

MRS. WM. BUTTS WAS VERY SICK

Gives Full Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for Remarkable Recovery

Wellston, O.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make me strong. I was troubled with my back and sides hurting me till I could not do my work, and whenever I caught cold it made me irregular. Since I have taken the Vegetable Compound my side and back don't bother me and I can do my housework and care for my children now, where before I did not feel like doing anything or going around. After my first child was born about four years ago I saw an advertisement in the paper about the Vegetable Compound. I knew it would help me, but I was afraid to try it because people said it would hurt you to have children and I knew I was having children fast enough. But I thought if it would help me it would be better to have a whole house full of children and have good health. I became stronger from taking it and my husband says I look like a live woman instead of a dead one. When Spring comes I am going to take your Blood Medicine as I am very thin. I will answer letters from any woman who wishes to ask about your medicine."

Mrs. WILLIAM BUTTS, Wellston, Ohio.

SENATE PASSES PINCHOT DRY BILL

Measure Carries With One Vote to Spare After Delay Move.

THERE WAS NO DEBATE

Senator Snyder, Explaining Act, Pictured State Flooded With Alcohol. Bill in House to Legalize Racing.

Harrisburg, Pa.—With one vote to spare the senate passed finally the United Dry Bill, latest link in the Pinchot chain of laws designed to enforce prohibition. The vote on final passage was 27 to 17. Twenty-six votes form a constitutional majority. Six senators were absent. According to the check up three of the absentees were "wet" and three "dry."

There was no debate when the bill came up for final consideration. Senator Snyder, chairman of the Law and Order Committee, and sponsor of the measure, delivered an address in which he outlined the purposes of the bill and assailed the traffic in alcohol and high powered beer. Following his address the vote was taken.

Prior to coming up for a final vote, Senator Schantz, of Lehigh county, led a fight to have the bill committed to the Committee on Appropriations, of which he is chairman. This move lost by a vote of 20 to 24.

Painted Vivid Picture.

Snyder painted a picture of a whole state flooded with alcohol and quoted from the recent message of Governor Pinchot, showing Philadelphia to be the center of this illicit trade.

"It is not a prohibition bill," he insisted, "but a law enforcing measure. It will stop the flow of alcohol and prevent the manufacture of high powered beer."

It was the first time in the history of the senate that a woman was called upon to record her position on a prohibition measure. Mrs. Flora Vane, senator from Philadelphia, and the first woman member of the body, voted against the measure. She also voted for the Schantz motion to commit it to the Appropriations Committee.

The United Dry Bill was drafted by the administration in conjunction with representatives of the Anti-Saloon League, the W. C. T. U. and kindred organizations. It establishes a permit bureau in the Department of Agriculture, and the members of the board, who are appointees of the governor, are vested with power to issue permits to distilleries and breweries.

In its original form the measure met with some opposition from manufacturing concerns using alcohol for industrial purposes. Amendments were inserted to meet these objections. The State Grange opposed placing the permit bureau in the Agricultural Department, on the ground that it would tend to interfere with the customary functions of that branch of the government. Despite this objection, however, the Agricultural Department is to be the center of the new activity if the bill gets the approval of the house.

Would Legalize Racing.

Horse racing with betting, by the use of pari-mutuel betting machines at race tracks, would be legalized in Pennsylvania under provisions of a bill prepared by Representative Posey, of Berks, for introduction in the general assembly. The bill would create a racing commission of four members to handle the sport and administer the law.

Return of 95 per cent of the State's revenues to the State Highway Department for township rewards and payment of the remaining 5 per cent to county commissioners of counties in which races are held is a provision of the bill. In Pennsylvania this money, Representative Posey said in a statement regarding the bill, would be "not less than $3,000,000 annually."

The bill provides that all tracks within fifty miles of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton should pay license fees of $6000 a day to the state and all others $2500 a day. After payment of all other legal expenses, 15 per cent of the profits of the pari-mutuels would go to the state.

The commission provided for by the measure would consist of four members, one to receive $6000 a year and each of the others $500.

There will be no legislation this session that will legalize Sunday sports, according to the action of the Law and Order Committee of the House, which reported negatively on the bill sponsored by Representative Voltz, of Philadelphia, which would permit of a local referendum of the question of permitting Sunday amusements and sports.

The first law of 1925 was inserted in the statutes when Governor Pinchot signed the Talbot bill providing for the establishment and maintenance of contagious disease hospitals by two or more counties jointly. This was the first bill to pass both houses of the legislature.

Governor Pinchot also signed the joint resolution, expressing the judgment of the legislature that the federal government should cease the collection of inheritance taxes, leaving this revenue to the various states.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

THE LOVE OF SOLITUDE

THE truly great, the large-souled men and women who delight in going off in the mystic realm of thought, you will find are ardent lovers of solitude.

They are never lonely wherever they may be, for they have found the way to happiness by getting acquainted with themselves, whose companionship they prefer to any other.

Washington chose solitude when he prayed for strength and guidance in the forests; Lincoln knew nothing of loneliness when he lay upon the floor of his log cabin before the glow of a hearth fire, studying by its faint light and pondering the subject matter of his lessons; the late John Wanamaker solved his most difficult business problems in privacy.

The men and women of exclusion illuminate the world by dazzling achievements, born to them in their quiet hours of isolation. Their works flare up like magic torches to light the paths of the faltering and disheartened.

