Vomited a Lizzard.

Mrs. George Wisneski, of Phoenixville, a few days ago, while suffering from a choking and vomiting sensation, was relieved of a reptile between six and seven inches in length. The reptile was alive and had all the appearances in color and general form of a lizzard, except it had no legs. Up to Monday the reptile was kept alive and is being studied and classified.

Mrs. Wisneski is a daughter of Mrs. Jerome Auman, and when a girl lived near Centre Hall with her parents. She had been suffering with stomach trouble for several years. About two weeks previous to her relief, Mrs. Wisneski ate canned salmon, and shortly thereafter suffered from pains similar to ptomaine poisoning, and for this she was being treated in the Phoenixville hospital. Thursday of last week her mother's patient trying to vomit and choke. She at once went to her assistance, opening her mouth and taking from her throat the protruding reptile. Her condition began to improve, although she is yet in the hospital.

This information was sent to Milton Bradford, in Centre Hall, by the young woman's mother, who is Mr. Bradford's sister.

It appears from the reviews of trade conditions throughout the United States everything is on a healthy move forward, except the farming industry. It is believed by many that if the Republican administration would do as well by the farmer as it is about to do for the English Government, the farmers throughout the United States would be able to come across in fine shape. What is meant is this: that if the U. S. Government gave the farmers an opportunity to borrow $4,666,000,000 at 3 1/2 per cent for sixty-two years they would be in the market to buy largely and be able to carry their indebtedness without distress.

THE DEATH RECORD.

WIELAND.—Miss Sarah E. Wieland, oldest daughter of Mrs. Margaret Wieland, of State College, died in the waiting room of the Pennsylvania Railroad station, in Harrisburg, on Friday evening, February 16th, while on her way to a Philadelphia hospital. Miss Wieland had been a sufferer for some years, but not until early in January had her condition become known to her friends.

It was found advisable to go to a hospital for treatment as the only possible means of prolonging her life, but the strain of the trip was too much for the weakened condition of her heart, and she succumbed when they reached Harrisburg. The body was brought back on Monday afternoon by her cousin, Mrs. C. E. Brown, and sister, Miss Eureka Wieland, who had gone with her on the trip; then taken to her home at State College where the funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock; services conducted by Rev. Peters of the Methodist church, and interment made in the family plot in the Boalsburg cemetery.

Sarah Wieland was the oldest daughter of the late Washington and Margaret Wieland, and is survived by her mother and the following brothers and sisters: George R., of Yale University; Robert, of Denver, Col.; Mrs. Catharine Upham, of Wilmington, Del.; Euzetta, Helen, Paul and Herman, at home.

MILLER.—Snyder Miller, a prominent Rebersburg citizen and for many years postmaster at that place, died early Friday morning of last week. He was taken suddenly ill during Thursday night, and the end came within a few hours. Interment was made at Rebersburg Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Miller religiously was a Lutheran and politically a Democrat. He stood high in his community, where he lived nearly all his life, having been born in Sugar Valley. A wife and one daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) Edward Jordan, of Iowa, survive the deceased.

AUMAN.—Mrs. Elizabeth Auman, widow of the late Frederick Auman, died at her home in Penn township, following a heart attack, aged 84 years, 6 months and 3 days.

The ladies of the first organized class of the Reformed S. S. had a meeting on Saturday evening and decided to give a supper and St. Patrick's Day social on the evening of March 17th. Irish potatoes will be the leading features.

A number of members of the Knights of Malta were unable to be present at the banquet on Thursday evening on account of the extremely odd weather, bad roads, and the gripe. The evening entertainment consisted of recitations, songs and a colored sketch, and toasts by different ones present. Orchestra music by the Garbrick family of Bellefonte. After the program about one hundred persons surrounded the tables, which were spread with plenty of good eats.

MONTANA WORLD IN ITSELF

State Needs No Outside Aid to Support in Comfort People Within Its Borders.

If Montana were walled in and cut off from the world, she could support herself, declares the National Editors' Argus. Her half million people would lack none of the necessities, and but few of the luxuries of life.

