A new "Old Glory" has been secured for the flag pole on the local school ground.

There are 19,000,000 horses and mules in the United States, and 17,000,000 of these are on the farms.

N. Bigler Schaeffer, of near Wolfs Store has decided to hold public sale on March 9th, and quit farming.

"Over the Hill," a pathetic story on the screen, was seen at State College by a number of Centre Hall people on Monday night.

Rev. and Mrs. Wm. J. Wagner came from State College to attend the funeral of Wallace Miller, who died at his Glenside home, near Philadelphia.

The Zimmerman auto bus, which operated in Nittany valley between Bellefonte and Lock Haven, has been discontinued on account of bad roads and lack of patronage, according to Mr. Zimmerman. It has not been operating for the past week.

Every good citizen should lend his aid to capture the thief who has been operating in this locality after a period of a number of years of comparative quiet on the part of this class of gentry. Thieving, once so common about here, should not again be permitted with a wink.

The State College apple orchards yielded a crop of 2500 bushels, against 4000 bushels for last year. This is remarkable when one considers that the apple crop was practically an entire failure in Penns Valley. The fine yield is attributed to the splendid care continuously given the orchards.

Last week's Lewisburg Journal contained this item of local interest: Mrs. Mary Dingus, of Centre Hall, spent two weeks with her niece, Mrs. Ocker, of Third street. She was here and attended every meeting and was in the Sunday school parade. This is a remarkable record for a woman of 92.

J. Roy Schaeffer, of Centre Hill, will quit farming next spring and do a general huckster business. Mr. Schaeffer has been giving considerable time to this line of work for some time, but only as a side line to farming, of course. After quitting the farm he will devote all his time to huckstering.

The Sunday excursion to Washington, D. C., over the local R. R. branch, was not so well patronized, undoubtedly due to the season of the year. Six tickets were sold from Centre Hall; five from Spring Mills; seventeen from Lemont, and thirty-eight from Bellefonte. The train left Centre Hall at 11:14 o'clock Saturday night, returning early Monday morning.

James S. Swabb, the genial justice of the peace of Harris township, was a business caller at this office on Monday evening. Mr. Swabb's popularity in the neighboring township is shown from the fact that at the last election he had the endorsement of both the Democratic and Republican parties for the office of justice of the peace. They know when they have a good man in Harris township, and try to keep him.

Among the most successful hunting parties in the Seven Mountains this fall was the Sweetwood party, whose members came from Georges Valley and Centre Hall. They killed six bucks and a bear in four and one-half days of actual hunting. The lucky shots were: R. E. Sweetwood, a 5-prong; Andrew Mark, a 6-prong; D. W. Sweetwood, a 4-prong; B. F. Kennelly, a 3-prong; E. J. Sweetwood, a 2-prong; George Long, a spike buck. George Boal and Thomas Kefer had a hand in killing the bear, which was a fine specimen and weighed 250 lbs.

Dental Clinics in Public Schools.

The first Red Cross dental clinic to be scheduled by the State College Red Cross Chapter was held in the Spring Mills Vocational School last Saturday, with Dr. F. A. Robinson in charge. The Chapter has recently purchased dental equipment which was set up in the school building and Mrs. Jones, the nurse, assisted the dentist. Seventeen children were treated, besides cleaning, the work including 25 fillings and 5 extractions. Dr. Kelly, also from State College, conducted a second clinic in the same school, Tuesday of this week. The grade children were treated in the first clinic and the Vocational pupils in the second.

Prof. Gehr, principal of the Vocational school, is enthusiastic about the usefulness of the clinics, both for the actual service given the children, and for their educational value. He states that the children have already been talking of having their teeth more carefully taken care of now that they have started in the school, and he plans to follow it thru the school year with advice for visits to their local dentists frequently.

The appreciation of the school is best shown by the fact that Prof. Gehr asked the Chapter to try to secure a dentist for a third day of the clinic and said they would be glad to pay him something. Fortunately that arrangement could be made with a dentist, who is giving his day of service in another school later in the year. Each dentist in this vicinity has been asked to give one day of time during the school year and they have responded most generously.