The greatest writers do their best work in solitude, often in the night-time, when voices are hushed and silence is supreme.

And so do painters and presidents, kings and captains, students and inventors.

There is nothing more inspiring to thinking minds than quietude; nothing so grandly sublime and impressive as a canopy of stars in a still night when one is far away from

Your Last Name

IS IT GREGORY?

THIS name can simply be classified as being derived from a first name—a first name once more popular than it is today. Gregory is a name of Greek origin, coming from a late and corrupt Greek word meaning watchman. It was borne by several bishops and one pope in the early church and hence had popularity among Christians both in the East and West. Later it was borne by fifteen other popes who did more or less to popularize it.

It might be supposed that the Scotch name MacGregor was derived from this. But such is not probably the case. That name is derived from Grig or Galric, meaning fierce. Probably where Gregory appears as a Scotch name it is really not from the old Greek Gregory but from Gregor or Griz.

The French form is Gregoire, which is found as a surname as well as first name, and the German Gregor and Gregus both have given surnames.

One of the interesting families of the name here is of French origin bearing originally the name Gregoire. The founder of this family was Rene Gregoire, a French soldier who settled on a coffee plantation in Santo Domingo with his bride, Agnes Robineau or Robue. They had 13 children, all of whom save Caspar Ramsey Gregoire were killed in a great massacre. Caspar, who was born in 1785, escaped to New Jersey, where he settled down, eventually marrying a widow. He was persuaded to spell his name Gregory. He had two children—Henry Duval and Caspar Robue. Of these Henry Duval was a very able and well-known Greek and Latin scholar and an educator of note.

The other Gregoires seem to have come from England or Scotland. Elliot Gregory, an artist and writer of some note, was descended from Gilbert Gregory who came to this country from England, settling in Connecticut in 1640. James Fenimore Cooper was a great uncle of his. John Milton Gregory, born in 1822, came from English ancestors, settled in Norwalk, Conn., who probably came originally from Massachusetts and ultimately from England.

Then add an equal quantity of finely cut celery and mayonnaise dressing. Mix well and serve on lettuce leaves.

The Young Lady Across the Way

GRATE the meat of a fresh coconut, from which the brown skin has been removed. Cook one tablespoonful of onion with one of butter, add one tablespoonful of flour and one teaspoonful of curry powder. Add one quart of milk, or half milk and half water and the coconut. Simmer a few minutes, add salt and pepper. The dried coconut may be used, if steamed and the sugar washed out.

Mock Woodcock.

Trim the crust from four slices of bread and toast a golden brown. Spread thickly with butter and a dozen finely chopped anchovies. Pile on a warty dish and set in the oven. Beat the yolk of four eggs, add one cupful of cream and stir over a moderate fire until the mixture thickens. Pour quickly over the toast and send at once to the table.

Sweetbread Salad.

Drop sweetbreads into cold water, changing as often as the water discolors. Let them stand until quite white, then pull out all the tubes and put into a saucepan. Cover with fresh cold water, add a slice of onion, one small bayleaf, one blade of mace and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Heat quickly to the simmering point and simmer for twenty minutes. Drain and drop into cold water, letting stand for an hour. Wipe and cut into small pieces with a silver knife. Make a French dressing and pour over the sweetbreads, set away until ready to

COUNSEL

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I AIN'T just sure just how to do. Not all the time. You head into Some sort of situation noo

That ain't exactly like the rest; And that's the time you git your test And have to figger what is best.

But I git through. I'll tell you how: I ain't so big of brain and brow, I'm hunder behind a plow;

But ever since I was a lad Three counselors I always had That I could ask. And one was Dad.

And one was Mother—Mother she, She was the second of the three I always had to counsel me. Yes, three advised me ev'ry rod The road of life I had to plod. The third? The third of these was God.

Of course, my mother's gone, I know, And Dad before her, long ago, But things are still exactly so

As when I used to come at night And kneel there by the candlelight And ask them three to set me right.

I hope—I know—it ain't a sin; But, any worry I am in, I git down on my knees ag'in

And pray, just as I always had When I was just a little lad. To God, and Mother, too, and Dad. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The Appleton Family

Mr. Lyander John Appleton, Mrs. Daysey Mayme Appleton, Miss Daysey Mayme Appleton, Master Chauncey Lyander Appleton.

A WHITE sign post similar to those which railroads put up at country crossings, has been erected in Mrs. Lyander John Appleton's back yard, ten feet from the kitchen door, and it bears these mystic words: "Stop and Whistle." The sign is a warning to the ice man, the butcher's boy, and the man who delivers the groceries, and the farmer with turnips and eggs, that they must stop and whistle here, thus giving Mrs. Appleton time to put on some clothes and save them from the terrible spectacle of catching her cooking, ironing and washing in just two pieces all told.

When Daysey Mayme Appleton does anything, she leaves nothing to regret, nothing undone and this explains why the Memory Book she started a month ago weighs fifteen pounds. Other girls pressed flowers, samples of their dresses, locks of hair, etc., in their Memory Books, but Daysey Mayme once found a horse-shoe at the close of a pleasant day, and put that in her Memory Book as a souvenir; also a fence railing to mark the day when she sat on the fence with the preacher's assistant, and the pen with which she refused seventeen proposals of marriage, and similar tokens calculated to awaken memories dear.

When Lyander John Appleton falls sick he knows what is expected of him and does his duty like a man, telling every caller that his wife feeds him too well.
