Horn Said to Have Transmitted . Sounds Distinctly for a Most Remarkable D.stones.

A length of 35 feet and an opening of 12 feet square are the measurements of the world's largest horn for broadcasting muste received by radio. This giant horn is in successful daily operation at Idora park, a public amusement resort in California. The broadcasting capacity of this huce fastruments is sufficient to carry radio masic throng nour an area of approximately 19 square miles,

In addition to the general interest in its sheer size and amplifying range. it is of absorbing importance to the radio expert because of the fact that, reproducer, such true tones have been produced as to eliminate what is technically known as "distortion."

One thousand feet of clear airplane shruce lumber went into the construction of this born. The engineers who built it were confronted with difficulties of design and erection owing to Its clant size. It is equipped with n late type of radio reproducer and

The highest point above sea level ever real by a human being afoot, 27, 60 feet, was affained, with the aid of or gen-breathing apparatus, by two members of the Mount Everest expedition at moon, the 27th of last May says Henry S. White in the Popthar Mechanics Magazine. This brought the authorers within 1,702 feet of the summit, the highest point on the earth's surface. The final attempt the monsoon broke June 3, definitely frustrating any further efforts for this year at least. When the monsoon breaks on Mount Everest, there is no alternative but to get off the mountain as soon as possible, It has now been definitely proved that the mountain itself at the highest points reached is not difficult to climb, and the two explorers who came so near to reaching the actual summit were able to proceed along the north face without ropes. The one and only obstacle that made the summit unattainable was the bad weather, and with the monsoon left out, it is certain that the summit will be reached at the care attacent. The two explorers who reached this highest point leaders of the expedition, and George Finch, a scientist attached to it.

HONOR SHOULD BE AMERICA'S

to Demonstrate Possibilities of Wireless Telegraphy.

A dentist living in Washington, D. C. Invented, patented and demonstrated wireless telegraphy before Marconi was born. Had it not been for the attitude of big newspapers, and the stubbornness and lack of vision of congress, this country today would be enjoying the honor, distinction and credit of presenting wireless telegraphy to the world. The name of this comparatively unknown inventive gentus is Mahlon Loomis. Back in the sixtles and seventies he eked out a modest living by plugging molars and making "store" teeth for the politicians and social leaders of Washington. Doctor Loomis called his discovery "aerial telegraphy." His first pubsted in the physical, as well as in the mountains in Virginia, some 18 miles apart. From each peak an ordinary kite was elevated, connected with an insulated copper wire attached at the lower end to a telegraphing apparatus. The operators of each party were provided with telescopes, with which they could sight from one station to the other and read the signals. When all was in readiness a message was sent by the doctor along the wire of his kite, and was received at the station on the other mountain top just as though the two kites had been connected with a wire in the ordinary way. In this manner communications were kept up until the fact was thoroughly demonstrated that telegraphing could be done as readily without as
