

Hello Daddy - don't forget my Wrigleys!

Slip a package in your pocket when you go home to night.

Give the youngsters this whole some, long lasting sweet - for pleasure and benefit.

Has Broad Views

Editor—What do you mean by the expression "as forgiving as a giraffe?"

Flip Writer—He overlooks a lot.

Boston Transcript.

Alabastine

Alabastine is suitable for all interior surfaces - plaster, wall board, brick, cement or canvas. It's applied with an ordinary wall brush. It's a powder in white and tints, ready for use by mixing with cold or warm water. Full directions on every package. Properly applied, it won't rub off.

Ask your dealer for color card today or write Miss Ruby Brandon, the Alabastine Company, Grand Rapids, Mich. Don't take something "just as good."

Not just Kalsomine

Paid in Full

Junior—"Betty is sure a striking beauty." Senior—"She certainly is. She slapped me twice."

Learn to say "No." It's better than "Nil."

QUALITY for 70 years

from coast to coast

MONARCH Coffee

REID, MURDOCH & CO.

Established 1853

CHICAGO - PITTSBURGH - BOSTON - NEW YORK

bake it best with

DAVIS BAKING POWDER

RESINOL

Soothing and Healing For Cuts, Burns, Scalds

The SANDMAN STORY

CHINA DOG AND JOHNNIE

IT WAS a funny little white china dog with yellow ears and tail and yellow spots on its sides. It stood on the mantel in Grandma's parlor in the farmhouse. Johnnie looked at it with longing eyes but he had been told not to touch anything in that room.

It was a warm day and the old hair-cloth sofa was so slippery and cool to sit upon so Johnnie curled up on it and looked at the china dog.

"It wouldn't hurt if I just took it down carefully," he thought with his eyes fastened upon the dog. "I would be very careful not to break it."

And then a queer thing happened. Johnnie found himself running through the woods behind the china dog, which was chasing a rabbit—the very thing Johnnie had thought he would like to do many times with Grandpa's hunting dog.

Saw Little China Dog Chasing a Rabbit in the Woods.

He was so interested in catching the rabbit that he quite forgot the dog was china and might be broken on the stones. For though it seemed to be quite alive Johnnie saw its smooth coat shining in the sunlight as it had always shone.

Under a stone wall at the edge of the woods the rabbit ran and over the wall went the china dog and crash, on a pile of stones on the other side Johnnie heard it fall.

"Oh dear, what shall I do," he began to cry. "Grandma will be sure to blame me and I didn't take him off the mantel."

Johnnie jumped over the wall and began to pick-up the pieces of the little china dog, when he felt someone gently shaking him by the shoulder. "What are you crying about, son?" Inquired Grandma's kind voice.

"I didn't take him down," said Johnnie. "He must have jumped off the mantel and followed me and he almost caught that rabbit, too."

"What are you talking about, dear?" asked Grandma. "I guess you have been asleep and dreaming." Johnnie looked at the mantel. There was little china dog just as he always had been, not broken at all. Johnnie looked at his grandmother. "I thought he was all broken," he said, "but I didn't touch him or anything in here. I just looked at the pretty china dog, that was all."

"I know you didn't touch anything," said Grandma, "and because you have been such a good little boy I am going to give you the china dog to take home with you. It belonged to your father when he was a little boy."

Johnnie's eyes grew bright. He hugged the china dog close in his arms and went out of the cool parlor with Grandma. "I shan't take him hunting," he said.

"He must be a hunter, though," said Grandma with a smile, "for he found the best little boy I know." And when his grandmother leaned over and kissed him Johnnie was glad he had not listened to the tempter and taken the china dog from the mantel.

Little china dog stood on the bookcase in Johnnie's room for many years, and often when he was tempted to do something he knew he shouldn't Johnnie looked at the china dog, which always seemed to have his black eyes fixed upon him, and remembered what his Grandma had said, and resisted temptation just as he had in the farmhouse parlor when he was a very little boy.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Have You This Habit?

