LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

C. F. Deininger was home from Harrisburg, on Tuesday, to cast his vote.

A quartet of young hunters—George Goodhart, Gervin Shaeffer, George Lutz and Harry Gross, killed twenty rabbits, the limit, on Monday.

After an enforced lay off owing to an injury, Grover C. Weaver began work as a railroad trackman in the Hartley crew at Centre Hall.

Lawrence S. Messerly, station agent at McElhattan, was seriously injured when his car was struck, when stalled on the track, by the Buffalo Flyer, on Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Jacobs are attending a national convention of ice manufacturers, at Los Angeles, California. Mr. Jacobs is the manager of the Steubenville (Ohio) Ice Co.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will hold a bazaar on November 21st, afternoon and evening, in the social room of the church. A number of both useful and pretty articles will be on sale.

Miss Vera Brungart, of Washington, D. C., who is now a full fledged attorney-at-law, came to Centre Hall from the National Capital to cast her ballot here on Tuesday, having selected to make Centre Hall her official residence.

The new concrete bridge over the run at McFarlane's, on this side of Boalsburg, has been completed. It is built to the south side of the old bridge, and this necessitates an approach by a new piece of road, which is now being built.

Mrs. Annie Salmon, the woman who was responsible for the burning of her neighbor's barn, at Beech Creek, has been sent to Danville State Hospital for observation. One of the features of her punishment was to keep away from Beech Creek, but she failed to do so.

Rev. and Mrs. E. Roy Corman, of Sunbury, were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Fisher, parents of Mrs. Corman. Rev. Corman and Mr. Fisher spent a few days hunting in the fields and woods, and like most of the small-game hunters got "something," but not enough to make a news story about.

While in the corn field on the farm, he tills at Earlstown, Clayton Musser had a bob cat make an ugly face at him, and when a stone was hurled at the wicked-looking little beast, it simply drew its head closer to its shoulders and skinned its teeth all the more. There was no substantial weapon near by and Mr. Musser didn't protest when the cat slunk and then retreated.

E. C. Harter and his housekeeper, Miss Annie Weaver, drove to Centre Hall on Monday on business. Mr. Harter called at this office and his cheerful mood was helpful in looking forward to Democratic success on the morrow. Although living on the Harter homestead in Georges Valley, Mr. Harter is not engaged in farming, yet he is keeping live stock sufficient to not forget early rising and an active day.

The head, hide and entrails of a spike buck were found in a culvert on the local branch railroad where it crosses the road at the Bartges farm, a somewhat out-of-the-way place, south of Centre Hall. On Monday evening the trackmen discovered the "punch" of an animal at the culvert, and thinking that probably the train had struck and killed some animal, an investigation was made, and this revealed what has previously been stated. From appearances an auto crossed the railroad track in the direction of Nittany Mountain, swung to the green on the right and there skinned and dressed the young buck. The killing had evidently been done Sunday night.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS.

Conditions Apparently Favorable for Good Season—Provisions of State Law As to Seasons and Prescribed Bag Limits.

Monday ushered in the annual Pennsylvania season for hunting small game and for trapping fur-bearing animals.

A very good season is anticipated by hunters. Weather conditions last week have been favorable. The rain rid the trees of most of their leaves, making it possible to see longer distances in the woods, and at the same time soaked the ground so that progress through the woods will not make so much noise as to scare the game.

The game which is in season and the bag limits prescribed by law, follow: Wild turkeys, one in a season; ruffed grouse, three in a day, 15 in a season; ringneck pheasants, two males in a day, six in a season; quail, all kinds, eight in a day, 25 in a season; squirrels, black, fox or gray, six in a day, 20 in a season; rabbits, five in a day, 30 in a season; hare, three in a day, 15 in a season.

With the exception of rabbits and hare the season for game of these classes expires November 30. Rabbits and hare will remain in season until December 15.

The season for bears opens November 10 and continues until December 15. First year cubs are protected. Game officials advise that if a bear is so small that the hunter cannot tell whether or not it is in the protected class, the best plan would be not to shoot it. The limit is one to a man, four to a camp or body of men.

The season for deer and elk opens December 1 and continues 15 days.

The trapping season for small fur-bearing animals opened November 1, and for mink, muskrat, opossum, otter, and skunk extends to the end of February. The season for raccoon has been open since October 1 and extends until January 15. All traps must be visited every thirty-six hours and all steel traps must have attached a metallic plate giving the name and address of owner. Bounties are paid for wild cat, grey fox, red fox, and weasels.

Boys under 14 years of age are permitted to use box traps for rabbits on lands on which they reside. In no other cases may rabbits be trapped.

Y. P. B.'s Make Report of Progress.

On April 16, 1923, the local Y. P. B. was organized by Miss Corpening, the State General Secretary. Our membership was twelve; Mrs. F. V. Goodhart was superintendent and Mrs. S. W. Smith mother of the organization.

The last of May, 1924, we had a food sale and with the profits we sent Agnes Geary and Ruth Bingman to the State Y. P. B. convention, which was held at Harrisburg, in the early part of the following fall but whose Y. P. B. went to Howard to the county W. C. T. U. convention, where we entertained the other delegates with a short play. In May, 1925, we gave a play, "The modern Cinderella," by which means we made enough money to send four delegates to the State convention at Harrisburg. The following girls were selected: Miriam Moore, Louise Smith, Fay Bradford and Margaret Luse. At the convention our year's work won fourth place in the Flower Mission department and first in the Press and Publicity department. The second week in September we sent Fay Bradford and Margaret Luse to the annual county W. C. T. U. convention at Bellefonte; these girls reported on the work of the State Y. P. B. convention.

