

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Verna Rowe, a Bell Telephone operator, on Tuesday went to Altoona where she remained for a day or two.

Monday morning mercury stood close to the zero mark. It was quite calm which made it appear much warmer than it really was.

Mrs. John Breen became suddenly ill while in the Evangelical church, Sunday night. Her condition returned to normal within a day or two.

Samuel Runkle had the misfortune to lose one of a team of work horses owned by him for a long time. The animal died from acute indigestion.

The two inches of snow that fell Sunday morning and the four-inch fall of last week, brings the total snowfall, the beginning of this week, up to fifty-two inches.

M. K. Mahaffie, of Altoona, on Saturday made one of his frequent trips to Centre Hall and on to Tusseyville, where he is reported to have a sweetheart.

Miss Helen Roundtree, of State College, accompanied Milford Luse to his home on Saturday and until Monday morning was a guest of Mr. Luse's daughter, Miss Margaret.

E. P. Lingle, of Pitsburgh, was the guest of his brother, L. R. Lingle, in Centre Hall, over Sunday. Mr. Lingle is employed in the shops of the Pennsylvania railroad company.

Mrs. Kate Saunders, who had been ill at the Ray home, Bellefonte, for a long time, has improved, and last week was taken to the home of her brother, Charles Dale, on the Branch, near Leont.

Five hundred delegates attended the ninth annual state convention and exposition of the Pennsylvania shoe retailers' association at Williamsport. The meetings, banquet and dance were held in the new hotel Lycoming.

After a stay of thirty-five days at the Battle Creek (Michigan) sanitarium, E. M. Huyett returned home Friday of last week. During the time he was at the sanitarium he had a rather severe attack of grip. In a general way, Mr. Huyett reports, he was benefited by the treatment received.

H. L. Ebright, cashier of the First National bank, and C. D. Bartholomew, assistant cashier of the Penns Valley bank, J. Cloyd Brooks, and Edward Durst, on Sunday afternoon went to Altoona. The cashiers attended a meeting of the Pennsylvania bankers' association, on Monday, and the others were looking after private business affairs.

A young man, whose name the writer failed to get, was in town last week interviewing citizens in the interest of establishing a shirt factory here. From what could be learned the young man is a promoter, representing New York interests. His plan appears to be to have citizens here subscribe stock, the funds to be used in securing shelter and machinery. $4000 is the sum named to be sold in stock.

Benjamin F. Rickert, of Woodrich, was on the south side of Penns Valley during the beginning of last week, circulating among old acquaintances. He is now engaged in the Rich woolen mills and is very well pleased with his work. By the way, it is almost one hundred years since John Rich established the woolen mills and it is the combination of the words "wool" and "Rich" that forms the town's name—Woodrich.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Long, of Washington, D. C., will regret to learn that Mrs. Long has been seriously ill since giving birth to a son, several weeks ago. The child, although apparently normal in every way, died within a few hours after birth. Mrs. Long had not been in good health when she was here last summer and since confinement her condition has been alarming. Her mother, Mrs. Geisa Wagner, went to her bedside Saturday morning.

Dr. George P. Bible, of Bellefonte, was in town on Monday in the interest of an entertainment bureau, and succeeded in selling a course for next winter at $55. The course will consist of five numbers, and since it is Dr. Bible's home town he has agreed to furnish an additional night's entertainment in case the promoters fall short in finances. While in town Dr. Bible went to visit the public schools and found much pleasure in addressing the pupils in the rooms in which the foundation of his education was laid, back in the seventies.

John E. Bodtort, of Jersey Shore, is improving somewhat after having undergone an operation for an abscess on one of his lungs. He had been in the Jersey Shore hospital for six or eight weeks and during this time suffered greatly. He was visited last week by his father, Calvin S. Bodtort, of Colver, who furnished the Reporter with the information given above. Mr. Bodtort has long conducted a bakery in Jersey Shore and is a prominent citizen there. The elder Bodtort was accompanied home by his daughter, Mrs. R. E. Brock, of Jersey Shore.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

The Milton fair has been announced for August 23-31.

Both local banks will be closed next Thursday, Washington's birthday.

Chester Grove, employed on the Kerlin poultry farm, was in Bellefonte on Tuesday on business.

Just received a lot of Tankage—the very best—for Poultry and hogs.—William McClenahan, Centre Hall.

Mrs. Jasper A. Wagner, of Spring Mills, was in Centre Hall over Sunday, the guest of Mrs. John P. Kramer.

