DEATHS.

GEARY.—Daniel L. Geary died very suddenly at his home in Newport, Perry county, Friday morning, from a paralytic stroke. Mr. Geary had been in the Grange Encampment and Fair on Thursday and was a guest of his son, Frank P. Geary. He and others of the family returned home that evening, every minute of the trip having been enjoyed. Friday morning he arose from his bed as usual, met the ice man, filled the refrigerator and was standing by the kitchen sink when he fell to the floor, expiring before his wife, who heard him fall, could reach his side.

Mr. Geary was a son of William Geary, and was born in the western part of Centre county. He is the last survivor of several brothers and sisters, and had attained his 80th year the Sunday previous to his death.

The deceased was twice married. First to Miss Henney, who died many years ago. To this union there was born a daughter, the wife of J. B. Kerstetter, of Coburn. The second wife, who survives, prior to her marriage, was Miss Ellen Hull, of Aaronsburg, and there remain these children:

Mrs. N. A. Auman, Millheim; Frank P., Centre Hall; Mrs. Ernest Brown, New Haven, Conn.; Mrs. George Wagonseller, Newport; and Charles W., of Newport. Three children preceded the father in death.

Mr. Geary was a member of the Reformed church and services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Kershner, at the Geary home, Sunday afternoon, and Monday the body was interred at Millheim, from which place the Geary family moved to Newport.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN ON THE WAR PATH.

"We'll Not Stand for Any Crookedness" is the Way They Put It—Rotten Job, Pulled Off by Local "Politicians."

About the rottenest political stunt ever pulled off in this or any other town or city got out in the open a few days ago, and as a result the Democratic women of the borough are all "het up" over it and declare they "will not stand for any crookedness."

Talk about Philadelphia Republican politics being rotten! The smel of the Philadelphia political pot is to the smell of the Centre Hall borough political pot as attar of roses is to the odor of a gut wagon on a hot day.

It is doubtful if another set of men could be found in all creation that would be willing to so stuffify themselves. Horrors upon horrors! Gewilt-cers!! and some more and more!!!

It is time to tell the story, you, dear reader, may think. Well, here it is: You know it was just a short time ago that petitions of candidates were being signed so their names would appear on the ballot at the primary election September 18. Among other petitions circulated in Centre Hall borough was one in the interest of E. H. Grove, a sterling Democrat, for the office of Borough Councilman. The petition was signed by the requisite number of voters, among them being some women who recently began to exercise their prerogative. When this petition was given its finishing touches—the story runs on the street today—a little group of two (possibly three) men said: This won't do; we don't want this man. It is B. G. Grove we want for councilman.

And what did these men do, or have some one else do for them? Nothing short of erasing the initials E. H. from the petition and insert the initials B. G. making the candidate's name read B. G. Grove, laborer, instead of E. H. Grove, laborer.

With these alterations the certificate appears on file in the office of the Commissioners of Centre county, or at least was on file there Tuesday forenoon where it was carefully gazed over by the writer.

The petition as on file was sworn to by C. W. Boozer, before Cyrus Bruns-gart, justice of the peace, on August 17, 1923, and delivered to the commissioners by E. M. Huyett, and now bears the date of filing of August 20.

The names of the petitioners are also given here in the succession in which they appear. The first four names carry the date of August 16th as the time of signing, and the remainder the date of August 17th.

Petitioners.

- 1—John H. Knarr
- 2—Anna M. Fisher
- 3—Frank M. Fisher
- 4—Verna Rowe
- 5—J. H. Puff
- 6—Lena M. Boozer
- 7—W. H. Potter
- 8—J. G. Dauberman
- 9—Grace Smith
- 10—D. W. Bradford
- 11—John Whiteman
- 12—J. W. Bradford

The writer interviewed some of these petitioners—both men and women—and they declared they signed the petition carrying the name of E. H. Grove and are at a loss to know who would dare to thus pervert their action.

Last week the Reporter gave the names of the candidates who filed petitions for the various borough offices, and of course, the name B. Gardner Grove appeared as one of the candidates for borough councilman, and inquiry was made by the women as to the why of the wherefore.

It is due B. Gardner Grove to say that so far as the Reporter has knowledge, he is in no wise responsible for the erasure having been made.

The Reporter wishes further to state that once all the facts have been gathered, the name of the person or persons guilty of this act will be given to the public through these columns. In the meantime the reader is to understand that a finger can be laid on the guilty ones and further that the Reporter will not permit a scapegoat to be made of one of them.

Thank you for your attention.

What Do You Know About Your Bones?

Your life hangs by a slender cord marvelously protected by bones and your whole nervous condition depends largely on your bones.

We spend a good deal of time selecting our clothes, and some of us are fairly well informed about the shoes we wear, the umbrellas we choose, and even our walkingsticks we pick out with some thought. But most of us are extremely ignorant about what is inside of our skin; least of all do we seem to be concerned to know anything about our bones.

The turtle wears his skeleton on the outside of his body, but we wear our bones inside our skin. How few of us realize that our very life and existence hangs upon the careful protection of a little half-inch cable cord—the spinal cord? If this vital little string is snapped by hanging or by a fractured spine we die instantly, or are paralyzed.

Physicians and life insurance authorities are more and more impressed with the importance of a more general knowledge of the bones of our body, and their tremendous importance in regard to our health and general nervous condition. Our bones are largely supported and held in position by our muscles. It follows that tearing or loosening the muscles for the benefit of the bones is of value and importance.

Some exercises that will assist in giving flexibility to the spine, the most important collection of bones in the body, will be shown in an illustrated page article in next Sunday's New York Sunday American. Adv.
