

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

J. R. Smetzer, of Potters Mills, was an early Wednesday morning caller at the Reporter office.

Miss Mary Bingham is taking a brief vacation among friends in Howard, having gone there on Tuesday.

Railroad crossing signs, mile posts, and signals have been refreshed with paint by the Pennsy employes.

A valuable cow belonging to David Stoner was found dead in a pasture field the latter part of last week.

Miss Watts, a instructor in the Gregg Township Vocational School, was a brief caller at this office on Tuesday.

Lost—Automobile crank, somewhere between Centre Hall and A. O. Detwiler home, near Colyer. Return to above named party.

More than 6,200,000 forest trees were planted by private owners of forest land in Pennsylvania during the past spring.

William J. Yeager, a member of the well-known firm of Spanker and Yeager, died in Lewistown. He was almost 65 years old.

W. M. Houser, of Linden Hall, a member of the Harris township school board, was a business caller at this office last Saturday.

Frank A. Carson publishes letters of administration in the estate of Elizabeth A. Runkle, of Centre Hall town, deceased, in this issue.

The Union Sunday School at Farmers Mills will hold a children's service on Sunday evening, June 24th, to which the public is cordially invited.

Mrs. C. T. Fryberger, of Philipsburg, who has been very ill for several weeks and whose condition gave the family members much concern, is somewhat improved.

Rev. C. N. and Mrs. Wolfe, of Reading, are spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Bartzges, in Centre Hall, Mrs. Wolfe being a sister to Mr. Bartzges.

William and James Davidson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davidson, of Mifflin, for several days last week were guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lutz, in Centre Hall.

William Lohr and family, of Snow Shoe, visited the Samuel Gross family over Memorial day. Within a short time the Lohr family expect to move to Ohio to make their home.

C. E. Flink purchased a second hand auto truck and will hereafter do hauling on the state roads, and, of course, will be ready for any kind of hauling for private parties when not engaged on the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Fisher returned home on Wednesday from a trip of four weeks in the South, and state they had a most delightful visit among friends and enjoyed every day they were gone.

"The Battle of Civilization" is the subject of a lecture by Maude T. Seymour, in the Lutheran church this (Thursday) evening. The speaker represents the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

The delegates to the I. O. O. F. and Rebekah convention at Allentown from Centre Hall are Roy Garbrick and Samuel Shoop; from Boalsburg, Frank McClintock and Miss Della Ishler; from Spring Mills, C. C. Bartzges and Miss Laura Wolf.

Editor Allison, of the Belleville Times, made a fraternal call on the Reporter on Saturday morning. He is a young man with plenty of energy, and since his control of the Times a few years ago, he has modernized the plant and is turning out a real newsy sheet. Call again.

Three young people from Centre Hall graduated from the State College High school at the recent commencement exercises held by that educational institution. They are Miss Mary Bingham, Harvey Flink and Daniel Smith Daup. All of them graduated from the local three-year High school.

The Kerlin Poultry Farm of this place is offering CHOICE thoroughbred Day-old Chicks, delivery June 12th, at 10 cents each. All from vigorous one and two-year-old breeders. Here is your opportunity. It will pay you to stock up now. Phone or call in person—we have an interesting proposition.—A. E. KERLIN & SON.

Mr. and Mrs. James Leeper of Wilkensburg, enjoyed a few days outing hereabouts during the past week, and made their headquarters at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Funk. They traveled in a car and did some trout fishing, with good success. At present Mrs. S. P. Bitts, of the Pittsburgh district, is a guest at the Funk home.

Mrs. Ezra Tressler, with her charming little granddaughter, Margaret Miller, of State College, left for a trip through the west. Their first stop will be Kansas City, where Mrs. Tressler will meet her twin sister, Mrs. David, of Long Beach, Calif. They will spend the summer touring the great west and return in time for Margaret to enter school, where she is a general favorite.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Helen Bartholomew accompanied Mr. Krader, of Bellefonte, to Cleveland, and will drive back the seven-passenger Chalmers sedan recently purchased by C. D. Bartholomew.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Cook Mrs. Cook's mother, Mrs. W. C. Farner, and brother, James Farner, on Sunday drove from near Lebanon to Tusseyville where they visited among friends until Tuesday. Mr. Cook is engaged in farming and reports crop conditions fine in Lebanon valley, although more rain is needed.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Breen and family will now be found at 1112 Chestnut street, Reading, to which place they moved from another section of Reading. Mr. Breen has been very successful as a manager of bridge construction work and the home in which they now live was purchased by them, a move contemplated by them for a year or more.

