

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The local P. O. S. of A. admitted a large class of new members at a recent meeting.

Miss Lillian Craig, of Merchantville, New Jersey, is at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Lieb, in Centre Hall.

D. W. Sweetwood and Squire E. T. Jamison, of Spring Mills, were business callers at the Reporter office Tuesday.

Thursday morning other than wet weather set in. During the sunshine everybody was busy as could a bee be.

The senior class of the Centre Hall High school banqueted at Nittany Inn, Friday evening, and later drove to Lock Haven.

Mrs. (Rev.) E. Roy Corman, of Sunbury, came to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fisher, Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Kreamer and daughter, Miss Rebecca Kreamer, of Lewistown, were guests of the C. D. Bartholomew family over Sunday.

Frank P. Phillips, last week, sold a new Ford ton truck to Calvin Vonada, of Red Mill. Mr. Vonada will use the machine on a milk route, delivering to the Dewart plant at Centre Hall.

Miss Edna Neff, daughter of Mrs. C. R. Neff, is at her home south of town. Miss Neff is a graduate nurse from the University Hospital, Philadelphia, and in a short time expects to return there to enter upon permanent employment.

The largest class to be graduated from the Pennsylvania State College in its sixty-eight years will receive diplomas on Tuesday, June 10. The senior class now has 512 candidates for graduation, and it is expected that almost 500 will qualify for diplomas.

Boise Brown, of Colyer, who is engaged with the Atlantic and Pacific Stores Company, came to his home last week from the Pittsburgh district. With a few of giving him employment nearer his home he will be transferred to some more central Pennsylvania point probably Tyrone or Altoona.

Mrs. James B. Lingle and little daughter, Jennett, of Hopewell Junction, are at the home of Mr. Lingle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Lingle, in Centre Hall, and will remain until the close of the month. Mr. Lingle could not find time to leave Emmadine Farms of which he is superintendent, at this time.

The readers about here will be glad to read an advertisement in this issue by George W. Tressler saying he is ready to do repair work in his shoe shop. Mr. Tressler returned from the Geisinger Memorial Hospital, Danville, less than three weeks ago, where he underwent the knife and treatment for six weeks.

Information received from the state agricultural department indicates that in all sections of the state conditions are very similar to those found here in regard to the backwardness of the season. Sowing and planting has been interfered with on account of cold wet weather. In the southern section the season is almost as late as here.

Alexander Billmyer, a former congressman and founder of the famous park near his home, at Washingtonville, Montour county, died at the age of eighty-three years. He raised many elk, deer, wild turkeys and squirrels. He owned a large number of farms. The park was established years ago when he felt remorse for having shot a fine deer. He never killed game afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Johnston, accompanied by Mrs. W. A. Sandoe, motored to Penns Valley from Ingram, the latter part of last week, the Johnstons staying with relatives in Boolsburg, while Mrs. Sandoe visited the C. D. Bartholomew home in Centre Hall. On Memorial Day, Mrs. Sandoe's son, William A., will come from Philadelphia to see his mother, expecting to return the following day.

John F. Kramer, the concrete block manufacturer, who set out to build a new home for himself and family a short time ago, has the foundation walls constructed and many of the blocks made that will enter into the construction of the main walls. A new and pretty design of block is being made. A second block is being moulded from cinders which will be used in the building of a tool house. The material entering this block is cheaper than that used in the standard building block, but good enough for the purpose intended.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hettinger and sons Paul, Jr., and Donald Henry, of Altoona, drove to Penns Valley to visit among friends and relatives. Mrs. Hettinger was Miss Stella Stamm, of Aaronsburg, before marriage, and was reared by Charles Wolf, who is now and has been for some time in a very serious physical condition due to paralysis. Mr. Hettinger is a son of H. M. Hettinger, a car builder in the Penns shops, Altoona. He is employed in the mailing division of the Altoona post office under J. E. Burnhough, postmaster, which indicates that he is a young man of good reputation, attentive and efficient in his line of work.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

A son was born to Attorney W. G. and Mrs. Runkle, in Bellefonte, the latter part of last week.

The Centre Hall High school and alumni picnic will be held on Hecla Park, Wednesday, June 4.

Squire Cyrus Brungart, on Monday, went to Osceola Mills and other points in the Philipsburg district, on business.

Mr. Stoven, of the Millheim firm of Hosterman & Stover, was in town on Saturday looking up business in his line.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Boyer, of Sunbury, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Goodhart, in Centre Hall, one day last week.

Ready for Repair Work.—George W. Tressler announces that he is ready to do repair work in his shoe shop, Centre Hall.

Miss Elizabeth Royer, a student in the West Chester State Normal school, at West Chester, is home for the summer vacation.

Rexford Reish was discharged from the Lock Haven hospital last Sunday and is recuperating at the home of his aunt, Mrs. W. S. Slick, in Centre Hall.

It is declared by R. M. Smith, the local postmaster, that it snowed Sunday night. On investigation during the night, "everything was white with snow," he said.

