

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

BELL-ANS
INDIGESTION
25 CENTS

6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief

BELL-ANS
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

ASTHMA

DR. J. D. KELLOGG'S ASTHMA REMEDY for the prompt relief of Asthma and Hay Fever. Ask your druggist for it. 25 cents and one dollar. Write for FREE SAMPLE.

Northrop & Lyman Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. J. D. KELLOGG'S REMEDY

YOUR BLOOD NEEDS THIS IRON TONIC

GUDE'S Pepto-Mangan provides iron in just the form most readily assimilated—a form which will not irritate the weakest stomach nor injure the teeth, but which effectively enriches the blood and invigorates the body. At your druggist's in liquid and tablet form.

Free Trial Tablets To see for yourself the health-building value of Gude's Pepto-Mangan, write today for generous Trial Package of Tablets. Send no money—just name and address to M. J. Breitenbach Co., 53 Warren St., N. Y.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan
Tonic and Blood Enricher

DON'T GO TO BED WITH A COLD

TAKE HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

relieves colds, coughing, throat and bronchial troubles in a good, old-fashioned, safe, quick home way.

50¢ at all druggists.

Vaseline
PETROLEUM JELLY

A Splendid First Aid Remedy for Colds, Cuts, Burns, Wounds, Etc.

CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO., CON'D.
17 State St. New York

PARKER'S HAIR BALM

Removes dandruff, stops hair falling, restores color and beauty to Gray and Faded Hair, and is the best hair dressing.

25¢ at all Druggists.

Cuticura Soap
SHAVES Without Mug

Cuticura Soap is the favorite for safety razor shaving.

Rheumacide
GETS AT THE JOINTS FROM THE INSIDE

Have you RHEUMATISM Lumbago or Gout?

Take RHEUMACIDE to remove the cause and drive the poison from the system.

AT ALL DRUGGISTS

Jas. Baily & Son, Wholesale Distributors
Baltimore, Md.

KEMP'S BALSAM

Don't cough! cough! cough!

Inhale daily a vapor of Kemp's Balsam.

W. N. U., BALTIMORE, NO. 3-1924.

The SANDMAN STORY

STRANGER DOLL

"SHE is pretty, you cannot deny that," said Teddy Bear, "but never in my day have I seen a doll just like her and you all know that I have seen many come and go."

"Her dress is not quite the latest style," remarked Paper Doll, though it is something like my new gown. But then clothes are so expensive these days."

"But her hair, just look at her hair," said Rosetta, the French Doll. "Little tight curls all over her head that you must admit are far from the very latest style of dressing the hair nowadays. Why, you can see both of her ears."

Poor little Stranger Doll felt very uncomfortable for she knew what was the matter. She had been taken from a bureau drawer in an attic where she had lived many years. Her dress had been smoothed out a bit, her curls pulled a little to make them stand up and then she was given to a little girl who had in her day known many dolls. She was old-fashioned. Stranger Doll knew that. Her head was made of wax and that was the reason she looked so strange to the playroom folk.

"You Are Worth All the Dolls in the World."

Then one night a terrible thing happened. Stranger Doll had been left close to the steam pipes and her pretty face melted and ran down on her ruffled silk dress.

"I knew she was terribly painted," said Rosetta. "Poor thing, her face

The Why of Superstitions

By H. IRVING KING

DOGS AND HEALTH

IT is a general superstition all over the United States that the health of children is improved by having them play with dogs; and in many localities it is believed that a sick child—or, as many say, even a grown person—can be cured by having a dog sleep in the bed with him. A publication of the American Folk-Lore society has the following instance:

"A few years ago a young man in Holyoke, Mass. (a common-sense person) had a child ill with dumb ague. By advice he got a pup and put it in the child's cradle. The dog broke out in sores and the child got well."

Here, again, we have that form of sympathetic magic known as the magic of contact—the ancient primitive belief. The dog sympathetically absorbs the disease of the patient by being brought into contact with him—draws it out, as it were.

As to the selection of a dog for the curative process, the dog was one of the three animals—the other two being the lion and the goat—sacred to Jove, Mercury (some say Mars) and Pan. To put a goat or a lion in a child's crib might be a trifle inconvenient, but the dog is easy. Thus in working the cure we not only get the benefit of sympathetic magic, but invoke the beneficent power of the great gods to whom the dog is sacred.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The Spanish Main.

