Hunter Sleeps at Wheel.

John E. Schroll, of Mt. Joy, returning from a hunting trip in Centre county, fell asleep at the wheel of his automobile early Sunday morning. His grip on the steering wheel loosened and the machine crashed into the curb along Main street at Rheems. He was badly bruised but Frank Germer, of Mt. Joy and Jay and Abner Weaver, of Newtown, escaped without injury.

TUSSEYVILLE

The sad news of the death of Henry Jordan, of McConnell, Illinois, was received at this place last week. Mr. Jordan was a former Centre county boy and was well known throughout this section on account on several trips made to the old home.

Great excitement prevailed Saturday evening when word was received here that Charles Stoner's house was afire. The flames were held in check by residents until a fire engine from State College came and extinguished them. The house is badly damaged and will have to be replaced by a new one. We all admit that this is a bad time of year to be burned out.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rockey and daughter, of Altoona, spent Sunday at the home of the former's parents, at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Ramer and son Joseph and Charles spent Sunday at Milroy.

Boise Brown, of Phillipsburg, spent Sunday at the home of E. T. Jordan, James Spangler, of Juniata, is spending some time at the home of John Fortney.

Those who spent Sunday at the home of Charles Slaterbeck were Misses Flora and Madge Bedelyon and brother Andrew of Yeagertown; Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan, Mrs. Mahala Nevel and Samuel Klinefelter, of Colyer.

DIED IN AUTOMOBILE.

Howard Ritter Expired While Seated in Ford Car With Engine Running—Intended Backing Up for Gas.

Howard Ritter, aged seventy years, died while seated in his Ford car, at the Homan garage, Tuesday noon. He drove to the garage from his home at the foot of Nittany Mountain, dismounted and had air put into a tire. He complained of pain on his chest, and on mounting the car, asked the garageman to crank up the car, saying he would back up for gas. The car was cranked, the attendant then walking to the gas pump. The engine was running, but the car stood still, and this led the gas man to make an investigation. Mr. Ritter was found sitting limp at the wheel, with his hands on his hip. The engine was stopped and a physician notified.

The car with the body was driven to the Goodhart undertaking establishment and prepared for burial.

Mr. Ritter came to Centre Hall more than fifteen years ago and engaged in various kinds of work. Since the death of his second wife, a few years ago, he lived alone.

Two daughters, Mrs. George Lang, and Mrs. C. E. Yeatts, of Altoona, were notified of the death by telephone and were expected here about the time this issue goes to press to make arrangements for interment.

DEATHS.

STITZER—An unusually sad death occurred at Penn Hall, on Friday, when Mrs. Samuel G. Stitzer passed away, at the age of thirty-six years and six months. She was stricken with scarlet fever the Saturday previous and although everything possible was done to save her life, it was of no avail. Interment was made on Sunday in Georges Valley, Rev. E. E. Haney officiating.

Mrs. Stitzer was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sonos, of Spring Mills, who survive her, as does also a sister, Mrs. Emma Stitzer, of Rochester, New York, also her husband and seven children, the oldest being sixteen years and the baby one year old—Echel, Wilma, Harry, Claude, Donald, Pauline and Dean.

Up to this time none of the children have contracted the disease.

WETZEL—Mrs. L. C. Wetzal died at her home in Windsor, Ontario, on Thursday of last week. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Garbrick and was reared in Bellefonte. Besides her husband she leaves two sons, Malcolm and Samuel; one brother, Harry Gerberich, of Bellefonte, and one sister, Mrs. C. U. Hoffer, of Phillipsburg. The remains were taken to Bellefonte where interment was made Sunday afternoon.

STOVER—Mrs. Polly Stover, wife of Jacob Stover, of Coburn, died at the home of a son, George Stover, at Woodward, Thursday of last week, aged 66 years, from diabetes. The husband and several children survive.

Funeral services were held on Monday in the Evangelical church, Coburn, and interment made in Millheim cemetery.

FYE—Henry Fye, a native of Ferguson township, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Newlin McCalmont, at Pittsburgh, aged about 74 years.

Mr. Fye operated the Fye homestead farm in Ferguson township until about the year 1900, when he removed to Tyrone, where he went into the feed business, from which he retired about six years ago, and since resided with his daughter.

He was united in marriage to Miss Sue Krumrine, who preceded him to the grave about six years ago. Three daughters survive—Mrs. McCalmont, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Mary Crouch, of Cleveland and Miss Eva, of Hollidaysburg. One brother and four sisters also survive, namely: Adam, of Nevada; Mrs. A. B. Struble, Mrs. Clayton Struble, Mrs. B. F. Homan, of State College; Mrs. Kate Roan, of Rochester, Pa.

The body was brought to Tyrone, where funeral services were held and interment made.

