It is estimated that the frosts shortened the corn crop by 54,000,000 bushels.

Mrs. Susan Geary who makes her abode with Mrs. Alice Durst, is visiting friends in Boalsburg and State College.

Friday night comes the recital in the Methodist church, and Saturday night the first number of the lecture course in Grange Hall.

We will have a lot of nice large oysters on Saturday of this week; both for stewing and frying. Try a quart.—Wilbur Bland, Centre Hall.

Miss Cora Luse, a teacher in the Altoona city public schools, for several successive terms, was at her home near Centre Hall over Sunday.

Mrs. Martha Luse, housekeeper for F. D. Lee, the latter part of last week went to Harrisburg where for a week or more she will visit Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ocker.

The two news items in this issue referring to the "Parent-Teachers Association" and "Class Organization C. H. S." were written by two juniors and is a part of the English work of the junior class.

Among the cars driven from Elizabethtown, New Jersey, by James I. Fetterolf, and others, is a Durant four-passenger coupe that is attracting attention by its performance in crossing Nittany mountain.

Roy N. Stiver was recently appointed a rural mail carrier at Julian. This vacancy was caused by the death of Walter Wright, carrier at Fleming, and the regular carrier at Julian being transferred to that place.

Miss Catherine Gleixner was taken to Harrisburg last week by Harold Durst to be measured for braces to aid her in walking. She was also accompanied on the trip by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gleixner.

Report has it that Mrs. J. W. Whiteman will discontinue the restaurant business in the hotel building at the end of this month. It is further reported that the place has already been leased, but the lessee's name has not been given out.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Luse and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holsinger, all of Johnstown, drove to Centre Hall on Saturday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Luse. Mr. and Mrs. Luse returned home Sunday, but the Holsingers prolonged their visit here with friends for a few days longer.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bradford and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meeker, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Knarr and two children, Mr. and Mrs. William Reese and little daughter, all of Centre Hall, on Sunday motored to Jersey Shore and Nipponosee Valley where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knarr, relatives.

Three deer, a buck and two large does, Sunday evening, grazed leisurely above Sunset club house in the Seven Mountains for a long period of time. The buck vanished first, but the does remained for a long time and afforded amusement for the many automobile parties who stopped their cars to make closer observation.

Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Bieber and daughter, Miss Frances, of Muncy, drove to Centre Hall on Saturday and were entertained that night and the next day by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Homan. Rev. Bieber was a former pastor on the Penns Valley Lutheran charge, and on severing his connections here in that capacity retained a host of friends.

Both the Bradford and Slack hunting camps in Seven Mountains are being improved prior to the opening of the deer hunting season. A large porch is one of the additions at both places. The Bradford camp is located at Pole Bridge and the Slack camp at the head of Stone Creek. They may be reached by way of Colyer over private roads or by the State road leading to the west from Sunset club house.

Among the callers at this office on Monday was former sheriff A. B. Lee, of Spring Mills, who is always in good spirits. He is now laying up energy for next spring when he contemplates beginning lumbering operations on a twenty-four acre tract of timberland lying near Spring Mills. The tract was purchased from M. L. Snyder, of Sunbury, and was formerly a part of the Fisher estate and is said to have on it a lot of choice trees.

The local high school has taken over and is sole sponsor for the lecture course, the first number of which will be given Saturday night. The movement is entitled to a more liberal support on the part of the public, especially so now since any profit accruing will be used in some way benefiting the school pupils as a whole. If you have not already been solicited to purchase a season ticket, do not hesitate to make your wants known. Let us encourage the boys and girls, for at the same time they are striving to give us just what we need.

The Centre Democrat came to its readers several days late, last week, due to installing an immense new web perfecting press, requiring three weeks for erecting. The new press will do in two hours' time what formerly required two and one-half days of work. It is a marvel in newspaper printing, and the Reporter congratulates The Centre Democrat on its enterprise. The success of The Centre Democrat in no small measure has been due to the indefatigable efforts of A. C. Derr, its present editor. He has given the best years of his life to the work of producing The Centre Democrat, and has seen it grow from comparatively small circulation to its present proportions. Anyone having occasion to meet him in a business way finds him an affable gentleman, courteous at all times. The Reporter's relationship with The Democrat is most friendly, and we trust it may ever be so.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

John F. Mullen points with much just pride to the fact that on last Friday he completed the twenty-fourth year of continuous service with the firm of Boggs and Buhl, in their Pittsburgh department store. Mr. Mullen is well known here and it was here that he got his early training at the counter.

The Centre County Sabbath School Association has fulfilled its obligation with relation to its contribution toward the payment of its share of the cost of an office home at 1511 Arch Street, Philadelphia. The association assumed the sum of $269.00 for this purpose, collecting the same from the Sunday-schools in the county.

In this issue is given Dr. Ellen Potter's intended program as to building penal institutions and redistricting the state for the better and more economic method of conducting them. But if Ellen's ideas don't work out better than some she introduced at Rockview she would do the state a service by minding the baby instead of advising the next legislature.