The name Spain Main was popularly given by English voyagers, during the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries, to the north coast of South America, between the Orinoco river and the Isthmus of Darien, and also to the Spanish provinces of Central America bordering on the Caribbean sea. The expression "Spanish Main" is also used to denote the Caribbean sea itself, especially in connection with the buccannery who infested those waters.

WHEN YOU FEEL LIKE DOING UP YOUR EYES OR YOUR EARS, TAKE A CANOHY

(Copyright, by McClure Syndicate.)

is quite spoiled. I should not be a bit surprised if her hair was false as well, or at least that it is colored."

"But I thought your cheeks were painted and Paper Doll's as well," ventured Teddy Bear. "I thought all dolls had—"

"It does not come off, Teddy," said Paper Doll with a flirt of her skirts and a toss of her head.

"We could sit beside the steam pipes, Teddy Bear, all day and all night," said Rosetta, "and we would look just—just as we do now."

Poor Stranger Doll was not only uncomfortable, but unhappy and miserable. She wished herself back in the drawer in the attic and she wondered what would become of her now that her face was spoiled.

For some days the playroom folk did not see Stranger Doll and then one night sitting in a chair by the wall they thought she was now, but it was Stranger Doll with a new head and a new gown.

"I think we had better speak to her," said Rosetta. "You can tell she is worth knowing by the way she dresses."

So all the toys said, "Good evening," and began to talk to Stranger Doll in the most friendly manner.

"We are so glad to have you live here," said Rosetta. "You are so different from a queer creature that was here for a few days. No one worth knowing, my dear, quite a nobody, I am certain."

But Teddy Bear thought he saw a twinkle in the eyes of the new doll and when he looked at her cunning little hands he knew the secret.

"I won't tell," he whispered as he said good night. "I liked you the way you were, just as well as I do now, and that is a great deal."

"Oh, I am so glad," replied the new Doll, "and I will tell you something."

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

FACTS about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel

PHOEBE

PHOEBE, quaintest and most charming of names, was first in use among women of Greek birth in the Roman empire. It is derived from Phoebus, the sun god, or Apollo and signifies sunny temperament, warm-hearted.

According to Greek mythology, the original Phoebe was the daughter of Gaia. According to a tradition adopted by Aeschylus, she bequeathed the Delphic oracle to Apollo, son of her daughter Leto. Poetic license calls the moon personified "Phoebe." "Phoebe our sister," the deaconess of Cenchrea, was commended by Saint Paul to the Romans; but she has few namesakes except in England, where she typifies the quaint, demure, old-fashioned type so popular with British writers and poets.

The Italian Febe refers only to the moon and is rarely used as a proper name. It was in reference to the noble qualities of the huntress goddess of the moon that Spenser named his lovely Belphebe, as he also called his other warlike heroine, Britomart, after Artemis, the moon goddess. Artemis, of course, is the Italian Diana, and Diana, as the sister of Apollo, was frequently called Phoebe, so the relationship, seemingly so perplexing and interwoven, is really logical.

In England, Phoebe was a favorite name for rural maidens, and the poets bestowed it upon the simple rustic charmers to whom they wrote odds and

Men You May Marry

By E. R. PEYSER
Has a Man Like This Proposed to You?

Symptoms: Collar stands out from his neck—the high nonturn over kind—the flat, ready-made (probably). Red carpet slippers are the most moving-like "movie" he would appreciate. "Had a hard day in the office," he tells you; "every one on earth came to see the boss and I had to stave 'em off." Such questioning makes me sick. There are so many fools in the world, awfully tiresome answering questions. Yet he is the kind who always brings you a few sweets, wishes every time they might be better, but they never seem to improve in brand.

IN FACT

He himself never seems to improve.

Prescription to His Bride: Inhale daily a vapor of stand pat patties. Love what he is, not what he isn't.

Absorb This: YOU CAN LEAD A MAN TO THE ALTAR BUT HE DOESN'T ALWAYS ALTER

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Shirley Mason

Handsome Shirley Mason, the "movie" star, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1902. She is the daughter of Emil Flugrath, and a sister of Viola Dana and Edna Flugrath. She began her stage career at the age of three. At the age of thirteen she joined the old Edison studios. When she was fifteen she adopted the name of Shirley Mason. She has been seen in a number of prominent productions.

