RELOCATION OF THE SEVEN MOUNTAIN ROAD

On Program for 1926—Three Per Cent. Grade Through Cox's Valley and Around Sand Mountain.

The relocating of the road over the Seven Mountains from a point at the "stone house" at the northern boundary of Milroy, to Sunset club house, at the foot of Sand Mountain, and the rebuilding of it during the next year, is assured. The relocating of the road through Cox's Valley to the Foust place, where it crosses the present highway, adds 8000 feet to its length, but the fact that Long Mountain, on which is the famous "horse shoe curve," dubbed later by autoists as the "Devil's Elbow," and its long heavy grade, the additional length becomes but an echo.

The new route passes through Cox's Valley by Walter Garry's place to the Foust place, near the Reerick improvement, at the southern base of Sand Mountain, and crossing the State Highway as now built, and leads around Sand Mountain, and will, it is presumed, intersect again with the present highway above the State House, where Forest-Ranger W. F. McKinney holds forth. The portion of the road leading around Sand Mountain has not yet been surveyed, but the State engineers have given expression that the intersection point likely be made at the point named. Taking into consideration the condition of the region and the fact that the State has a valuable property on the North slope of Sand Mountain, it is reasonable to assume that the second junction of the relocated road will be at a point at least west of Sunset club house.

A representative of the State Highway Department interviewed the Centre county commissioners as to their willingness to father the expense belonging to Centre county in re-routing the portion of the road in this county. The commissioners agreed to do their whole part. Since most of the territory through which the new road leads is on State forests the expense will be light. As to bridges, the Reporter has no information.

An interview with Merchant Edward H. Thompson, of Milroy, reveals that the road from the stone house in Milroy to where it intersects the present highway near or at Sunset club house will be constructed of cement, eighteen feet in width. The curve at the stone house will be eased somewhat and then the old road bed will be followed to "Happy Jim's," where the curve will also be lessened, as will also the curve at the State camp on this side of "Happy Jim's." To accomplish this the creek bed will be moved to the west. The old road will again be followed to the bridge at the foot of Long Mountain, where re-routing will be through Cox's Valley, leaving the creek to the west at the point of entrance. The road will pass near Garry's and by the "Sawdust pile" at Cold spring, the head of Laurel creek which flows through Cox's Valley. The heaviest grade is but three per cent.

Representative Shaffer, of Milroy, is quoted by a friend as being enthusiastic for the Cox Valley route and a concrete pavement.

The right-of-way privilege has been secured from Mr. Thompson, who asks no concessions whatever. "It is for the public good," he says. Other land owners in that region are John Crazier, the auto dealer in Milroy, Leo Treaster, and Mr. Garry, who are also credited with being willing to grant privileges on favorable terms. On Sand Mountain the road will pass over lands of Postmaster R. M. Smith, of Centre Hall, who will also be most generous.

Upon inquiry through a friend of the writer in Lewistown, the following additional light is thrown on the subject, which confirms the statements made in these columns during the recent past:

Lewistown, Pa., Nov. 7, 1925.

To the Centre Reporter:

In conversation with Hon. F. W. Culbertson, State Senator for this district, today, he stated that the progress of building the road over the Seven Mountains had been somewhat delayed due to the fact that the State Engineers had surveyed a new route that would eliminate the heavy grades and sharp curves; in fact, the road would be built on a three per cent. grade.

There seems to have been some very strong influence, brought to bear for and against this relocation, but it appears that the objection raised by the opposing parties has been removed and has been decided to construct the road on the new route just as early as it is possible for the State Highway Department to handle same in its regular course.

I understand that his will be on the calendar for the opening of 1926 and it seems from present accounts that the building of the road will be a certainty. Should I learn of anything in the future that might be of interest to you along this line, I will convey the information—the first opportunity available.

A Dodge touring car carrying five Philadelphians to the State-Notre Dame game on Saturday, ran through the making of what is known as Red bridge, beyond Burnham park, and were thrown into the creek. The accident happened at the same bridge where a State College student lost his life.

WEATHER FORECASTERS FAKES.

"Cold Winter" Prediction Only a Guess—Climate Changes Too Gradual to Be Observed in a Hundred Generations.

Pennsylvania farmers are being warned by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation against placing faith in forecasts of an extremely cold winter ahead to be followed by an unseasonable summer in 1926. The winter may be extremely cold and the summer unseasonable, but scientists have no means of telling it at this early date. A week is the longest dip possible into the weather future.

Neither is there reason for believing that the winters in this section are no longer so cold nor the summers so hot as formerly.

