A Democratic meeting will be held in the Court House, 8 o'clock Friday evening, at which six of the Democratic candidates in nomination will be Scholl, candidate for U. S. Senator; present. Betts, candidate for state senator; Miss Zoe Meek, candidate for assembly. This will give you an opportunity to meet the candidates personally.

Women have long been wanting to vote, believing they could better the government of the state and nation. They have that privilege now, and also of proving that they are capable of bringing about better conditions. If women really believe what they have been saying they will vote for Miss Zoe Meek and elect her a member of the legislature.

THE DEATH RECORD

HOY.—After an illness extending over a period of ten years, J. Emory Hoy died at his home at 5008 Florence Avenue, Philadelphia, on Saturday morning. He had been confined to bed since the beginning of June, yet he and his immediate friends were hopeful that death would be stayed. Mr. Hoy was active in business life during all of his life, having been in Philadelphia for thirty years, during which time he was always engaged, except for a brief period at the close of his active career, in office work of some character. He began life at an accountant's desk and filled various positions until the establishment of the Belmont Trust company, eighteen years ago, with which at its opening he became identified. From that time until his health forced him to the open, he held important posts in the institution. On leaving the trust company, he took up insurance brokerage.

Mr. Hoy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoy, of State College, deceased, and was born in that town. His marriage to Miss Anna Mingle took place twenty-six years ago. She and a daughter, Miss Elizabeth S., survive. There also survive two brothers, namely, Newton and William Hoy, both of State College.

Mr. Hoy was an active member of the Presbyterian church for many years. Services at the grave at Centre Hall were conducted by Rev. J. F. Bingman, of the Evangelical church, who was a friend of the family. He interested himself in many public affairs and stood high in the councils of his wide acquaintance. His age was fifty-three years.

JODON.—Mrs. Jemima J. Jodon, widow of the late Edward L. Jodon, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Reuben Lucas, in Philipsburg, following an illness that dates back to six months ago.

She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tibbens and was born in Marlon township on March 24th, 1852, hence was in her seventy-first year. Practically all her married life was spent in Spring township but after the death of her husband five years ago she went to Philipsburg and made her home with her daughter. She was a faithful member of the Methodist church for many years and always among the leaders in the various branches of church work.

Her surviving children are Foster Jodon, of near Centre Hall; Mrs. Paul Carner, of Hubbersburg; Reeder Jodon, of Pleasant Gap; and Mrs. Lucas, of Philipsburg. She also leaves the following brothers and sisters: William Tibbens, of Kuytstown, Va.; Mrs. John J. Noll, and Samuel Tibbens, of Peabody, Kan.; Henry Tibbens and Mrs. Alice Showers, of Bellefonte; Mrs. Potter Tate, of Pleasant Gap, and Dr. J. E. Tibbens, of Beech Creek.

Interment was made in Bellefonte, after services were held in the Methodist church.

CORL.—Mrs. Anna Barbara Corl, widow of the late Peter Corl, passed away at her home at Pine Hall, of general debility. She was a daughter of Jacob and Maria Pontius Reish and was born in Union county on March 16th, 1841, hence hence was aged 81 years, 6 months and 14 days. On May 28th, 1863, she married Peter Corl, at Pine Hall, and all their married life was spent in that vicinity.

Mr. Corl passed away five years ago but surviving he are the following children: J. Clayton, of Pine Grove Mills; Samuel I. Mrs. David Krebs, P. Milford, D. Otis, Mrs. Charles Strouse, Alvin K., all living in the western end of the county; Cora M., at home, and J. Madison, also of Ferguson township. Her eldest son, William K., died only a short time ago, while two children, Benjamin and Winfield S., died in infancy. She leaves thirty-eight grand-children and eleven great grand-children, as well as two sisters and a brother, namely: Mrs. C. H. Struble, of State College; Mrs. Kate Shaffer, of Muncy, and Dr. Samuel Reish, of Pleasant Gap.

She was a life-long member of the Reformed church and funeral services were held in the Pine Hall church by Rev. S. C. Stover, interment being made in the Pine Hall cemetery.

We have had Republican assemblymen and state senators ever since the State Highway Department has been building roads. Do you see any concrete roads on the south side of Centre county? Don't you think it is time to have representatives at Harrisburg who will interest themselves and give a square deal to all parts of Centre county? Do you recall the condition of the roads in Penna Valley last winter? Do you recall how the roads were cleansed of snow in other parts of Centre county and not a dollar spent in Penna Valley for the removal of snow banks? Didn't you swear until you were blue in the face when you stuck in a snow bank? Now, are you going to vote for Harry B. Scott or any other Republican to continue this condition in Penna Valley?

Tell your friends about the Democratic meeting in the Court House, Friday night and help them get 40 it.

Meeting of Local Ministerium.

At the call of president Drumm the members of the Ministerium, of Centre Hall met at the home of the president. Those present were Revs. Bingman, Drumm, Catherman and Kirkpatrick. A report was given by the Rev. Mr. Catherman of the District Conference which had been held in the Evangelical church of Centre Hall. The report was accepted. The ministerium then agreed to co-operate with the Young People's Council of District No. 11 in inviting the annual conference of the Young People's Division of the Centre County Sabbath School Association to be held in Centre Hall on October 26th, 1922. This conference is to be held in the Lutheran church with the exception of where there are two or more sessions at the same hour, in such cases one of the other churches will be used.

