The Reporter respectfully calls the attention of a number of subscribers to the label on their paper (or wrapper, if your paper comes that way), which shows an arrearage. Do not wait to receive a statement, for the condition of your standing is very plain in the figures on your label. Of course, there are those who have paid and who have not as yet received the proper credit, but this will be done before long. This notice is not for them. Those who hold us off for a year or longer are unconsciously working a hardship upon the publishers. Ask yourself whether you would care to wait a year, or two, or three, for that which you earned and is due you, and we will stand by the verdict.

Parents who will send children to the primary public schools for the first time the coming fall term, should remember that successful vaccination of the child is necessary before it can be admitted to the schools. It would be wise to have the child vaccinated now, instead of waiting until the last moment.

THE DEATH RECORD.

ARNEY.—Mrs. I. Mervin Arney died at her home, west of Centre Hall, on Tuesday night between nine and ten o'clock, from broncho-pneumonia. Mrs. Arney had been in rather delicate health for some time, when grip developed and later the disease that caused her death. Interment will be made in the local cemetery Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

The deceased's maiden name was Miss Ella Lingle, a daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (St. Clair) Lingle, both deceased, and was born and reared a short distance west of the home where she died. There survive her husband, a son—Bruce, a daughter—Miss Pearl Arney, both at home, also two grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. C. M. Arney, of Centre Hall, also survives the deceased.

Her age was fifty-five years, seven-teen days.

HAGAN.—The body of Mrs. Bruce Hagan was brought to the John Hagan home, at Farmers Mills, from Tyrone, to where it was shipped, Sunday evening. Monday morning interment was made in the Union cemetery, Rev. M. C. Drumm officiating.

Mrs. Hagan died in a Detroit, Michigan, hospital, in which city she and her husband had been living since their marriage, about eleven months ago. She was afflicted with a goiter and on Thursday of last week underwent an operation for its removal. The following day she suffered a relapse and died in the afternoon.

Mrs. Hagan's maiden name was Miss Sue W. Prichard, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prichard, of Detroit, both of whom survive her, as do also two sisters, Misses Jessie and Sarah, and two brothers. The father and the two sisters accompanied the body to its last resting place. The deceased was aged twenty-nine years, one month and twenty-three days.

KENNEDY.—Miss Elizabeth Kennedy died at State College Thursday afternoon of last week. Death was due to an injury received a week previous when an auto in which she and a sister, Miss Fredrika, were riding, upset. She was confined to bed after the accident but her injuries were not considered to be serious until a few hours prior to her death.

Miss Kennedy was born March 30, 1878, in State College, the daughter of Thomas Franklin and Susan Musser Kennedy, both now deceased. She is survived by the following sisters: Mrs. O. C. Edwards, Minneapolis, Minn.; Mrs. M. P. Helman, of Irwin; Mrs. Harriet Holmes, Miss Margaret and Miss Fredrika; and one brother, William, all of State College.

HOUSEMAN.—Adie Houseman, a native of Centre county, died at his home in Altoona following a lingering illness. He was eighty-three years old and was born and raised in Penna Valley. He followed farming in that section of the county until 1879 when he moved to Altoona and entered the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. He was retired at the age of seventy years.

Three sons, all of Altoona, survive.

Mayor Frank C. Musser formally welcomed the delegates to the Pennsylvania State convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, which is being held in Lancaster. Sumner V. Hosterman, Assistant District Attorney, also made a welcome speech.

Responses were made by Herbert Chynski, California Erie No. 9, grand worthy president of the order; Conrad Mann, Kansas City, Mo., managing organizer, and E. J. Mulhearn, of Mauch Chunk, State President.

The city is gaily decorated for the convention. Ten thousand Eagles are expected to be there today (Thursday) to participate in the big parade. Women visitors were taken on a tour of the city Monday afternoon by the Women's General Committee.

Boozer—Rowe

Shannon Boozer and Miss Ethel Rowe were married on Friday morning at the Reformed parsonage, Sunbury, by the minister in charge. The couple left Centre Hall accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Bradford and Miss Verna Rowe in a car, drove to Sunbury where the wedding took place, and from there the bride and groom started on their honeymoon journey through Pocono Mountains and other points by auto, while their friends returned home by train.

The young couple are well and favorably known in Centre Hall, the bride being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Rowe, and the greater part of the time since leaving school was engaged in several banks in various capacities. She is a young woman of engaging personality and one capable of making a home homey. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Boozer and has been assisting his father in conducting the varied business engaged in by him.

Within a short time the couple will begin housekeeping in Centre Hall, next to the Boozer business place, the house being almost ready for occupancy after having been remodeled on the interior.

Gregg Township V. S. Commencement

Commencement events will begin on Sunday evening, June 10, with the baccalaureate sermon in the Methodist church, Spring Mills. The Rev. John P. Harkins, of State College, will give the address to the class; subject, "The Life Worth While."

On Thursday evening, June 14, the class night program will be given in the Grange hall.

The regular graduating exercises will take place Friday evening, June 15 in the Methodist church, followed by the alumni banquet in the school gymnasium.

The three programs will begin at 8:00 o'clock sharp.

