

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Fred Auman, of Potters Mills, was quite ill over Sunday, suffering from an affection of the heart.

How it did rain on Friday! No more drought talk for this section. The rain fell between five and six inches.

H. B. Spangler, of Park Ridge, Ill., arrived Sunday at the home of Mrs. Wilkinson, at Potters Mills, expecting to return home Friday of this week.

Mrs. John J. Cameron, of Chicago, arrived on Monday to be the guest of her mother, Mrs. Ella Wilkinson, of Potters Mills. She expects to remain until September 1st.

Miss Ellen Gälland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Gälland, of State College, for a few days was entertained at the home of Miss Grace Smith, in Centre Hall.

Miss Leona Wolf, of Stonington, near Shamokin, is visiting Rev. and Mrs. M. C. Drumm for a few days and is accompanying them home Monday for the vacation of the latter.

A. E. Kerlin and son, W. W. Kerlin, expect to go to Washington, D. C., next week, to attend the sessions of the International Baby Chix Association, of which they are members.

Mrs. W. A. Sandoe, of Ingram, arrived in Centre Hall the latter part of last week and is stopping at the C. D. Bartholomew home. Mrs. Sandoe formerly lived in Centre Hall and has many old friends about here.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Spayd and family, of Bellevue, who had been visiting the former's brother, A. I. Spayd, in Centre Hall, and other relatives in various sections of Centre county, returned to their home on Monday.

Miss Anna Clark, of Jeanette, a friend of Mr. and Mrs. John Delaney, east of town, paid them a visit and returned home on Saturday morning. Miss Clark is an artist and devotes much of her time to decorating chinaware articles.

William Sandoe, of Philadelphia, came to Centre Hall the latter part of last week to be among the associates of his youth. He has been a Pennsylvania railroad office man for a number of years in Pittsburgh, but recently was transferred to Philadelphia.

The Kerlin radiophone has been bringing in many concerts from various parts of the country. Friday night the music and speaking came in unusually clear and the programs were of high order. The evening previous "Hi" Johnson's New York address was distinctly heard.

Near Reading at midnight a half dozen boys were caught preparing a large cross to be burned, the intention being to make believe it was the signal of the organization of a Ku Klux Klan. It is now thought that the crosses burned in many Pennsylvania towns were the acts of persons having no connection with the three K organization.

He arrived Sunday morning. This refers to the fourth son and fifth child in the James C. Goodhart family in Centre Hall. Mother and child are getting along fine, word comes from the home. Mistaking a question put to Miss Kathryn, the only sister of the young man, the little girl said, "He's pretty; dark hair, blue eyes," and of course, she knows.

The formal opening of several stretches of highway between Meyersdale and Jennerstown, Somerset county, will take place on Friday. The road connects the National and Lincoln highways. It will be one of the biggest events to be held in that section of the state. Some good friends sent the Reporter a copy of the Meyersdale Republican which contained the program of the event.

F. K. Carter, of Williamsport, was in Centre Hall for a day or two last week, and while here completed arrangements to come to Centre Hall again to make their home, having leased a part of the double house owned by Miss Jennie Foreman. Mr. Carter and John M. Luse purchased a home in Williamsport, and this property is about to be sold by them. Mr. Luse purchased a home in Newberry near the Williamsport planing mill, where he has been employed since locating in the North Branch Susquehanna town.

Claud Dutrow holds the record for the amount of gas "consumed" by a Ford car coming from Lewistown to Centre Hall—23 miles. It's ten gallons! Claud had his tank filled before starting for home a few days ago and after he had stopped at the Dutrow home, a few minutes later he decided to put his car away for the night, and found it would not start. His father inquired whether he had gas. "Had 'er filled at Lewistown," said Claud. Nevertheless, after everything else failed, Mr. Dutrow measured the tank and found it clean dry. Investigation proved that the cut-off screw at the carburetor had worked out on the trip and Claud had sprinkled the mountain road all the way home with John D's best grade of gas.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Margaret Luse is in Harrisburg a guest of her niece, Miss Geraldine Correll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Correll.

The Stover and Meyer family reunion will be held Saturday, 11th inst., in Winkblech's grove, three miles east of Aaronsburg.

