John Armstrong, at Potters Mills, is in a very serious physical condition. He had been quite ill on several occasions during the past two months, and on Sunday suffered a severe attack said to have been due from diseased kidneys. He is being cared for by his sister, Mrs. F. F. Palmer, in her home at Potters Mills.

Mrs. Edward Foreman and son, Hugh Foreman, of Canfield, Ohio, were among friends and relatives for a few days, returning home Wednesday morning. Mrs. Foreman visited her mother Mrs. Mary Goodhart, at the F. V. Goodhart home, who has not been in the best of health. The Foremans are engaged in farming, but live in town, and carpentering. Mr. Foreman's former trade, is made a side line.

Held Blue Rock Shoot.
The Sportsmen's League of Potters Mills resumed their old-time New Year's day blue rock shoot. This was the first shoot since 1917 when it was discontinued on account of the war. Prior to that time it was an annual item of interest in this community and for seven years the league members banqueted at the expense of the losing half. The score of the shoot follows (the figures representing the number broken out of 25 clay "birds"): H. Faust, 19; A. L. Bubb, 14; C. Foust, 19; E. Bressler, 19; T. Shaeffer, 19; J. Bitner, 18; D. E. Brooks, 15; T. Williams, 12; F. A. Carson, 23; Wm. Zettle, 13; R. Brungart, 21; W. McKinney, 13; P. Koonsman, 20; F. McKinney, 11; J. Fohringer, 14; C. McKinney, 11.

BOALSBURG.

On account of the quarantine authorized by the board of health several weeks before Christmas, asking that the children be not gathered together for practice, our Sunday Schools did not have any Christmas services. The members were given their treat on Sunday before Christmas. The Reformed S. S. gave an offering to the orphans on last Sunday morning.

Officers of the Reformed church were elected on Sunday: elder, A. J. Hazel; deacons N. W. Meyer and H. H. Houser; trustee, G. E. Meyer. The pastor preached a New Year's sermon.

A goodly number of our people who are working away from home came home for the Christmas season: Cyril Zechman, Blanche Rowe, John Wagner, Fred Ishler, Wm. R. Ishler, Fred Brouse, Gladys Hazel, Mary Hazel, Charles Hosterman, Paul Derner, Mildred Gingerich, Ethel Gingerich, Richard Goheen. Those who formerly lived here and who are now living elsewhere who spent the Christmas season here were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kuhn, of Williamsport; Ray Lucas, Agnes Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kuchem, of Washington, D. C.; Rev. Harkins and family, of State College; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Grove, of Pine Grove Mills.