Shows that lay on the ground for months on end, skating that began in November and lasted until March—snow drifts that reached almost any height one might mention, were the exceptional occurrences in grandfather's day as they are today. One mild winter starts the rumor that overcoat manufacturers had better go into the Palm Beach suit business, while an extremely cold winter is dubbed as a good old-fashioned winter. One explanation for this is that memory is tricky and recalls the exceptional rather than the average. Another is that modern living has taken the edge off the extreme weather. A snowfall that our forefathers would have trodden under foot for days now is shoveled away before we get up in the morning. Better heating, too, makes us feel the low temperature less, and ice refrigerating plants and electric fans make extremes of heat more endurable.

While the weather is constantly changing from one year to another, big climatic changes are too gradual to be observed in the lifetime of one or even a hundred generations.

Summer Chautauqua for Centre Hall

Solely through good salesmanship on the part of the representative of the Radcliffe Chautauqua, Miss Elizabeth M. Fisher, of Washington, D. C., Centre Hall will have a summer Chautauqua to be furnished by the Radcliffe company. Thirty representative citizens signed the contract, carrying the sum of $550—a flat rate for numbers to be spread out over a period of three days. The probability is that instead of using the regulation tent, Grange Arcadia will be pressed into service. This will eliminate an undesirable feature as viewed by parties interested here.

Two summer chautauquas have been held here heretofore. One of them left a good balance.

Fatal Hunting Accident.

Robert Coover, aged twenty-two years, died in the Lewistown hospital on Sunday morning from an accidental gunshot wound received while hunting in the Seven Mountains, late on Saturday. His shot gun caught between rocks and when he attempted to dislodge the gun the stock broke off, causing a discharge of the weapon.

The entire load of shot penetrated the man's right hip and groin. He suffered from the loss of much blood by the severance of large blood arteries. Dr. W. H. Kohler of Milroy rendered first aid. The young man was an employe of the State Highway Department in Harrisburg and a brother of Russell Coover, principal of the Milroy High school. At the hospital the school man gave a quart of blood in an effort to save his brother.

Hickory Nut Imbedded in Rock.

The following is reprinted from the Philadelphia Journal:

Thomas Casland has a petrified hickory nut which was imbedded in solid rock and found 18 feet under the surface by William Morgan, who is digging a well on Mrs. Verna Folk's property in the township east of town. Several of the nuts were found.

Veteran Hunters Get Licenses.

The following is reprinted from the Lewistown Gazette:

Edward Stumpf, 85 years old, of Belleville, was in town the early part of last week running around the streets with his side-kicker, Albert Nale, of Milroy, who is 81 years old. Both of these men are veterans of the Civil war, and the only survivors of Gilbert Beaver Post, G. A. R., of Belleville. Both purchased their licenses to hunt before leaving for home and both expect to be in on the big game chases in the Seven Mountains district.

Prints Elected Sheriff.

In Mifflin county William H. Prints was elected sheriff over Parks Mortiff Democrat, and Merrill A. Davis, Law Enforcement League candidate, by a plurality of 1339 votes. Davis was a poor third.

Lewistown has a Democratic mayor in the person of C. W. Wertz, who won over R. M. McCoy, Republican, by eight votes.

If the Governor wants Judge Dale to be taken care of, he will be obliged to do it himself, the voters in Centre county just wouldn't do it for him.

Harry S. Frock, Republican, was elected sheriff in Union county over Edward Prutzman, Democrat, by a plurality of 58. C. Dale Wolfe was elected prothonotary for the fourth term.

DEMOCRATIC TREND SEEN.

Success in Election Shows Pendulum Swing Back. Party Chairman Oldfield Says—Sure of Success in 1928.

Chairman Oldfield, of the Democratic National Congressional Committee, declared in a statement that the elections just passed made it clear that the pendulum had begun to swing away from the Republicans and indicated the election of a Democratic Congress in 1928 and a Democratic President in 1928.

The statement follows:

"The sweeping victory of Democratic candidates at the polls makes it more apparent than ever that the pendulum has begun to swing the other way. The election of a Democratic Congress in 1926 appears to be certain, to be followed by the election of a Democratic President in 1928.

"While the elections were not general, there were some of special importance and significance, such as New York, New Jersey, Congressional by-elections in New Jersey and Kentucky. The Democrats won in each instance except the New Jersey Congressional elections, where the Republican majority was greatly reduced.

"These results should be very heartening to Democrats throughout the country. They are not, however, surprising. They are evidence that the people cannot long be deceived and misled by the huge mass of inspired and misleading propaganda, exalting and glorifying the Coolidge Administration almost beyond human imagination, such a has been inflicted upon the country from Washington and other points for some time.

