

THE CENTRE REPORTER THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 1925

DEBBERSBURG.

Rev. Andrew Gramley, a former resident of this place, but now residing at Mansfield, Ohio, is visiting relatives and old acquaintances in this vicinity.

D. D. Royer, who has been suffering with a sore eye for the past two weeks was taken to a Williamsport hospital for treatment.

C. H. Smull, the obliging clerk in the post office, suffered a paralytic stroke on Friday night which affected his speech.

There are several cases of scarlet fever among the children in this part of the valley.

Mr. Harback, of Sugar Valley, and father of our townsman, James Harback, made a week's visit at the home of his son, here.

MILLHEIM.

(From the Journal.) Pennsylvania since the disappearance was the week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. T. B. Ulrich.

Mrs. Bertha Winters, of Lemont, spent Sunday in Millheim at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. O. Housman.

Mrs. Clark Hallman, (nee Gladys Meyer) of Spokane, Wash., who has been visiting eastern friends and relatives since Christmas week, was the week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. W. S. Shelton.

Mrs. Sue Cable has returned to her home after a two weeks' visit with her two sons and other relatives in Philadelphia. She was accompanied home by J. H. Kerstetter, who had been visiting his daughter there for some time.

Rev. A. J. Gramley, of Mansfield, O., a native of Brush Valley, is the guest of relatives and friends in this section, having been a guest of his nephew, Ira Gramley, over Sunday. He is now visiting his sister, Mrs. Chestie Smull, of Rebersburg.

AGRICULTURAL MEETINGS.

In cooperation with a local committee County Agent H. C. Blaney has arranged to hold a group of meetings in the school building at Aaronsburg. They will be as follows:

Tuesday, January 27th, Nicholas Schmitz, crop specialist, will talk on Alfalfa and Farm Crops.

Wednesday, January 28th, Prof. E. B. Witts, dairy specialist, will discuss Ways and Means of Increasing the Profits from the Dairy.

The last meeting will be Friday, January 30th, when Prof. L. C. Madison will discuss Swine Improvement.

The meetings are free and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Road Construction in Centre.

Providing the enabling legislation making available the funds from the fifty-million dollar bond issue for road construction, Centre county will get benefit by the construction of 46,214 linear feet of one-course reinforced concrete pavement, 18 feet wide, being situated in Snyder township, Blair county, and Taylor and Worth townships, Centre county, on Route No. 245, also for the reconstruction of 83,592 feet of one-course reinforced concrete pavement, 18 feet wide, being situated in Boggs, Union, Huston and Worth townships, and Unionville borough, Centre county, on Route No. 307. This is the road leading from Snow Shoe Intersection through Unionville to the Blair county line and on to Tyrone.

The improvement of the highway over Nittany Mountain, mention of which was made in these columns last week, is also dependent upon the enabling act being passed.

BIG COMIC SECTION.

N. Y. American Announces Twelve Pages for Next Sunday.

The Sunday New York American announces a distinct innovation starting next Sunday—amplifying the greatest color comic section in the world. Beginning next Sunday readers will get twelve pages of comics instead of eight and the additional four pages will compare favorably with the best of universally popular comics that have been such a big factor in making the circulation of the New York American more than a million every Sunday. Such favorites as "Bacony Google" and "Bringing up Father" will still be in the list and the new comics will command an immediate reader following. One special page—an entirely new idea—called "Scrambled Comics" will be featured and it is promised that this page will be more interesting than a crossword puzzle. On account of this big 12-page permanent comic section the demand will be unusually big next Sunday and if you would avoid disappointment it would be a good idea to order your Sunday American in advance from your newsdealer.

NOT AS SIMPLE AS IT SEEMS.

Child Labor Amendment Would Give Congress Absolute Control of the Child and Could Prevent It from Performing Labor in Fields or At Home.

The child labor amendment which is causing a great deal of commotion just now, says the Johnstown Democrat, is not as simple a proposition as it seems. When his attention is called to legislation designed to protect children, the natural reaction of the ordinary citizen is that he is for it. What is more he wonders why anybody can be against it.

The pending proposition, which is being argued pro and con so vociferously, if strictly interpreted, would give congress absolute control of the child. Congress would stand in place of parent. Indeed, the parent would have no rights which congress might not in its wisdom abrogate. For example, if the proposed amendment were eventually to be adopted, congress could pass a law designed to protect children from factory employment, but which would actually prohibit any sort of regular employment in the fields or in the home.

Congress would have the right under the proposed amendment to say that no child of school age could be regularly employed more than two months of the year. It could go further and forbid the employment of children of school age in any form of manual labor. While undoubtedly many of those who oppose the amendment are persons who desire to exploit the labor of children, there are others equally earnest in their opposition who do not believe that congress should be vested with such despotic powers. Some authority, they argue, should be left to the state and to the parent.

As every one knows, congress, once it possesses a power, is almost invariably disposed to exercise that power to the utmost. The trouble with giving congress complete control of the child lies in the fact that the United States is a big country and that local conditions vary. A general law relating to the employment of children which might work out very well in New York state or Pennsylvania would be oppressive in states like Iowa or Kansas. When we give congress complete authority over the child we are getting mighty near home. After all, Providence must have some function for parents otherwise they never would have been invented. And it is very doubtful, indeed, whether the children of the country would be any better off than they are now if congress were to become the universal daddy.
