant on the Harper farm, east of Centre Hall, recently purchased from his neighbor on the west, Frank E. Bible, the well known Bible farm, and will occupy the place next spring. Mr. Bible will locate at Fiedler where he purchased the Geo. Stover farm. The Harper farm will have a new tenant in H. E. Shrecke-gast, of near Old Fort.

The next Bazaar and Sales Day to be conducted by D. Wagner G-iss at his barn in Bellefonte, will be Tuesday, November 1st. There will be a splendid collection of articles this time—cattle, horses, pigs, shoats, chickens, household furniture, stoves, farm implements and vehicle—in fact, nearly anything you may well imagine. So go, if you want to buy or sell, bringing anything with you that you may wish to dispose of. Bazaar will be held every other Tuesday during Winter.

If you're going to have sale next spring now is the time to inform the Reporter about it, for we have started our Sale Register working this week and it will be on the job until the frost comes out of the ground next spring. Get your day set and let us know about it. Your neighbors seeing it in the Reporter will not need worry about choosing a sale date that may conflict with your own. The Reporter, of course, wants to print your bills, and those persons giving us their work will have their sale date carried in this paper free of charge.

GEORGES VALLEY.

O. E. Ackerman, of Johnstown, spent a few days at the home of his uncle, F. M. Ackerman.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lingle and daughter Hazel visited at the Frank Emerick home on Sunday.

Albert Lingle and Miss Maggie Immel spent Sunday at the James Immel home at Green Grove.

Miss Gladys Lingle spent a few days with her cousin, Miss Erma Emerick.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sharer spent Sunday at the home of the former's parents, near Centre Hall.

F. W. Sipo, M. E. Sipe, Mrs. Samuel Spigelmyer and two children, of Shidle, spent Sunday at the James Foust home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barger visited at the home of their son, Maynard Barger, on Sunday.

Lost All Farm Implements in Fire of Mysterious Origin.

To be rudely awakened from a sound sleep by neighbors from two miles distant and be told that a fire is threatening their very home, was the unusual experience of Mr. and Mrs. John Dutrow, young folks living on the Dutrow farm, two miles east of Centre Hall.

Several young men leaving the pool room in Centre Hall about ten o'clock last Friday night, observed a bright light down the Brushvalley road, and were soon convinced that it was a fire. Hurrying together their forces and seizing the first automobile available they were soon on the scene where they found a good size blaze in progress with no one in sight to stay its spreading. The fire was consuming several sheds and the house was only 30 feet away. The visitors at once proceeded to waken the members of the household, but all their noise and shouting failed to arouse the slumberers. As a last resort, an entrance through the front door was forced and only then did Mr. and Mrs. Dutrow become conscious of the alarming situation. By this time four buildings were on fire and beyond all hope of being saved—a large implement shed, where all the farm machinery was stored, a work shop, ice house and a turkey house. All efforts were put forth to prevent the spread of the flames to nearby outbuildings which adjoined the main property. Buckets of water was the equipment at hand but the house was saved thru hard work.

Among the implements destroyed were a binder, rake, mower, drill, besides two buggies, carriage and two sleds. A number of chickens were also destroyed. The implements were owned by John Dutrow and his father, Clyde Dutrow, in partnership, and their loss is partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is a mystery.