I am not filled with sawdust like Rosetta and other dolls of today. I am made of good strong kid and filled with cotton.

"The man at the doll hospital said I was worth a dozen dolls such as are made in these days and that I would last for years yet."

"You are worth all the dolls in the world," whispered Teddy, sitting down close beside her, while Rosetta and Paper Doll from the other side of the room looked on with envy.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

A Line o' Cheer

By John Kendrick Bangs

THE VERDICT

FAME or no fame,
It's all the same to me.
I'll play the game without a name
If only it may be.
When my full course at last is run,
Men who speak true
May call the things I do
Well done.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

YOUR HAND

How to read your characteristics and tendencies—the capabilities or weaknesses that make for success or failure as shown in your palm.

CARRIAGE AND MOTIONS OF THE HANDS

WHEN a person carries the hands in front of the body, or slightly at the side, and moves them continually, or almost always, waving them about as though to keep them from touching anything, or to keep anything from touching them, it is a sign of a nature that is suspicious, looking about for traps, etc. In some subjects, to be judged by other characteristics, this is, of course, a good sign, since it denotes carefulness, watchfulness, and a desire to investigate matters before passing judgment upon them.

We sometimes encounter the subject who keeps the hands clasped in front, with the palms together. In very many cases it is a woman who carries the hands thus. She is calm and placid in temper, looking at life through the philosopher's spectacles. Such a person will let the hand be read in a quiet, unharried manner and is a good "subject." Of course, all of the other types that have been described will betray their mental and moral characteristics—to some extent, at least—in the manner in which they submit their hands to reading.

(© by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By Mary Graham Bonner

PIGS' PARTY

"Grunt, grunt," said Grandfather Porky Pig.

"Squeal, squeal," said Miss Ham.

"What is all the excitement?" asked Brother Bacon.

"Yes, tell me," said Sammy Sausage.

"And I want to know too," said Sir Benjamin Bacon.

"I'd like to know," said Sir Percival Pork.

"You have something to tell us, you two," said Mrs. Pink Pig, as she looked at Grandfather Porky Pig and Miss Ham, and pointed her snout in their direction.

"Mrs. Pink Pig, is right," said Pinky Pig's mother, and Mr. Pinky Pig said, "She is right. Squeal, squeal, she is right."

"Well," said Grandfather Porky Pig. "It is hard to get the chance to talk when all of you are speaking."

"It is hard," squealed Miss Ham.

"Well, we will not say anything except to ask you to tell us," said Brother Bacon. "Will we, Pigs?"

"No," squealed all the pigs.

"Now, let us all say, all together," Brother Bacon said, "Miss Ham and I, and Porky Pig, tell us what you have to say."

And when Brother Bacon said "One, two, three," all the pigs said together what Brother Bacon had said before.

"In the first place," said Grandfather Porky Pig, "Miss Ham and I

"I Have a Splendid Banquet."

were thinking it would be nice to give a party.

"Miss Ham would be the hostess and I would be the host and receive them all as they came."

"Why that sounds fine," said Brother Bacon.

"Simply splendid," said Sammy Sausage.

"Magnificent," squealed Sir Benjamin Bacon.

"Gorgeous," grunted Sir Percival Pork.

"Too nice for mere words to describe," said Pinky Pig.

"I agree," said Master Pink Pig.

"Of course," said Brother Bacon. "you'll have a delicious banquet."

"Oh, yes," said Grandfather Porky Pig.

"Of course," said Miss Ham.

"And of course you'll invite all of us to come?" inquired Brother Bacon.

He could not quite understand why Miss Ham and Grandfather Porky Pig had decided on such an idea as this, and he wondered.

"We will invite every one of you," said Miss Ham.

"Not one will we leave out," said Grandfather Porky Pig.

"How truly delightful," squealed all the pigs.

"When is the party to be?" asked Brother Bacon.

"We thought of having it tomorrow," said Miss Ham.

"At three in the afternoon if that would be convenient," added Grandfather Porky Pig.

"Then we could lie around afterward and have a cozy snooze," he added in much the tone that some one would use in saying,

"And then we can have time for a nice talk."

"We could have a good rest before supper," said Porky.

"Well," said Brother Bacon, "I'm sure we'd all be delighted to come. Simply delighted, and we all accept with pleasure."

"We all do," said the pigs together.

