

MICKIE SAYS

A FINE OLD HOME PAPER

(Tune—A Fine Old English Gentleman.)
These magazines with gravures and all these works of art, Are very well for city folks who live by dint of mart; But give me first and foremost, I hold it is the prime— That fine old home town paper—one of the good old time.

The printin' isn't perfect, the ink's not uniform, The type is set by hand perhaps,—considerably overwork, The dear old press—I know it well—it's covered o'er with grime— But it prints that old home paper—one of the gold old time.

I look for it each week as regularly it comes, And when the postman brings it in, I drop all other chums, I drink it in, from start to fin, ridiculous and sublime, That fine old home town paper, one of the good old time.

Smith's cat may have some kittens; Jones is putting in new pumps, My girl chum has got married and the kids have got the mumps, Jack Wiltsey's built a lean-to, Johnson's roses upward climb, Oh! I love the old home paper, boys, one of the good old time.

—GEO. E. WRAY.

Back to Town Crier

How many residents of any small community have ever considered what might happen if there were no newspapers? Just previous to "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week," which is to be observed the country over November 7-12, is a good time to recall the plight of Macon, Mo., not long ago, when fire put the Chronicle-Herald out of business for two weeks.

According to The Publishers' Auxiliary, the old town crier, relic of many years back, was yanked from his hiding place, dusted off, and put back on his job, with a jangling bell, a megaphone, and a fog-horn voice only a little worse for long disuse.

It may have been a novelty for two weeks. But think of a community without printers' ink, compelled to get its announcements of auctions, sales, court sessions, births, marriages, deaths, epidemics of sickness, dog ordinances, board meetings, commencements, tax notices, advertisements of help and situations wanted, accidents, and the rest, through a shouted word like that of the ordinary train announcer in a city depot. The town crier was a romantic figure in his day, but few towns would like to return to his ministrations now.

When one thinks of the temporary plight of Macon, and that it might become the permanent handicap of many towns, it is well to think of supporting the local paper.

He Knows His Folks.

Here are some random observations of a man who has visited and studied a good many small communities: If you read your local paper you will not miss much that is happening around home. There is no use saying that you wish your town had a paper like one in the other town, for the other fellow there is saying the same thing. The man who reads his local paper thoroughly is usually a pretty good citizen and has it all over the fellow who does not. Local papers, when all is said and done, do more to uphold the institutions of this state and country than any other known contributing force in the world's work.

Random Observations.

This isn't a country publisher talking, but the editor of a farm paper! The metropolitan daily will bring to one's doorstep the news of the world seen through the spectacles of the city editor, but it is the editor who lives in the heart of the community who is able to reflect the sentiment of the local group. He alone is the true interpreter of events as they affect the small town and the farming community that immediately surrounds the town.

MILLHEIM.

[From The Journal]
Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Gramley accompanied C. E. Lykens to Philadelphia on Wednesday will spend several days as his guest in his new home.

Paul Musser, the professional baseball pitcher who just closed the season with the Wichita, Kas. club, arrived at his home here Wednesday morning.

Rev. F. H. Daubenspeck preached on Sunday evening in the local church in behalf of the $1,250,000 European relief fund. The apportionment of the local congregation was $100, and after a few remarks by Dr. G. S. Frank a call was made for contributions. There was a liberal response, and when the total was announced the quota was almost doubly subscribed. The amount raised was $195.

The school board held a meeting on Monday evening when it was planned to make settlement with A. J. Gephart, acting for the Gephart estate, for the extra piece of land taken over by the board for playground purposes. Mr. Gephart's estimate of the value of the plot was placed at $1,050. The directors thought the price exorbitant, and the Centre county court will now be asked to appoint a board of viewers to assess the damages.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS
is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed. Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.