Harry Harper became suddenly ill the beginning of this week. His condition has been regarded as rather serious.

Mrs. S. P. Hennigh, of Centre Hall, on Wednesday morning, went to her former home—Williamsport—for a brief visit.

Mrs. Joseph Rachub, of Madisonburg, was a guest at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Orvis Meyer, in Centre Hall, for a few days.

Mrs. Musser Coldron, who has been in the Bellefonte hospital for four or six weeks, is not improving. Her condition for some time has been serious.

During February I will give a cash discount of 20 per cent. on all furniture purchased. Sellers and Hooster kitchen cabinets excluded.

—S. M. CAMPBELL, Millhelm.

Measures are being taken to increase the capital stock of the Phillipsburg First National bank from $100,000 to $200,000, said increase to be made by a stock dividend from the individual profits of the institution.

David G. Meek, of State College, was at the home of his sister, Mrs. H. E. Homan, for a few days last week. Mr. Meek has been selected as cashier of the new National bank recently organized in the college town.

While walking down the street, on Tuesday evening, Miss Mabelle Sharer fell in such a way as to tear the ligaments in one of her lower limbs. She was taken to Dr. Longwell's office where an examination proved the injury rather serious.

About two inches of snow and rain fell Monday night. Tuesday followed with an unusually bright sun and thunder and lightning during the evening. Wednesday morning the slush of the day before froze hard and a storm prevailed in the evening.

Charles A. Miller, of Colver, was a caller Monday, and reported that his aunt, Mrs. Margaret Miller, of Millers-town, who had been seriously ill, is now very much improved. This information the Reporter is pleased to give to her many acquaintances in Penns Valley.

The day of prayer for missions service will be given in the Presbyterian church, Friday night. The young people of the various churches will give two pageants, entitled "The Doctor's Clinic" and "Hanging the Sign." A general invitation is extended to all to be present.

Mice and rats have long been blamed for causing fires by nibbling matches. A test was made in large laboratories with more than one hundred rats and mice. The rodents were kept confined without food and then their quarters were littered with straw and matches, with the result that not a single match was nibbled.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Spangler, of Ridge Park, Illinois, arrived in Centre Hall on Tuesday, having come here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Spangler's father, at Potters Mills, on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Henney, of Latrobe, also came to attend the Wilkinson funeral, and while here were guests of Mrs. Lucy Henney.

REBERSBURG.

A small child at the Adam Brungart home is seriously ill.

Lester Minnick, who is employed at Millinburg, spent Sunday with his family here.

Norman Brungart will in the spring move to Millinburg on the Beaver farm.

Klone Boyer, of Jersey Shore, spent Sunday visiting his sick mother in this place.

Mrs. D. D. Royer is confined to her bed with a severe attack of rheumatism.

Mrs. Samuel Gephart spent last week in Bellefonte looking after the needs of her sick daughter, Helen.

The remains of George Heller were brought to this place from the home of his sister, in Ohio, with whom he resided, and buried in the Lutheran and Reformed cemetery. Mr. Heller was a brother of Jacob Heller, of this place.

Jasper Gramley, of Kaneville, Ill., who was visiting relatives in this vicinity for the past two weeks, and while here married Mrs. Lavona Winters, widow of the late George Winters, left for his western home on Saturday, and his wife will follow as soon as she can dispose of her personal property.

The Centre Reporter, $1.50 a year.

LETTERS FROM SUBSCRIBERS.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 3, 1923.

Dear Editor? Quite a contrast—last week sleighing in Centre county, this week hunting shade trees. Everything wonderful down here. Today is opening day Mardi Gras. We are having a delightful trip.

MR. and MRS. C. A. BOYER, Sunbury, Pa.

Farm Meetings.

Farm meetings will be held at Spring Mills Vocational school, Thursday evening, and at Howard on Friday evening. Addresses by E. B. Pitts, of Oregon.

Meetings next week will be addressed by G. F. Mills, and will be held as follows:

- Monday evening, Stormstown;
- Tuesday evening, Pine Grove Mills;
- Wednesday evening, Aaronsburg;
- Thursday evening Spring Mills;
- Friday evening, Howard.

State May Be Aided by Bonds.

Plans for a constitutional amendment to provide a bond issue for Pennsylvania State College are under consideration by some of the legislators. A budget appropriation bill provides for $1,800,000 for the college of which a half million is for agricultural extension. The amount of the issue which voters of the state would be asked to approve has not been settled definitely but a total of several million dollars is contemplated.

