

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Harshbarger and Mrs. Small, of Altoona, were guests of James H. Smetzer, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bradford, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover Dalby, of Phoenixville, motored to Centre Hall Monday and are spending a few days among the scenes of former years and greeting old friends.

Miss Mabel Arney, of Centre Hall, accompanied by Frank O. Moyer, of Cleveland, Ohio, motored to Gettysburg Monday of last week, returning on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Boal and family, of Colyer, on Monday moved to Altoona, where Mr. Boal is employed with the Pennsy in the new Juniata shops as a boiler mechanic.

J. Kennedy Johnston, candidate for Judge, believes in the christian principle, which is the basis of the "Golden Rule," and he does not and has not made false statements for the purpose of deceiving the voters of Centre county.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Jacobs, daughter Frances and son, Guy, Jr., of Steubenville, Ohio, accompanied by Mrs. James Sandoe, of Ingram, motored to Centre Hall last Thursday, remaining among relatives and friends until Sunday.

Miss Tacy Kreamer, of Johnstown, has been a guest of Mrs. D. J. Meyer and the Bartholomew family in Centre Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kreamer and daughter, Miss Rebecca Kreamer, of Lewistown, also visited at the homes mentioned.

Miss Lyda Rothrock visited her parents, Prof. and Mrs. H. C. Rothrock, of Port Matilda, at their temporary home on Grange Park on Sunday. Miss Rothrock has been employed in Bloomsburg for several years in the offices of a carpet manufacturer.

Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick accompanied his sister, Miss Lacey Kirkpatrick, to Philadelphia, on Monday, in the latter's car and will return by train. Miss Kirkpatrick is an instructor in Girard College. A few days before returning home she and her brother, Mrs. Kirkpatrick and son Jack, got back from their trip through the New England States and on to Nova Scotia.

Merchant and Mrs. H. F. Rossman, of Spring Mills, and their son, Peeler Rossman, and the latter's bride, are camping at the Regulars' hunting headquarters at the "Sawdust Pile" in Seven Mountains. The junior Mr. Rossman is connected with the Bell Telephone company in the capacity of an engineer and is located in Pittsburgh. His advancements have been rapid and the place he now holds is one of importance.