MARTIN—John Hutchinson Martin died at his home in Bellefonte from the effects of a paralytic stroke which he suffered 3 months previously. Deceased was born near Salona, Clinton county, a son of William and Mary Martin, and was aged 70 years. He was united in marriage 51 years ago to Miss Alice Courter, who survives with the following children: Mrs. W. N. Buck, of Butler; Mrs. W. B. Struble of Camden, N. J.; and W. H. of Bellefonte. Three sisters also survive: Mrs. Mary Crust, of Centre Hall; Mrs. Elizabeth Guyer, of Port Matilda, and Mrs. John H. Lutz, of Jacksonville. Interment in the Union cemetery, Bellefonte.

SNOOK—Bessie Sheridan, wife of Stover G. Snook, died at her home at 7202 Lincoln Drive, Philadelphia, after a short illness of pneumonia, aged about 42 years.

Mrs. Snook was known to a number of Millheim residents, having visited there with her husband, who is a native of that place, at the W. F. Smith home a number of times during the past several years.

DR. KRUSEN WARNS OF DEADLY MOTOR FUMES

Motorists to Keep Garage Door Open While Repairing Car.

Frequent police reports of a man or woman found dead in a garage, with the engine of the automobile still running, has prompted the Department of Health to again warn against carbon monoxide poisoning. Such accidents are usually reported on the approach of cold weather. There is a tendency to close the garage door while tuning up the engine or making adjustments to the motor. Director Krusen further says in his warning to keep the door open in a small unventilated garage while operating the motor. "This poisonous gas is deadly and can snuff out a life in a few minutes," says Director Krusen. "The small 23-horsepower engine warming up and giving off only one cubic foot of carbon monoxide per minute would contaminate the air in a small closed garage 10 by 20 feet, to the danger-point in about three minutes.

This poisonous gas is one of the by-products of incomplete combustion of gasoline. The gas itself is without odor, and for this reason will give its victim no warning of danger with the result that the person so affected will become unconscious within a short time, and in this state be exposed to a higher concentration of the gas from the engine still running. This accounts for the fact that death often ensues before medical aid can be given. The poisoning action of the gas depends upon its great affinity for the iron in the blood. Efforts at resuscitation are, therefore, often futile.

The plan, therefore, should be for the public to be cautious about making adjustments to automobiles in a small garage when the doors are closed. Every small garage should be equipped with ventilating devices to carry off exhaust gases when starting the engine. The best plan would be to keep the doors open until such a time as the engine is not in motion. Careful observation of this warning will avoid a repetition of the purely avoidable and preventable deaths from this cause."

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The latest news from the Kerlins was that they were in Maine.

Frank D. Lee spent Sunday with his brother, Hiram Lee, at State College.

It is reported that the Bilgers, of Pleasant Gap, killed several bears in the "barrens" above State College.

Much of September, all of October and November to date has been dry. Not Pinchot dry, but with little or no rain.

John H. Breon, who has long been suffering from a paralytic stroke, made a trip down town Wednesday in a wheel chair.

Mrs. Howard Herman and little daughter, Bettie J., of Altoona, last week were guests at the W. F. Colyer home in Centre Hall.

A brisk forest fire raged in McBride's Gap, on Sunday. The territory burned was owned by the state and belonged to the Western Penitentiary site.

Williamsport approved an $800,000 school bond issue. Jersey Shore voters supported a $25,000 bond issue to equip the High school building now being erected.

Rev. and Mrs. S. F. Greenhoe had their household effects brought to Centre Hall on Tuesday in two moving vans, and in the evening the minister and his wife arrived by train.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dutrow moved in to their new home, last week. They are comfortably housed, with all the modern conveniences in the home—electric light, bath, and hot water heating system.

The annual hunting vacation taken by Ira Stover, railway mail clerk between Altoona and Cumberland, was spent by him about Centre Hall, on territory covered when a youth. He succeeded in killing a nice lot of rabbits.

Randall Detweiler and James Gentzel, of Farmers Mills, have succeeded in capturing three racoons and some other small game within the past ten days. They attribute the scarcity of rabbits to the ravishes of the fox, said to be plentiful this season.

The new hunting camp at the Perry Krise place in Seven Mountains, being built by Contractor Williams for a Pittsburgh party, is being pushed to completion, and presents a very handsome appearance in its rustic style. Messrs. Palmer, Carson and Foust are doing the carpenter work, while Orvis Horner is doing the stone work.

Chas. D. Bartholomew, the local insurance and real estate agent, distributed a number of handsome imitation leather port-folios for being in separate compartments valuable papers of all kinds, among his insurance friends. On the outside is stamped in gold the name of the individual. The cases are doubtless prized by those receiving them.

Mrs. W. A. Odenkirk and daughters, Dorothy, Helen and Sarah, of Centre Hall, with Eugene Lee, of Spring Mills, at the wheel, on Friday drove to Selingsgrove, returning Sunday. While in that place, the Odenkirk were guests of Rev. R. F. Fetterolf, who is the principal of the Millmont High school, and an uncle of Mrs. Odenkirk. Mr. Lee was entertained by Harry Haney, of Spring Mills, a freshman in Susquehanna University.
