Wm. McClenahan, on Monday, took a truck load of articles to the Methodist Home at Tyrone, a donation from the Penns Valley Methodist charge.

Tanlac has made life worth living for millions of people who had almost given up hope. It will do the same for you. Centre Hall Pharmacy.

Miss Pearl Arney, who had been an operative patient in the Bellefonte hospital for two weeks, was brought to her home near Centre Hall one day last week.

Mrs. Victor A. Auman has been confined to bed owing to illness during the past week, and Miss Verna Lingle, of Tusseyville, has been attending to the household duties at the Auman home.

F. V. Jodon, the new owner of what was formerly the Bartholomew farm, above Centre Hall, is all pleased with his corn crop which he has just put up. Twenty-three acres yielded 2700 bushels.

Two big ears of corn are reported to have been grown by J. H. Ross, Linden Hall. One of these ears is 13 3/4 inches and the other is 11 3/4 inches in length, and contain 1024 and 1360 grains, respectively.

Capt. W. H. Fry, that sprightly "old vet" of Pine Grove Mills, writes us from Scranton this week, stating that he is attending Judge Witmer's federal court and is seeing justice meted out to boot leggers.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Erdley, of Milton, came to Centre Hall on Monday and are preparing to remodel the Snyder home west of Old Fort, which the Erdleys purchased after the death of Mrs. Erdley's father.

The large motor truck of the Loysville orphans' home arrived in Centre Hall last Friday morning to receive the annual donation of potatoes, canned goods, etc., from the local Lutheran church people.

Our Grammar grade kids can play a good game of soccer ball, too, and just to prove it invited the Grammar school of Bellefonte over. The game was played last Saturday afternoon and our boys won, two to one.

William Bailey, who has been in Los Angeles, Cal., for several months past, is preparing to enter the Southwestern University and take a course in commerce and finance, under the government plan of aid to ex-service men.

Clair A. Horner, who had advertised public sale on the Horner homestead on Nittany mountain for Thursday, November 24, has changed the date to two days earlier in the month, which is Tuesday, November 22nd, because the first date falls on Thanksgiving Day.

J. W. Wolf, of Ardmore, accompanied an automobile party through central Pennsylvania and stopped in Centre Hall from Friday until Monday afternoon. Mr. Wolf is giving all his time to writing life insurance for the Metropolitan, and is making a success in that line of work.

Fay Bohn, a member of the Boalsburg High School volleyball team, sustained a fractured wrist during the game with the Centre Hall High School team last Friday afternoon. She struck the ball with her hand in an effort to pass it over the net with the above noted result. Dr. H. H. Longwell reduced the fracture.

Merchant C. F. Emery has a prize pen of porkers and their equal are hard to find. There are six hogs in the pen and their combined weight will total close to 3000 lbs., and butcher day is still four weeks away. They are Chesterwhites and O. I. C., and measure close to six feet in length and 18 inches across the front shoulders.

Is your wife "too tired to go"?

When your wife is too tired to enjoy good times it's not always her fault. Don't expect her to do work of a sort that you wouldn't do.

If your wife has to do her own housework, first of all she should have a vacuum cleaner. Hand-sweeping with a broom is not only unnecessary hard work—it's inefficient.

Torrington CLEANERS

Come in yourself and let us show you the Torrington Electric Vacuum Cleaner, as one business man to another. You will readily understand its superiority when you see the revolving carpet-sweeper brush in its nozzle and hear the hum of its high-speed, suction-generating motor.

Surprise your wife with a Torrington. You will cut the cost and necessity of outside maid service, and lengthen the life of your rugs and hangings.

Nieman's Store News

OUR BUSINESS WAS SO SUCCESSFUL this Fall that I was compelled to make a flying trip to New York City last week, and I have installed a Bright New Stock of Merchandise of Men's and Women's Wearing Apparel for the Fall season.

While in the city I found a number of manufacturers that were compelled to raise money quickly, and I WAS RIGHT ON THE SPOT, and I purchased $10,000 Worth of New and Up-to-Date Merchandise at a great sacrifice in price, and I am READY TO GIVE THE BENEFIT TO MY CUSTOMERS RIGHT NOW, at the beginning of the season.

When opportunity knocks at your door, Don't turn her away

FOUND HOME PAPER IN HEART OF THE ROCKIES

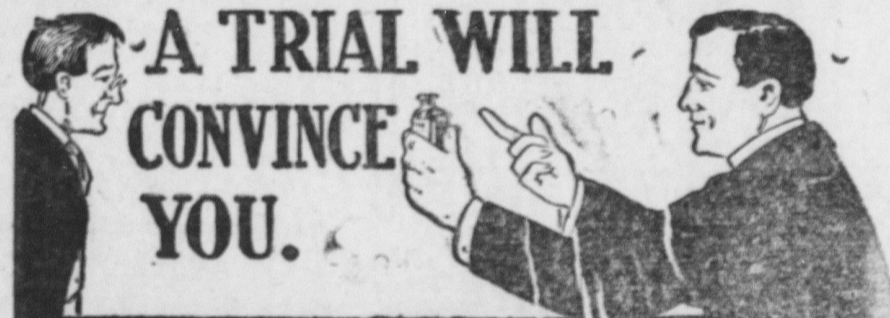

And Through It Peddler Learned That Family He Had Known for Fifteen Years Were His Relatives.

"Publishing a country newspaper reminds me of tossing a pebble into the ocean. We never know how far the circles which it sets in motion will reach," said Williston Manley, publisher of The Plaindealer of Canton, N. Y., the other day, in speaking of "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week," which is to be observed the country over the week of November 7-12. "I had a good reminder of this not long ago," he went on.

"One day there appeared in the Plaindealer office a short, stubby, robust man of probably sixty. I knew the minute I saw him that he had come in from the big outdoors in some section. He told me that he had taken the paper for many years, probably forty, ever since he had left Canton, where he was born. He told me where I would find the paper going, and I found it. His post office was in a little town way out in the Rockies. He said he had come back to the old town to live. He paid what he owed and a year over for good measure, and then he sat down and I knew something was coming.

Forty Years in the Mountains.
"Say," said he, "newspapers are great things. You can never tell what they are going to do for you. I have been a peddler out in the mountains for forty years, making my trips, me and the little burro, about once in six months. There were a lot of long jumps between houses. For fifteen years I had been going out of my trail, about five miles to one side, to sell to a family that had moved in. You get rather well acquainted with people if you see them once in six months for that long, so when I got there one afternoon and didn't find anyone home—just the door unlocked, as all doors were there—I went in and made myself comfortable, and when supper time came I didn't hesitate about hunting around for grub. And while I was doing it I found a copy of the Plaindealer on the kitchen shelf, and one or two more around the house—the Plaindealer, mind you, the paper I was taking right from the old home town! And I wondered who these fifteen-year-old friends of mine were. I suddenly realized we had never talked over our pedigrees any."

"When the family got home that evening I asked questions, and what do you think?—that wife was a sort of grandniece of mine. She hadn't heard of her old uncle off stubbing around in the rocks of the Rockies, and I hadn't ever heard that anyone related to me had ever married and was out there living under another name. Your paper introduced us to each other. I just thought you might like to know about it."

A TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

NOTHING that we could say would so thoroughly convince you of the value of Chamberlain's Tablets as a personal trial. We can tell you of thousands who have been permanently cured of chronic constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headache and disorders of the stomach and liver, but this will have little weight with you as compared to a personal trial. That always convinces.
