

Floral Tributes From Everywhere

Small portion of loving remembrances contributed by friends of their fallen chief as they were being carried into Doctor Harding's home, where the body lay in state.

Crowds Waiting to View Funeral Cortège

People from all over the United States standing in line just before funeral procession passed through the streets to cemetery, where Harding's body now reposes in vault.

Coolidge and Wife Arrive in Marion

New president and first lady of the land are snapped as they left the train to be conveyed to the house where the remains of Harding rested before being taken to the cemetery.

Notables of Nation Mourn

Secretary of State Hughes, Chief Justice Taft, Secretary Weeks and Governor Donahey of Ohio arrive.

George B. Christian, Jr.

The late president's secretary proved his loyalty to his fallen chief by befriending Mrs. Harding in every way possible.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE ITEMS

Altoona.—Twice as many garages are being built here as houses, municipal building records show.

Lewistown.—Frank Leroy Worrall, aged 23 years, is dead here from an attack of hives, "which went in on him."

York.—In a statement issued by the publicity committee of the York chamber of commerce, it is stated that during 1922 $1,000,000 was contributed from this county to promoters of fake, near-fake and extremely speculative stocks, and that unless the tendency is curbed the amount in 1923 will greatly exceed it. The necessity of a blue sky law is urged by the committee.

Wilkes-Barre.—Wilkes-Barre's first death from infantile paralysis since the development of several cases of this dread disease here within the past few weeks, came when Elizabeth Honeywell, aged 9, died after but a brief illness with the malady. There still remain four cases of infantile paralysis in the city, while in Wilkes-Barre and its immediate vicinity there have been nine cases reported in the past four weeks.

Harrisburg.—Governor Pinchot appointed the following persons to represent Pennsylvania at the World's Dairy Congress opening in Washington, D. C., October 2 and continuing in Philadelphia October 4, and in Syracuse, N. Y., October 5 to 10: Secretary of Agriculture Willis, George W. Slocom, Utica, N. Y.; H. A. Allebach, Philadelphia; W. S. Wise, Meadville; E. M. Bailey, Pittsburgh; C. Henderson Supplee, Philadelphia; P. E. Sharpless, Philadelphia; John A. Bell, Pittsburgh; T. H. Toland, Phoenixville; Dr. E. S. Demler, Narberth; Morris P. Phillips, Pomeroy; John D. Miller, Washington, D. C.; Robert Balderston, Philadelphia; E. B. Quackenbush, Pittsburgh; Dr. Hannah McK. Lyons, Philadelphia; A. A. Borland, State College.

Easton.—Thinking that he had reached the third floor of the building, whereas he was only at the second, George Sigman, aged 51, pushing a truck from the moving hoist at the warehouse of Drake & Co., wholesale grocers, fell into the shaft and injured himself so badly that he died within ten minutes. He had been in the employ of the company thirty-four years.

Uniontown.—Two of the ten children of the family of T. L. Doorley, of Lamont, poisoned more than two weeks ago after they ate their Sunday dinner, are dead, and three others still remain in a serious condition. The latest victim succumbed, a twin being the victim in each case. About two weeks ago, Monica Jeanne, aged 21 months, died, and now Edmund had passed away. It is not known just what poisoned the children, but, according to Doorley, all of the ten who ate ice cream which had stood from Saturday to Sunday became ill. One child, who did not eat any, was not poisoned.

Hazleton.—Authorities are on the trail of strangers who have been offering to buy 5-cent pieces of early coinage and giving counterfeit $2 bills in exchange. Some of the bills have fallen into the hands of the Lehigh Traction company.

Allentown.—As the result of a premature explosion at Colliery No. 4, Lansford, John Crakado, of Coaldale, is dead and his buddy, Peter Valent, of the same town, sustained severe lacerations of the head and face. Crakado was blown down a chute and suffered a fractured skull.

Harrisburg.—The bureau of securities, department of banking, is ready to proceed against securities dealers and their salesmen who have failed either to register or file applications of registration as evidence of their intention to register. Secretary of Banking Cameron announced. The securities act which became effective August 1, requires all security dealers and salesmen to register and receive certificates.

Reading.—The local penal reform society will organize an executive committee of thirty men and women, irrespective of politics, to try to elect prison inspectors who will run the institution in Berks on a sound economic basis void of politics. The society is seeking four Democrats and two Republicans to make the fight.

New Castle.—Mrs. Melissa Stuart was found in an unconscious state in her home here by her daughter, the victim of an attack at the hands of a burglar who ransacked the house. Mrs. Stuart was unable to give the police an accurate description of the man, whom she said attacked her as she screamed when awakened by footsteps on the first floor. She was alone in the house, her daughter working as a night telephone operator. Due to her age, it is feared the injuries sustained at the thug's hands may prove fatal.

Pittsburgh.—Burglars stole 110 live chickens from the Diamond Poultry company.