"It is also evidence that the people are now more fully realizing the outstanding and lasting service which they received from the recent eight years Democratic administration. Democrats will have as many opportunities to win in the future as in the past and they have but to engage in wholehearted teamwork in order to capitalize these opportunities."

Local Hunters After Bear.

Twenty hunters from Penna Valley are off in the Potter county mountains in pursuit of bear. Their headquarters are at Jones' Hotel, Cross Forks, from which place the hunters and their guide will make daily chases through the wilds where bear are said to be plentiful. The party is made up of the following, who have had more or less experience in hunting wild game: W. H. Homan, James E. Frohm, George W. Sharer, James Searson, W. F. Colyer, John Bohn, Ralph Homan, Ernest Homan, John H. Knarr, H. E. Shreckengast, A. P. Kraps, of Centre Hall; W. H. Breon, George W. Long, Penna Cave; Arthur B. Lee, Spring Mills; Runkle Frazier, James E. Relsh, Edward Foust, Pottery Mills; Frank Homan, Oak Hall Station.

In addition to the above are two hunters from a distance and the guide.

The S. S. Convention.

The mid-year Sunday-school convention of District No. 11, held in the Reformed church Friday afternoon and evening was pretty well attended at both sessions. The roll call at evening sessions showed there were representatives present from a number of Sunday-schools throughout the district. The entire program was carried out almost completely. Rev. Stephen Traver, of Rebersburg, being the only speaker not present when called upon.

At both sessions there was vocal music other than choir singing. In the evening the junior choir of the Reformed church sang an opening song, and Mrs. Keener and Mrs. Goodhart, a duet. Mrs. Kirkpatrick was at the pipe organ.

T. M. Zuber, the district president, filled his place creditably, as did also the secretary, Mrs. Harry W. Potter.

The place for the next meeting was set to the executive meeting.

Alexander-Gilliland.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Nannie Gilliland at Oak Hall Station, on Wednesday noon of last week, when her daughter, Miss Sarah, became the wife of Joseph Alexander, of Unionville. Miss Gilliland was for a number of years a teacher in the Centre county schools. The groom is a son of Mrs. Alice Alexander, and lives with his mother at their farm home east of Unionville. The bride and groom departed for a honeymoon trip to Chattanooga, Tenn., where they will be the guest of the groom's brother, James Alexander.

Dollings Crooks Sentenced.

William G. Benham, former president of the R. L. Dollings Company of Ohio, was sentenced to seven years in the Atlanta penitentiary and fined $4,000, and Dwight L. Harrison, former secretary, was sentenced to six years in Atlanta, in Federal court in Columbus, Ohio, on charges of using the mails to defraud in promoting stock selling of the Dollings company.

They previously had been convicted of the same charges, but the higher Court found error and granted them a new trial. Motion for a new trial was overruled preceding their sentencing, as was a motion for stay of execution. Bond was placed at $40,000 each. Defense said they would appeal.

The annual meeting of the Sunset club will be held at the club house Friday evening.

Beat Mail Order Houses.

For a year Mrs. Roy Bressler, a resident of Burnham, repeatedly and systematically forged checks of various amounts on Ansonburg and Millheim parties, but last week her identity was discovered. She is now under bail for appearance in the Mifflin county courts charged with forging and using the mails to defraud. Her method was to send orders to mail order houses and pay with the forged checks. Of course, she used assumed names, but when the last forged check appeared at the Millheim bank, the cashiers of the two banks went to Lewistown to unravel the mystery. Their visit was timely, for while in one of the Lewistown banks, a strange woman appeared at the post office and lifted a package which had been set for with one of the forged checks. The postmaster, as per prearrangement, notified the bankers of the woman's presence, and instructions were given county detective Davis to take her under arrest, which was done.

She first made denial, but on being confronted by Millheim parties, she related that she had committed the forgeries in December for a period of a year, her story was not convincing. The parties whose names were used on the checks were Foster Bower, Charles Bower, B. B. Boob and John P. Condo, of Ansonburg, and A. A. Frank, of Millheim.

The mail order houses—Sears, Roebuck & Co., Montgomery Ward & Co., and National Cloak and Suit Co.—are the losers, since the banks easily detected the forgeries in each instance.

Gave Birthday Dinner for Daughter.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Smith gave a dinner in honor of their daughter, Miss Louise Smith, whose seventeenth birthday it was. The table was beautifully decorated, one of the main decorations being a large cake with seventeen candles. Six school chums were the invited guests, namely: Miriam Moore, Catharine Goodhart, Ruth Musser, Elizabeth Bartholomew, Edith Moltz, Frances Brooks.