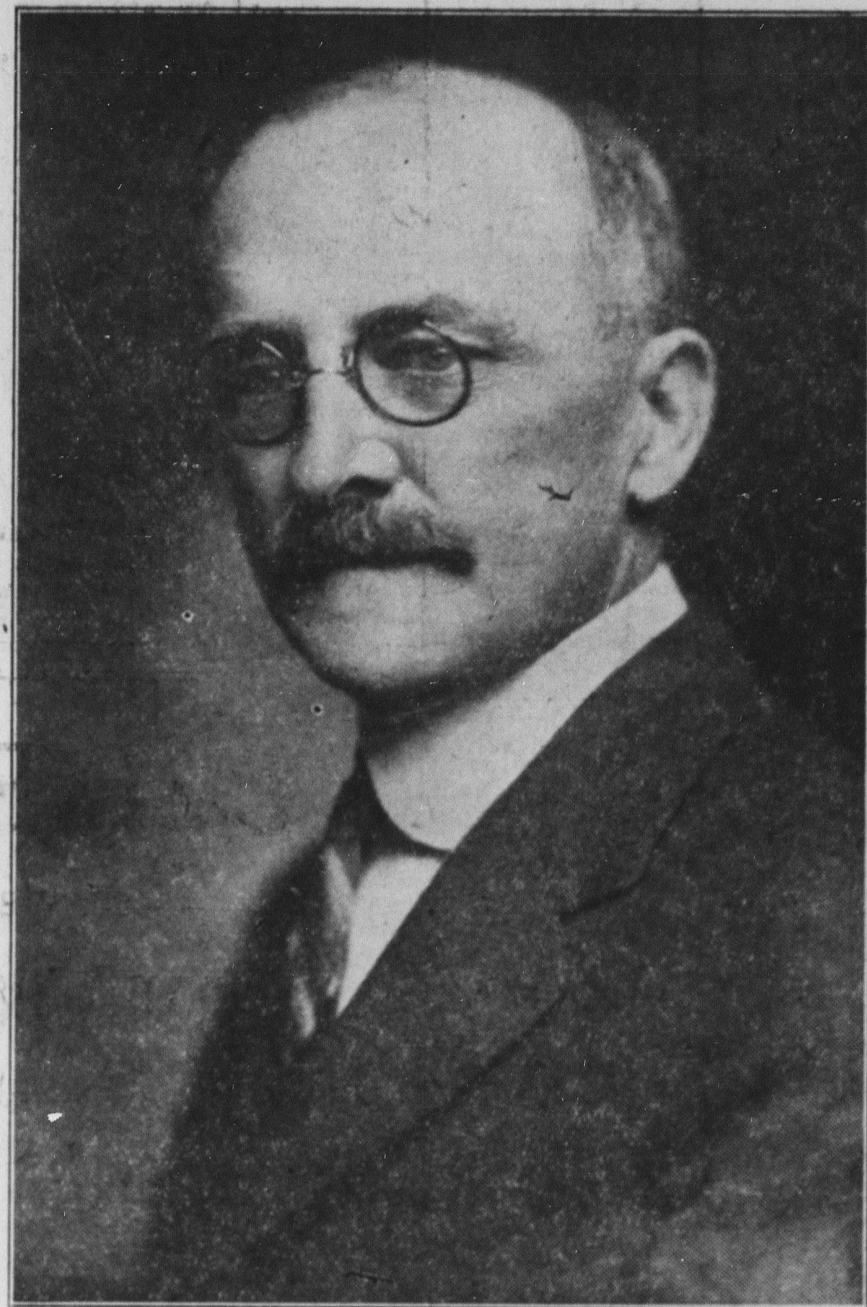

E. M. Krug and family motored from McConnellsburg, Fulton county, to State College on Saturday, and stopped with the Reporter long enough for fraternal greetings. Mr. Krug was formerly employed on the State College Times, but is now conducting the Fulton County News which he purchased four years ago. He is very much pleased with the attitude of the business men toward his venture which makes the grind somewhat easier.

Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Runkle and Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Snyder, of Philadelphia, drove to Centre Hall the latter part of last week and are now quartered on Dr. Runkle's farm, east of Old Fort, tenanted by his brother, John H. Runkle. The party is spending a part of their time at State College, where Dr. and Mrs. Runkle's son, Stuart, is a junior at Penn State. He is assistant manager of the college football team, which accounts for his early appearance at the educational institution. Dr. Runkle is a native of Potter township and when he comes here he has a host of friends to greet him.

Dr. C. B. and Mrs. Bartol, of Lewisburg, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Wieland, at Liden Hall. Dr. Bartol and Mr. Wieland are cousins. Early in the seventies Dr. Bartol taught school in Centre Hall, and was the first teacher employed here to teach Latin, Greek, geometry and trigonometry. For forty years he has been connected with Bucknell University, and although seventy-nine years of age is full of pep and takes a great interest in athletics. A daughter, Mrs. Theess, and her husband, Dr. Edwin Theess, teacher of Journalism, at Bucknell, and Miss Bell Bartol, also a daughter, teaching at the Evangelical Orphanage, Lewisburg, made up the remainder of the party.

Reuben Garis returned to the Pittsburgh district to resume work as manager of a company store. Early last spring Mrs. Garis contracted typhoid fever and later died from it. A daughter was also attacked with the disease and finally the head of the family. The latter two were very seriously ill, but finally recovered. The family came here among relatives to recuperate, and while Mr. Garis has not fully regained his former strength he feels that he ought to attempt to begin earning. The youngest child will remain with his sister, Mrs. John Kramer; a daughter will be cared for by a brother, William Garis, also in Centre Hall, and the two elder ones are at the home of a sister, Mrs. Mowery, at Burnham.

