Different Estimates of Pie. A business man, forced to take many of his meals downtown and, as a result, inclined to be favorably impressed with his wife's cooking, invited two of his youngsters to take lunch with him at the chamber of commerce. This was a treat to the youngsters who were in the habit of eating at home all the time. When the pie was served the proud father said to the children: "This pie isn't anything like the kind that mother makes, is it?" And to the father's horror and the amusement of the others at the table one of the children replied "No, father, it's much better."—Indianapolis News.

THE DEATH RECORD.

RUNKLE—Miss Lizzie A. Runkle died suddenly at her home in Centre Hall, on Tuesday morning. She had been suffering with neuralgia of the heart, which disease caused her death. Miss Runkle was a daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth (Lee) Runkle, and was born at Tusseyville, in 1846. There survive her two brothers—John L., of Tusseyville, and Samuel H., who had his home with the deceased.

About forty years ago Miss Runkle moved into the home where she died. She took up sewing and as long as she was physically able she worked diligently. She was of a kind disposition and friendly to all. Had she lived until September she would have attained her seventy-seventh birthday. Interment will be made Friday morning at Tusseyville, Rev. M. C. Drumm to officiate.

REISH—Jacob Reish, a prominent farmer living at Rock Springs, above Pine Grove Mills, died at his farm home from the effects of a stroke received a short time previous. Interment was made on Monday, the officiating minister being pastor of the Pine Grove Mills Lutheran church, of which the deceased was a member. He is survived by a wife, who before marriage was Elizabeth Homan, and three children, namely: Rev. John Reish, of Loganton; Ursinus, who lived with his father on the farm, and Miss Celesta, employed in an office in Altoona. Several brothers and sisters also survive. His age was some sixty years.

KEISTER—Mrs. Mary J. Keister, wife of Isaac Keister, died very suddenly at their home in Glen Lcn from heart trouble, after an illness of about two hours. Her sudden death was a severe shock to her family and many friends. She was a woman of the highest ideals of character and a member of the Reformed church. She was born near Swengle, August 6, 1861, and was aged 61 years, 9 months and 11 days, and is survived by her husband and the following children: Charles Keister, Mrs. Arthur Boop, Millinburg; Mrs. Foster Boop, of Glen Iron; and the following brothers and sisters: Howard Rearick, of Millmont; Nathan Rearick, of Red Top; Adam Rearick, of Lewisburg; Mrs. Kate Hartley, of Centre Hall; Annie Keister, of Elk county; Mrs. Rebecca Border, of Hartleton; and Mrs. Elsie Dorman, of Millmont; also by twelve grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Interment was made at Laurelton.

KEISTER—George Washington Keister, one of Haines township's most highly respected citizens, died at his home at Aaronsburg, after an illness of a little more than a week. He was taken ill on the 11th inst., and was able to take but little nourishment from the beginning of his illness. On Saturday prior to his death he suffered a stroke of paralysis which caused his sudden demise.

Mr. Keister was born February 22, 1853, and was therefore aged 70 years, 2 months and 27 days. He followed farming and lumbering for many years and was a hard worker during his whole life. Politically he was a staunch Democrat, and some years ago was a candidate for the nomination for sheriff of Centre county, but was defeated. He was very progressive and will be sadly missed in the community in which he lived. He was married to Flora Olivia Weaver, who survives with two daughters and one son—Mrs. Annie Bower, Mrs. Warren E. Hosterman and Frank W., all of Aaronsburg; also eight grandchildren. Interment was made in the Lutheran cemetery at Aaronsburg.

McKay—George H. McKay died at his residence at 3536 north Gratz St., Philadelphia. His wife, who before marriage was Miss Elsie C. Phillips, of Aaronsburg, survives with one daughter, Florence. The remains were brought to Aaronsburg where interment was made in the Reformed cemetery.

Aristotle's Philosophy. Aristotle has been called a practical philosopher. A better designation would be a philosopher of facts. He sought for facts everywhere in nature. Thus he began, under his father, and he continued to be all his life, a student of nature. When he mistook her he wrote down wrong conclusions, but he really mistook her seldom. In consequence, very many of the things he wrote four centuries before Christ are true today. Nature's laws being unchangeable lead only one way, and on that way her modern pupil and her classical Aristotle meet.—New York Herald.

A Better Job. "Do you take me for a natural-born fool?" exclaimed the quarrelsome passenger to the mild man who had contradicted him. "I did, yes," replied the mild man. "Well, I'll let you know that I'm not!" cried the speaker. "Then I congratulate you," said the other calmly, "for if you did the job yourself you've got nature beat to a standstill."—Boston Evening Transcript.

WILES OF "WITCH DOCTORS"

Important Personages Among the Wild Tribes of New Guinea Remarkable for Cleverness.

In the New Guinea islands when a man is ill and has been reduced to a state of delirium, the witch-doctor arrives, an old man with mottled hair and an exceedingly dirty skin. Around his neck he wears a collection of oddities, consisting of bits of crystal, pointed sticks, human bones, and perhaps some native medicaments. Around his loins he sometimes carries a second bag with a supplementary supply of these valuable adjuncts, and somewhere he is sure to be concealing stones and pieces of glass which he is going to charm out of the body of the sick man, writes R. W. Cilento, in Asia Magazine.

The sorcerer proceeds to examine the patient with elaborate ceremony and then announces to the anxious relatives that it is just as he expected; certain stones have been washed into the man's body by a neighboring magician or some other evil agency. Bending over the sufferer, he begins to mumble long incantations and to rub vigorously. Sometimes he is a skilled masseur, and uses a hot stone wrapped in bark, to knead the sore muscles. By this treatment he frequently relieves the rheumatic pains which accompany so many infections. Some time during the course of his massage, he palms off one of his stones or fragments of glass, and the sick man, if he be conscious, generally experiences great and immediate relief.

MUST BE PLAYED BY EAR

Assertion That No Written Notes Have Been Made for the "Mouth-Organ" Seems Right.

"Every musical instrument can be fitted for written parts or notes except one or two," said Halpin, the Park Row harmony magate, to a customer who entered his shop to cause confusion rather than to do business. "Certainly, sir, I have selections published for the accordion.

"No, I admit I didn't know myself that music was printed for the accordion until the other day, when a customer asked for some. I thought the limit in sheet music, rather, or orchestra parts, had been reached when they wrote the directions or whatever you call it, for bass drum and cymbals, but the accordion order taught even me something. Strictly speaking, there is no music for the accordion; the notes for the concertina will suffice.

"The exception is the harmonica, or old-fashioned 'mouth organ.' That's the one instrument a virtuoso must master and play by ear. But at that there are written instructions about how to breathe into the thing."—New York Sun.

The Young in Heart.

The little girl was crossing the ocean with her mother. One day she had been playing merrily at shuffleboard with a middle-aged gentleman who had made her acquaintance, and who took a great deal of pleasure in teaching her the game. Her mother, coming in search for her, found her just as she had stopped playing. "What have you been doing, my dear?" asked the mother. "I've been playing with that young man over there," the little girl replied. The mother looked across at the middle-aged gentleman and smiled. "How do you know when people are young?" she asked. "Oh," replied the little girl confidently, "young people are those that have a good time."—Youth's Companion.

CATARRAL DEAFNESS

is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal condition. Circulars free. All Druggists.