At the regular monthly meeting of the local school board, last week, the sum of $5,216.74 was turned over by tax collector C. D. Bartholomew, which sum represented within a little over $400 the face of the school tax duplicate. This would indicate that practically all taxpayers preferred paying their school tax by October 1st to escape the five per cent penalty.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hipple, Mrs. Edward Frank and baby daughter, Frances, and Miss Tressa Dunbar, all of Baltimore, drove to the home of Mrs. Clara Meeker, mother of Mrs. Hipple and Mrs. Franke, a few days ago. Mr. and Mrs. Hipple went on to Pine Glenn to attend the funeral of William Hipple, father of Harry Hipple, leaving the others of the party at the Meeker farm home.

Mrs. D. J. Meyer, ten days ago, went to Tyrone where she is staying with her son, John D. Meyer. She expected to meet there her daughter, Mrs. J. W. McCormick, and Mr. McCormick, of Columbia, South Carolina, who were on their way to Chicago to attend a convention of funeral directors. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Meyer, the former a son, also expected to be at the Meyer apartments for a day or more.

The green about Sunset club house in Seven Mountains, is becoming the regular feeding ground for deer, both bucks and does. The deer visit the place during day, twilight and night, a flock of six having been seen grazing here about eight o'clock the other evening. During an afternoon a buck and down snooped about the premises and leisurely passed between the garage and club house, nibbling grass from the terrace as they moved along.

Twelve or fourteen, probably more, homes along the main street in Centre Hall have been dolled up with paint during the summer and fall, and there may be others to follow before cold weather sets in. The W. B. Fiedler home is the last, to date, receiving the attentions of John M. Coldron, the painter. There are few towns like Centre Hall where all homes are kept in not only good repair, but every home kept well painted, and taste in colors displayed.

To-morrow (Friday) Mrs. Arthur Johnson (nee Miss Ella Decker), who has been spending the past several months among relatives in Penns Valley, will start for her home in Southern California. Accompanying her on the trip will be Mrs. G. O. Benner, of Centre Hall. The ladies will stop enroute at Pittsburgh, Chicago and Yellowstone Park, for a short time at each place. Mrs. Benner expects to remain a guest of Mrs. Johnson for several months. Mr. Benner contemplates making the western trip himself when Mrs. Benner decides to start her return journey.

Musical Recital, October 17th. Miss M. Byrd Stover, with her large class of pupils, will render a musical recital in the Methodist church, on the evening of Friday, October 17th, at 7:30 o'clock. The program will consist of piano solos and duets, violin solos and duets, musical readings, etc. The violin club which has been organized, will participate in the program, and the girls, who have organized

PRISONER SUFFOCATED FROM SMOKE.

Public Building in Phillipsburg Aired, Results in Death of One of Two Prisoners Confined.

Early Monday morning cries were heard for help from the steel cells in the public building in Phillipsburg and before the two prisoners confined there could be released, one had died and the other was unconscious. The men were Frederick Beam, aged 29 years, and Walter Ralston, aged 13 years, both of whom were residents of the Kylertown region. It was the first named man who died from the effects of smoke.

Both young men were arrested Saturday night for drunkenness and driving a car while intoxicated, and were being held for a hearing on Monday.

For a considerable time before their release, persons in the district heard calls, but this was nothing unusual, coming from the prisoners held there. Finally Harry Haines was induced to make an investigation and found smoke pouring from the building, which was locked up and the lights out.

One of the councilmen had the keys to the building and after these were secured it was necessary to scour the town for officer Bodley who held the cell keys. The cell in which Beam had been locked was opened and it was found he was lying on his back on the couch bed—dead.

For some reason the second cell could not be unlocked and entrance was gained by breaking down the cell door. The occupant was found unconscious lying on the floor with a blanket over his face. He was soon resuscitated.

The fire apparatus was removed from the building and the fire extinguished. The fire is a complete mystery, but it is said it could not have originated in the cells.

Ralph Shade GUILTY 24 Degree Murder.

Ralph Shadle was found guilty in the second degree of the murder of Harry Willow, and was sentenced to the penitentiary to from 10 to 20 years. Mrs. Annie Willow, charged with first degree murder in connection with the slaying of her husband, a Snyder county farmer, pleaded not guilty. The case is now on trial.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. F. P. Geary and daughter, Miss Agnes, are contemplating taking a trip to York to visit an aunt who has attained her ninety-second year.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gingerich, of Brownsville, stopped on Wednesday night at the home of Samuel Gingerich in Centre Hall. They are on an auto trip and came here from Clearfield.

Monday morning Rev. W. R. Picken returned from a ten days' visit to New York city. Sunday morning he had the pleasure of hearing Dr. Fudick, a Baptist minister serving one of the leading Presbyterian churches in New York.

Under the seniority rule, called "bumping off" by the railroad men, Mr. Johnston, who had been in the Spring Mills railroad station, "bumped" John S. Slack, holding a similar position at Coburn under W. L. Campbell, station agent.

Tuesday evening a birthday party was given by Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ehrlicht in honor of their daughter, Bettie, who had attained her tenth year. There were present a number of her little school companions, all of whom very much enjoyed the evening.
