

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Penn State will open its fall term September 13th.

October 27th has been designated as Arbor Day for Pennsylvania.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Benner, in Centre Hall, on Monday.

Master Elwood Smith is visiting his uncle, Elliot Smith, in Pittsburgh, having made the trip unaccompanied.

Mrs. W. S. Slick and sons, Jefferson and William, are visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. Bruce Auman, at Struthers, Ohio.

The Buffalo Valley Fruit Farm, located about six miles northeast of Millinburg, are expected to yield 20,000 bushels of peaches.

Sumner Packer, who had been a student at the Hiram (Ohio) College the past year, is spending his vacation at his home in Centre Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Domes S. Ishler and children, on Sunday, drove to Central Oak Heights, near West Milton, where a campmeeting is in progress. F. P. Geary and family are also quartered on the park.

"Sam," the friendly old hound owned by former Sheriff Cyrus Brungart, was killed a few days ago to relieve him from suffering. The old hound was everybody's friend, and there are regrets for this passing away.

Prof. and Mrs. Francis X. Keul, of Philadelphia, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Bower, of near Potters Mills. Mrs. Keul and Mrs. Bower are sisters. Prof. Keul is a platform lecturer and is a genial gentleman.

Mrs. Tacie Gueth, Mrs. Flora Wirth and Mrs. Charles Brant, all of Freeport, Ill., attended the funeral of their uncle, A. N. Corman, at Rebersburg, on Monday, and are now visiting a mong relatives in Brush Valley.

Edward Durst, Mrs. Alice Durst, Miss Sarah Neff and H. Leigh Elbright composed an auto party who on Sunday drove to Mexico, Juniata county, to spend the day with the latter's wife at a cottage on a camp site near Mexico.

There is every reason to believe that Centre county farmers are not discouraged with the low prices for farm products, or that the year's work will not prove one of profit. It can be proven by the acts of farmers themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Zettie, two daughters and son, Reuben, on Sunday drove to Johnstown to see friends with whom the former was engaged in the construction of a number of houses while working in the Johnstown region.

Miss Helen Bartholomew and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Lutz motored to Lewisburg on Sunday, from which place they were accompanied home by Mrs. C. D. Bartholomew and daughter, who had been visiting relatives and friends at Liverpool and other points.

George Tate, of Duquesne, who came to Centre county to attend the funeral of a sister-in-law, at Pleasant Gap, was in Centre Hall over Sunday. He is a brother of Mrs. F. D. Lee and a cousin of W. E. Tate, and also a relative of Clayton Musser, all of whom he visited while here.

On Friday evening a number of students of Centre Hall High school gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. William Bradford, at which time they presented Mrs. Bradford, their former teacher, with a handsome mahogany clock as a token of esteem. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Deitz, of Harrisburg, were in Centre Hall on Monday. Mrs. Deitz is a daughter of Mrs. Sallie Kamp, of Lock Haven, and will be recalled as Miss Edna Kamp by many of the Reporter readers. The Deitz children are now with Grandma Kamp to a romp before school opens.

J. Frank Meyer, of Washington, D. C., is spending a part of his vacation in Penns Valley. Mr. Meyer holds an important post in the Bureau of Standards and appears to be a permanent fixture owing to his superior ability. He is a son of the late Jacob Meyer, of near Penn Hall, and brother of Harry N. Meyer, the Bellefonte insurance agent. Mr. Meyer is accompanied by his son, who is enjoying country life to the full extent.

A fire, on Saturday morning, destroyed the garage of the Phillipsburg Motor Bus Company, in Phillipsburg, and also did damage to the Pritchard garage and several dwelling houses. The loss is estimated at $40,000, the garage itself being valued at $15,000. The loss was partly insured. Workmen in the garage are unable to tell how the fire originated and some of them had difficulty in escaping.

Mrs. H. C. Gettig, of North Brad-dock, and Miss Orpha Fleisher, of Colyer, were callers at this office on Monday. Mrs. Gettig and family of six children are camping near Colyer, to give the children the benefit of a real romp and fresh air in the country. They have been in camp several weeks and will remain until school opens. Mr. Gettig, who is a contractor and builder, was at Colyer just long enough to set up the recreation home and then returned to work.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

The annual Williams reunion will be held on Saturday, near Martha.

Mrs. J. A. Alkih, of Cleveland, is a guest at the W. F. Bradford home.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Dunlap, of Reading, were arrivals in Centre Hall Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde A. Boyer, of Sunbury, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Goodhart, in Centre Hall.

H. Lee Brooks, of Pleasant Gap, was a Reporter caller on Saturday evening and boosted his subscription to 1923.

Bellefonte citizens are lamenting the fact that its population prefers the carnival to the chautauqua. That is what twenty-five years of training does.

