Harry Harper is reported to be improving.

Sale of Iowa horses at Centre Hall on Saturday afternoon, March 3rd, at one o'clock.

Just unfolded a carload of cement—high quality brand. Get prices before buying elsewhere.—William McClellan, Centre Hall.

George Condo, of Potters Mills, the latter part of last week, accompanied his wife and baby to Johnstown, the former home of Mrs. Condo.

J. Hale Ross, of Linden Hall, last week, loaded a car of corn at the Centre Hall station. The price paid was seventy cents per bushel.

Mrs. R. W. Barber, of Millinburg, spending several days at the Reformed parsonage in Aaronburg visiting Rev. and Mrs. Hollenbach.

Messrs. L. L. Weaver, Lloyd Boob, Homer Keen and Leon Smith, last week, drove four Overland cars from Toledo, Ohio, to Millheim for the Breon garage.

Mrs. Alma Rickert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Stoner of Centre Hall, on Monday went to State College where she expects to remain for some time.

The Centre Hall High school baseball nine is making up a spring schedule with Spring Mills, Millheim, Lewistown, State College, and probably several other school nines.

Mrs. Elizabeth Reese, Mrs. W. G. Ruffner and little daughter June, all of Conemaugh, arrived at the home of the former's son, William Reese, in Centre Hall, on Tuesday.

John Slack, who was transferred from the Williamsport offices of the Pennsy to Coburn and is now permanently located there, spent Sunday in Centre Hall, his home town.

Orrle Jamison, of Madison, Wisconsin, who spent much of the winter with his sister, Mrs. V. A. Auman, in Centre Hall, returned to his western home a few days ago. He had been engaged in writing life insurance.

Squire Edward Jamison, of Spring Mills, who was seriously ill last week, is improving now. His sickness began with grip and later on two or more abscesses formed in his head. Monday he sat up in bed for the first time.

The freight crew on the local branch railroad of late have been running nearer on schedule time than heretofore. This is due to the fact that a local crew from Sunbury do much of the shifting between that point and Millinburg.

Miss Mary Dale, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Dale, is home for the weekend to be with her mother who is ill at the Bellefonte hospital, but is reported as improving. Miss Dale is in the Freshman class of the Margaret Morrison School of Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, and was recently honored by being elected vice-president of her class.

The Millheim Journal forecasts big business for new local firms by saying this: The Orsife Stores Co. has rented the store room in Centre Hall formerly occupied by C. M. Smith and a chain grocery store will be opened about the middle of March. The Millheim Orsife store is doing a thriving business, and no doubt the store at Centre Hall will likewise draw much trade.

Burgess Harrison W. Walker presented an amendment to the borough code giving the selection of the police into the hands of the burgess instead of being appointed by the council. The council is, however, to ok the burgess' selection under the Walker amendment. The action was taken at a meeting of four hundred delegates from boroughs held in Harrisburg.

D. Geles Wagner and daughter, Mrs. Clarence Miller, of Centre Hall, Saturday morning went to Washington to visit the former's daughter, Mrs. F. S. Long, who has been seriously ill for several weeks. As was previously noted in these columns, Mrs. Wagner has been at the Long home for some time. A note received here on Monday indicates that Mrs. Long is improving, though a great way from being well.

The interior of the portion of the A. W. Alexander house, in Centre Hall, which Mrs. James Alexander will occupy after April 1st, is being remodeled, repainted and repaired. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Alexander will move from the farm to the other portion of this house now occupied by T. L. Smith and family. The Smith family will follow Mrs. Alexander as a tenant in this home she lived since coming to Centre Hall.

Styende Smith, son of J. Frank Smith, of Bellefonte, who was quite ill for a week or ten days was able to be out of bed for the first on Monday. He is assistant superintendent of the Chemical Lime Company, Bellefonte, a position he is filling admirably well. He no doubt is largely indebted for his speedy recovery to the care of his sister, Miss Nellie Smith, who is connected in an official capacity with a hospital at Greensburg.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Dr. George P. Bible in Grange Arcadia, Saturday night.