For food, she grows all the grains, fruits and vegetables of the north temperate zone; her cattle, sheep, swine and poultry number millions; her wilds abound with game, her waters teem with fish.

For clothing, there's wool from 2,000,000 sheep, linen from 500,000 acres of flax, leather from 700,000 horse hides and pelts from 20 kinds of fur-bearing animals.

For shelter, there's lumber from 30,000,000 acres of forests, limestone and shale for cement, clay for brick and tile and granite, sandstone and marble and all necessary ores from copper and zinc for brass to iron and manganese for steel.

For fuel, her coal mines, natural gas and oil deposits are of undetermined richness; to industry her streams offer 2,730,000 horsepower for hydro-electric energy.

For luxuries, her resources range from gold, silver and sapphires, to bees for honey, sugar beets for candy, phosphate for matches or fertilizer and tungsten for incandescent lamps.

TWAIN HATED FALSE PRAISE

Great Humorist Asserted It Always Made Him Feel Both Ashamed and Humiliated.

Writing on the insincerity of people seeking favors, in a chapter of his "Autobiography" in Harper's Magazine, Mark Twain says:

"I am built as other people are built, so far as I can discover, and therefore I do prize a good hearty compliment above rubies; and am grateful for it, and as glad as you are yourself when I can in sincerity return the mate to it. But when a man goes beyond compliment, it does not give me pleasure, it makes me ashamed.

"It makes me ashamed; I am not shuffling about him, I am thinking about myself; he may humiliate himself if he likes; it is his privilege, but I do not want to be humiliated. Adulation, adulation—spoken or hinted, and never earned; never due, to any human being.

"What a king must suffer! For he knows, deep down in his heart, that he is a poor, cheap, wormy thing like the rest of us, a sarcasm, the Creator's cheap miscreation in inventions, the poorest inferior of all the animals, the superior of each one of them all in no gift only, and that one not up to his estimation of it—Intellect."

Citadel of Quebec.

Quebec citadel is a strong fortification covering 40 acres of ground, and in its present form it dates from 1823. The more modern fortifications were constructed in 1820-30, substantially on the lines of the French works of 1720. The citadel has been garrisoned by Canadian soldiers since the withdrawal of British troops in 1871. It includes a parade and drill ground, 42 acres in extent, surrounded by barracks and magazines under the walls. Heavy cannon are mounted on the ramparts. A large stone building forms the officers' quarters, with the governor general's residence (occasionally occupied by him) at the east end, overlooking the river. A splendid vista can be seen from the king's bastion at the northeast angle of the ramparts. The west ramparts overlook the Plains of Abraham. Quebec citadel has been called the "Gibraltar of Canada."

Great Sea Fighter Indignant.

Towards the close of the war with the first French republic, when the general distress was very sharp and bread very dear—in 1800 the price of a quarter loaf in England rose to 1 shilling and 10 pence half penny—a curious fashion arose of giving dinners in which the guests were asked to bring their own bread. Nelson was invited to such a dinner, but through some oversight he had apparently not been informed of the conditions of the feast.

At all events, when Nelson found that there was no bread, he made quite a little scene, called his servant and, before the whole company, gave him a shilling and ordered him to buy a roll, saying aloud: "It is hard after fighting my country's battles I should be grudging her bread."

Why Eddies Whirl Counter-Clockwise. A correspondent writes to Scientific American asking if it is true that all whirlwinds, tornadoes, cyclones, typhoons (movements of air), maelstroms, water leaving a washbowl, or bathtubs (movements of water), unless artificially interfered with, revolve contra-clockwise. If so, what causes this revolving always in that direction?

The answer is: "The rotary motions which you describe are caused by the earth's rotation on its axis. They are counter-clockwise in the northern, and clockwise in the southern hemisphere."

A Sage's Limitations.

"Did you ever study the Darwinian theory?"

"No," replied Senator Sorghum; "I can't see how it would help me in my business. He offers no suggestions that would assist me in flattering the self-esteem of my auditors. Darwin was a smart man, but no politician."
