Higher prices for all commodities and larger payments of taxes are cited by Republican organs and oracles as proofs of the arrival of prosperity. It is the customary Republican argument. The greater cost of living—and taxes are part of that cost—the better the condition of the people, say the Republican economists. They must say that because it expresses the philosophy of a Republican tariff. The tariff increases prices and bigger prices are a stimulus to business and industry—thus goes their reasoning. It fails to answer one question, however. That is, how are the beneficiaries going to get bigger price when the people are unable to pay the smaller price?

LOW WHEAT AND HIGH COAL.

At last we know what is the matter with those Minnesota farmers, and all other farmers as well. We get our information from Mr. Frank A. Vanderlip, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and former President of the National City Bank (Rockefeller's) New York. Here it is:

"The present depression in agricultural prices is due to too intensive

Automatic Telephone Service in Altoona Soon.

The Bell Telephone Company's new building in Altoona is progressing rapidly and upon its completion automatic telephone equipment will be installed, which obviates the necessity of calling "central" for local connections. The automatic service, however, will not be entirely completed until 1925, officers say.

LINDEN HALL.

Miss Dorothy Miller, of Hollidaysburg, and Elizabeth Miller, of State College, are visiting friends in town.

Miss Helen Wilson motored to Pefersburg on Friday and spent the week-end at her former home.

Mrs. Lewis Swartz and children were visitors on Friday at the J. H. Ross home.

Among those who attended the ball game at Pittsburgh last week were Sam Ross, Maurice and Claude McClintic.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin U. Wieland, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wieland and little daughter Betty Jané spent the week-end with their brother's family here.

Professor and Mrs. Gehr and sons Francis and Richard and Miss Mabel Allison were among the guests at a dinner on Friday evening at the Wieland home.

Mrs. David Bohn accompanied her son Carl in his car to Akron, Ohio, last week, where she will spend some time visiting at the home of her elder son, Edward, and family.

The funeral of William H. Hoover, long a resident of Shingletown, who died at the home of a daughter in Altoona, took place Monday afternoon at two o'clock in the Presbyterian church at Bellsburg, the services being conducted by his pastor, Rev. Kirkpatrick, and burial made in the cemetery at Bellsburg. Mr. Hoover was aged 82 years, 2 months and 16 days, and is survived by four daughters and two sons. Since closing his home at Shingletown a few years ago he had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Maude Bell, at State College; late in the winter he went to Altoona for a visit with his daughters there. He was a member of the Bellsburg Presbyterian church, a good citizen and father, and one who will be missed in the community. His wife died many years ago.

New Fall Millinery.

New Fall millinery in at The Hat Shop, first door east of the Methodist church.

MRS. BURD, Milliner, Pa.

Three weeks from Saturday the Grange Encampment and Fair will be upon us. Does that make you realize how near summer is over, and that the empty coal bin is going to be harder to fill this winter than ever?

farming and too many farmers."

In view of this statement one would think the depression should have been relieved when 1,200,000 persons, net, left the farms in 1922, but it seems not, according to Mr. Vanderlip. The only remedy, therefore, is for the farmers not to farm so intensively and for some millions more of them to abandon their farms, if Mr. Vanderlip has the right diagnosis.

A short time ago we were told that the trouble with the coal situation is that there are too many coal mines and too many miners. But, in the case of coal, the price goes up, and in the case of wheat, the price goes down. Maybe these Republican experts don't know what is the matter with agriculture and coal mining, and maybe if they do know, they are afraid to tell for fear the persons who find out will vote the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Vanderlip, however, sees Republican victory in 1924, despite the low price of wheat and the high price of coal, which shows that the extraction of subseams from cucumbers is not altogether a lost art.

HIGH COAL NEXT WINTER.

There is a pretty definite prospect of another coal miners' strike; the little measure of control which the Government now exercises over the distribution and price of coal will end with the expiration of the special statute enacted last September; the U. S. Coal Commission's recommendations, such as they are, can not be translated into law before the end of next winter, since Congress does not convene until December. It is only a matter of a few weeks until there is frost in the northern regions of the country; the profiteers and gougers are already turning the consumer's necessity into their opportunity, and there seems to be no remedy in any quarter. Kismet!

PINE GROVE MILLS.

Miss Elizabeth Archey is spending her vacation among friends at Pitcairn. Our high constable has invested in a new Star automobile.

Almost daily showers have put farm work to a standstill.

The Woodman band of State College gave an outdoor concert on the academy grounds Sunday evening.

Elmer Barr, who went to the Geisinger hospital ten days ago submitted to the knife on Thursday for stomach trouble. Late reports say he is recovering.

