LOCAL AND PERSONAL

W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. George Heckman, Saturday evening, 7:30.

Two inches of snow covered the ground Wednesday morning, the fall having occurred during the latter part of the night and early morning. Rain set in at nine o'clock.

The post office and store building in which the post office is located, at Glen Iron, was on fire on Wednesday morning as the passenger train west was passing through the village.

Mrs. Frank D. Lee, whose serious illness has been noted in these columns the past two weeks, is for the greater part of the time in a semi-delirious state of mind, and no improvement in her condition is discernible.

Mrs. Alfred Catherman, of near Millmont, came to Centre Hall, the latter part of last week and took back with her her father, John A. Slack, who has agreed to temporarily stay at her home, Mrs. Slack, as will be recalled, had the misfortune to fall and break a hip bone. She is now in the Bellefonte hospital and is getting along fairly well for one of her age.

The latter part of this week, Mrs. Lucy Henney, of Centre Hall, went to Latrobe where she is visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Henney. On Sunday she has planned to go from there to New Bloomfield where she will spend a short time with her sister, Mrs. James E. Stewart. During her absence from Centre Hall Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Henney are keeping the Henney house.

The Citizens Electric Company, in Williamsport, was sold to New York representatives for a half million dollars. The Fisher family in Williamsport owned the greater part of the stock. The business started in 1905 in a sub-basement of the Updegraph hotel. The reason for selling given was that the city officials made the requirements impossible to perform and net a profit.

THE DEATH RECORD

ACKERMAN—The mortal remains of Frank M. Ackerman were laid to rest in the Georges Valley cemetery this (Thursday) forenoon, after services were conducted at the house by Rev. Haney. Mr. Ackerman had not enjoyed good health for a number of years, and during the past few months had been unable to do little work as a painter and decorator, in which lines he was an expert workman. During the past few weeks he was able to work for a part of a day at a time, and just previous to his death he seemed to be in no worse physical condition than for some months. About ten o'clock Sunday night he became violently ill and two hours later death came. His death appears to have been due to acute indigestion, or perhaps ptomaine poisoning.

Mr. Ackerman was reared in Latrobe and he and Mrs. Ackerman lived there until nineteen years ago when they moved to Georges Valley where the death occurred. He was the last survivor of a family of several brothers and sisters. There survive him a wife, whose maiden name was Miss Margaret McChetlan, and one son, Frank Ackerman, in Johnstown. He had almost attained his sixty-third anniversary.

TOBIAS—The body of Miss Angeline Tobias was shipped to Centre Hall on Monday, arriving in the evening, and was taken to the undertaking establishment of F. V. Goodhart, and the following day interment was made in the Centre Hall cemetery. The deceased was the youngest of thirteen children of William Tobias and was born at Aaronsburg, to which place the parents moved from Reading. In 1865 the family came to Centre Hall. She was a mute, but for many years well cared for her parents her father having attained the age of some ninety years. After the death of her parents she for a considerable length of time was able to support herself, but later entered the State Hospital at Danville, remaining there until her death, a period of some twenty years. There survives her one brother, Abraham Tobias, who resides in Missouri. Deceased was aged seventy-eight years.

MOWER—Mrs. Catharine Mower died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Harry Weaver, at Pleasant Gap, on Friday. Interment was made at Hublersburg. She was aged ninety years and nine months, having been one of the oldest ladies in that section.

MOORE—Howard A. Moore, of Howard, died in his seventieth year in the Lock Haven hospital. He was born at Pleasant Gap but lived most of his life at Howard, where many years ago he opened a drug store. He was prominently connected with the development of his community and was elected to various local offices.

In 1876 he married Miss Laura Ryman, of Milesburg, who survives with three children—Claude C., of Philadelphia; Mrs. Walter Jenkins, at home; Chester A., of Watsonstown. He also leaves two brothers and four sisters, namely, Mrs. Abraham Weber, of Howard; Miss Mary, Mrs. John Balleau and Mrs. Emma Senn, of Spokane, Wash.; Thomas Moore, of Philadelphia, and Ralph, of Los Angeles, Cal.

Interment was made in the Schenck cemetery, Saturday afternoon.

Co-Operative Association Meeting.

An important meeting of the auxiliary to the Centre County Co-Operative Association will be held in Grange Arcadia this (Thursday) evening. All members are requested by the officers and representatives to be present, and the business to be brought to be brought before them is of a character that will be of general interest.

Former Centre Courtian Honored.

Dr. Thomas P. Meyer, of Lock Haven, is at $2 more active than many a man at fifty. Dr. Meyer gave a thirty-minute address on the occasion of the seventy-fifth anniversary celebration of the Great Island lodge of Odd Fellows last week. He is the oldest member of the lodge and the oldest Odd Fellow in that section, having been affiliated with the lodge since 1870, over fifty-three years. He is a past grand.

Dr. Meyer served throughout the Civil war and has published several short histories of his experiences. He is in rugged health and extremely active for one of his advanced age.

He is a native of Miles township, Centre county.

Woman Student Loan Fund.