Miss Mary Foreman is convalescing from a recent operation at the home of her brother, John F. Foreman, at Cresson. Miss Foreman is a former resident of Centre Hall and a successful school teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. George Breen and family, in company with a friend, will auto from their home in Reading, on Saturday, and will be in Centre Hall over Sunday with relatives. Mr. Breen is a contractor and is very busy, which accounts for his short stay.

Visitors at the Reformed parsonage in Aaronsburg on Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hollenbach, Clyde and Roy Hollenbach, of Middleburg; Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hollenbach, Carrie Hollenbach, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Knause, and Ray Knause, of Kratzerville. They attended the services at Aaronsburg on Sunday morning.

"Barney Google," the Ford bug which he was driving was badly smashed up when it crashed into a tree on the lawn of Mr. Ishler's home near Centre Hall. The accident happened in turning out for another car.

From all present indications Georges Valley will give a bumper corn this year. Several of the farmers are experiencing considerable trouble to land their crops sheltered from the weather man.

ICE PATROL IS NEVER IDLE CALLS FOR CAREFUL WORK

Coast Guard Unit Constantly at Work Broadcasting Information as to Ocean Conditions.

Describing the work of the ice patrol which was organized and placed under United States management by International agreement in 1913, an authority says:

"A continuous patrol is maintained by two United States coast guard cutters capable of keeping the sea in all kinds of weather. Each one alternately takes a two weeks' tour of duty and is then relieved by the other. When one of these ice scouts approaches the ice region, it collects all information from nearby vessels and proceeds to search the area south of latitude forty-three for signs of ice, and broadcasts information as to the limits of the ice to all approaching vessels. In connection with this scouting duty, the ice patrol secures scientific observations relating to the ice area and forwards daily reports to the weather bureau."

One of the things brought out by the evidence gathered by these vessels, he stated, is that there is no truth in the old idea that the cold Labrador current flowing south dives under the warmer Gulf stream moving northeast and comes up again to the southward. When these two ocean currents meet, he claims, the Labrador current is arrested, then turned toward the Gulf stream and finally pulled along in an easterly flow parallel to it.

CHEATED OF JUST REWARD

Oldtime English Inventor Unable to Get Recognition and Died Broken-Hearted.

It seems always to have been true that a pioneer of any invention which is afterward to become indispensable must suffer misfortune, and perhaps even perish, before his creation can win the recognition it deserves.

This was the case with the steel loom for knitting stockings, invented in the sixteenth century by William Lee.

Lee took his invention to Queen Elizabeth, but she withheld her patronage. Again he improved his machine, so that it would knit silk stockings—the queen's love of silk hosiery had been one of her chief reasons for disinterest—but again he was disappointed at not receiving a royal grant.

Things were no better under James I, so he went to France, and when success was almost within his grasp at the French court the assassination of the king balked him again. Broken-hearted, he died, but in the next century Oliver Cromwell granted a patent on his device to the Company of Framework Knitters.

Onions and Authority.
Next after hard-boiled eggs M. Clemenceau made the American public familiar with onion soup. But all that is purely material, only a question of restoring the tissues and keeping in health. Far above any such association with the onion is the dictum, of metaphor, of one of our high-sounding and untrammelled poets. Writing of one whom he rather vaguely describes as an infallible authority on literature, art and all life, he says that this genius speaks "from the very center of the onion." This may mean that the man has pungent and penetrating views. It may mean to convey that his ideas carry far, in the spirit of what George Eliot wrote about "the wafflings of that energetic bulb." In any event, the appearance of this simile is worth noting if only as a reminder of what all those who desire to be "in the movement" have to keep up with. Possibly we have here the dim beginnings and adumbrations, we may say odors, of a new and revolutionary onion philosophy.

Fortunes Made in Few Minutes.
If a song "catches on" it proves a gold mine to somebody, although not always to the author and composer.
"Alexander's Ragtime Band," and "Her Golden Hair is Hanging Down Her Back" were moneymakers, for the profits in each case fell little short of $20,000.

In the same class must be added such songs as "The Bogey Man," "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree," and "After the Ball." It is said, too, that "My Pretty Jane," which Sims Reeves sang thousands of times, netted $2,000 a line.
Yet some of these best sellers have been the result of but a few minutes' actual work. "Sing Me to Sleep" was composed in ten minutes. Tosti's "Dear Heart" was the work of two days, while Balfe wrote "Killarney" in a few minutes.—London Tit-Bits.