J. KENNEDY JOHNSTON

CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE OF JUDGE

Who stands for equal protection of the rights of all people, backed by a well-poised temperament and legal ability; he being rated by the best disinterested legal authority in Class "A."

YOU WILL MAKE NO MISTAKE BY VOTING FOR HIM.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

The A. E. Kerlin residence, the office and warehouse of the Kerlin poultry plant, are being repainted by A. L. Duck, the Spring Mills painter.

Rev. and Mrs. S. M. Moody and little daughter of Willsburg, York county, visited among relatives in Centre Hall over Sunday. Mrs. Moody will be remembered as Miss Savilla Rearick.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Klose and son, of Tyrone, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Leiser, Mrs. Robert Hoffa and daughter Helen, Jasper and John Rice, all of Lewisburg, were callers at the Lutheran parsonage over the week-end.

Next week A. E. Kerlin will go to Florida with a view of finding a suitable place for winter accommodations for himself and Mrs. Kerlin. He thinks he prefers St. Petersburg, but of course, he is undecided as to the place.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Boon and daughter, Miss Alice Boon, and Mrs. George Robertson, of Hartford, Connecticut, drove to Centre Hall arriving here Monday. They are visiting B. D. Brislin, father of Mrs. Boon and Mrs. Robertson. The party will remain for the week.

J. Kennedy Johnston realizes that his opponents are using the same misleading methods as were used ten years ago, but their conduct does not alter his principles; he is opposed to resorting to deception. The office of Judge demands an honest candidate if we are to elect an honest official.

Fourteen head of a herd of some twenty head of cattle owned by Ralph H. Homan, living on the W. H. Homan farm, east of Centre Hall, were condemned as being tubercular after having been officially tested. Most of the cows found to be diseased were in fine condition and were supposed to be free of the disease.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Brady and three children, of Johnstown, and Mrs. (Dr.) G. I. Yearick, of Pittsburgh, were among the campers on Grange Park. Mr. Brady continues to be employed in a hardware store in Johnstown where he was engaged before leaving Centre Hall several years ago. Mrs. Yearick reports Dr. Yearick well and too much engaged in his profession to leave home at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay W. Reesman, two daughters and son, motored to Centre Hall on Tuesday from their home in Camden, New Jersey. They traveled over the Pocono mountains to Scranton to Lewisburg and here by way of Williamsport and Lock Haven. The only bad road found on the entire trip of over three hundred miles was the uncompleted road over Nittany Mountain. They will motor on to Dubois and back to Tyrone, drop south to the Lincoln highway at Bedford and on to Gettysburg to view the battlefield, planning to reach their home by Tuesday.

MILLHEIM

Cow Sale, Sept. 10th.

T. E. Jodon will hold another public sale of western milk cows on the E. M. Huyett farm premises, tenanted by P. H. Luse, directly west of Centre Hall, on Thursday, September 10th, at one o'clock sharp.

This is a fine load of registered and grade Holsteins, Guernseys and Jerseys, and have been carefully selected. See posters.

A sprinkler was used on Grange Park, on Tuesday, to lay the dust. The protracted dry spell brought about a condition on the park which had become unpleasant, to say the least, to the crowd of campers.

Rev. John S. Hollenbach, of Manchester, Md., will preach in the Reformed church at Aronsburg on Sunday evening, September 6th, at 7:30.

Goodhart Wins Many Ribbons.

The Orangeville (Illinois) Courier makes this reference to a former Potter township resident, a son of the late George L. Goodhart:

Col. G. B. Goodhart, auctioneer and veteran horseman, again had a large exhibit of horses at the Monroe fair last week and made a fine showing, winning 17 firsts out of a possible 20, and 12 seconds and 2 third prizes; also the coveted sweepstake prize on stallion and five colts. This further establishes the fact that Bruce knows what type to select to win the blue.

Next week he will exhibit a few of his prize winners at the Warren fair. Mr. Goodhart showed a pair of spotted horses owned by W. A. Augenstein and a single grey mare owned by Levi Foss of Buena Vista, that were in a class by themselves and received much applause.