Rev. M. C. Drumm has returned from his vacation and has decided to hold services on the charge during the remainder of August, his vacation month.

Preaching services will be held in the Reformed church at Centre Hall on Sunday morning, 10:30, and at Tusseyville in the evening, 7:30. Rev. E. Roy Corman, of Cressona, will preach.

Frank D. Smith, of Centre Hall, who is working on state road construction near Centre Furnace, found a copper coin—a penny—dated 1890, a few days ago. The coin was buried two feet below the surface of the ground.

The members of the W. C. T. U. held their regular monthly meeting at Penns Cave, Saturday evening, and lunched on the pavilion. Mrs. R. P. Campbell, who is a member of the society, made provision for lacking "numbers" on the bill of fare.

Philip Mingle, for a few days last week, was a guest of relatives in Centre Hall. He has grown to be a young man of manly appearance. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Gross Mingle, who are now living in West Chester.

Mrs. W. B. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yearick, of Howard; Mrs. A. E. Henderson, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde A. Smith at the Mrs. Margaret Smith home in Centre Hall, on Sunday. The former is the mother of the junior Mrs. Smith.

John P. Harris, of Bellefonte, celebrated his ninetieth birthday, a few days ago. He began life as a clerk in the Humes, McAlister & Co. bank, and continued in the banking business until his retirement, a few years ago. For one of his age, Mr. Harris enjoys unusual good health.

If Stephen Matis runs across some one of the parties who have been repeatedly entering his corn field and helping themselves liberally, they'll rue it. Mr. Matis lives on the Broeckerhoff farm, beyond the Old Fort, and is keeping one eye on his growing corn field while the other is sleeping.

The Waite reunion will be held at the Waite homestead, at Stormstown, Saturday. There are eleven brothers and sisters in the Waite family, scattered in all parts of the U. S. Miss Sarah Waite, a member of this family, a teacher in the Hazelton schools, visited friends in Centre Hall a short time ago.

The rousting of postmasters during the past year or more seems to have had a bad effect on the mail service between Centre Hall and State College. A letter dated June 30, post-marked at the latter place bearing date of July 11, 5 a. m., was delivered here on Tuesday morning, a bit over a month later.

Newton Kreider and sister Mae, accompanied by Mrs. Laura Schure and Miss Decant, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kreider at Rebersburg, on Sunday. Among other guests were Dr. and Mrs. Henry R. Kreider and family, of Ohio. Dr. Kreider very ably filled the Lutheran pulpit of that place Sunday morning and the Reformed pulpit, Sunday evening.—Millinburg Telegraph.

It is not quite clear why prohibition should be an issue in the campaign in Ohio, Wisconsin, and other states. Prohibition may be opposed by parties and individuals, but it is constitutional law and the election of a few senators and congressmen will accomplish nothing toward repeal. All their election will amount to will be an expression of the opinion of a minority which, according to present indications, will never become a majority.

Messrs. J. Frank Snyder and William I. Betts, of Clearfield, were pleas ant callers at the Reporter office on Friday. They spent a short time at the Gregg township community picnic, but did not mar the pleasure of the picnicers by referring in any way to politics. Reporter readers will recognize these men to be Democratic candidates for congress and state senator, respectively, from this congressional and this senatorial district. If you have not yet met them, you will during the Encampment and Fair, for they will be on the park on both Wednesday and Thursday. They are both clean-cut gentlemen of business ability, for whom none need hesitate to vote, be he Democrat, Republican or independent voter.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Word from Mrs. William F. Keller, now at a Devon private sanatorium, indicates that she is improving.

George E. Meyer, the piano tuner from Boalsburg, was in town last Thursday tuning pianos for Chester Spyker, D. K. Keller and Jacob Sharer.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayburn Breen and children, of Lock Haven, were entertained over Sunday by Mrs. Breen's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Mitterling, in Centre Hall.

L. C. Runkle, of Orangeville, Illinois, is visiting among friends in Penns Valley. He is a son of the late Hugh Runkle, who left Potters Mills many years ago to locate in northern Illinois.

The Centre County Farmers' Co-operative Association will hold a big picnic in Johnson's woods, one and one-half miles west of State College, on August 26th. Everybody come and bring your friends with you.

Felix Hessick, accompanied by two daughters and son-in-law, of Green Springs, Ohio, drove through Centre Hall a few days ago and made inquiry through B. D. Brisbin of a number of older residents of Potter township. Mr. Hessick went west forty or more years ago from the Colyer region. A brother, John Hessick, who went west about the same time, is located in Michigan. The gentleman is the son of Jacob Hessick, who will be recalled by many readers of this item.