A committee of two young people was chosen from each church who are to meet with Rev. Drumm Monday night, October 16, at the Lutheran parsonage. Rev. Drumm, who is chairman of the committee on entertainment with these committees from all the churches will plan for the entertainment of the delegates while they are in Centre Hall. The names of those on the different church committees are as follows:

Methodist, Frederick Moore and Stella Hosterman; Reformed, Vivian Packler and Mildred Bitts; Evangelical, Agnes Geary and Ruth Bingman; Presbyterian, William Sweetwood and Geo. Goodhart; Lutheran, Elizabeth Royer and Harvey Flink.

All citizens are invited to assist in making this convention a success.

The ladies of the Evangelical church have agreed to serve the dinner in the evening at the Grange hall, for the small fee of $1.00 per plate. They want to know how many chickens will need to be headed so they insist on all persons to get their tickets before the day of the convention.—J. M. Kirkpatrick, secretary.

New Farm Machinery and Tractors.

The undersigned has just unloaded a carload of I. H. C. Tractors, 8-16 size; also a carload of manure spreaders and the serviceable Weber wagons. This is a fine lot of standard farm vehicles and machinery and you are requested to come to my barn and look this line over before making your final decision in the purchase of anything in this line. Prices are somewhat lower than heretofore.

Come at least and look them over.

D. W. BRADFORD,
Centre Hall, Pa.

We have it now that Penn State is assured of Pinchot's support. Dear me, we have had the same assurance of every governor of Pennsylvania during the past twenty-five years. Every governor elected during that time has made all kinds of promises to Penn State students and its president how he would see to it that Penn State would get a decent appropriation. What has been the result? Have they fulfilled their promises? Do you recall what Sproul did? He cut it 50-50 after the legislature did real handsomely. The trouble is these candidates for governor on the Republican ticket forget that the machinery must be kept oiled. Why, no doubt some of the money cut off the Penn State appropriation by Governor Sproul went to make up that $3000 extra salary illegally gobbled by Pinchot himself. There are a hoard of Republicans in Pennsylvania looking after $3000 drabs and these must be taken care of, and if Pinchot is elected he will do it. The "boys" made it possible for him—a millionaire to get his $3000 extra annually and if he gets into that big chair he is going to be a good fellow to his own kind regardless of what is left for Penn State.

A big howl is being sent up that Scott is for Philipsburg. That is true. Taxpayers on the south side of Centre county should interest themselves in the election of William I. Betts, who will at all times have a like interest in all parts of Centre county.

If you don't believe William I. Betts, the Democratic candidate for state senator, will be able to intelligently bring before the senate the wants of the people of his district, go to the Democratic meeting scheduled to be held in the Court House, Friday evening. He has brains and snap, too.

W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Miss Grace Smith Saturday evening 7:30

LETTERS FROM SUBSCRIBERS.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 29, 1922.

Editor Reporter:

Some time ago I appealed to the Centre Reporter relative to my regret in being unable to attend the Rishel reunion in Centre county, and also appealed to prospective tourists coming into the west not to forget visiting Chicago and take in some of the numerous sights enroute. I have had the honor and pleasure of being surprised by having an automobile party call on me for a very short period, viz: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Hosterman, John and Nannie Jordan and son, also Greeley Jordan, all from Centre county, and in the party was Mrs. Mary Hosterman of Edwardsburg, Mich. They were here for one day, Tuesday, Sept. 26th. The program for the day was the following: Chicago post office, Continental Bank building, the elevated train to the Union stock yards where Armour and Co. plant was visited; hog sheep and cattle killing, ice plant, engine room, cooling rooms, and butterline factory; and the various departments putting up meats. Next was the Boston Store, taking a ride on the moving stairway, first to eighth floors. Next, King Joy Lo Chop Suey, you bet, for dinner. Next was the top of Masonic Temple, 21 stories; Banehe and Mary faded and stopped at the 19th floor—too high up—the rest going to the top for observations on Lake Michigan, park and high buildings. Next, a stroll along Michigan boulevard to the Art Institute for observations on art and ancient relics. Time was nearing for rest and train leaving Chicago. It surely gave me great pleasure to be with them.

COAL MINING

Has become the most important industry of Clearfield and Centre counties. It stopped for five months because of a dispute between operators' association and miner's union. No laws defined their rights; no courts could decide them. During the quarrel the miners gradually used up all their savings. Merchants sold less goods and had to give more credit. Both merchant and miner drew down their bank accounts; bankers called in loans, and manufacturers and farmers were pinched. The trouble having been patched up for a few months by raising coal prices, cement, steel and brick plants are raising prices or reducing production; and hand glass plants claim they must lower wages or shut down. Rising prices for such material may cause a slump in the building boom like that of 1921.

Mine Workers' leaders wisely incorporated in the strike settlement a fact-finding joint commission. Government officials propose a price-fixing plan, and a railroad car distribution plan; and some congressmen advocate Federal operation of railroads.

I prefer Theodore Roosevelt's control plan. I desire an Interstate Coal Commission with powers like those which the Interstate Commerce Commission exercises over railroads. Now my brick and tile factories can sell anywhere without fear of unfair competition. The railroads also have profited; and their trainmen are in less peril of life or limb. Miner's lives and limbs are just as precious. Industry and commerce are quite as dependent on coal being regularly supplied at fair prices. I am not financially interested nor employed in coal mining; and, if sent to Congress will represent all concerned in an impartial, businesslike way. Clip and preserve this article.
