Misses Delcie Morris and Isabelle Lee were Bellefonte shoppers on Saturday.

The hunters in the different camps are meeting with success. The Sweetwood party got six deer and a bear.

Earl Grove and Ruth Finkle were quietly married on Saturday evening. A more complete account appears elsewhere.

Mrs. Hendershot and two daughters, of Shamokin, spent several days at the G. C. Decker home. Mr. Hendershot autoed here on Sunday and took them home.

The girls of the Vocational School at Spring Mills will hold a bazaar on Friday afternoon and evening, December 15. Before doing all your Christmas shopping see the pretty and unusual gifts the girls have to offer. Home-made candy will be on sale.

Rural Mail Men Go Million Miles a Day

The Federal Government now is spending approximately $86,000,000 a year on rural mail delivery service.

Carriers travel 1,180,448 miles every twenty-four hours, carrying to every distant section of the country merchandise and messages which, by any other route, would be days and often weeks in reaching their destinations.

More than 44,000 distinct rural delivery routes are in operation. Merchandise mail bulks large in the total carried to the rural sections. By parcel post manufacturers are delivering to customers in country districts far removed from railroads tons of goods weekly. Savings banks are soliciting patronage by mail and conducting business by the same means.

Farmers in remote sections order and receive automobile and tractor parts by mail. The farmer himself is selling the city dweller by mail. Farm produce, dairy products and even live poultry is delivered via parcel post.

Illinois has the largest mileage, 70,174. Pennsylvania has 52,605 miles. Ohio 62,727. New York 46,384 and Indiana 53,633. The shortest mileage was reported by Nevada, only 124.

No Scrapping of Ships.

Do you recall that conference at Washington called by President Harding and how it was "agreed" that the bottom of the ocean should be filled with ships to be scrapped by the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan? It is now discovered that to date only a few ships, and these were entirely useless, have been scrapped. Not a ship of value in war has been hidden in the deep by any of the countries to the agreement.

Cache Where Indians Had Gathered Munitions Found in Cave in Wayne County, Kentucky.

Remains of what once was a flourishing "munitions factory" are sheltered in a cave 14 miles east of Mill Springs, in Wayne county, Kentucky, in the opinion of Prof. A. M. Miller, head of the department of geology at the University of Kentucky.

This "factory," according to Professor Miller, produced arrow heads to tip the shafts of Indian braves whose no man's land, in the days before the squirrel rifle supplanted the bow, was Kentucky.

Professor Miller returned recently from a trip to Wayne county, where he prospected for caves, rockhouses and old Indian village sites, favorable ground for the finding of extinct mammalian remains.

"Two rockhouses and one cave were examined," he said. "In one of these, about fourteen miles east of Mill Springs, numerous arrow heads in various stages of completion were scattered at a shallow depth over the floor, furnishing evidence that this shelter formerly was an arrow head workshop of aborigines."

The other rockhouse also gave evidence of having been a popular resort of the aborigines. Human bones found in the cave lead to the belief that it had been used as a burial place.

SCARED BY UNUSUAL SOUND

Music (?) of Motor Horn Drove Lions From Oxen Which Had Seemed to Them Easy Prey.

The toot of a single motor horn has been found sufficient, in Africa, to quiet stampeded oxen and cause a trio of flesh-hunting lions to slink away into the bushes.

Two native drivers were recently conducting a wagon drawn by sixteen oxen to the railroad camp, in the wilds near Nakuru, the site of the new Uasin Gishu railroad, when the oxen were attacked by three lions. The drivers fled to nearby trees. The oxen became panic-stricken and dashed down the rough road, dragging along the body of one ox, killed by the lions, with the swaying wagon behind them. The lions followed their prey.

This was the mad procession that greeted a lone motorist at a curve of the road. He had no rifle, and it was almost an unconscious movement that took his hand to the horn button. At the first sound the lions seemed nonplussed. The motorist then blew loud and long. As the uncanny and sustained shriek rose above the clamor of the frightened animals the lions slunk away among the rocks, headed for the shelter of the bush, and the oxen swung clear of the dust-covered automobile and came to a stop at the side of the road.

Heard Here and There. "Opportunity," divulged the honpeck, "knocks but once, proving it is not of the feminine sex."

"Might," explained the big man gently to the little man whom he was pommeling rather ungently. "Isn't right, but it helps a whole lot."

"Religion," cried the atheist, "is a lazy explanation of mystery."

"Things left unsaid," wept the unsuccessful flirter whose object of flirtation refused to respond with even a single syllable, "often hurt more than things spoken."

"Bah, bah!" answered the baby when asked his opinion of a piece of free verse just read him.

He Auto Look Bad. "Good afternoon, Mrs. Jones!" exclaimed Mr. Brown. "What a coincidence, meeting you. I ran into your husband an hour ago."

"How funny!" replied Mrs. Jones. "And how did you think he was looking?"

"Pretty poorly."

"Well, I'm surprised to hear you say that. Everyone says he is looking much better lately."

"Well, he looked bad enough an hour ago," said Mr. Brown.

"I wonder why that was," said Mrs. Jones.

"Oh, I can tell you that," said Mr. Brown. "You see, I was in my car when I ran into him."—Farm Life.

Produce Both With Purina Chows

Why do Purina-fed hens lay more eggs right through the moult? It's because they get more protein and it takes lots of it for feathers and eggs. Feathers run as high as 90% protein. Whites of eggs are nearly all protein. Feed a balanced ration—

Enough Protein for Feathers and Eggs

Purina Chows keep the hens from robbing their flesh to get the materials they need. Get a shorter moult and more winter eggs. Ask about the Purina Guarantee—