Old Car Didn't Matter.
The neighbors had bought a new car, but still used the old one, which was sitting at the curb one day when Mrs. H., across the street, was backing out of her driveway with Charles on the seat beside her. He was watching out from his side of the car.
"Am I going all right, sonny?" Mrs. H. asked.
"Yes, you're all right, mother," Charles answered.
"I want to be careful and not hit Jones' car."
"It won't make any difference if you do, mother; it's their old one," Charles replied.

New Stamp Machine.
A machine has been installed in the government printing plant at Berlin that can print, count and perforate 12,000 two-colored postage stamps a minute.

"Miners" Who Dig for Specimens of Extinct Animals for Museums Must Do Experts.

Few persons contemplating the remarkable specimens of extinct animals to be seen in some museums realize the amount of work which has been entailed in the uncovering and preparation of these specimens. In the first place, a well-equipped expedition is generally sent out to look for these bones, and many miles are sometimes covered in the search of a likely spot for operations. Even then tons of sand are carefully moved often without uncovering the bones that are being sought.

The removal of the soil can be done only by those who are familiar with the work, for an inexperienced hand could readily do much damage by not knowing how to proceed. When a bone has been located it is uncovered slowly by the aid of small brushes and delicate implements. The bones when found are exceedingly brittle and must be handled with the greatest care. When they are finally brought to light they are given a coat of shellac and then placed in a bath of flour paste. They are then carefully wrapped in strips of fabric and put in boxes. When the latter are placed in crates for shipment the smaller bones are surrounded with cotton and other material to prevent any possibility of damage being done to the specimens.

CASE OF REAL FRIENDSHIP

Old Maid's Philosophy Might Be Disputed, but She Was Undoubtedly a True "Chum."

The young principal of a Hooster school had to borrow some money in hurry or some of his debtors would notify the school board of his indebtedness to them. He went to a bank and was told it would be all right if one of the teachers of his building would go his security. He went to the oldest and most faithful one in the building.

While they were talking, the principal's young wife, resplendent in fine raiment, with her best friend, the mayor's wife, came through the room on her way to her husband's office. She gave the teacher a condescending nod and told her husband she wished to see him in his office. With an apology on his lips the young fellow followed the snobby wife.

For a minute the little old maid hesitated, then she signed the note, and started one of the pupils toward his office before another snubbing from his wife would make the work of indexing that note harder. "After all, a friend should be more loyal than even a wife," she argued to herself.—Indianapolis News.

And Wife.
This story concerns a certain public official prominent in Marion county political life who recently became a bridegroom and went on a honeymoon journey to the South.

The man and his young bride stopped at a hotel in a Florida city and as he proceeded to the hotel register she walked several paces in his rear. It seemed to him that some one had announced to the bellboy, the porter, the clerk and every one about that he was just married, for they waited and watched eagerly. He wrote something and started toward his wife.

"Haven't you forgotten something, sir?" the clerk asked.
The husband turned quickly, sized up the situation in his mind hurriedly and with a snap of his finger, characteristic of him, he said:
"By dad, I most certainly have."
With that he returned to the register and to his own name, which he already had written he added "and wife."—Indianapolis News.

Telephone Service in Morocco.
It is said that Tangier, Morocco, is one of the first cities outside the United States in which telephones were used, the service having been established there more than forty years ago. Practically the same system, however, is still in use. The circuits are all operated on a one-wire basis with the earth as the return conductor. Although nominally each of the 600 subscribers has a number, the person making the call usually asks for his party directly by name. At the present time the installation of a new system is under way, consisting of the latest type of common battery switchboard and instruments.

Record Slow Mail.
An English newspaper reports the recent delivery of a letter containing a key which reached its destination fifty-six years after it was mailed.
M. Bergamin, Spanish minister of finances, declared recently that he had just returned a letter containing certification of the public accounts of George Province and addressed to a director general of accounts who was removed from office February 1, 1866.
It had taken this letter fifty-six years and eight months to reach its destination. It contained a statement of the funds at that time in the provincial treasury.

It Does Look Just Like It.
Charles was spending his first vacation of his five years' existence with his parents at the lake. The wind came up one night, and the next morning Charles looked out on a lake covered with white-caps. Much excited, he ran into the house to his mother.
"Mother, mother!" he exclaimed "some one threw paper all over the lake last night."