By Margaret Morison

CONDITION, NOT A THEORY

CONNIE'S name was not, as most of her friends supposed, an abbreviation of "Constance," but of an improvised form of "Confucius" to whom, at the time of Connie's arrival, her mother had been a temporary convert. By the time Connie was grown, her mother had run the gamut of the isms, and then Connie herself began.

She broke her engagement with Jim because she had arrived at the stage of "Careers for Women." Then via the theory of supply and demand, she plunged into the old furniture business. Part of the world, she reasoned, was always tiring of its possessions at the same time that another part was in the frame of mind for wanting something new. Civilization required furniture; for the person who established the clearing house for these two supplementary wants, fortune was waiting.

Connie never knew where the hitch came. She suspected that it might be because her supply list was always ahead of her demand list. At all events, about a year later Jim rescued her from bankruptcy and safely married her.

Then Connie threw all her energies into being a model, modern mother. What a mother should not become to her children was her chief preoccupation. Jerry and George and James were to be independent; they were to be trained up without the bean-poles. So Connie told them that in society people labored under a disadvantage if they did not pay attention to personal cleanliness, and that it was up to the younger generation to wash their own hands before going to school. Above all, their wills must not be broken. Sin was to be its own punishment; so, when her three continuously stole apples from her neighbor's trees, and broke limbs off the trees, Connie smiled and waited—"for a stomach ache or a criminal career?" her neighbor asked rather tartly.

Then one day Jerry in his free way decided that at thirteen he wanted to see the world, of which mother talked so much; and, with George and James in his wake, he started down to the station; and, with those unhampered imaginations that Connie felt she had produced, they hid themselves aboard a freight car.

Fortunately a yard man knew them and hid them home by the collars. Just at the time of Jim's return from the office. Connie's emotions were a complex of relief and pride; but Jim, with his coarse, masculine nature, was single-minded. Silent and serious, he took the three to their own room, and presently there issued forth sounds of no dubious nature.

When, later in the evening, Connie demurred on the score of instilling fear into her sons' natures, Jim said, "My dear, in the words of a great American statesman, 'It is a condition, not a theory that confronts us.'" Thereafter Connie's habit of theorizing labored under some constraint.

HAVE YOU THIS HABIT?

(© by Metropolitan Newspaper Service.)

Adams Not Superstitious

John Quincy Adams was the first President to take the oath of office on Friday.

decided that at thirteen he wanted to see the world, of which mother talked so much; and, with George and James in his wake, he started down to the station; and, with those unhampered imaginations that Connie felt she had produced, they hid themselves aboard a freight car.

Fortunately a yard man knew them and hid them home by the collars. Just at the time of Jim's return from the office. Connie's emotions were a complex of relief and pride; but Jim, with his coarse, masculine nature, was single-minded. Silent and serious, he took the three to their own room, and presently there issued forth sounds of no dubious nature.

When, later in the evening, Connie demurred on the score of instilling fear into her sons' natures, Jim said, "My dear, in the words of a great American statesman, 'It is a condition, not a theory that confronts us.'" Thereafter Connie's habit of theorizing labored under some constraint.

When, later in the evening, Connie demurred on the score of instilling fear into her sons' natures, Jim said, "My dear, in the words of a great American statesman, 'It is a condition, not a theory that confronts us.'" Thereafter Connie's habit of theorizing labored under some constraint.

"What's in a Name?"

Dr. MILDRED MARSHALL

FACTS about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel

MARCELLA

A MOST popular French name which has gained great vogue in this country is Marcella. It is a name with a distinguished origin and history. It comes from ancient Rome directly, though its earliest origin is found in the Greek word meaning soft or tender, yet by curious twist this word signifies "of Mara," and hence should be regarded as a term denoting strength or an ironlike quality.

In early Rome Marcellus was a name belonging to a noble gens of Sabine origin which gave a king to Rome and later named the high-spirited Marcus Coriolanus. The daughters of this gens were called Marcia or Marzia, and later from the same origin sprang Martina. The last-mentioned was made famous by one of the young Roman girls who endured martyrdom under the Emperor Decius.

