Frank E. Arney, one of the local quarrymen, was hit in the back by a stone falling from the face of the quarry. He has been unable to work since but it is thought the injury will not be permanent.

A physical examination of railroad trackmen was held in Sunbury on Tuesday. From this place foreman Levi Hartley, John A. Martz and Robert I. Smith were looked over by the official examiners.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Heckman motored in from Johnstown beginning of the week to visit Mr. Heckman's old home at Lamar, coming from there to Centre Hall, on Tuesday, to visit Mrs. H. W. Kreamer.

Mrs. Morris Long, of McVeytown, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Samuel Shoop, in Centre Hall, during this week. She was accompanied here by her husband who returned home and will call for her on Saturday.

Appropriate ceremonies marked the laying of the corner stone for the first emergency campaign building at the Pennsylvania State College last Saturday. It is expected that the building will be completed by the first of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Powell and daughter, Miss Geraldine, of Harrisburg, came to Centre Hall beginning of this week and were guests of Mrs. Powell's sister, Mrs. Milford Luse. The elder Powells returned to their home, leaving their daughter here to spend some time with her cousin, Miss Margaret Luse.

This is Flag Day, June 14th. See that the Stars and Stripes are properly displayed. It is also Elks' Kiddies' Day at Hecla Park, where a thousand children are being entertained by their elder brothers. One of the chief things in mind of the Elks today is to teach children the proper use of and respect for Old Glory.

Rev. Daniel Gress, of Harrison City, in the Pittsburgh district, was the minister in charge of the funeral of Mrs. I. Mervin Arney, on Saturday morning, having been a former pastor of the Centre Hall Reformed church. While in town the minister called on a number of his former parishioners, and was not only heartily greeted by them but by many not adhering to the Reformed faith.

A new funeral car has been ordered by funeral director F. V. Goodhart, and will be on hand in about three weeks. The purchase was made from the Meteor Hearse company, Piqua, Ohio. The chassis is a Mort 6-cylinder. The body is the latest type in design, two-tone gray in color. This will give Mr. Goodhart one of the best funeral outfits in the county.

Mrs. John Williams, formerly Mrs. Lettie Goodhart, of Rodman, New York, came to Spring Mills, Friday of last week, and will remain over the commencement at the Gregg Township Vocational School where she has a daughter, Miss Sarah Goodhart, graduating. Of course, she spent a part of the time at her old home, near Centre Hall. She is very much pleased with the section of New York state in which she lives, and now is living on a farm, but her husband is not engaged in farming—he is a dealer in livestock of various kinds.

From here they went to Penn State where their son, James, graduated from the electrical engineering department. Miss Mary Kurtz, a daughter, is employed in the Carnegie library at the institution.

Card of Thanks.
I. M. Arney takes this method of thinking all who so kindly lent their help and expressed sympathy during the illness and subsequent death of his wife.

ONION'S VALUE AS MEDICINE

For Many Ailments There Is Nothing That Will Get as Good Results In Short Time.

The sweet Italian or the Bermuda onions are the ones to be eaten au naturel, their flavor being much more delicate than that of the common varieties. But onions are really sweeteners of the breath after the local effects have passed away, as they correct stomach disorders and carry off the accumulated poisons of the system. They provide a blood purifier that all may freely use, and do perfect work in constipation troubles. As a vermifuge the onion cannot be surpassed, and, eaten raw, will often check a violent cold in the head. One small onion eaten every night before retiring is a well-known doctor's prescription for numerous affections of the head, and is highly recommended for sleeplessness; it acts on the nerves in a soothing way, without the injurious effects of the drugs so often applied. The heart of an onion, heated and placed in the ear, will often relieve the agony of earache, while the sirup procured from sprinkling a sliced onion with sugar and baking in the oven will work wonders in a "croupy" child.

"HUNCH" WON FOR GAMBLERS

Fly's Alighting on Particular Number Surely Was Unfortunate for Monte Carlo Casino.

Sailors have always been considered superstitious, and miners come close second, but neither of them are more sensitive to trifling omens than the degenerate-in-the-wool gambler.