Auto Wreck Proves Fatal.

Harry L. Schweiger, of Wilkes-Barre, aged 28 years, died in the Lewistown hospital Monday morning from injuries received when he ditched a Chrysler sedan in the Lewistown narrows. He was accompanied by Dr. L. H. Morgan, a dentist, who was slightly injured. The men were returning from the State-Notre Dame game and instead of going to Lewisburg went to Lewistown. On going through the narrows they concluded they would return to Lewistown for the night. It was then 12:30 o'clock. On the way back to Lewistown the car was ditched.

A number of cars passed the wreck before one could be induced to stop and give aid in removing the injured man from under the car. Some cars stopped, but occupants gave various excuses for not doing more.

Local Items of Interest to Presbyterians.

Misses Helen Hammond and Anna Kurtz, teachers in the Lancaster public schools, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Hubert Haugh, Mr. and Mrs. John Haugh, of State College, were week-end visitors at the Presbyterian Manse, Centre Hall.

The Rev. John L. Robison of the First Presbyterian church of Port Royal, assisted Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick in the evangelistic services held at Pine Grove Mills last week. Mr. Robison preached four fine sermons. Rev. Fleming of the Grayville Presbyterian church, ably filled the pulpit of the same church on Friday evening.

The Presbyterians of Bonalsburg are holding their evangelistic service this week with Rev. Wm. Thompson of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church and Rev. J. L. Robison of Port Royal, preaching the sermons.

The Junior Mission Band met at the home of Mrs. Marie Kirkpatrick Saturday evening from 7 to 10 o'clock. Seventeen were present. Mary Reiser told about the Little Bronze Idol, Isabel Bradford told the story of "The Red Umbrella." Grace White gave a report of the missionary convention held in the Presbyterian church on the 30th. Betty Elchert read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. John Reerick offered the prayer. Miss Martha Boal was present and assisted in the work.

The Women's Missionary society will hold a bake sale in the Presbyterian church on the afternoon and evening of November 28th.

The Junior Missionary Band will hold a bazaar at the same time and place.

The C. E. society will also have their booth for your inspection. Your patronage is solicited.

A special program will be given in the Presbyterian church at Centre Hall on November 15th, 7:30 P. M., at which time the regular Thank-Offering will be received. The program will be of an odd character. An invitation is extended to all to attend.

The funeral services of Mrs. Georgiana Dale, of Lemont, were held at her late home on Wednesday of last week at 2:30. Her four daughters were present: Mrs. Bortoff, of State College; Mrs. Lingle, of Lemont; Mrs. Rev. Barber, of Benton, and Miss Mary, of Lemont. The services were in charge of her pastor, Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Blair, Mrs. Ambrose Schmidt, and Mr. Morton Smith brought the message in song.

NEW STATE HIGHWAYS

NOW OPEN TO TRAFFIC

Bald Eagle Valley and Snow Shoe Roads Nearly Finished—Working on Bridges.

The new State highway from Bellefonte to Tyrone, and that from Bellefonte to Snow Shoe, are now open to public traffic. The Snow Shoe highway has been completed. That in the Bald Eagle valley is finished except a few concrete bridges. Of the few remaining bridges to be completed, one, at least, will be finished before winter.

While the Bald Eagle highway is classed as open to the public, there are about five small detours, due to unfinished bridges. There are no detours on the Snow Shoe road.

The Bald Eagle valley detours consist of two at or nearby Port Matilda; one between that place and the Triangle; another at Vail, and still another at Tyrone.

The Nittany Mountain highway, a stretch of a small fraction less than two miles, is the last to be completed. The contractors are Reitz Bros., of Sunbury. The contract price is $121,658.00.

True to name, the new road over Nittany Mountain is a real "concrete pavement." Travelers say it is one of the smoothest jobs of concrete road to be found anywhere in the State. It lacks the waves and bumps characteristic of most concrete roads, including that laid up Bald Eagle Valley. The smooth finish is attributed to the careful laying of the forms and the skillful operating of the finishing machine.

As told, Centre county's new highway construction for this year comprises approximately 181,094 feet. Of this total about 44,990 feet of road was built by James & Nicholson, contractors of Johnstown, and extends from Riverville to a short distance beyond Snow Shoe. A tremendous fill, about 500 feet long and at some points 30 to 35 feet deep, was but one of numerous difficult features of the reconstruction work, the total cost of which was about $400,000. Few contractors have handled work in this section which proved so satisfactory as that done by James & Nicholson. Mr. Nicholson personally supervised the work. Much of the success achieved is attributed to his experience and ability as a contractor and his close, personal interest in endeavoring to make it one of the best roads in the State.