J. B. Campbell and family, J. M. Campbell and family, J. H. McCracken and sisters are leaving for Niagara Falls and Buffalo for a week's outing in a sort of gypsy fashion.

Sunday morning after filling his appointments here Rev. S. C. Stover started for Pine Hall but had not gone far until his car skidded, upsetting him. Passersby aided in righting the car and it was taken to a garage for repairs. J. C. Cool delivered the reverend to Pine Hall in time for his services. Besides a bruised hip he was but little injured.

One evening recently while young Harpster of the Branch, and lady friend were out for a spin near Graysville their car crashed with another car, wrecking the Harpster car which was left by the side of the road. When the went to move it to a garage next day they found some one had stripped it of three new cord tires, head and tail lights and everything that could be removed.

Ready to Sell Gas.

I am now ready to sell gasoline at my new garage in Centre Hall. Your business will be much appreciated.

Sportsmen Should Become Awake.

From the Pleasant Gap camp of the United Sportsmen of Pennsylvania, comes the following editorial appearing in a recent issue of "The Pennsylvania Sportsman," with a request to print. The article is of such vital importance to Centre county sportsmen that the article is given space here. It appears under the caption "Legislation of 1923" and reads:

Again it has been demonstrated, beyond a doubt, that the need of active co-operation amongst sportsmen must be had, if what they want in the way of legislation in game and fish is to be brought about.

The game as it is played at Harrisburg is a deep one. The naming of the members on the Fish and Game Committees of both the Senate and House of Representatives, is a matter of the greatest importance to our sportsmen. Through some underground methods, session after session, the desires of the sportsmen in having men named on these committees who are known to be sportsmen, or to be in sympathy with their needs, have been opposed. We do not suspect this as being the case, we know of it from actual experience. On every one of these committees are named men who are controlled by either the Fish and Game Departments, and by a certain coterie of members who are potential enough to block or have passed any legislation the interests they represent desire. To cite a few instances in proof of this statement: The taking of the size limit off trout was a hobby of the Commissioner of Fisheries Buller, and was passed in defiance of the expressed wishes of sportsmen.

At this last session of the legislature that part of the game code which permits the killing of does is the wish of the game department and not of the sportsmen.

At the Pennsylvania State Conservation Council meeting, held in Harrisburg in January last, this particular part of the code was unanimously opposed and Mr. Seth Gordon, Secretary to the Game Commission, was present when this action took place. Again, the vast majority of our sportsmen opposed the increase of the hunter's license to $1.25, and favored the increase of the bounty on weasels to $1.50. In both instances the wishes of the sportsmen were ignored and the desires of the Game Commission granted.

As we have more than once warned our sportsmen, we again do so. There is a real menace of having "the tail wag the dog." In other words, the Game Commission are the real law makers, whether they are carrying out the wishes of our sportsmen or not.

The Commissioner of Fisheries Buller informed the writer one time, that he "was not answerable to the Fish Commission for his actions, they were serving only in an advisory capacity; that he was answerable to no one but the Governor." Who is responsible for the retention of the special devices for taking fish in the new code. We know not, but we know that a most solemn promise was made to cut this feature out of the new fish code.

To our mind, the question that the sportsmen must meet is this: Are we to become the servants of these two departments or are we ready to meet these abuses in 1925?

In order that we can secure a fair

NARROW MARGIN LOSSES

Two Games Taken from the Locals by One Run Margins.—State and Bellefonte the Winners.

Good baseball, but not good enough to win. This about sums up the local baseball team's work for the past few weeks. Games are being lost by the closest margins, and it appears that the only way to defeat Bellefonte and State College is to play errorless ball, for these teams have been approaching almost perfect play in recent games, and it was the few costly errors charged to the local club that sent it down to defeat for the past three or four games.

The game on Saturday afternoon with Bellefonte ended 3 to 2 in favor of Bellefonte. It was one of the best games of the season; Bellefonte played better ball—and won. Long was found for only five hits; Gross for ten. Not a run scored by Bellefonte was earned. Several good opportunities to score were passed up by the locals, and Bellefonte's defensive work was the best seen on the local diamond this year.

show in the next legislature we must do what we can to have men named on the committees who have some knowledge of sportsmen's needs, men who can fight for us. As it now is and has been, some few members have axes to grind and the rest of their committee just go along with them.

Are the departments of Game and Fish, as now constituted, the servants of the people who provide the funds for the carrying on of their work? Looks to us, from the results of legislation enacted during the last legislature, that they are not. With the exception of lowering the age limit to 15 years from 21 years under the old code, for the right to fish without buying a license, we know of nothing enacted into law that was not sponsored by either of these two departments. The departments of Game and Fish are usurping the prerogatives of the legislature. Looks very much as if now it is a case of government by a commission and not by the people.
