

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. Joseph Lutz is convalescing from a serious illness.

The wind storm on Sunday did some damage to the barn roof on the Arber Cummings farm, west of Old Fort.

New Edison records and instruments, both disc and cylinder, at Hartner's Music Store, Bellefonte. Call soon.

The Harvey Lamey property in Millheim was sold at public sale for $950. J. W. Klinefelter, of Rebersburg, was the purchaser.

Manager Spyker is now making the chips to be used on the streets through the borough after the proposed coat of oil has been applied.

Station Agent W. F. Bradford spent the past week in Charleston, West Virginia, on business, and expects to return home today (Thursday).

Mrs. Roger T. Bayard, of Tyrone, has returned from a pleasant season spent in Washington, D. C., Newport News and other southern cities.

Some $80.00 were contributed toward the support of the Loysville Orphan Home at the children's service in the Lutheran church, Sunday evening.

Miss Anna Sweeney, of Boalsburg, came to Centre Hall to visit her aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Jacobs, who she found confined to bed from an attack of lumbago.

The Reporter is informed that Dr. G. W. Hoesterman is on his way from California to Centre Hall, his old home. At last reports he was somewhere in Ohio visiting among friends.

During the annual vacation of Mail Carrier W. F. Keller, on route No. 1 from the local post office, the mail is being well taken care of by Harry C. Reish, who has recently been named a substitute.

When you look at the large window in the First National Bank, you see some of the work of Peter Hassen, of State College. It was he who did the lettering on the window, and a fine piece of work it is.

Messrs. James Keller and Harold Keller, sons of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Keller, are attending the commencement exercises at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, of which institution the former is a graduate.

The stone for resurfacing the state highway between Old Fort and Millheim have about all been hauled and placed on piles alongside the road. It is presumed the oiling of the roadbed and the application of the stone will be made in the near future.

Sunburns on the arms and shoulders laid up William Garis, or rather kept him sitting up during several days last week. He was doing stone mason work at State College and exposed his muscular arms and shoulders to Old Sol just a bit too long.

Miss Gladys Spicher, daughter of James Spicher, of Cresson, now Mrs. Claycomb, accompanied by her husband and little daughter, Freda, were guests for a short time at the H. J. Lambert home in Centre Hall last week. The Claycombs live in Altoona.

There was an unusually heavy rainfall Sunday afternoon. In various sections of the valley the storm, which accompanied the rain, uprooted forest and fruit trees and did damage to fences and other light structures. Many automobile parties were storm-stayed and found roads in bad condition after the sun shown again.

To convince our readers of the small income of the average newspaper, the Reporter need only state that the Lewisburg Journal office was burglarized the other night and but eleven cents were secured and this sum belonged to a bookkeeper. The Journal further states that that sum was the largest amount of money ever in the office at one time.

Elmer M. Miller was one of several mail clerks on the train that was wrecked near York, last week. When he stepped from his car the first sight was the engineer who was first thought to be dead, but when released was found to have a spark of life. Among the passengers was a trained nurse who in trying to reach the injured, fell through a bridge and was so badly injured that she died a few days later.

During the past week gravel was applied to the south slope of Nittany Mountain, above Centre Hall. The portion of the road from here to the bricked section has been in very bad condition for a year or more. Bellefonte would be much nearer to Centre Hall and all points in the valley if the brick section of the road were extended to the foot of the mountain. It is generally conceded that the county seat would be largely benefited if this section of the road were completed by the state and that that town should insist that the road is built.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

The Millheim Chautauqua opens on Monday for a four-day session.

W. F. Bradford just received a new Dodge sedan, purchased through the Boozer-Smith agency.

The Sprucetown Methodist Sunday-school will observe Children's Day with a service on Sunday morning, 10 o'clock.

Centre Hall and Linden Hall baseball teams will meet on Grange Park Saturday afternoon in what will likely be an interesting game.

Frederic Moore was graduated from Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport, on Wednesday of this week, and will return to his home here for a short vacation.

A Children's Day program will be given by the Union Sunday-school at Farmers Mills, on the evening of June 18th, to which the general public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fisher are on a visit to their daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) E. Roy Corman, at Cressona. They made the trip in their new Dodge sedan.

B. H. Brown, of Tusseyville, advertises at public sale on Saturday of this week, a lot of new merchandise (store goods), and also used articles. Read the ad. in this issue.

As this issue is being printed the Centre Hall and Hubersburg High school baseball teams are on the diamond at State College determining the championship of Centre county.

The frame work of the dwelling house being erected by L. R. Lingle is up and ready for the roof. The structure is novel in its general design and when completed will be fine in appearance.

Miss Elizabeth Sweetwood, who holds a clerical position in the Mechanics' National bank at Trenton, N. J., accompanied by Miss Myrtle Maloy, of the same city, is visiting at her home in Centre Hall.

Miss Nancy McWilliams, of Pennsylvania Furnace, was elected assistant cashier of the First National bank, at a meeting of the directors on Tuesday evening. Miss McWilliams is well qualified for the place.

Reports from the Geisinger hospital, Danville, say that Mrs. E. H. Grove may be operated on for the removal of a goiter today (Thursday). Mr. Grove went to the hospital on Monday and will remain there until after the operation.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Luse, on Tuesday evening, entertained the Men's Bible Class of the Lutheran Sunday-school, of which class Mr. Luse is a member and superintendent of the school. The evening was most delightfully spent and the refreshments served most delicious.

Calvin F. Shaulis, who just graduated from Penn State, was in town on Tuesday, having come here to greet old friends acquired while stopping with the senior editor a year ago. Mr. Shaulis is engaged in farming in Somerset county, just south of Johnstown, and beside planting ten acres to potatoes, he set out eight hundred apple trees this spring. He closed his studies in mid-winter and came to State to receive his diploma.

A slight automobile accident occurred a few days ago at Spring Mills when Fred Harkinson, driving a new Ford car, attempted to pass Bright Bitner who was driving a Ford truck up the hill between the silk mill and Long's store. The cars struck each other and one of them struck a fence at the top of the hill. Harkinson and James Zerby, his companion, were both cut from broken pieces of the windshield, but there were no real serious injuries.

Among the Reporter's business callers on Wednesday was C. G. Decker, of Spring Mills, a member of the firm of Decker Brothers, who are doing an extensive automobile business in Centre county, having business places at Spring Mills and State College, and just a week or more ago purchased the "Big Spring" garage at Bellefonte, which will be conducted in addition to those now operated by them. The Deckers are making a drive on Chevrolet cars and have sold a large number of them.

This is only a guess, but the Reporter thinks it a good one to say that Samuel C. Hoy, who for several years made his home in Centre Hall and has a host of friends here, and Miss Emma Yearick, of Howard, are off on a wedding tour. Mr. Hoy ten days ago purchased a new Dodge roadster and in this nobby vehicle he and Mrs. Yearick started on a journey to Coalport, Clearfield county, with designs in mind. Mrs. Yearick is a most estimable woman and an acquaintance of Mr. Hoy since youth. The couple on their return will receive a hearty welcome on all sides.