Burnham.—The 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Swartzell sustained a fracture of the left forearm in a fall from a bench.

Marietta.—Frank P. Bridges, Jr., employed at Marietta Furnace, was seriously injured when a rope on a chimney valve broke and whirled him around the shaft.

Altoona.—Of the 231 arrests made during July by the police, 92 were for drunkenness and 27 for drunkenness and disorder.

West Brownsville.—Gerald Aubrey has been named to the Naval Academy at Annapolis from the Fayette-Somerset district.

Mt. Carmel.—John Zipka, aged 28 years, was electrocuted at the Sayre Colliery when his head touched an overhead electric wire.

Sunbury.—Twenty girls from the Sunbury I. O. O. F. orphanage, ranging from 8 to 13 years, were taken to the Shamokin State Hospital and operated upon on tonsils and adenoids.

Scranton.—An automobile, said to have been traveling forty miles an hour, ran over a stone wall here and dropped thirty feet to a railroad track. Four men in the machine were injured, two of them seriously, and were removed to the state hospital. Joseph Hensey, aged 32, and Charles Redding, aged 39, were hurt internally. James Brennan and Martin McDonald were the other two men in the machine.

Pittsburgh.—A charge of murder was placed against Patrick Coyne, who confessed that his bride of a few weeks had been killed when a revolver fell from his pocket while they were quarreling. Coyne, who is in a hospital suffering from the amputation of his legs in a railroad accident shortly after the tragedy, will be taken to the county jail when he is able to be moved.

Harrisburg.—The $789,000 for state printing for the biennium has been allocated among the departments, Director of Publications Detrich announced, and a daily check against each allocation will be kept. The new plan becomes effective at once and Detrich expects to eliminate the printing of many reports for which there has been little demand.

Danville.—Rev. J. N. Bauman, pastor of the Shiloh Reformed church, was preparing to start on his vacation. As he cranked up his automobile to start away from Danville the engine backfired, the crank struck him on the leg and broke his ankle. He is now a patient in the Geisinger Hospital and the vacation trip has been called off.

Harrisburg.—Charles D. Wolfe, Williamsport, resigned as chief assistant in the bureau of fire protection, department of state police, with which he had been connected for the past ten years. Wolfe, who is a former mayor of Williamsport, will become associated with former Governor John K. Tener and State Senators A. E. Sisson, Erie, and E. D. Long, Chambersburg, in a new mortgage corporation.

Wilkes-Barre.—What is considered something entirely new in mining operations was put into effect at the Green Mountain workings of the Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal company, at Hazleton, when officials began draining the mines there of water which has accumulated for the past twenty-one years. It is estimated that several weeks will be necessary to rid the mine of its water through the tapping operation. With the removal of the water, valuable coal veins will be available again for the first time in almost a quarter of a century.

Williamsport.—The Cameron store, located in the heart of the business section of the city, was burglarized and over $9000 in fur coats, furs and silk dresses were stolen. The thieves used an automobile to cart away their booty, having run the machine into a rear entrance, where they were able to load up the goods without detection. Entrance was gained by means of removing some iron bars from a rear window. The robbery is the biggest of its kind in the history of the local police department.

Harrisburg.—County road superintendents, caretakers and patrolmen have been ordered immediately to report all motor vehicle accidents to the department of highways, Paul D. Wright, secretary of highways, announced. It is the purpose of the department to investigate road conditions at points where accidents occur to determine whether they were the result of faulty road construction. Secretary Wright also announced that plans were being completed for the erection of permanent marks at all historical points along state highways.

Pittsburgh.—Charles W. Riley, proprietor of a grocery store in the Hill district, was shot and killed by a burglar. Riley was sleeping in the store, awaiting the return of the thieves, who had been paying weekly visits to his place of business, when he surprised the culprit at work. After a tussle, Riley fell with a bullet in the chest.

Altoona.—City officials propose to convert Highland Park, just outside the city limits, into a tourist camp site.

Colerain.—Mrs. Della Baker had her left hand caught in a clothes wringer operated by electricity, and badly mangled.

West Donegal.—Alva Shank, aged 3 years, was so badly scalded by plum jelly that it is feared she will die.

Hazleton.—Fifty-seven autoists were arrested here in the crusade of the city police to halt violations of the traffic ordinance.

Hazleton.—The chamber and commerce and the Hazleton Merchants' Bureau have arranged for a joint community outing at Hazle Park on August 29.

Dawson.—Mrs. Sarah B. Cochran, one of the wealthiest women of Fayette county suffered a fractured arm at her home here when a door blew shut on her.

Altoona.—Mrs. Margaret Beale fell from a boat into the Juniata river at Ardenheim, Huntingdon county, and was drowned. She was boating with her husband and child when the accident happened.

Lancaster.—When his motorcycle collided with an automobile, Clinton D. Martin, of Slaymakersville, this county, suffered a broken leg and internal injuries.
