THE DEATH RECORD.
CORL.—William K. Corl, one of the best known and most highly respected citizens of the western part of the county, died at the home of his mother at Pine Hall on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, after four months illness from an infected index finger, which was amputated. For the last month there was but little hope entertained for his recovery. His death leaves a void that cannot be filled. He was a successful farmer, past master of Washington Grange, P. of H., a member of the I. O. O. F., a lifelong member and a ruling elder of the Reformed church, and Sunday school superintendent. In 1916 he organized the Ferguson township Citizens' band, and was its leader; he was also leader of the church choir. Politically a staunch Democrat, he never missed an election.
He was the oldest son of Peter and Barbara Reish Corl and was born on the old homestead at Pine Hall, March 25, 1863. His life was that of a thrifty farmer, residing 33 years on the same farm. In the spring of 1886 he was united in marriage to Miss Eva Garner, to which union twelve children were born. Funeral services were held in the Pine Hall Reformed church on Wednesday at 2 o'clock p. m., his pastor, Rev. S. C. Stover, officiating. The funeral cortege was the largest in many years, and floral tributes were profuse.

We Want to Mention Three Points in Fertilizer Buying:

1. QUALITY of goods. There is not a better brand of Fertilizer on the market than Baugh's. This company was the first in the United States to manufacture Super-phosphate from Raw Animal Bones.
2. WE CARRY the goods in stock. You can haul them from the warehouse to your field without the extra work of going to the car for them when it arrives and rehandling when ready to use.
3. OUR PRICES are reasonable, even low, when you consider Baugh quality and the thorough service we provide. We allow a liberal cash discount.

On these three points we solicit your spring business. Place your orders early so we will have the goods when you are ready.

How Children Help.
American school children, through the agency of the Junior Red Cross, are making possible the teaching of trades to the children of Albania. The first vocational training school in that country is located at Tirana. It was established by representatives of the Junior Red Cross of America and is being maintained by that organization. In addition to providing machinery and equipment for this school, the Junior Red Cross is supplying books, maps, globes, pencils and all sorts of school supplies to the public schools, which were stripped of all equipment during the war. Particularly entertaining and instructive to the Albanian children are the colored pictures sent overseas by the American children.

Diversity of Immigrants.
The immigrants passing through Ellis Island last year represented 53 different nations, according to a recent statement on the social work of the island. Some of the difficulties of the 15 social workers who meet these people can be imagined, even though each worker speaks several languages herself. The social work of the island is directed by Col. Helen Bastedo of the Department of Labor in Washington, and one of her assistants is a member of the staff of the foreign-born division of the national board, Y. W. C. A., a Czechoslovak by birth, and a social worker with experience in both Europe and America.
Proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof. Thousands praise Tanlac. So will you.—Centre Hall Pharmacy.