There was a St. Marcellus among the Romans. He figured among the warrior set of Venice and had a French namesake called Marcel. The feminine counterpart, Marcella, made its first appearance as the name of a pious widow whose friendship with

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Ramon Novarro

In FilmDome's directory, where each player stands for something different, it is Ramon Novarro who stands for Romance—because he is handsome, because he typifies the tender lover, because he seems unsophisticated and human—a Prince Charming of the screen. He has been seen to advantage in some splendid pictures.

The Why of Superstitions

By H. IRVING KING

QUEEN OF THE MAY

THERE is no survival more pretty and pleasing in its modern aspect or derived from a more gruesome ancestry than that of choosing a May queen, a custom now gradually disappearing but which, not so very long ago, was a popular village ceremony of May day. And until comparatively recent times there used to be chosen, also, a king of the May. Many learned antiquaries have written upon the origin of this custom and have clearly traced it back to the days when there was annually chosen a representative of the spirit of vegetation which representative was afterwards sacrificed for the benefit of the crops. In some of these primitive rites only a man was chosen as the representative of the corn-spirit; in others a man and a woman as representing the male and female forces of generation.

There is not space here to go into the subject of the "aging goat" who was sacrificed at harvest time, a custom closely related to, or a part of, the general primitive conception of the spirit of vegetation in its relation to human affairs. Suffice it that the king and queen of the May were originally offered as human sacrifices after having "strutted their little hour upon the stage." Mr. Britton Austen, in an article on "The Cave Man in Ourselves," published in Collier's some time ago, says: "For long ages after the actual killing of the May king and queen had dropped into disuse there persisted a tradition of ill treatment of the retiring pair—a symbolic execution; and the records of an English parish show that as late as 1547 it was necessary to impose a heavy fine upon any one who should refuse the office of May king or May queen when elected to such positions. Evidently the custom of their 'symbolic execution' had not entirely gone out at that date."

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Wit and Humor

GENERAL KNOWLEDGE

"Jack," said the teacher, "what is a cape?"

"A cape is a piece of land extending into the water."

"That's right. Now, Jimmy, define a gulf."

"A gulf is a piece of water extending into the land."

"Good, Hector," to a small, eager-looking little chap, "can you tell me what a mountain is?"

"A mountain," responded Hector, "is a piece of land extending into the air."

—Japan Advertiser.

Not Well Trained

Peggy had been to the circus and mother thought to impress a lesson. "When dogs, and ponies, and monkeys obey so well, don't you think a little girl ought to obey even more quickly?" she said.

"So I should, mummy," was the instant reply, "if I'd been as well trained as they have."

Where She Looked

"Darling, that encyclopedia you bought is no good at all."

"Why, whatever's wrong with it?"

"This morning I wanted to find out why swallows migrate in winter."

"And you couldn't find it? Where did you look for it?"

"I looked under 'why,' and I couldn't even find the word there at all."

DANCING ARTISTS

He—You're an artist at dancing.

She—And you're a caricature at it.

Economy

Economy we practice now.

We're gradually learning it.

This thing of saving cash, we vow, is harder still than earning it!

Let Others Worry

Anxious Wife—Able, have you done anything about that horrible Black Hand letter?

Abie—Oh, ain't I, though. I turned it over to my insurance company. They got $20,000 tied up in me; let them worry.—Moorestown Star.

Desperate Case

"That fellow looks downcast."

"Yes, they are going to shoot him at sunrise."

"A deserter?"

"No, a movie star. And that's a darn mean hour to get out on the lot."

Business Man

Gentleman—What? Begging here? You usually stand in Main street?

Panhandler—Yes, but I have opened a branch store here.—Dorffarbler (Berlin).

Class

"Must be a gentleman farmer located near by."

"What makes you think that?"

"I noticed the last scarecrow we passed had on golf togs."

