MILLHEIM.

(From the Journal.)
A baby boy—the second son in the family—was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Duck.

A baby daughter was a recent arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Hosterman, of West Main street.

A Parent-Teachers association was organized in the Millheim high school building last Thursday evening.

On Friday evening, November 3, the girls' class of the Millheim Reformed Sunday-school, assisted by local talent, will present at the Auditorium, the college play, "The House Across the Way," with interspersions of monolog and song. Proceeds for an assumed obligation.

On Monday morning at 3 o'clock, Mrs. Wilmer M. Stover, of Aaronsburg, was summoned to the telephone and her son, Victor T. Stover, of Akron, O., talking to her and informed her that twin babies—a boy and a girl—were born to them at their Akron home at 2 o'clock that morning.

William Matis, who for some time conducted a shoe repair shop in the Duck building, sold his shop to Roy L. Bartley, of Spring Mills. Mr. Matis expects in the very near future to sail for Italy and when he returns to the United States he will be accompanied by his wife and two children.

What is to be known as the Penns Valley Game and Fish Protective association has been formed at Coburn. A large scope of land has been leased and will be posted and hunting and fishing will not be allowed on the leased grounds except by members of the association. The officers of the association are as follows: W. C. Krader, president; A. M. Harter, vice president; C. N. Bartges, secretary; W. J. Harter, treasurer. Directors—S. W. Gramley, L. L. Weaver, Millheim; J. C. Musser, Woodward; A. B. Meyer, R. T. Eisenhuth, Coburn.

COLYER.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jordan and son Luke arrived home after a three months visit in various points in Michigan, Illinois and Iowa, and on Tuesday evening of last week a number of friends and neighbors gathered at their home and gave them a welcome home party. This was a complete surprise to them. The lady friends prepared good things, such as sandwiches, coffee, cake and ice cream, and all had a delightful time. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martz and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller and son, Mr. and Mrs. John Jordan and son Luke, Mrs. G. R. Meiss, Marion Yarnell, Ella Meiss, Violet Palmer, Katharine Yarnell, Andrew Jordan, Greely Jordan, Irvin Meiss, Sterl Stoner, Stanley McClellan.

A Feast of Laughter.

The armies of readers who each Sunday have laughed at the funny doings of the characters in the New York Sunday American's Comic Supplement have had only one complaint to make. Like Oliver Twist, they have been asking continually for "more." And to satisfy this demand, the Comic Supplement has been made double size, beginning on October 15. The result is an 8-page Comic Magazine in colors, filled with twice as many laughs as you ever got before.

Besides those mischievous Katzenjammers the exploits of Maud the Mule, and St. and Happy Hooligan and the others, "Down on the Farm," the stratagems of Boob McNutt and the inimitable Jiggs, or "Bringing Up Father," four other stars of the first magnitude in the comic heavens join your Sunday morning family circle. "Barney Google" comes in with his whimsicalities; "Toots and Casper" and the Kid enter with "Little Jimmy" and "Tillie the Toller."

Here is the greatest comic feast any newspaper has ever provided to readers. Every one of the cartoonists who created those eight features is the best in his line. And this double size, 8-page comic section in colors costs no more than before. The old comic section started the day right in hundreds of thousands of homes, with mirth and laughter. And now the new comic section will start the day doubly right with a full feast of laughter.

Woodward District Has Three Fires.

Three fires occurred the week of October 1st on the Bald Eagle district. All were near Woodward—the first on the knob just south of that place, the second about a mile farther east, and the third near the state highway about a mile east of the town. In each case Ranger Motz had his well trained crew of fire fighters on the job very soon after the discovery of the fire and by fast and efficient work succeeded in getting the fires under control before they had spread over a very large area. All three burned less than twenty-five acres. Because of the extreme drought everything was killed and the sumus destroyed. At many places the fire burned a foot deep in the ground and the task of keeping the fires under control was even greater than putting them out. Water was carried and hauled at many places and at other places the lines had to be trenched to mineral soil. The recent rains finished the task of extinction.

All of the fires were of incendiary origin. Why some outlaws persist in trying to burn that beautiful country is not definitely known. It is definitely known that every good citizen of that region was on the job and supported Ranger Motz loyally. Travelers along the state highway stopped their autos and offered assistance, a number of them going to the fire line and fighting fire in their good clothes.

Unfortunately, the guilty parties escaped but with public sentiment against them and every good citizen a detective, the fire-bug must soon travel the trail of the old-time destructive lumbeman.

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions.