During 1923 there were shipped into Lewistown 328 car loads of fruits and vegetables, so we see Penns Valley dealers are furnishing only a small portion of the products consumed there.

In the Methodist church, Spring Mills, Rev. Wilson P. Ard, pastor of the Lutheran church, Bellefonte, will preach the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the Gregg Township Vocational School.

Edward Durst and mother, Mrs. Alice Durst, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ebright, drove to Mifflintown on Sunday and brought back with them Bettie Ebright who had been with her grandparents in that place for a week.

George and Sarah Sweeney, Ralph and Elsie Sweetwood, Sara and Grace Snyder, Kathryn Wagner, Vesta Blauser, Gertrude and Ed Laughner, William Hanna, Hoover Noll, spent Sunday at Hairy John's Park.

Misses Helen and Blanche Hammond of Lancaster, close friends of Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Kirkpatrick, visited at the Manse, as did also an uncle, C. B. Rowland, of Chicago, who has been spending some time with his sister, Mrs. John Haugh, at State College.

Miss Edith Flory daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Flory, spent the week-end at Boolsburg and State College, visiting friends and relatives, among them her brother, G. D. Flory and family, and the Curt Meyer family near State College.

A birthday party was given last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Musser, on the Edward Durst farm, Earlstown, in honor of Mr. Musser's 23rd birthday anniversary. A feature of the celebration was a huge cake adorned with 23 candies, prepared by the happy young wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Snyder and children, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Snyder, of Mt. Zion; Mr. Snyder and nieces, Mr. and Mrs. Ayers and children, Mr. and Mrs. Conn, Mr. and Mrs. George Conn, of York, spent several hours Sunday at Potters Mills with J. M. Blauser and family. They made the trip in tree Chevrolets and a Gardner car. They left York at 5 A. M., making the run in about six hours.

The special Sunday music in the Lutheran church, Bellefonte, Rev. W. P. Ard pastor, on Sunday evening, was unusual in character and quality and was rendered by T. H. Barrt, of Washington, D. C. The manipulation of a cell, bow on a hand saw brought forth tones closely to that of the human voice. "Abide With Me," "Farewell to Thee" and "Perfect Day" were three selections rendered on this instrument known to us long as only a tool. The solo work by Mr. Barrt was also exceptionally fine.

The following is reprinted from the State College Times and refers to former Potter township residents: Earl G. Horner, son of Mrs. G. W. Horner, who with his father had been taken to the Bellefonte Hospital the first day of December, is recovering nicely. The father underwent an operation which proved fatal. Earl remained in Bellefonte Hospital for five months, then consultation with a bone specialist was advised. He was sent to Williamsport to Dr. Adams where an operation was performed four weeks ago. A plate was required to hold the bone in position and he was placed in a cast, remaining in it until last Thursday, when the cast and plate were removed and it was found that the bone had properly knit. Earl will be home in about two weeks.

A children's day service will be rendered in the Lutheran church, Sunday evening, June 8th.

Check Order in Poetry.

Out in Kansas City, Kansas, is a telegraph operator who is tiring of the little ticker and has in mind the adoption of a hundred Kerlin-Quality White Leghorn baby chicks as a diversion. His name is C. S. Watts, and his order to the local hatchery came in this form:

I saw your ad of chickens, and it hurts me like the dickens
To think that I have got to sit and mope in the town.
I feel if I was witty, I could leave the dadgummed city
And go back to the country where I could settle down.

And raise some cocks and pullets and have money thick as bullets,
And have a thousand day-old chicks a-cheapin' at my heel;
Though it may never happen, always here I may be rappin'
I cannot help express myself 'cause that's the way I feel.

I can hear the crows a-cawin', I can see the apples fallin',
I can hear the cows a-bawlin' in the old alfalfa patch;
I can see the taters growin' and the medder needs a mowin',
And the garden needs a hoein' and the old hens needs to hatch.

I can see the cornfield beckon, and I'll be there soon I reckon,
'Cause there's too darn much hen peckin' on this little job of mine.
So the company's goin' to wonder when I tell them to go to thunder;
It may be an awful blunder, but the country sho am fine.

I'm enclosing hard-earned dollars for one hundred Leghorn boilers,
Please ship at your convenience to the herein named address.
And please tell me how to raise 'em, the best grass on which to raise 'em,
Next year let the Judge appraise 'em as the winners and the best.

I'll get sixty-two prize winners, thirty-eight fine chicken dinners
From the hundred Leghorns that I get from Kerlin's farm;
You're a long time been a wishin' for this kind of competition,
So I'll start with KERLIN-QUALITY—'twon't be no harm.

The ladies of the local Methodist church will serve a chicken supper at 50 cents a plate, on the evening of Memorial Day, in Grange hall. Supper will be served at any time after 4 o'clock and will consist of the following menu: Chicken, mashed potatoes, noodles, egg and lettuce salad, bread, butter and coffee. Ice cream and cake also on sale; also, aprons, sunhats and sunbonnets. Proceeds for benefit of Ladies' Aid Society.