Two-day clinics are scheduled in three other schools as follows:

State College—January 17 and 19; Dr. J. J. Kilpatrick and Dr. E. S. Maloy, of Bellefonte.
Centre Hall—February 11 and a half day February 25; Dr. D. K. Musser, of Centre Hall.
Millheim—March 23 and 28; Dr. Gutelius, of Millheim, and Dr. R. L. Stevens, of Bellefonte.

Effort has been made by the Chapter to secure the traveling dental clinic maintained by the State Department of Health and Red Cross headquarters. It could not be scheduled for the present school year but will probably be sent here next year. Dr. C. J. Hollister chief of the dental division of the State Department has expressed much interest in the Chapter dental clinics and plans to visit State College early in the coming year.

By BRISTOW ADAMS.

I am the Country Newspaper.

I am the friend of the family, the bringer of tidings from other friends; I speak to the home in the evening light of summer's vine-clad porch or the glow of winter's lamp.

I help to make this evening hour; I record the great and the small, the varied acts of the days and weeks that go to make up life.

I am for and of the home; I follow those who leave humble beginnings; whether they go to greatness or to the gutter, I take to them the thrill of old days, with wholesome messages.

I speak the language of the common man; my words are fitted to his understanding. My congregation is larger than that of any church in my town; my readers are more than those in the school. Young and old alike find in me stimulation, instruction, entertainment, inspiration, solace, comfort. I am the chronicler of birth, and love and death—the three great facts of man's existence.

I bring together buyer and seller, to the benefit of both; I am part of the market-place of the world. Into the home I carry word of the goods which feed and clothe and shelter, and which minister to comfort, ease, health, and happiness.

I am the word of the week, the history of the year, the record of my community in the archives of state and nation.

I am the exponent of the lives of my readers.

I am the Country Newspaper.

UNIVERSITY ANALYZES TELEPHONE SITUATION

The Ohio State University Bulletin, official publication of the school, in a recent issue prints an analysis of the situation at affecting operating revenues of telephone companies in which it says:

"Rates for telephone service must be at least high enough to cover the cost of giving the service and affording a reasonable return on the investment. Otherwise the telephone companies not only cannot make necessary service extensions, but they cannot continue the present telephone service for any extended period of time.

"When the telephone using public, acting through their representatives, the public utility commissions, force telephone rates below such a point, they injure not only the telephone companies but themselves."

BRITISH TOWN WITH ONLY ONE TELEPHONE

A town without a telephone—there are many such in Africa, India and other remote regions where as yet civilization has barely penetrated. But Uplminster, England, included within the Metropolitan Area in the London directory, with its motor garages, its police stations, and its bus lines, certainly does not belong in the uncivilized category. Yet according to the official records there are no private telephones among its 4,000 residents. At the post office a single public telephone is installed, which is available for use only during regular post office hours.

Repeated petitions to the Postmaster-General asking for additional facilities have thus far been without effect upon the bureaucrats who run the Government-owned telephone system. Telephonically speaking, Uplminster is like Peter Pan. It has never grown up.

THERE'S STOCK AND STOCK

A man who bore the air of a gentleman entered the office of a western public utility company and made inquiry about the company's plan of selling its securities direct to its customers.

He listened for a while and rolled a generous chew of tobacco around and then hit the cuspidor ten feet away without an effort.

"Wal, pardner," he began, "that ere stock what you sell don't eat, don't drink and don't take up no room. It's a d—t right er than my stock right now. Guss I'll just corral some of your stock right now and stop worrying."

RIVAL TO POSTAGE STAMP

Electric, gas, telephone and electric railway rates stand today second only to the two-cent stamp as the cheapest of all commodities purchasable, whether food, fuel, clothing, luxuries or housing.

APPRECIATION HELPS ALL AROUND

More and more people appreciate the value of the telephone—and frequently now they express their appreciation to the telephone employees and executives. And every such expression of appreciation brings the company, its employees and the public into closer relationship.—Telephone.