H. L. Ebricht is having his dwelling house repainted. Since purchasing it other improvements were made on the exterior and interior, making it now one of the prettiest homes in that section of town. A number of other residents in Centre Hall have material on hand for painting their homes and will do so as soon as they can induce some one to do the work.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Weber, Miss Mary Weber, and little Miss Spyker, of Centre Hall, were among those who from this section attended the Memorial Day exercises at Boalsburg. Mr. Weber was impressed with the large attendance and good attention at the services, as well as with the fine condition the cemetery was put for the occasion.

Touring Notes from Mr. and Mrs. George E. Meyer.

Left home Saturday morning, June 2nd, at 8:30; had a send-off by a few neighbors and friends. We reached Bedford at 12:30; spent a short time with Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell Garbrick. Mr. Garbrick is postmaster. We visited Bedford Springs and started on our way at 2 o'clock and landed at Pitscairn about 7. We surprised Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rupp by appearing at their open door, which is always open to friends from his Centre county home. We remained there until Sunday afternoon. Mr. Rupp is postmaster at Pitscairn—a Democrat under a Republican administration. He is well liked in Pitscairn. His home is made happy by a son, Paul Jr., or "Bobby," near 3 years old.

Sunday was very warm; that evening we came to the home of J. H. Yout, at West View. Mrs. Yout is a sister of Miss Ella Sayner, now of State College. At their hospitable home we felt quite welcome and stayed there until Monday morning when we started again. We have not gotten very tired, and are feeling good.

For further information as to our whereabouts see next issue of the Reporter.

Antidote for Boredom.

While prime minister of England Lloyd George devised an antidote for boredom. When he was entertaining or being entertained he arranged to have himself called on the telephone at certain intervals. If the company was dull he discovered at the first ring that affairs of state demanded his attention. If the company was passable he waited for the second ring. If he found himself among kindred spirits, the calls were in regard to matters that his secretary could bring to a happy conclusion.

None in Sight Now.

Jack—Tom, I'm in a terrible fix. I'm engaged to three girls.

Tom—Well, that's not exactly a crime.

Jack—No, that's the worst of it. If it were I could go to prison and have some peace.—Boston Evening Transcript.

ONCE LAIR OF SEA WOLVES

Ile of Pines Long Known as Rendezvous of Ferocious Pirates—"Slave Fattening."

The Ile of Pines, an appanage of Cuba, has filled an interesting page in history. Las Casas, who chronicled the story of the voyages of Columbus in his "Historia de las Indias," writes that the admiral discovered the island during his second voyage, in June, 1494, on St. John the Evangelist's day, therefore naming it "Evangelista." There is every evidence that between the time of Columbus and the earliest settlers the island was the headquarters for the most ferocious pack of sea wolves that hunted the seas in the late Sixteenth and early Seventeenth centuries. English, French and Dutch all found security on the Ile of Pines.

Not the least interesting epoch of the island's history was when it served as a "slave fattening" depot. In the days when the traders in "black ivory" found the difficulties of their profession increasing in the ratio of prejudice against slave-holding, their profits decreased in a like ratio. They attempted to rectify this loss by bringing a more valuable article to the market, and the Ile of Pines became a haven of rest and contentment for the slaves they brought over in dark holds from Africa, before they were sold in "the States."—Detroit News.

ENTHUSIASM TO BE GUIDED

Properly Directed, It Is One of the Most Valuable Possessions a Woman Can Have.

There are women who let all of their enthusiasm bubble to the top of their conversation, frothy women. Then there are women who let their enthusiasm settle at the bottom of their personality, like the dregs of lost youth. Absorbed in the routine of their own little lives they lose touch with the lives of others. As their circle of interests narrows, their enthusiasm dies. Finally, inevitably, they join that sad sisterhood of drab, colorless women—women who don't count.

But there are women whose enthusiasm neither bubbles to the top nor subsides to the bottom. Women who really let "themselves go." They are interested in other people and events outside of their own little lives, and this interest sparkles into enthusiasm. These are the women whom we call "vivid" and these are the women who make happy friendships and happy marriages, even when they are handicapped by lack of beauty, or lack of cleverness, or lack of style.—Exchange.

Lost Treasure of Montezuma.

According to legend, Montezuma, at the time of his overthrow in 1520 by Cortez and his Spanish followers, had, in addition to the colossal loot which the victors secured in gold and silver, fabulous wealth in gold stored away beneath his secret palace hidden in the plateau region of what is now the state of Nayarit, Mexico.