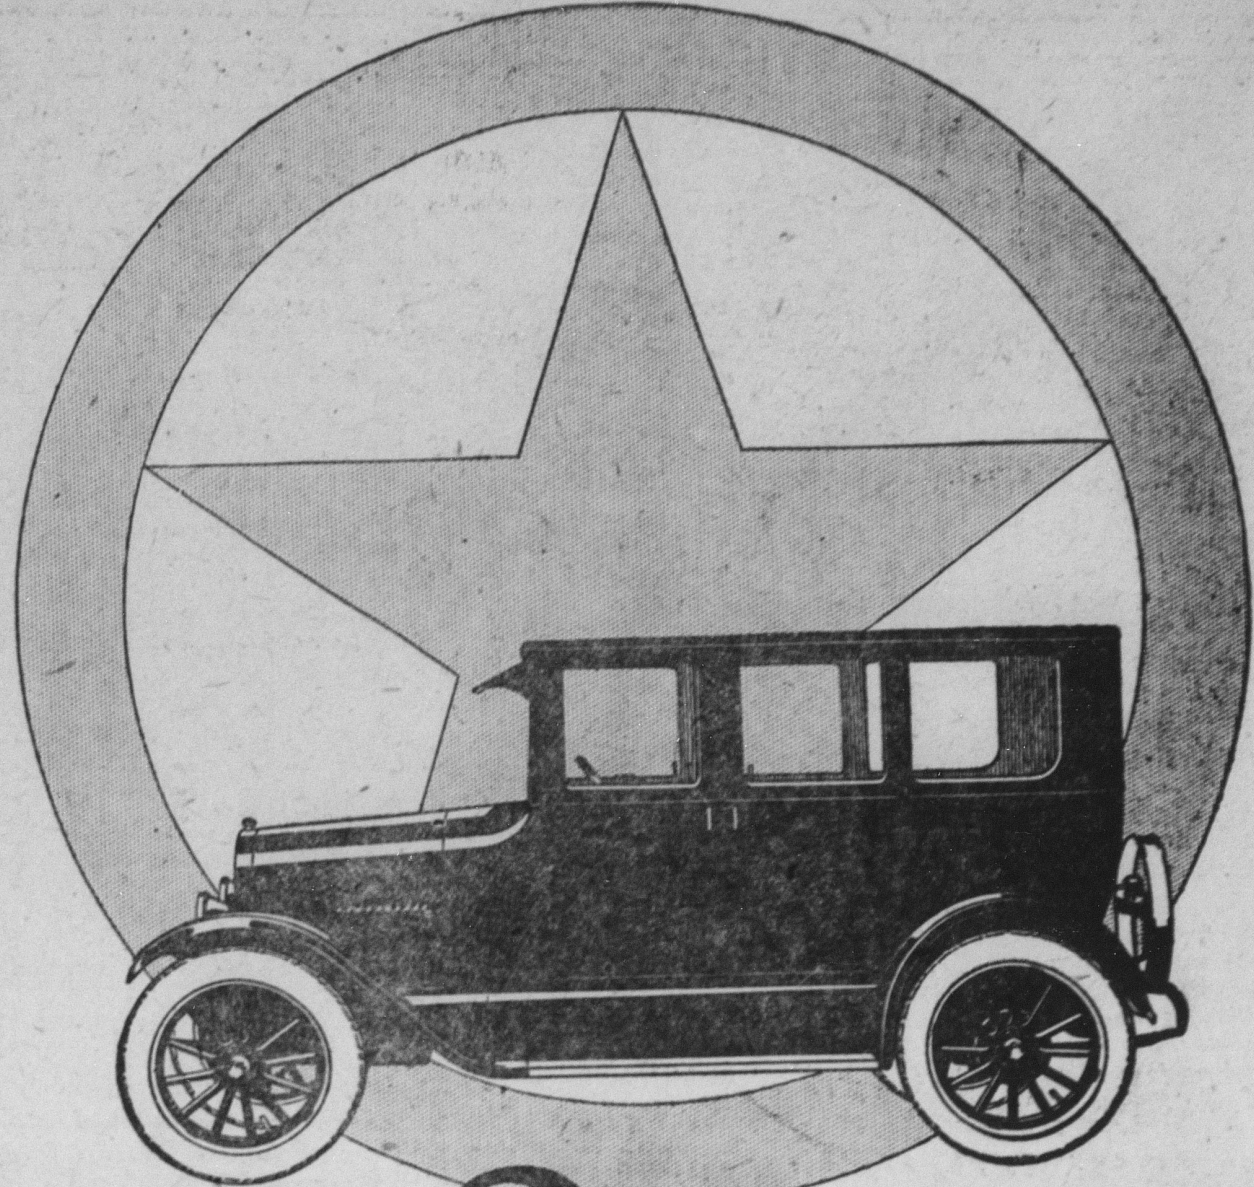

Those of our people who were away from home to spend some time were: Rev. and Mrs. S. C. Stover and John Mothersbaugh, were at Trenton, N. J., with Rev. Stover's sons; Mr. and Earl Phillips, at Akron, Ohio, with Mr. Phillips' sister. Some who took Christmas dinner with friends away from town: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cori, Mrs. John Close and children, at State College with Mr. and Mrs. Adam Zeigler; N. W. Meyer and family with J. C. Meyer, on the Branch; F. W. Weber, S. E. Weber and Anna Weber with Charles Ross family at Linden Hall. Many of our homes were decorated with evergreen and the merriment of Christmas was everywhere present.

The Ladies' Civic Club had a cafeteria supper on New Year's evening, the proceeds being for the public schools.

The Ladies' Bible class of the Reformed S. S. celebrated their annual opening of their birthday box Monday evening by having a social for the entire Sunday-school. The evening was spent in a social way, and refreshments served by the class.

D. E. Snyder moved from the Poor-man house to the Williams house on Monday.

ESTRAY—Came to the residence of the undersigned December 18, 1923, a large Duroc sow. Same can be had by paying for this advertisement and her keep.—STEVE MATIS, Centre Hall