Car Cannel Coal; car Lump Coal. Come and get your supply soon.—C. P. LONG CO., Spring Mills, Pa.

Miss Mary Bingman, a student in the State College High school, was at her home in Centre Hall over Sunday.

James W. Runkle, at the Centre Hall hotel, who was quite ill for a few days, since Monday has been reported much better.

Irvin Emery, of Mazeppa, was in Centre Hall; last week, to visit his brother, Merchant C. P. Emery, who was ill.

Among the Reporter's business callers last week was Witmer E. Lee, who is successfully conducting the Potters Mills hotel.

Miss Adaline Smith is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert I. Smith, in Centre Hall. She is now staying at Jersey Shore.

Saturday was an unusually busy day at the Bradford & Co. mill and grain house, due largely to the advance in the price of wheat from $1.25 to $1.30.

The I. O. O. F. store room, in Centre Hall, provided present plans go through, will be occupied by a grocer who will be ready to do business about the middle of this month.

Friday night of last week was one of the few nights this winter when mercury dropped to below zero—the needle stood at just one degree below the zero point. At 7:30 Saturday morning it was within one degree of zero. A fine day, though cold, followed.

Mrs. Thomas D. Decker, of State College, was taken to Bellefonte hospital and on Thursday forenoon of last week was operated upon for appendicitis. The operation was successful and her many friends will be glad to learn that she is recovering as rapidly as can be expected.

The Evangelical conference at York, this week, is being attended by the pastors of that denomination throughout Penna Valley. They are: Rev. J. P. Bingman, Centre Hall; Rev. P. E. Keen, State College; Rev. C. B. Snyder, Millheim; Rev. G. W. Fry, Spring Mills; Rev. Mark Herman, Rebersburg.

On account of sickness Rev. S. C. Stover, of Rebersburg, was unable to hold communion services in the Reformed churches at Centre Hall and Tusseyville, on last Sunday. In connection with the regular church services the congregations had planned to vote on the question of selecting a pastor.

Fred Slack, on the Slack farm east of Old Fort, is doing a land office business in hauling autos through the flat opposite his home. The flat is one of the worst places for snow drifts between Old Fort and Spring Mills. His services, however, are appreciated by auto drivers who always prefer being hauled out than let stick.

John H. Burkholder, who was recently married, will take up farming again this spring and will move from Potters Mills to his farm near Centre Hall. The tenant on the Burkholder farm, M. H. Burger, has leased the Spöcher farm, west of Old Fort, vacated by R. L. Markle, who moved to the Colyer farm, east of Old Fort.

The new organ at the Grace Lutheran church, State College, Rev. J. P. Harkins, pastor, was dedicated on Sunday morning. Dr. Charles S. Baustlin, Secretary of the Board of Education, preached the dedicatory sermon. The evening service was of a musical nature. Dr. Charles T. Aikens, of Susquehanna University, also spoke.

Along the much traveled highways you will find hand boards galore advertising all kinds of wares, but the handboard you miss is the one directing the traveler. Everybody appears to appreciate the benefit of the billboard advertising along the highways except the State, yet here we are—miles and miles of road without a hand-board for the direction of the traveler.

Federal agents, early Saturday morning, arrested several young men attending a dance in Bellefonte. A special Studebaker-Six automobile seemed to contain the supply tank of booze, and to this car the young men went for refreshments. The chauffeur, a colored man, named A. Woodson, was arrested and locked up, and the car was also put into safe keeping. The Williamsport Sun contained a dispatch from Bellefonte stating the big car was the property of Gordon Montgomery, well known in Bellefonte, and that the Federal agents were on the hunt for him.

If people took as much pleasure making pleasures as they took pleasure making trouble everybody would be happy.
