TUSSEYVILLE.

Mrs. Mary Ishler and Mrs. Mary Rossman spent last Wednesday with friends in Centre Hall.

Miss Violet Palmer, of Pottery Mills, returned to the home of her aunt, Mrs. Stewart Jordan, for the summer.

Miss Ruth Rockey, who has been working in Lewistown, spent the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Rockey.

The Misses Hazel and Freda Brown, of Colyer, spent a few days with their aunt, Mrs. E. T. Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Slutterbeck and family and Mrs. Charles Slutterbeck made a business trip to Bellefonte last Tuesday.

The Tusseyville school closed on Friday. Those who were in perfect attendance during the term were Goldie Stover and John Hettinger.

SPRING HILLS.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gross Shook on April 12th.

Mrs. T. M. Gramley has been quite ill and is not improving at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Royer spent Saturday at Bellefonte.

Carrie Heckman is finishing the school in the grammar grade. Randall Heckman, the regular teacher, is ill with scarlet rash.

Mary Zuber, little daughter of T. M. Zuber, is ill with scarlet fever.

James Krape, of Bellefonte, was a Sunday visitor at the G. C. King home.

Mrs. Jerry Confer is ill with grippe.

Mrs. Annie Eisenhuth and son Guy spent Easter at Johnstown.

Dean Braucht spent his Easter vacation in the State of Virginia, with the William Sinkabine family.

R. G. Kennelly has gone to the western part of the State to work.

Lewis Rossman is building a new porch to his residence.

War on College Smokers.

Dr. James Henry Morgan, president of Dickinson College, has launched a campaign against the use of tobacco by the students. Several days ago he announced from the chapel that the campaign had begun, but few students took the warning. A day later several freshmen were summoned to the college office and told to stop using cigarettes.

The president has declared his intention of seeing that the State law prohibiting the use of cigarettes by minors is obeyed by the students under his supervision, and the first-year men were the first to be caught.

Brisbane Editorial Review.

The first issue of the Brisbane Editorial Review is now on sale.

In this new book the best known editorial writer in the world tells you how to think and how to train your mind. To read Brisbane is to get an education. To absorb and apply the thoughts of Brisbane mean success.

Read what Brisbane has to say about the "Fifty years past and fifty to come." Of what happened in your father's time and what your children may expect to see. When men will breakfast in Paris and lunch in New York in the same day.

Read what he says about opportunity. How it comes toward you very slowly like a snail and if you don't grasp it, it changes to a fleet rabbit and is gone in a second.

Why is married life dull? Thousands have asked this question time and again. Read what Brisbane says about it.

What sort of ambition should a man have? How can he develop it?

Read how animals control your spirit and how some people are as "sly as a fox," "as brave as a lion," "as treacherous as a snake," etc. Read how you can control the animal spirit.

What are we here for? Is there a man or a woman into whose mind this question has never come? What is your particular task? What are your special duties and possibilities? Read what Brisbane says.

Do our souls come back? Hundreds of millions of human beings believe that after death our souls return and enter other bodies. Read what Brisbane says about it.

Enthusiasm is one great factor in success. It is important especially because it helps a man to get a start. Read what it can do for you and how you can keep it alive.

Brisbane talks to you about these and several other vital subjects in this book.

If your newsdealer or book store cannot supply you with the Brisbane Editorial Review, write to THE ALBERTSON PUBLISHING CO., INC., P. O. Box 20, City Hall Station, New York, N. Y., enclosing twenty-five cents.

Laid Bible Scenes in China

Native Artist Had No Conception of Any Other Land Outside of His Own.