A Monte Carlo paper tells that a fly alighted on No. 13 on the roulette table recently at a time when the players had suffered a persistent run of bad luck. The superstitious gamblers exchanged covert glances and searched their pockets for money with which to stake.

In a few moments the "middle dozen," that is to say, the numbers 13 to 24, was liberally covered with stakes. Then an elderly gambler arose and piled napoleons round the square on which the fly had alighted, thus backing the numbers from 10 to 17.

Less confident players staked small amounts on the "transversales." The ivory marble was sent spinning round the roulette wheel, there was a moment of suspense, and then the croupier announced the winning number, 13. But, what is far more extraordinary, the same number came up three times in succession. That fly cost the Casino $25,000.

Genuine Feathered Plane.

The man-o-war bird is a genuine feathered airplane. Without moving its wings seemingly for hours at a time, it calmly floats high in air, ascending in spirals, or drifting lazily along, directing its easy flight by changes of the angle of its "planes" so slight that any effort is not apparent. It is a distinctly tropical bird, seldom being seen farther north than along the coasts of Florida, the Gulf states and Southern California.

The bird is very impressive by reason of its size and the enormous stretch of its long, narrow wings, measuring some seven and a half feet across. When a great flock of thousands soar on motionless pinions, they appear like an aerial army of invasion. At close range their great hooked bills give them a rather fierce appearance, though they have but little to boast of in the way of talons, their feet being weak and clumsy, fit only for perching.

Figures in Scottish History.

"Black Douglas" was James Douglas, ninth and last earl of one branch of the Douglas family in Scotland. He was early in life engaged in schemes against James II, and then fled to England, where he had a pension from the crown, and was made Knight of the Garter. In 1484 he leagued himself with the exiled duke of Albany, and invaded Scotland, when he was taken prisoner at Lochmaben. On being brought before the court he turned his back upon the king. The compassionate King James III spared his life on condition of his taking the cowl. He then entered the monastic seclusion at Lindores, where he died.

Microscope Inventor Unknown.

Although the early history of the microscope is obscure, the first microscope is generally believed to have been made by Zacharias Jansen, a Dutchman, in 1590. The invention is also attributed to Galileo about 1610. Microscopes with double glasses appeared soon after the discovery of the law of the refraction of light, about 1624; but it was not until the invention of the achromatic lens and its application to the microscope by Lister and others that the instrument became of positive value in the cause of science. The binocular microscope was invented by Professor Riddell in 1851.

Where Lake Erie Got Its Name.

Lake Erie took its name from a tribe of Indians, of Iroquois stock, but not belonging to the Iroquois confederacy, known as the Eries, who lived in the western part of New York state on the south shore of the lake. Mr. Henry Gannett, an officer of the United States geological survey, and chairman of the United States geographic board, in his "Origin of Certain Place Names in the United States," gives the following: "Erie, one of the Great Lakes, from erie, erike, or eriga, meaning 'wild cat,' the name of an ancient tribe on its borders."

A VICTORY FOR AMERICAN MOTORISTS

The Crude Rubber Monopoly weakened when it came into contact with aroused public sentiment. The press of the country today reflects the determination of the American motorist that tire prices shall stay at a reasonable level—and that America must produce its own rubber.

Firestone CUTS TIRE PRICES

EFFECTIVE JUNE 11

We announce a 10% reduction in tires and tubes effective June 11th. The lowered cost of crude rubber and the special Firestone manufacturing and distribution advantages make this possible.

Firestone factories are organized on a basis of large volume and effective production. Costs are down but quality is at its peak. Stockholder workmen are daily building many thousands of Gum-Dipped Cords—the best tire Firestone ever produced and, we believe, the leader on the market today.

Firestone Cords took the first four places and eight of the ten money positions in the Indianapolis Sweepstakes, May 30th, without a single tire failure.

Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords have set new standards in mileage, traction, comfort and safety. Car owners have expressed their approval of the extra value in Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords by increasing their purchases 194% in the past six months.

We have replaced many expensive branches with warehouses. We now have 108 distributing points which are delivering Firestone tires to the consumer at the lowest cost in our history.

Follow the tide of economical tire buying—equip with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords—and learn what Most Miles per Dollar means to you today.