WILL RAISE PRICE

Mother—Silence is golden, Willie, not silver, as you say.

Willie—I'm glad to hear that—silence has never given me more'n a quarter, you know.

Carramba!

In Mexico, where knives abound, and dirty work, the injured victim doubtless cries, "He done me dirt."

Must Be Loony

Applicant—All I ask is a position with the same pay that you yourself would want if you were to take the job.

Protesting Plaintiff—Thunder and lightning; you must be loony. Do you think I'm made of money?

But Expressive

The Pilot—If this squall continues I shall leave tp.

Passenger (faintly)—What a horrid way of putting it.—Stray Stories.

Get Back Your Health!

Are you dragging around day after day with a dull headache? Are you tired and lame mornings—subject to headaches, dizzy spells and sharp, stabbing pains? Then there's surely something wrong. Probably it's kidney weakness! Don't wait for more serious kidney trouble. Get back your health and keep it. For quick relief get Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. They have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

A Virginia Case

Wm. Dodd, grocer, 550 E. Pitt St., Alexandria, Va., says: "I was troubled with lame back and was unable to get up or down. My back was stiff and when I lifted anything heavy, stitches caught me above my hips. My kidneys were inactive and the kidney secretions were badly colored. I used a box of Doan's Pills and they cured me."

DOAN'S PILLS

60c

STIMULANT DIURETIC TO THE KIDNEYS

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

Don't take chances of your horse or mule being laid up with Distemper, Indigestion, Pink Eye, Laryngitis, Heaves, Coughs or Colic. Give "SPOHN'S" to both the sick and the well ones. The standard remedy for 20 years. Give "SPOHN'S" for Dog Distemper, 50 cents and $1.50 as drug store.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO. GOSHEN, IND.

Blind Men Test Phones

Because of their supersensitive hearing, blind men are used to test wireless head phones of a factory in Europe.

One 50-cent bottle of Dr. Perry's "Dead Shot" will save money, time, anxiety and health. One dose expels Worms or Tape-worms. 272 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

Accounting for It

"He looks like a musical sort of fish."

"Yeh, he's a piano tuna."

A Married Woman's Advice

Baltimore, Md.—"In my early married life my health was poor. I felt weak and draggy and my head ached nearly all the time. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the tonic and nerve-giver I was advised to take and before I had finished taking the first bottle I gained so in health and strength that I felt like a different woman. I took two bottles and from that time on I was as strong and well as any woman could wish to be."—Mrs. Isabelle Schwartz, 1410 N. Fulton Ave. All dealers.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial pkg.

Don't hesitate

Dress burns, bruises, wounds and cuts, rashes and sores with soothing "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly. It keeps out dirt and air and hastens healing. For common sore throats take a teaspoonful several times a day. It's tasteless, odorless and absolutely harmless.

CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO. (Canada) New York

Vaseline

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF. PETROLEUM JELLY

Look for the trademark "VASILINE" on every package. It's your protection.

Deep Chest Colds or a Raw, Sore Throat

END QUICKLY! WHEN YOU APPLY CAMPHORE

You can feel it penetrate and quickly loosen up a stubborn cough, or cold in throat or chest.

You'll never know how soon a nerve-racking cough can be eased until you try CAMPHORE.

It's truly surprising how prompt it opens up clogged nostrils and takes hold of a nerve-racking cough in a way that means business, soothing and healing the sore, irritated lining of the throat, chest and bronchial tubes, gently loosens up phlegm and stops annoying throat tickle.

Then you'll know why thousands swear by CAMPHORE, when once you try it for Croup, Colds in Head, Throat or Chest, Asthma, Tonsillitis, Bronchitis and Catarrhal troubles.

At All Drug Stores Beware of Substitutes

Dr. Brigodell's Camphore, Atlantic City, N. J.

KEEP YOUR SCALP Clean and Healthy WITH CUTICURA

Porter's Pain King

A Liniment

Quickly Checks Coughs and Colds. Used Since 1871