Memorial Day Services.

Services on Memorial day were observed at all the customary points on Wednesday, and everywhere there was a fine attendance of patriotic citizens willing to lay aside the tools of the day that honor might be done to the heroic dead.

At Centre Hall the service was held at 6:00 P. M. The line of march was formed at the Reformed church and was headed by veterans of the Civil war. The few remaining veterans were carried in autos, followed by a number of World War and Spanish-American veterans. Then came representatives of civic organizations, followed by a large line of little children carrying flags. At the cemetery the usual decorating ceremony was gone through, after which Rev. M. C. Drumm the orator of the day, delivered an appropriate address, at the close of which a number of children engaged in drill and singing National airs. A male quartet also sang.

In a drive from Centre Hall by way of Pleasant Gap, State College, Hollidaysburg, Altoona, Tyrone, Bald Eagle and return by the State College route failed to show a single wheat field having a high-class prospect for a bumper yield. There are a number of fields showing a 75 per cent. prospect, but more 50 per cent. cuts.

While shearing sheep, Cleveland Durgard received an injury to his hand by having it pierced with the shears he was using.

DUEL INDEFINITELY PUT OFF

Must Be Admitted That Israel Putnam's Method of Conducting It Was Somewhat Disconcerting.

Old Israel Putnam had his own ideas about dueling, although it was regarded in his day as more or less a part of a gentleman's code of honor. It once happened that Putnam unintentionally offended a brother officer in the Continental army. The dispute arose at a wine table, and the officer demanded instant reparation. Putnam, being a little excited, expressed his willingness to accommodate him with a fight, and it was stipulated that the duel should take place on the following morning, and that they should fight without seconds. At the appointed time the officer went to the dueling ground armed with swords and pistols. Putnam was there before him on the field and had taken a stand at the opposite end, musket in hand. Catching sight of his opponent he leveled his musket and fired. The astonished officer ran toward Putnam, who was deliberately reloading his piece. "What are you about?" he demanded. "Is this the conduct of an American officer and a man of honor?" "What am I about?" inquired Putnam. "A pretty question to ask a man whom you intended to murder; I'm about to kill you; and if you don't beat a retreat in less time than it would take Old Heath to hang a Tory you are a gone dog." He rammied home the charge in his musket and threw the piece to his shoulder; where at the would-be duelist took to his heels and fled for his life.

PROGRESS MADE IN TANNING

Process Known to Be at Least Three Thousand Years Old, but Improvements Came Slowly.

At first skins were cured by simply cleaning and drying. Then it was found the texture of the leather improved by the use of smoke, sour milk, various oils and the brains of the animals themselves. Later it was discovered that certain astringent barks and vegetables effected permanent changes in the texture of skins and stopped decay. The ancient Egyptians possessed this knowledge, for engravings on their tombs depict the process of tanning. In China specimens of leather have been discovered in company with other relics that prove them to be over three thousand years old. The Romans used leather which they tanned with oil, alum and bark. Early explorers in America found the Indians wearing skins prepared with buffalo dung, oil and clay.

No improvement in the general methods of preparing leather took place from the most primitive times until about 1790, when the use of lime to loosen the hair was introduced. By 1825 English tanners were attempting to introduce new methods by which the tanning process could be shortened. One of the pioneers in these experiments was John Burridge, the inventor of the barometer, an instrument for determining the strength of tanning liquors.

Life Rafts for Wharves and Docks.

Although ships have carried life rafts for many years, the only provision ordinarily made on docks and wharves for accidents is the common, round life preserver. These are inadequate at times, especially in the event of a gang-plank breaking and precipitating several persons into deep water at once. A California seaport, realizing this danger, has installed life rafts mounted on trucks for instant moving and launching. They are almost the size used by ships, but with a double deck body and a central cockpit for passengers, the whole being rigidly mounted on pontoons. The buoyancy of these rafts is sufficient to support a large number of persons.

Yes, Trees Must Eat.

Do you know how trees grow by forming new layers of wood directly under the bark? The roots are the support of the tree, says the School Book of Forestry, they also supply the tree with food. Through delicate hairs on the roots they absorb soil moisture and plant food from the earth and pass them along to the tree. The body of the tree acts as a passageway through which the food and drink are conveyed to the top or crown. The crown is the place where the food is digested and the regeneration of trees effected.

Are Screech Owls Ominous?

In some sections of the country people believe that when a screech owl alights and begins to scold it is a sign of some ill luck which is soon to befall them. Particularly do ignorant people put faith in this sign. Many have been heard to say that it betokens the early death of a loved one. No more utterly false specter of the imagination was ever created. A screech owl is quite harmless. In fact, they are quite valuable, pretty little night birds.—Our Dumb Animals.

International Date-Line.

The International Date-Line is a hypothetical line, coinciding approximately with the meridian of longitude 180 degrees from Greenwich, fixed by international agreement as the place where each calendar day first begins. For practical purposes the meridian is not strictly followed, for the line runs through Alaska and irregularly through the Pacific ocean from north to south, of course.

East of the International Date-Line the day is dated one day earlier than on the west of the line.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS
is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.