"Then at three tomorrow," said Miss Ham.

"At three tomorrow," said Grandfather Porky Pig.

"We'll all be there," said the other pigs.

The next afternoon at three all the pigs were on hand—or on foot—for the party.

"As hostess of this party," said Miss Ham, "I mean to entertain you all this afternoon by showing you how much a hostess can eat. I have a splendid banquet here for myself."

"And I mean to show you the same as a host," said Grandfather Porky.

"And the banquet is not to be for the guests?" squealed Brother Bacon.

"Certainly not," said Grandfather Porky. "It's to be a Pig Banquet, you know."

"Yes, I know now," said Brother Bacon sadly as he and the other guests tried to grab what they could from their hostess and host—Miss Ham and Grandfather Porky.

The Moth's Diet.

Prof. (in zoology lab.)—What insect lives on the least food?

Bright Pupil—The moth. It eats soles.

GIRLS! HAIR GROWS THICK AND BEAUTIFUL

35-Cent "Danderine" Does Wonders for Lifeless, Neglected Hair.

A gleamy mass of luxuriant hair full of gloss, luster and life shortly follows a genuine toning up of neglected scalps with dependable "Danderine."

Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is corrected immediately. Thin, dry, wispy or fading hair is quickly invigorated, taking on new strength, color and youthful beauty. "Danderine" is delightful on the hair; a refreshing, stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy! Any drug store.—Advertisement.

Quick to Learn.

"Latin, hey?" audibly ruminated Uncle Pennywise. "You pick up what you need in the business you go into. The young lawyer soon masters hincurs corpus and other phrases. The drug clerk gets his Latin often the shelf bottles. The medical student assimilates it in the lecture room. They tell me there ain't any of that stuff in the regular Latin books. As for the legislator, it don't take him no time to learn what per diem means."

"CASCARINE" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv.

Knew Them All.

The little son of the house was very quiet during the first part of the dinner, and every one forgot that he was there. As dessert was being served, however, the host told a story.

When he had finished and the laughter had ceased, his little son exclaimed, delightedly:

"Now, father, tell the other one."

Cuticura Soothes Itching Scalp.

On retiring gently rub spots of dandruff and itching with Cuticura Ointment. Next morning shampoo with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Make them your everyday toilet preparations and have a clear skin and soft, white hands.—Advertisement.

Shun Evil Companions.

If thou wishest to get rid of thy evil propensities, thou must keep far from evil companions.—Seneca.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

A Standard for 90 Years.

As a laxative and blood purifier there is nothing better than Brandreth Pills. In use throughout the world.—Adv.

Good resolutions are apt to run down at the heel.

A Standard External Remedy

of known value—safe and effective. It's "Alcock's"—the original and genuine porous plaster.—Adv.

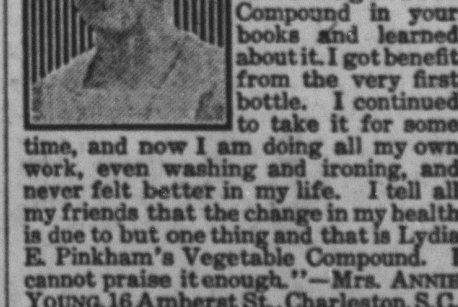

Land is about the only thing sailors have to bank on.

The occasional use of Roman Eye Balsam at night will prevent and relieve tired eyes and eye strain. 375 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

Eat what you like, but don't eat too much of it.

MRS. YOUNG ENTHUSIASTIC

Cannot Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Enough. Sick Women Read This Letter

Charleston, S. C.—"I was completely run-down and not able to do my household work. I just dragged myself around and did not have energy enough to get up when I sat down. I read advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in your books and learned about it. I got benefit from the very first bottle. I continued to take it for some time, and now I am doing all my own work, even washing and ironing, and never feel better in my life. I tell all my friends that the change in my health is due to but one thing and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. ANNIE YOUNG, 16 Amherst St., Charleston, S. C.

The reason for such a letter from Mrs. Young is apparent. She got well and is grateful. Recently a nation-wide canvass of women purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made, and 98 out of 100 reported that they received benefit from taking it.

Just because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women is a good reason why it should help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

AS SURE AS DAWN BRINGS A NEW DAY

CASCARA QUININE

WILL Break That Cold and Make You Feel Tomorrow