CAR STEALING IS ON THE INCREASE

Anyone With Slight Mechanical Ability Can Start Auto Without Key.

Automobile stealing is a business that, despite the Dyer act, goes on at an astonishingly fast gait throughout the country, according to the legal department of the Chicago Motor club. The unlocked car, of course, is the greatest source of supply. Many car owners think because the ignition is turned off that the thief is foiled, whereas anyone with slight mechanical ability can start a car without a key. The most common method is to run a wire from the ammeter to the coil, but there are numerous schemes equally effective.

Habit of Locking Car.

"Make a habit of locking your car, and following a psychological law, it will be practically impossible to forget to lock it," says the club bulletin. "Lock it at all times, even when you are going to be in view of the car while you leave it for a few minutes, then you will never forget it when you are going to be away from it for hours."

"Even cars that are locked are stolen. Some thieves operate in this fashion. They drive a car of some popular make, and in driving along they see another car as like their own as the proverbial two pens in the pod. They stop behind it, or in a corner directly opposite from the car they intend to steal. Then they go to a telephone and call a tow car, giving the description of the car. Perhaps they conveniently forget their own license number, but at any rate they see to it that their own car is left untouched, while the other one is picked up. They stroll up to the men on the tow truck and tell them they will ride with them to the garage. It is easy for them to manufacture some reason for towing the car, and once at the garage the unsuspecting proprietor gives the supposed owner the car whenever he demands it. Should the irate owner appear on the scene as his car is being towed, the thieves get themselves out of their predicament neatly and quickly by passing the blame on to the stupidity of the garage mechanics in picking up the wrong car. This story is generally accepted by the real owner."

Put Keys in Mail Box.

"Automobile thieves have taken advantage of conditions in towns where garages make a practice of delivering cars to boarders at their homes. Many times the owner will instruct the garage attendants to put his keys in the mail box at a certain time. The thieves make a survey of the situation, and are often able to step into the vestibule a minute or two before the owner comes down to get his car. They get the keys and are away from the scene of the theft in a minute."

"Thousands of cars are recovered, but in numerous instances the owner does not get his property back because the thieves have made such changes in the car that it is impossible to identify it. Every motorist should have a secret number placed somewhere on the car. In case his car is stolen this number would serve as a means of identification."

Front Wheel Bearings Give Out If Ungreased

The common reason why the front wheel bearings of a motor car give out is because the greasing of them is neglected. But the expert motorist knows that there is no excuse for this neglect.

The front-wheel caps should be removed every three to six months in the summer time, depending, of course, on how much the car is being driven. Fill them with soft grease and screw them back into place. It should be remembered in doing this work that the left front cap may have a left thread instead of a right one.

When the caps are removed the condition and adjustment of the bearings should be noted. If they require adjustment or repair the car should be taken to a shop unless the owner feels competent to do the work.

In putting the caps back into place extreme care should be used not to cross the threads. This is an error that is easily made, since the threads are very fine and the diameter of the cap relatively large.

Spare Tubes Should Be Wrapped to Avoid Sliding

"Box worn" means about the same thing in inner tubes as "shop worn" means in clothes. Both are damaged goods.

When an inner tube leaves a rubber factory it is ordinarily packed in waxed paper and placed in a box to keep it in perfect condition from factory to customer. But this waxed paper packing which is so essential to insure its resiliency and elasticity—in other words, its live quality—is not intended to be the packing which will protect the tube carelessly thrown in the tool box of a car.

Here the constant jolting and swerving of the car cause the loosely-packed tube to chafe against the sides of the box, according to Miller. As a result, the tube chafes through at the folds. If it is a repaired tube loosely thrown in the tool box, it ordinarily lacks even the protection of the box against cutting on the sharp edges of the tools.

A motorist will always find in the roadside emergency that his tubes are in the same serviceable condition as when he placed them in the car, if he will carefully wrap them in soft cloth or paper so that they cannot slide around in the wrapping. Better even than this, however, is the purchase of a tube bag—Motor Life.

Wheel Out of Alignment Cause of Wear on Tires

Bumping into curbs, hitting bumps in the road, turning out into gutters and similar strains, shocks and jolts are very likely to cause misalignment or wobbling of wheels, or both.

When this happens the wheels travel with a skidding action, which wears down treads very rapidly, even if the irregularity is so slight that the eye can hardly detect it. You should, therefore, test your wheels frequently to make sure that they run true.

Probably as many as one car in three has one or more misalignment or wobbly wheels, robbing their tires of thousands of miles of service.

Because of the turn-to-the-right rule of the road the right front wheel is often forced into the rough going at the side of the road and is likely to receive severe glancing blows, which produce misalignment, springing or dishing.

Oil in Radiator Will Enter Through Gasket

What does oil in the water of the radiator indicate? And how can oil get into the cooling system?

Oil will get into the water if the cylinder head gasket is cracked or if the head bolts have not been screwed down evenly and properly. It is the result of a cheap valve-grinding job. It will always be accompanied by loss of water, even though there are no apparent leaks in the pump or cooling system connections. The water leaks into the cylinders and the oil, working past the rings into the cylinders, is forced into the cooling system.

Had Him Coming and Going

The rather ferocious-looking husband who had taken his wife to the seaside scowled at an amateur photographer and rumbled in a threatening bass voice:

"What d'ye mean, photographin' my wife? I saw ye when ye done it."

The man replied gently:

"You're mistaken, really! I wouldn't think of doing such a thing."

"Ye wouldn't, eh?" said the husband, still savagely. "And why not? She's the handsomest woman on the beach."

Inexplicable Neglect
