

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

W. C. T. U. meeting Saturday at 7:30 p. m. at home of Mrs. F. M. Fisher.

A baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Weaver is quite ill at this time.

Judge Henry C. Quigley has set Friday as the date for a special session of court to hear surety of the peace and non-support cases.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fisher, during this week, were in Sunbury assisting Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Corman in getting their new home arranged.

Sunday night showers of rain fell on this community. The rain fall is being appreciated by farmers who desired it to hurry on the wheat plants.

The latter part of last week George H. Emerick took seriously ill, but a few days later he again recovered to a considerable extent and is now very much better.

"The Bat," coming to the opera house, Bellefonte, next Tuesday night, promises to be the best stage production seen in Bellefonte in many a year. Don't fail to see it.

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania is running a series of advertisements in the Reporter, beginning with this week, which you can read with some profit to yourself.

Four foreigners, with plenty of booze in their car, crashed into a tree at Snydertown in Nittany Valley, on Sunday afternoon. One of the men was killed, one pretty badly and the others slightly injured.

$87.50 was realized on the home talent play, "The Old Oaken Bucket," given in Grange hall, on Saturday evening. Those taking part performed most creditably and the big audience appeared well pleased.

Miss Cora Luse was at her home near Centre Hall, over Sunday. She is teaching her fifth term in the Altoona public school. There accompanied her to her home Miss Catherine Davies, also a teacher in the same city.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Auman, on Friday night, most handsomely entertained the Men's Adult Bible Class of the Lutheran Sunday-school, at their home. Mr. Auman is president of the class and is, of course, one of its most active workers.

Reports from the counties lying south and east of Union are that there have been no killing frosts there this season. Union county was visited by Jack Frost in some sections while others escaped almost entirely. In Centre all vegetation has been put on the blink by frost.

The steering rod on a Maxwell car driven by John Mattis broke as he was nearing his home about midnight Monday resulting in the car striking a telephone pole and badly damaging the car. The driver found himself on the road side. He went to his home, a quarter mile distant, to get a team to take the car to shelter and before he got back the tires were gone, also, the motometer, all the tools and a few other detachable conveniences.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Campbell had a most delightful trip last week to Syracuse, N. Y., where they attended the cattle show and then went on to Niagara Falls to view the great natural wonder. Here they also rubbed shoulders with Lloyd George, the English statesman who was also sightseeing at the falls. The route the party took, by auto, was by way of Williamsport, Elmira, Watkins Glenn, Syracuse and Batavia to Niagara Falls, and returning came via Buffalo, Towanda, Bradford, Kane, Ridgway, Dubois, Phillipsburg and Bald Eagle Valley.

Some Potato Farming

Two of the most extensive potato growers in this district are Thomas Delaney, at Old Fort, and Morris Burkholder, nearby at Earlstown. The former from seven and one-half acres harvested a crop of 2905 bushels. The varieties are the Russet and Drought Proof. Between five and six hundred bushels have been sold at a fraction under $1.00 per bushel.

Mr. Burkholder planted the Russet exclusively and from eight and one-half acres gathered 2135 bushels. About one-half of these have been sold at $1.00 and over.

The quality of the tubers grown by both these farmers is first-class. A number of other farmers in this section are reported as having had fine crops of potatoes, but not such large acreages.

Moving from the Farm.

The discontinuance of farming by a large number of persons who followed the vocation during the whole of their lives, will cause many changes of tenants in this community next spring. This abandoning of life's vocation is not by those whose years have made them feel it was time to retire, but by men of middle life and young men as well. Some of the farm tenant changes for various causes are noted below:

Harry E. Eye, who took up farming more than twenty years ago, now living on the Alexander homestead at Old Fort, will close out his farming career next spring. He will be followed as tenant by Clarence Miller, now living on the Geisa Wagner farm, south of Earlstown.

John A. Heckman, who has been one of the most successful farmers in this district, will leave his farm west of Centre Hall and locate in Centre Hall where he has owned a home for a number of years. Mr. Heckman began farming as a tenant. He is a good example of what close attention to the farm and hard work can accomplish while others no less favorably situated make a complete failure. Mr. Heckman has leased his farm to Burton Fetterolf, now tenant on the D. W. Bartsch farm, east of Centre Hall.

John H. Horner, who has long lived on the Stoner farm above Tusseyville, leaves the farm, but not by choice. He is compelled to do so on account of physical disability. Ralph Tressler, now on the Goodhart farm at Centre Hall, will follow Mr. Horner.

Lenson Burris is another man who has spent his entire life to this time on the farm and will seek other employment next spring. He has lived on the F. O. Bairfoot farm for almost a quarter of a century. Mr. Burris will be followed by Fred Stover, now tenant on one of the James McCool farms in the Tusseyville district.