L. O. O. F. Home to Cost $300,000.

The Shamokin Construction Company has been awarded the contract for the construction of the new Odd Fellows' Home at Middletown. The company's bid was $300,000. The award is subject to the approval of the grand lodge. Contracts for equipment, plumbing and heating were awarded to several contractors.

THE JUDGMENT.

The Standard of Judgment.—The courts of men recognize standards of judgment. The laws of their respective government constitute the standard by which the cases coming within their jurisdiction are tried. The law of God is the standard or rule by which cases are determined before the heavenly tribunal. Declares the Apostle James: "So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty." (James 2:12.) (See also Eccl. 12:13,14.) As the law of the ten commandments is the rule by which we shall be judged, how careful we should be to regulate our conduct in harmony with these righteous requirements. Once every year, on the tenth day of the seventh month, called the day of atonement, there occurred the cleansing of the sanctuary. This service was not a cleansing from physical impurity, but a cleansing from the sin which had been transferred in figure into the sanctuary during the yearly cycle. (See Lev. 16:15, 16.) This day of atonement in Israel was a day of judgment. The children of Israel were required to fast and afflict their souls. He who refused to take part in this work of humiliation was cut off from among his people. (Read Lev. 16:29, 34.)

(Typical of things in the heavens.)—This service in the earthly sanctuary was typical of the work of our great High Priest in the sanctuary above. Says the Apostle Paul: "Now of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such an high priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in heavens; a minister of the sanctuary, and of the true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man." (Heb. 8: 1, 2.) And Paul further says of the priests that "they serve unto the example and shadow of heavenly things." Christ entered into the heavenly tabernacle "neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us." (Heb. 9:12.)

Sins are forgiven when confessed, but they are not blotted from the records of God till the period of the investigative judgment, just preceding the coming of the Lord. This the Apostle Peter plainly states in Acts 3: 19-21. (Read Rev. 3:5.) The daily round of priestly service in the heavenly sanctuary typified the work upon which Christ entered at his ascension. The sanctuary service of the day of atonement typified the work to be carried forward in the heavenly sanctuary at the close of Christ's ministry there. On the day of atonement the priest cleansed the sanctuary from the sins which had been transferred into it by the blood of the offerings. The heavenly sanctuary at the close of Christ's ministry is to be cleansed in the same manner. Says the apostle in Heb. 9:22-24: "And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission. It was therefore necessary that the patterns of things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these. For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true, but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us." The work of the closing day of the year's service in the earthly sanctuary was a work of judgment. (See Lev. 23: 27-32.)

Next week's writing will be "The Time of the Judgment."

Four Gold Teeth Save Woman From Death at Hands of Turks

Mrs. Yacoubian and her son, Haig—refugees from the Turks.

The Turks called her "the woman of mystery." She had the courage to defy a Turkish official—a thing unheard of in the Turk-ridden sections of the Near East, where women have been taught for centuries to be submissive to their "superiors"—men.

The fact that she is an Armenian Christian made this defiance all the more amazing, since it created wonder among the Turks that she had not been immediately shot to death or bayoneted.

She had four gold teeth, set prominently in her mouth—a sure sign of wealth in Armenia. Turkish superstition immediately associated the defiance with the gold teeth and agreed it was Allah's will she had so miraculously escaped death. And they admitted readily "the woman of mystery" was under divine protection.

It was this belief in a supernatural protection that ultimately permitted "the woman of mystery" to reach this country and make her new home in Philadelphia.

Her safe arrival in America and her reunion with the four children from whom she had been separated by the Turks, is an indication of the sort of helpful work being done abroad by the Near East Relief. Through its orphanages and other agencies in the Near East countries, it has saved the lives of hundreds of thousands destitute, homeless Christians and in thousands of instances has brought about happy reunions of homeless families.

The superstitions of the Turks stood her, "the woman of mystery," well in the troublesome days that followed a scene in the market place at Caesarea, when she saw a Turkish officer kill her husband and then held a gun to the head of one of her children and threatened to "blow him to pieces" if the mother didn't agree to become the officer's wife.

It saved her from death in a long march of 1800 miles with other Armenian women and enabled her to reach Constantinople and board an American vessel on its way to this country. She is now reunited with her four children after having undergone treatment at the hands of the Turks so atrocious that even those accustomed to witnessing harrowing scenes of Turkish cruelties hardly credit.

This "woman of mystery" is Mrs. Yevnigh Yacoubian, now living at 234 South Sixth street, Philadelphia.