About the middle of September our Y. P. B. started a membership drive with the motto "Each one bring one." Through this drive we gained 25 members, which makes an enrollment of 43. Since our Y. P. B. has grown so large and is still growing, we have decided to hold our meetings in the High school building on the first Monday of every month.

Our last meeting was held on Monday night at the home of Kathryn Gleixner, who has been a member since the organization of the Branch in Centre Hall, but whose illness has prevented her from attending all the meetings. There were thirty members present all of whom took an active part in the meeting. We had a regular business meeting, and then installed the following officers: President, Louise Smith; vice president, Fay Bradford; treasurer, Elizabeth Bartholomew; corresponding and recording secretary, Margaret Luse. After the conclusion of the business meeting we had a social program, not the least enjoyable of which were the "rats" served us by our hostess mother, Mrs. E. P. Gleixner.—(A member).

Missionary Convention of District 11.
District No. 11 of Huntingdon Presbytery, composed of State College, Pine Grove Mills, Boalsburg, Lemont and Centre Hall, held its annual missionary convention in the Presbyterian church, Centre Hall, on Friday.

Mrs. T. I. Mairs, of State College, district chairman, presided. Mrs. Mary Newlin, Presbyterian president; Mrs. Norman Bowers, secretary of Missionary Education; Mrs. J. F. Emerick, secretary of Stewardship; Miss Henrietta Baldwin, secretary of Young People; Mrs. W. D. Crockett, secretary of Freedmen, and Miss Gibbons, provided a most interesting and educational program for the afternoon.

The speakers of the evening were: Rev. Capers, of Hollidaysburg, and Dr. Francis Shunk Downs, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions of the United States, who gave a very able talk on missionary work.

James Lesneski was arrested recently in Boston on account of being short of $900 as postmaster at Tyler, Clearfield county. He left Tyler saying he would be absent two days, but did not give his proposed destination. The shortage was discovered a few days after he left Tyler.

BOALSBURG

George C. Meyer and wife, of State College, and Geo. E. Meyer and wife, of Boalsburg, and Mrs. Morris Burckholder, of Centre Hall, attended the funeral of Thomas Boeganreif, at Mifflinburg, on Tuesday. The trip was made in Mr. Meyer's car. Mrs. Boeganreif before marriage was Mrs. Mary Weber.

Charles W. Corl and wife spent Sunday at State College with the Adam Zeigler family.

Mrs. Emma Kuhn and daughter Margaret visited at the home of Mrs. Kuhn's father, Geo. W. Rowe, the latter part of last week. Mr. Kuhn came from Williamsport Sunday and his family returned home with him.

The many hunters about town that were out in the mountains on Tuesday failed to bring in any turkeys. They report that there were none seen.

The George W. Rowe sale on Saturday amounted to above $700.00.

The Civic Club's cafeteria supper Saturday evening was well patronized.

Charles Pickard, wife and son, of Soranton, on their way home from a three weeks' visit with Mr. Pickard's mother, at Indianapolis, Ind., stopped at the Geo. E. Meyer home over Saturday night.

POTTERS MILLS.

J. G. Boal, who is working on the State road in Cameron county, spent a few days at his home here.

G. H. McCormick, wife and children spent Sunday at the E. G. Mingie home at Aaronsburg.

Miss Violet Palmer visited on Sunday at the C. G. Weaver home near Tusseyville.

Miss Miriam Palmer, the 7-year-old twin girl of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Palmer, was hit by an automobile while crossing the road in front of their home, last Thursday. She has a gash on the right side of her head, and her collar bone is broken on the right side. She is getting along very nicely at this writing. No blame is laid on the driver; he stopped and rendered all the assistance he could.

The funeral of Mrs. Jacob Auman was held from her late home on Friday morning. Mr. Auman has the sympathy of the community.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Sweeney of State College, visited for a few days at the W. M. Sweeney home.

Warren Slack, who had been working all summer on the State road in Carlin and Huntingdon counties, has returned to his home for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagner, of Lewisport, and Mr. and Mrs. David Gowan, of Lock Haven, visited for a few days at the John Wagner home, and are enjoying the hunting.

Quite a few from this place attended revival services at Centre Hall, Sunday evening.

Charles Miller and family, of Centre Hill, spent Sunday at the M. N. Miller home.

SPRING MILLS

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rossman, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Long, Mrs. L. J. Zubler, and a few others, attended the funeral of Mrs. H. N. Kellar, at State College, on Wednesday.

Ralph Bartges is spending his vacation with his father, Ivy Bartges. Ralph is one of our young men who has made good with the P. R. R. He has been located at Newberry for a number of years.

The show in Grange hall is attracting a crowd every night.

Next Saturday, November 7th, is the time for the first number on the lecture course—the Alexander Novelty Four.

Mrs. William Rockey and children, of Altoona, are visiting at the Mrs. Ada Finkle home.

The pranks played by the young men on Halloween night were not appreciated by the owners of vehicles, etc.

The first real drop in temperature came along Wednesday night of last week, when mercury in reliable thermometers registered 23 degrees above zero at some period during the night. Thursday was partly cloudy and Friday broke with an inch of snow and a temperature under freezing. By night the earth was covered with four inches of snow. Friday night temperature remained below freezing. Saturday morning the roads were a mass of smooth ice, and throughout Sunday and Monday there was much snow visible.

FOR SALE—Two fresh cows for sale.—Adam E. Smith, Centre Hall; R. D. No. 1.
