AT LEAST HAD HAPPY ENDING

Unfortunate Bird Cut Off in His Prime, but One Good Thing Might Be Observed.

A rare play on words was perpetrated upon the members of the Kiwanis club by Rev. A. H. Lord, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, in a recent address.

An industrious hen, Mr. Lord said, sat upon a nest of eggs so efficiently that she was rewarded with 12 children. Eleven were little girls and one was a little boy.

Soon the little boy grew large, with a fine tail, a beautiful red comb and a lusty voice. The mother and all of the little sisters were tremendously proud of brother and talked and thought about him a great deal.

Then one day the minister came unexpectedly to the house of the lady who cared for the entire family. Something had to be done to celebrate the occasion in a fitting manner. So one of the boys in the family was dispatched to secure a chicken.

Perhaps he was not overly intelligent, but, at any rate, he chose the remarkable brother to grace the table. Reports are lacking of how the minister enjoyed his meal, but the bereaved family was filled with woe. They wept and wept and wept.

But at length a more optimistic sister dried her tears somewhat and said between sobs. "Well, anyway, mother, we can always console ourselves with the fact that he entered the ministry." "Yes," the mother answered tearfully, "and he would probably have never made a good layman."-Milwaukee Journal.

Rich Iron Ore Vein in Russia. More interesting than most of the recent news from Russia is the report that a scientific mission, supported by the soviet government, has discovered in the province of Kursk, 300 miles south of Moscow, a vast vein of iron ore 150 miles long, which explains an old mystery. Fifty years ago it was noted that in this region the compass was deflected as much as 15 degrees from the magnetic north, and magnetic ore was supposed to be the cause, but numerous borings revealed no trace of it. Either the soviet scientists have applied new scientific devices or they have worked with more assiduity than their predecessors. They found the ore at a depth of from 500 to 800 feet, and hope that it will develop into one of the world's largest fields. This discovery in Russia may have great economic and political importance for Europe. - Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

there, so that food supplies are endangered. The natives refuse to hunt the elephants, as they do not share the proceeds of the hunting, and people are deserting many villages. No doubt in Pliocene and early Pleistocene times primitive man must have had many pitched battles with the elephant family; but it is rather strange to think that even in the Twentieth century there are elephants numerous enough and enterprising enough to sack villages and destroy plantations. It sounds as if they were becoming civilized.

More Fun Than Round Ball. A solid rubber ball with ten corners and twelve faces has been made to furnish additional excitement to games usually played with a round ball. Under the same conditions, an ordinary ball will always act in one certain way. The new ball is anything but dependable, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. No matter how carefully the players may endeavor to duplicate a special rebound, the likelihood is that, every time it hits the floor, it bounces off in a slightly different direction.

Woman's Responsible Position. The managing director of one of the largest machinery supply firms is a woman, who travels all over Europe and America. She is paid a large salary as managing director and gets a commission on all machinery she sells.