The loot, which the invaders secured, was stupendous, to be sure. But they missed the greatest single cache of gold in Mexico by dismissing Montezuma in time for him to recall his messengers sent out to bring in the gold from the chief treasure house of his gods.

Cortez tortured and then murdered hundreds of the leading Aztecs in an effort to get from them the secret of the location of the great treasure place and palace. Failing to gain his information in that way, he spent several years scouring the western part of Mexico, but in vain.

Americans at the Telephone.

One way to measure the extent of the relative use of the telephone in several countries is to determine the average amount of time per year actually spent by each inhabitant in telephone conversations. Statistics indicate that in the United States the average per capita time consumed in holding telephone conversations is 16 hours; in the Scandinavian countries, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, 12 hours; in Germany, five hours; in Switzerland, three hours; in Great Britain, two hours; in France, one hour, and in Italy considerably less than one hour.

World's Accessible Timber.

The accessible timber of the world is inadequate to the requirements of modern civilization, says the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture. We now draw one-third of our paper requirements from Canada. There is an embargo on the export of pulp wood from the crown lands of Canada, and this is likely to be extended to all forest lands in the Dominion, completely shutting off the supply of raw material for the paper industry of the United States. This illustrates the hazard of becoming dependent upon foreign supplies of timber, it is pointed out.

Coloring Cotton Goods.

There are many different systems of producing high-grade colored cotton goods. Each system has its special advantage over other systems for the production of a certain line of goods. Each class of goods has a certain line of buyers which creates an increasing demand for this particular class. The various systems under which cotton colored goods are produced may be covered under the following list: Bleached goods, dyed goods, painted goods, stained goods, embossed goods, enameled goods, printed goods.—Dyestuffs.

Magnificent Pictorial History of America at Los Angeles.

The evolution of the dance, from its origin in most ancient times down to the very present day, will be depicted in a mammoth spectacle that is to be produced at the Motion Picture Exposition, opening in Los Angeles, Calif., July 2. The 20-day program following is extended to be in the nature of a celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Monroe Doctrine, which falls this year.

In view of the general revival of interest in all forms of dancing during the past few years, it is believed that such a pageant of Terpsichore as can be given in the newly completed coliseum of Exposition Park, which seats 80,000 people, will appeal to more persons than anything else that might be attempted in a representational way. Particularly when it is done on the large scale that is contemplated, as the ensembles will run up into the thousands and surpass anything of the sort that has ever been put on.

None of the seven arts has a more interesting history than the dance, as investigation of primitive civilization strongly suggests that dancing was the primary art, because it was the first human impulse to be expressed externally. And in addition to conveying ideas in dramatic form, it is in its earliest stages rhythmic. In this connection it is interesting to note that everything in nature expresses rhythm.

The tides and waves manifest it, as do the vibrations of light and sound and the harmonious movement of the heavenly orbs. Therefore when human beings set out to portray their feelings by rhythmical movements of their bodies, they simply become part of the universal dance, as has been pointed out.

CONQUERED THE WART HOG

"Flivver" Proved Too Much for Pugnacious South African Animal Who Objected to Its Presence.

The wild animals of South Africa do not take kindly to such new-fangled ideas as "flivvers," as the following incident, related by William McStay, historian of H. A. Snow's expedition, which has been hunting big game from a motor car, will show:

"The wart hog, whose name fairly well describes his appearance, fought Snow's machine to a standstill; to the beast, the 'fliv' was a new form of enemy. Snow encountered the wart hog one day in driving a path across the

CHINESE MINISTER AS CUPID

Jesting Remark Made by Wu Ting Fang Led to the Union of Two Loving Hearts.

Wu Ting Fang was, while minister at Washington, attending the wedding of the daughter of the chief justice at that time. At the breakfast he asked one of the bridesmaids when it would be her turn to become a bride. She modestly said that she did not know, as she had not yet had an offer. Turning to a group of young men, Doctor Wu jocularly remarked to one of them, "This is a beautiful lady, would you not like to marry her?" He replied, "I should be most delighted to." "Will you accept his offer?" said Doctor Wu to the bridesmaid. She seemed slightly embarrassed and said something to the effect that as she did not know the gentleman she could not give a definite answer. Meeting the Chinese minister at an "at home" a few days later, she scolded him for his bluntness, and he excused himself by saying that he was actuated by the best of motives.

A few months afterward Wu received an invitation from the young lady's parents to attend her marriage. The bridegroom was the young man who had figured in the unconventional incident. To Wu's agreeable surprise the mother of the bride informed him that it was he who had first brought the young couple together, and both bride and bridegroom heartily thanked him for his good offices.
