Read What Mrs. Lucas Writes Concerning Her Troubles, Which May be Just Like Yours

St. Louis, Mo. - "I had troubles that all women are apt to have, with pains in my back, weak, tired, nervous feelings and a weak stomach. I had been this way about a year and was unable to work or stand on my feet for any length of time. My husband's aunt told me how much good Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound had done her and begged me to try it, so I did. All my pains and weakness are gone, my stomach is all right and I do my work at home and also work for Swift's Packing Company. I recom-mend your Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may publish my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. Lulu Lucas, 719A Vandeventer St., St. Louis, Mo.

Again and again one woman tells another of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

You who work must keep yourself strong and well. You can't work if you are suffering from such troubles. Mrs. Lucas couldn't. She tried our Vegetable Compound and her letter tells you what it did for her. Give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial

ERROR IN MODEL'S JUDGMENT

Criticism on a Par With Some Others That Have Come Under Observation.

There is an old saying that a beautiful painting judges us, not we the painting. So in most things. Most people think they are passing judgment, when in reality their lack of real knowledge is "showing them up." Wherefore, many people keep their mouths shut most of the time.

A little knowledge may be a dangerous thing, but most to be desired. Recently a man was looking at a beautiful photograph of a modern Greek girl posed in front of the Parthenon. It was a symphony of the old and new, the glory that was Greece, to quote Poe's immortal phrase again, and the beauty that always characterizes a lovely woman.

"Isn't that a fine picture?" he asked another.

The other surveyed the photograph critically. "Yes." he said. "She's got awful surroundings, though. What did she go up in the rocks for?"

If a man has some article to sell he hardly ever thinks there is too much immigration.

Help That Aching Back! Is your back giving out? Are you tortured with backache and stabbing pains? Does any exertion leave you "all played out"? Feel you just can't keep going? Likely your kidneys are to blame. Overwork, strains, hurry and worry tend to weaken the kidneys. Backache is often the first warning. Headaches and dizziness may come, too and annoying bladder irregularities. Help the kidneys with Doan's Kidney

STATE INSPECTS HATCHERIES

Poultry Industry in Wisconsin Under State Regulation-Certificates Are Given.

The Wisconsin poultry hatcheries are the only ones in the United States which are under state regulation and inspection, according to information collected by the United States Department of Agriculture. Because of the menace to the poultry industry through the sale of young chicks of inferior quality and breeding, the state department of markets and the poultry department of the University of Wisconsin have established regulations and requirements for hatchery flocks and for hatcheries, and those that fill the requirements and live up to the regulations will be known as "Wisconsin inspected and accredited hatcheries and hatchery flocks." A list of the accredited hatcheries and flocks has been prepared and published. Chicks purchased from hatcheries on the list bear the mark of the department of markets, which gives assurance that they are standard bred and from reasonably good egg-producing strains. Inspectors issue certificates to owners of hatcheries and flocks that fill the requirements.

PLANT ONLY BEST CORN SEED

Possible to Secure Results of Another Man's Life Work in Breeding and Selecting.

Perhaps in no other farm crop is there as little excuse for planting poor seed as in corn. It takes only about a peck to the acre, and the best of seed can be planted with little expense. When one can secure the results of another man's life efforts in breeding and selecting, the small cost comes back many times the very first

Small Acreage Is More Profitable When Properly Cared for Than Large Tracts,

A small farm well tilled will give better returns than a large acreage poorly cared for. If more farmers would learn this lesson, which the gardener learned long ago, we would have better farms and the owner would Cady, associate horticulturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

FARMERS ENGAGED IN RAISING SILVER FOX

Estimated That $8,000,000 Is Invested in Industry.

Problems Met Require Knowledge of Species, Treatment, Sanitation, Diseases and Parasites-Handle Wild Animals.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

More fur farmers are engaged in raising foxes than any other fur-bearing animal, according to reports to the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. Observations made in the field by representatives of the survey indicate that at least 500 ranchers are raising silver foxes, and that there are between 12,000 and 15,000 foxes in captivity. It is estimated that about $8,000,000 is invested in this industry.

The industry of breeding fur-bear-rapid development of the modern fur trade in the last twenty-five years. The United States is the largest fur market and fur-consuming country in the world.

Many inquiries concerning fox farming are sent to the biological survey. The problems met by fox and other fur farmers require, as in the case of other live stock, a knowledge of species, temperament, sanitation, diseases and parasites. In addition, fur farmers are handling wild animals in captivity and not domestic stock. A knowledge of pelts, particularly of values and market requirements, is essential to success from the business standpoint, and this ordinarily means to visit personally warehouses, manufacturing furriers, or sales of furs. As breeders cannot always do this, representatives of the biological survey are constantly bringing before them all possible information relating to the fur industry in allaits phases.

SLIDES ON BETTER FARMING

Most Popular Set Has Been One IL lustrating "Better Sires-Better Stock."

Two hundred and ninety-one sets of lantern slides were loaned to extension workers in 46 states during January, February, and March by the United States Department of Agriculture for use in illustrating better methods in farming and home making. Agricultural instructors and other teachers also found the slides useful, for 451 sets were sent to schools during this time.

The most popular set has been one illustrating "Better Sires-Better Stock." Next in demand to slides on this subject were those on home grounds improvement, followed by corn production, public road improvement, poultry management, dairying, forage crops and a wide variety of agricultural and home economics sub-

CLEAN OUT ALL FENCE ROWS

Such Pests as Grasshoppers, Wire Worms and Cut Worms Can Be Controlled.

Insect pests, such as grasshoppers, wire worms and cut worms, can be controlled to quite an extent by cleaning up the old grass and weeds on the unused land along fence lines and on waste land, According to F. A. Fenton, entomologist at Iowa State college, these locations harbor such pests, and by cleaning them up early, many insects will be killed before they start work.

Where pests have been prevalent on any area, rotation of crops will often starve out the offenders. This is particularly true of wire worms, cut worms and corn root worms.

BIG IMPORTANCE OF TOMATO

No Single Garden Crop So Easily Grown-Success Depends on Soil and Cultural Methods.

There is probably no single garden crop so easily grown, and at the same time playing so large part in the winter supply of canned goods, as the tomato. Therefore, in the face of the high prices of canned and uncanned food stuff, more attention should be given to this valuable crop, to provide an abundant supply for the home and local market.

Successful tomato growing is largely dependent upon judicious soil seleclikely have more ready money,-LeRoy | tion, fertilizer application, and cultural methods. The best soil for tomatoes is the well drained garden loam soft.