In north Fukien province there dwelt an artist who painted pictures on silk for the gentry of his little village. The people in this secluded hamlet nestled amid the hills, had never seen automobiles or airplanes, nor did they take the long journey to Shanghai to watch the great steamers come in laden with merchandise and messages from the ports of the world. But they knew the words of Confucius and Lao-tse and they lived and died with simple dignity as their fathers had done before them. One evening the artist, who had been working all day on a memorial portrait, strolled out into the dark, cool street to refresh his tired soul, writes Elsie F. Well in Asia Magazine. The tiny white church of the foreign god beyond the tea shop was brilliantly lighted. The artist stood a moment in the open door. The young missionary was talking most eloquently; he was not preaching, but he seemed to be telling stories that were as fascinating as those recited in the bazaars. Almost in spite of himself the artist sank unobtrusively into an empty seat. For the first time he heard some of the beautiful old stories of the Bible, which have held the people of the West enthralled for 2,000 years. And the artist returned to his home and made pictures of the story of Noah and the flood, and of the parables of the lost sheep and of the prodigal son and of many others that were in the book of the western missionary. But he had never heard of the Palestine. To him Noah was Chinese, and the lost sheep belonged to a farmer of his province and the prodigal son might well have been a dissolute youth of his own village.

TWO IDEAS OF CIVIL LIBERTY

Difference Between Governments of Greece and Rome and Those of the Gothic Tribes.

There was this radical difference between the governments of Greece and Rome and those of the Gothic tribes. In the former the state was everything, the individual nothing; the state was thought to have a perfect right to the property, liberty, and even life, of its citizens. In the latter the individual was everything and the state comparatively nothing; all rights were thought to exist, to inhere by nature in the individual; and the state could demand nothing from him for public use without giving him an equivalent. Here we find the fundamental principle of civil liberty; that principle which has been so carefully guarded in the English and in all the Anglo-American constitutions, and which was so happily and tersely expressed by Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence. Our rude Saxon ancestors, though under a kingly government, had more real liberty, and a more just appreciation of the true dignity of man, than had the polished citizens of the republics of the Mediterranean. The legislative authority was vested in the witness-meet, or assembly of wise men.—Dexter A. Hawkins.

Remorseful Ghost.

A pathetic story is told of the ghost of Bisham abbey. It is said that the wife of Sir Thomas Hobby was un-naturally severe with her son, who, it seems, had a peculiar aversion to writing, and in his obstinacy would wilfully blot his copybooks. One day his mother, enraged at his perverseness, lost her self-control and beat the poor boy so unmercifully that he died from his injuries. Since then one of the bedrooms in the abbey has been haunted by the specter of the cruel woman, who glides through the chamber in the act of washing the bloodstains from her hands.

It is stated that some years ago, when an old window shutter of the sixteenth century was removed, "a packet of antique copybooks of that period was discovered pushed into the wall between the joists of the skirting, and several of these books, on which young Hobby's name was written, were covered with blots."

Movie Theaters in Rio.

It is at the cinema theaters that the Cariocas (citizens of Rio de Janeiro) know real comfort; for, unlike our moving-picture houses, those in Rio have spacious waiting-rooms, where you sit, listening to excellent music, until the hour for the first reel comes round. The pioneer house of the kind inaugurated this custom, and now the people refuse to stand outside waiting for the even hour to arrive or to enter after the film has started. With so much profitable space taken from the auditorium, the movies in Rio Janeiro are not as great money-makers as with us. The American favorites are popular, quite outclassing Italian and Brazilian film stars.—Harriet Chalmers Adams in National Geographic Magazine.

Inspect Moths by Machine.

An elaborate machine called the choseliki is used by the Japanese in the inspection of silkworms for disease. The machine in the inspection house of Nagano prefecture requires 2,000 microscopes and a large corps of workers.

Moths are made to lay their eggs each on one square of sheets of cardboard bearing 28 numbered squares. They then are killed, their bodies pulverized and examined. If the bacilli are found, the square containing the eggs laid by the diseased moths is cut out and burned.—Japan Advertiser.

KESSLER'S

IT ISN'T a difficult thing to appreciate fully just why we are all worked up about the New SPRING MERCHANDISE now on view in our store.

There have been few seasons when either the fabrics or models were as attractive as these. In fact we do not see how it would be possible to give more in style or value than we give in this collection. There are novelties, quite natural, and staples for quiet wear.

IN SHOES have every wanted perforation, stitching or finish. Some people want a shoe that is distinctive in looks; some like them severely plain. But all want them to be comfortable always. We can fit you properly, and at a price that you will approve.

Come in and see—no obligation implied—we are glad to see you.