A gift of $25,000 from James G. White, of New York, for the establishment of a woman student loan fund at Pennsylvania State College was announced on Monday. The fund is to be known as the "Mary White loan fund" in honor of Mr. White's mother. Announcement was also made of the establishment at the college by Charles L. Pack, president of the American Tree association, of a $1,000 fund to provide a $50 prize each year to the forestry student preparing the best article on the subject.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Roy M. Garbrick offers for sale a pure-bred bull calf in this issue.

The local Oriole store comes before Reporter readers this week with a new advertisement.

Installation of officers of Progress Grange will be held on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

A number of young people from Centre Hall and surrounding section saw Barney Google and Spark Plug, also Mrs. Google and the chorus girls.

John Bubb, of Colyer, is seriously ill with flu, and on Tuesday, Miss Catherine Bradford, registered nurse, of Centre Hall, went on the case.

After ideal weather during last week, Sunday came along with about an inch of snow. Monday the atmosphere was brisk, but the sky was clear for most of the day.

Prof. F. D. Gardner is advertising for a farmer. It will be worthwhile to come in contact with him, provided you are in search for an opportunity on a farm. See his adv. in this issue.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ebricht, the beginning of this week, attended the funeral of William Brant, in Perry county. He was an uncle of Mrs. Ebricht and visited her since living in Centre Hall.

The rumor that H. E. Shreckengast had purchased the Thomas home in Centre Hall, occupied for a number of years by I. A. Sweetwood, from the present owner, F. K. Carter, of Williamsport appears to be unfounded.

The State farm products show will be held in Harrisburg Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, during which time all farm organizations will also hold meetings. Orders for excursion rates and programs may be obtained from the Farm Bureau office, Bellefonte.

Clarence Grove, tenant on the Howard Grove farm, near Centre Hall, will move to Axemann in the spring and will be succeeded as tenant by his brother, Herbert Grove, of Pleasant Gap, who is now employed by the Chemical Works on Buffalo Run, above Bellefonte.

Assessor J. S. Rowe distributed return sheets for personal property taxable. There is nothing under the sun that the average person uses that is not taxed in one form or the other. If any of us think the money we get from the county, the state, or the nation is simply a hand-out, the sooner we become disillusioned the better.

Prof. H. C. Rothrock, of Port Matilda, assistant to Superintendent of schools D. O. Eiters, came to Centre Hall on Monday to visit the various public schools. With a very few exceptions the schools in the county are working up to the required standard, the schoolman said. That speaks well for the schools in Centre county.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaeffer, of near Spring Mills, entertained a number of young people from Centre Hall and surrounding country at a dance one night last week. Miss Martha Yearick also entertained a number of young people at her home near Pottery Mills, on Friday night of last week.

John Fisher, of Bellefonte, who for many years has been baggage master on the train east in the morning and returning in the evening, about ten days ago became ill at Sunbury just as the train was ready to make its regular trip west, and has not been able to be on duty since. During the beginning of the week he was yet confined to bed at his home in Bellefonte. He is suffering from a slight paralytic stroke his friends report.

In Adams county a game protector was found guilty of a misdemeanor and was sentenced by the court to pay a fine of $200 and costs amounting to $137; total, $337. The state game commission undertook to pay the fine and costs out of the funds allowed for expenses of officers and employees. Auditor General Samuel S. Lewis held up the payment. The game protector in question is Charles E. Baum, of Harrisburg. He was found guilty of pointing firearms and discharging it at Edward Hall, an Adams county resident. That is scoring one for Lewis. And say, the average game protector has little regard for law, except that he wants to apply it to others.

The current number of several of the leading poultry journals contains an interesting short story bearing the caption, "Mary Bought a Flock of Chickens." The author is William W. Kerlin, manager of Kerling Grand View Poultry Farm, Centre Hall. Just how an ambitious young country girl, thirsting after knowledge, and yet unable to satisfy her heart's desire because of financial obstacles, awakened to the possibilities of a well-selected flock of bred-to-lay chicks, carefully raised and made to yield large egg production, brought her dreams to a full realization, and at the same time lifted the mortgage from her dad's farm, makes a very pretty story, and one which is not a gross exaggeration, for while spun from the imagination it nevertheless has its counterpart in many an actual experience.

Birthday Party.

Saturday evening a birthday party was given Mrs. Wallace White at their home west of Centre Hall, on the occasion of her fortieth anniversary. The evening was most pleasantly spent by the guests and hosts. The persons present are noted below:

Ross and William McClintic, Glenn Tressler, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wieland, Mildred Wieland, Walter Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ishler, Dorothy, Arminta and Woodrow Ishler, Mrs. J. H. Ross, Mrs. Lynn Ross, Junior Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ross, Margaret and Richard Ross, Mrs. Robert Gearhart, Mr. and Mrs. N. Martz Grace Martz, Verda Corman, Mr. and Mrs. George Mothersbaugh, Mac and Elizabeth Mothersbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Rossman, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Louder, Anna Mary Louder, Mrs. Runkle, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. White, Mr. and Mrs. Eply White, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace White, Emory and Cleo White, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Kelly, Verda Kelly, Mrs. John Feilding, George Feilding, Virginia, Eugene and W. W.
