

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Catharine Bradford, R. N., is doing professional work in Williamsport at present.

George E. Meyer, the piano man of Boalsburg, was in Centre Hall on Monday, tuning pianos.

Tuesday morning Mrs. (Dr.) G. I. Yearick and the two Brady children left for their new home in Johnstown.

On Tuesday morning Mrs. G. O. Benner went to Tyrone and later to Pittsburgh, where she will remain with friends for several weeks.

On Monday the Odd Fellows put a group of men to work preliminary to making the repairs on the building made necessary by a recent fire.

Miss Ferna Hoover, after spending several weeks with the Runkle family at the Centre Hall hotel, on Monday, went to take up her work as a trained nurse.

After a two weeks' stay at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Harshbarger, in Altoona, Mrs. William Bowler, of near Potters Mills, returned home on Friday.

Miss Caribel Emerick accompanied her aunt, Mrs. Mary Price, on her way to the west as far as Pittsburgh. She will stop in Altoona among relatives on her return home.

While in Williamsport a short time ago, A. H. Spayd purchased a new Ford ton truck, which will be delivered by his son-in-law, Roy Dutrow, as soon as the roads will permit.

Moses Bennett, an employee of the Mann Edge Tool company, cut a gash extending nearly from his elbow to his wrist when he fell against the sharp edge of an axe while at work.

Mrs. Raymond Miller, now located in New Jersey, out from Philadelphia, visited her mother, Mrs. Kate Saunders, who has been quite ill at the Ray home in Bellefonte. She was accompanied by her eldest daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Flory, of Boalsburg, visited Mr. Flory's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Flory, south of Centre Hall, over Sunday. Mr. Flory is engaged with Mr. Charles, in Boalsburg, in the plumbing business.

Last week the ice from the George Heckman pond was stored, and this week the Booser ponds were cleaned. The ice from one pond was stored by Mr. Booser and that from the other by the Dewart company for local use.

Mrs. Robert McCummon and nephew, Walter Banks, of Altoona, on Saturday, made a trip to Centre Hall to consult Dr. H. H. Longwell. They made a hurried trip, remaining here only between trains in the afternoon.

Harry McClenahan and Daniel Bloom, both of whom live near Centre Hall, came home from Altoona, where they are employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, the latter part of last week and returned Monday morning.

Roy Martz, of Old Fort, and John Jordan, of Tusseyville, were callers at this office on Tuesday. The former advertises sale under the firm name of Martz and Bradford, for March 19, at which time all their farm stock and implements will be sold.

Samuel Shoop, who a short time ago moved into his new one-story bungalow opposite the school house, installed and now has in use a novel heating plant—a hot water system—that is giving the best of satisfaction. The boiler is quite unlike any others in use locally.

The foot of snow that fell on Sunday proved too great a weight for the stable on the William Gfrerer lot, on Church street, and caused its collapse. Mr. Gfrerer kept his car in the old stable, but when the building fell the car happened to be undergoing repairs at a local garage.

The Reporter was pleased to have a call from A. F. Vonada, tenant on the Gentzell farm, near Spring Mills. Mr. Vonada is a real farmer. One of his chief products is butter. He keeps seventeen well-fed and well-groomed cows that are making good returns for him. The butter is manufactured in a systematic way, power churn, power worker, a print and individual cartons are used. Mr. Vonada also markets his product, making a weekly trip to the Lewisport district, and it is safe to say he is not competing with the ordinary butter roll, but is marketing goods in a class of its own.

The Reporter readers who are interested in school work will be pleased to know that Prof. John A. Young, who taught the high school in Centre Hall during the term of 1903-04, continues in advancement. He just resigned as superintendent of the Norwalk (Conn.) schools to become assistant superintendent of the Bridgeport (Conn.) schools. Centre Hall was the first high school he taught, and since leaving here his advancement has been continuous, not only in school work but as a citizen wherever located he has been a leader. It is a pleasure for the writer, who was on the school board when Mr. Young was selected as the head of the schools here, to refer to his success in his chosen profession.

LETTERS FROM SUBSCRIBERS.

Dear Editor:
Enclosed please find check. Credit to my account with the "Reporter." Your subscriber wishes to acknowledge receipt of a number of personal letters received lately from readers of the "Reporter." He is in receipt also of a printed communication from the Anti-Saloon League of America, at Westerville, Ohio, which contains some startling information on the success of the Prohibition movement in the United States. This is news that will be cherished by all right-thinking people. It is in the form of a report by Gifford Gordon, of Melbourne, Australia. Mr. Gordon was sent here in July, 1921, as the accredited representative of the Victorian Anti-Liquor League of Melbourne, Australia, for the purpose of studying the operation of the Prohibition law in the U. S. His findings are the result of a whole year's painstaking investigation. Read what he has to say:

"When I landed in New York my first impression was one of doubt and discouragement. I found many excellent Christian people who believed that Prohibition had not achieved its purpose. The cause of their discouragement soon became evident when I read the newspapers and listened to the talk of groups of average citizens, men and women, who had made no attempt to learn the facts and whose only source of knowledge was idle gossip.