Ovis Swartz, who has been employed as a farm hand by Edward Durst, at Earlstown, will venture to become a tiller of the soil on his own resources next spring, when he will take up the work on the farm Charles Stoner, owner, will vacate above Tusseyville. Stuart Musser will fill in the place vacated by Mr. Swartz.

Bidding for Cash.

It looks as though the State Highway Department was laying plans to force automobile owners to disgorge several million dollars for automobile licenses two months before the license is needed. It appears that but a small per cent of the auto owners who have already forwarded their application for registration sent a check with it for the 1924 tags. A few days ago this division of the highway department sent to the newspapers a bit of information, the last paragraph reading thus:

"Those persons who have failed to fill in the application on the reverse side of the blank we are now mailing will have to wait until forms are issued to them by the Department. Notaries and justices of the peace do not have this form. It is useless to apply for them. It is a very simple matter to make application for license on the form now in the hands of the car owners and if Jan. 1 finds them without a license it will be their own fault. And what are we going to do about it?"

"The Bat," at Opera House.

"The Bat," greatest mystery play in the recollection of the present generation of theatregoers will be presented at the Opera House, Bellefonte, on Tuesday, October 23, by Wagenhals and Kemper its producers. This masterpiece of mystery plays, written by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood has withstood every test to which it has been submitted and today is acknowledged to be the greatest play of its kind ever written. It is the one play of modern times that goes back year after year, filling its theatres, many of its audiences having seen it often before.

For more than two years "The Bat" held forth at one theatre in New York and did not leave to begin its tour of the world until more than 1,000,000 persons had seen it. In Chicago, "The Bat" played for over a year. In Boston and Philadelphia it played through one entire season.

Prices: 50c to $2.00, plus tax. Seats now selling at Mott Drug Co.

The Schaff Building.

The Schaff office building, at 15th and Race Streets, Philadelphia, will be dedicated this month. Philip Schaff, in whose memory the building was erected, was not only a prominent figure in the Reformed church but for thirty years was one of the great outstanding figures of Protestantism in America and Europe.

The purpose of the building is to house religious organizations of all denominations and at this time a large number of offices are already occupied by organizations outside of the Reformed church.

THE RAMBLING REPORTER.

Community Day at Spring Mills was a decided success. It measured up to the expectations of everyone. The various grade schools of the township contributed much toward the success of the occasion.

The story of "Sheriff" Lee would make a sequel to the "Headless Rider." We suggest that it be called "The Spurless Rider," or the whole race might be called "The Parade of the Wooden Horses." For all that the men won the laurels of the day by spearing potatoes. The race was a fine exhibit of horse flesh.

The Rambling Reporter is interested in the proposed school for Centre Hall. Centre Hall has outgrown its school, and the need of a new one will present a wealth of material for the school children to write an article toward winning the prize offered.

The parking system in Millheim still lacks improvement. This would also make a splendid subject for the school children to write a theme about.

The people from Coburn who heard the concert given by Sousa's Band at State College report that they were well pleased with the performance. Centre Hall, Spring Mills and Coburn were well represented at the concert.

Yes, Penn State can raise bumper potato crops. Last week Superintendent Goodling of "State" dug and measured an acre of potatoes and found that it produced 436 bushels of good quality potatoes. Did you ever stop to think that the average yield in this section is less than 100 bushels per acre?

Professors C. R. Orton and Kelley of the State College Botany department have reported that a new type of tuber has been found which seems to be immune from the wart disease attacking the potato of this State.

BOALSBURG.

Mrs. Robert Meyer and son Joseph from Altoona, were over-Sunday visitors at the home of Jacob Meyer.

John Ishler's house is going skyward under the boss carpenter W. H. Stover and his assistants, Wayne Keller, David Snyder and Peter Ishler. They will soon have it under roof.

C. W. Cori has torn down his shed used for storing threshing machinery when he was in that business, and is building in its place a garage large enough for two cars. Lawrence Fox is the carpenter.

A meeting of the joint consistory of the Boalsburg Reformed Church, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock; all members should be present.

The Reformed Sunday School next Sunday will be in the afternoon at 1:15 o'clock; preaching at 2:30. This change is on account of Rev. Stover having Communion at Houserville in the morning.

The Rebekah lodge installed officers on Wednesday evening. The installing officer was Mrs. George Graham, of State College. After lodge closed, refreshments were served.

Saturday evening the officers of Boalsburg lodge I. O. O. F., 894, were installed by D. D. G. M. John Shope of State College. A delegation from his lodge accompanied him. The new officers are: N. G. O. F. Smith; V. G. G. E. Charles; recording secy, Paul Thorp; corresponding secy, W. H. Stover; treasurer, D. W. Myers. After the close of lodge refreshments were served—sandwiches, coffee, ice cream, and cake. Forty-one were present, including the visitors.
