THURSDAY, DECEMBER 20. 1923. DIES FROM AUTO INJURIES.

Albert Barger Passes Away at Altoona Hospital Friday Night-Wife a Daughter of Alvin Stump.

Unconscious for many hours, Albert Barger, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Barger, of Chester Hill, near Philipsburg, died late Friday night at the Altoona hospital. His parents and other family relatives were at Altoona when the end came.

Mr. Barger, who was born in Chester Hill thirty-six years ago, and who located at Altoona about thirteen years back, formerly worked at the Pennsy baggageroom and the freight station at Philipsburg. At Altoona he has been employed as a railroad car inspector. and lived at 509 17th street.

Besides his wife, who was Miss May Stump, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stump, of near Centre Hall, the depensed is survived by one daughter and two sons, Adeline, Donald and Robeft. all at home; his parents, mentioned above, and one brother, Frank, of Philipsburg; and three sisters, namedy: Ruth, wife of Albert Shields. of Philipsburg; and Naomi and Mildred. both at the parental home, Chester Hill. Mr. Barger and three other men were injured when an automobile in which they were riding skidded and overturned on the Bellwood road at a point near the Altoona speedway, when they were enroute to Barree on a hunting trip, on Tuesday previous to Mr. Barger's death.

Mr. Barger suffered a fractured skull, fracture of the left leg and internal injuries.

Lester Russell, aged 25, also of Altoonas a brakeman, received lacerations above the left eye and face cuts. After treatment at the Altoona hospital dispensary, he was able to return to his home. Two other companions of Mr. Barger, Leo P. Kelly, a car inspector, and Lloyd H. Cutshell, a patrol for the Pennsy, both of Altoonal were treated at Tyrone.

Mr. Kelly suffered possible fractures of both shoulders, while Mr. Cutshell escaped with outs of the face.

DECLARES MEN ARE COWARDS Woman Says They Allow Clerks, and Restaurants to Sell Them Things They Don't Want.

Men are such cowards. They are afraid to get off a street car backward. They allow clerks to bully them, to tire them out until they purchase what they don't want to purchase. A man goes into a store and asks for a knitted tie. The gentleman behind the counter says "they" aren't wearing knitted ties any longer; will he look at something else? The man says "no," perhaps grumpily; then looks and finally buys. But a woman doesn't do that. She says "no" and looks somewhere else, trying and trying and trying to get what she wants, even though her purse may finally compel her to buy the second choice. But she isn't a coward.

Men are such cowards. They enter a restaurant and order a steak-well done. When it comes it is exceedingly rare or burnt; they don't like it and growl, but usually they eat it. Or perhaps they send it back and insist on having another. That second one is worse than the first, and the man knows it, but he thinks he has triumphed, or pretends he has, and thanks the waiter-and gives him a good tip.

A woman doesn't do that. If she doesn't like what she gets she sends it back. And if she doesn't get good service she is very likely not to tip.

Men say that women are cruel. But women aren't cowards. It's the men who are that .-- San Francisco Call and Post.

EMBROIDERY IS ANCIENT ART

Has Been Practiced for Ages Among Both Civilized and Savage Peoples.

Embroidery is the art of ornamenting cloth and other materials with the needle. Most of the embroideries made today are usually copies of the ancient ones.

Embroidery is believed to have been applied to skins almost as soon as needle and thong were first employed to join pleces of skins together into garments. In Lapland the natives embroider their reindeer skin clothing with needle of reindeer bone, three of reindeer sinew and applique of strips of hide.

Travelers say that in Central Africa, among the primitive tribes there, the girls embroider skins with figures of flowers and animals, supplementing the effect with shells and feathers.

Among the ancient Greek textiles exhumed from Crimean graves are both tapestries and embroideries now preserved in the hermitage at Petrograd. One of the embroideries is attributed to the Fourth century B. C. and is in colored wools on wool.

peals to Citizens to Help 50,000 Starving Orphans.

SAYS THEY FACE DEATH

cently issued a proclamation addressed "to the citizens of Pennsylvania," urging relief for 50,000 children in Near East Relief orphanages whom, he says, face death from starvation unless aid is given at once. The proclamation follows:

"Tens of thousands of little children today are facing death in Bible lands

"When persecutions, deportation and massacres, were at their height, it was not so difficult for Near East Relief to secure funds. Every one who read the the newspapers knew of the terrible Valley and Centre Hall borough, taken need. But during the last ten months, from the top of Old Nittany Mountthe situation has not been before the ain. These photographs are mounted. people, and funds have been coming on an artistic "Azura" Brown mount in very slowly-so slowly, in fact, that it has created the greatest danger in the history of the organization.

"From the wreckage of the Christian races in that section of the world, Near East Relief has salvaged 50,000 lighted with their unusual clearness. children whom it is feeding and clothing, and to whom it is giving a Christian education and training.

"The Smyrna disaster forced this organization to take food literally from the mouths of these children to feed 1,000,000 refugees.

"Contributions must come in at once or Near East Relief will have to turn out some of these boys and girls There are 95,000 hungry and homeless children outside the orphanages whom Near East Relief cannot help because it has no funds.

"Christmas is coming. It is the season of childhood joys. When you are planning gifts for those near to you, won't you give some thought to the cries of hunger and pleadings of these little ones? It will mean a literal death sentence to thousands if the orphanages close.

"Five Dollars a month will save a child! Will you not save at least one boy or girl from starvation? "In the name of these little children,

I ask your help."

The Hanseatic league was a politicocommercial association established in 1241 by certain cities of northern Ger-Germany for mutual benefit and protection. It was organized by Hamburg, Bremen and Lubeck, and ultimately included 85 towns. Its affairs were controlled by a diet called the Hansa, tf which met every three years, generally at Lubeck, and dictated the policy of the association. In 1348 the league proclaimed war against Waldemar, king of Denmark, and in 1428 against Eric, with 40 ships and 12,000 troops, exclusive of seamen.

The league virtually dissolved in 1620, having been greatly injured by the Thirty Years' war. The rise of commerce in the Low countries during the Fifteenth century also contributed materially to its decline. In 1870 Hamburg, Bremen and Lubeck, the last remaining cities of the league, were incorporated into the German empire.