"I went to a great editor and asked him why the newspapers had so much to say about violations of the law, and the apparent violation of Prohibition, and little or nothing about the beneficial results of its operation. This is what he told me:

"Violation of the law is news. Observance of the law is not news. For example, a prominent citizen may lead a life of exemplary virtue, and the newspapers will not comment upon this fact. But let him fall from grace—let him break the law—and he becomes a subject for the newspaper headlines."

"In my travels, I have been amazed to find the lack of knowledge about the operation of Prohibition which existed in every part of the country. Not only a lack of knowledge, but a distorted belief due to newspaper accounts of 'bootlegging' and deaths due to drinking poisonous liquor. Whenever I have delivered my message, the people have flocked about me. 'Mr. Gordon,' they said, 'the people of this country do not know these facts. Most of them have no idea that Prohibition has been so successful. You can do no greater service to the Prohibition cause than to publish the results of your investigation.' T. J. FREDERICK, Spring Church, Pa.

PINE GROVE MILLS.

Mrs. H. S. Illingsworth is laid up with grip and tonsillitis. Some of our ice houses have been filled with nine-inch ice.

Mrs. C. M. Trostle who has been ill for two weeks is now better.

Mrs. C. E. Close is among the sick this week.

The deepest snow of the season fell Saturday night, closing roads and causing travel through fields.

A. S. Bailey and sister, in their new King car, motored to the county capital for bargain sales on Saturday.

Ed. S. Moore has been confined to his room for several weeks with throat trouble.

C. H. Struble, a well-known citizen, is seriously ill of heart trouble and complications.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kimport, of Boalsburg, enjoyed the sleighing Friday and spent the day with friends in town.

Mrs. John C. Homan received a fall on the sidewalk, breaking her left arm.

Elmer E. Royer has been laid up for repairs for a month; he is now improving.

J. Everts, who has been confined to bed for the past month of sciatica, is now able to go about.

Wm. H. Jacobs, a Civil War veteran, has been ill of a complication of diseases, the past month, is slowly improving.

Rev. J. E. McAlarney is holding a two weeks' revival meeting in the M. E. church here; much interest is being manifested.

Mrs. W. S. Ward broke her right arm in a fall from an automobile. Dr. Woods adjusted the fracture and she is doing nicely.

Many of the younger set are in the clutches of La grippe, among them being Helen Kline and Catharine Krebs of our town.

Mrs. Alaretta Goss closed her home and has gone to Bellefonte and taken quarters at the Brockerhoff House with her two interesting little grandchildren. She is a soldier's widow.

Last Thursday Mrs. Susan Peters quietly celebrated her 71st birthday anniversary. She was the recipient of presents and many congratulations. She is remarkably well preserved for one of her years.

H. A. Elder, after farming the Mrs. Alvin farm on the Branch for 24 years has decided to quit in the spring and retire to Easy street in this town. Scott Judy will succeed him on the farm.

Our popular thresherman, J. W. Miller, pulled in last week after hulling out 57,000 bushels of grain. He was not too busy to find a day for hunting during the deer season, and brought down a fine 4-prong buck.

James Kline, lumberman, quit the business and is now located in this place, having purchased the Wade Herman property. Mr. Herman and family moved to Clearfield where Mr. Herman has secured a good position in a store.

UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA ENROLLMENT PASSES 14,000 MARK.

Every County in State, Every State in Union and 48 Foreign Countries in This Year's Student Body.

UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA BOARD OF TRUSTEES AT ITS LAST MEETING IN HARRISBURG WITH GOVERNOR SPROULL.

Since 1791 the Charter of the University of Pennsylvania has provided that the Governor of the State shall be the President of the Board of Trustees. The above picture was taken on the steps of the Capitol at Harrisburg on the occasion of the Board's last meeting with the Governor as presiding officer.

Enrollment figures just made public by the University of Pennsylvania show that the total registration for the present academic year has passed the 14,000 mark for the first time in the 182 years of the University's history. The actual enrollment, minus all duplications is 14,014. This exceeds last year's registration by 1227. Study of these registration figures shows some remarkable facts, particularly in the way that the University serves the state. There is a net total of approximately 10,000 students from this state alone; the various counties contributing 71 per cent of the entire enrollment. While the University, which by the charter of 1791 was specifically designated as "the University of Pennsylvania," was the first University to take the name of its State, ministers first of all to the young men and women of the Commonwealth. Its courses continue to be a magnet to draw students from all parts of the world. In addition to the State of Pennsylvania, there are students from every State in the Union. Quite as remarkable is the extent to which Pennsylvania draws its students from the nations of the world. Forty-seven foreign countries are represented with 250 students. China