The Bald Eagle road from Snow Shoe intersection to Port Matilda was built by the Miller Construction Co., of Pottsville, and was opened to traffic on Saturday a week ago. It is 43,502 feet in length and cost $841,552. There are two bridges on this road under construction, but the detours are such as to accommodate the traffic.

From Port Matilda to Bald Eagle, a stretch of 42,214 feet, was constructed by the Hutchinson Construction Co., of Altoona. The cost was $419,825.90. It is completed with the exception of several bridges, and the detours are being traveled without any difficulty.

Church to Be Dedicated.

Rev. Samuel J. Mosher, of Cardington, Ohio, will preach in the Friends' church at Zerbe, on Sunday, November 15th. Three services will be held at 10 A. M., 2:30 P. M., at which service the church will be dedicated, and at 7:30 in the evening. Everyone is cordially invited. Rev. Mosher will preach in the Colyer church on Monday evening.

Hallowe'en Party.

(Received too late for last week)

A Hallowe'en party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Elmer Noll. The following were present: Grace Martz, Dorothy Fohringers, Ellen Meeker, Ruth Noll, Gladys Noll, Zella Ripka, Luella Ripka, Sarah, Phyllis, Dorothy Sweeney, Elsie Sweetwood, Dorothy Odenkirk, Lenora Foust, Ruth Runkle, Hazel Burkholder, Vesta Blausler, Ruth Martz, Gertrude Loughner, Roy Weaver, Edward Loughner, Roy Noll, John Meeker, Clarence Zeitle, Hoover Noll, George Sweeney, Henry Blausler, Paul Palmer, William McCormick, Mrs. Clara Meeker, Mrs. E. W. Loughner, Donald Loughner, Dean Noll, Grace Noll. The evening was spent in playing games and in dancing, and at a late hour refreshments were served.

Lutheran Minister Dead.

The Rev. Mark S. Cressman, D. D., aged 73 years, pastor of the St. James Lutheran church, in Lewistown, died on Wednesday night of last week after a long illness, although confined to his bed only one day.

He had been pastor there for 32 years and officiated at 800 weddings and 800 funerals. He was a trustee of the Gettysburg College, president of the Mifflin County Law and Order Society, and president of the Lewistown Standard Building and Loan Association.

Dr. Cressman was born at Barren Hill, near Philadelphia, where he was buried Monday. He served charges at Mt. Holy Springs, Muncy; Lionsville, and Lincoln, Neb., before going to Lewistown.

John Burnham, Jr., left an estate of $1,864,566 for distribution. He was a leader in civic affairs in Philadelphia and was a former official of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, of which the works at Burnham, Mifflin county, are a part. He was a descendant of the Burnhams for which Burnham borough is named.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS.

Mrs. James Foust, of Centre Hall, is in Sunbury where for a week she will visit among relatives.

A fourteen-pound wild turkey was killed by B. Gardner Grove, who has been successful in killing a bird every season for some years back.

The annual Lutheran Missionary Thank-Offering service will be held in the Union church at Tusseyville, Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

J. B. Kuntz of Huntingdon Reformed church has just made an endowment gift of $50,000 to Franklin and Marshall Theological Seminary, Lancaster, fully endowing the department of New Testament Science.

Completely outclassed, the Centre Hall High school soccer football team fell before the Spring Mills Vocational team last Friday afternoon at the latter place. The score was 5-0, which is a heavy one in the soccer game.

Charles Coldron is now operating the finishing machine in the construction of the new concrete road. He is doing splendid work and giving the surface as smooth and even a finish as that had before he manned the "finisher."

The Bucknell Freshmen football team stopped over night at Centre Hall, and Saturday went on to Penn State. They came in a Pierce Arrow bus, marked "Special." The bus is one of the prettiest and most modern to ever pass through this burg.

It's too bad that we are all being punished repeatedly because somebody is annoyed by trifling incidents that the normal man takes no account of. Instead of isolating themselves, which would be a complete remedy, we are all asked to double sole our shoes with rubber.

The village of Port Matilda has taken steps to become a borough. What a joy, what a thrill to be governed by a borough council. It's a perfect delight. And then it gives a half dozen wise men such a grand opportunity to become councilmen and show their infallibility.

Four times winner of the Edwin Erie Sparks scholarship medal for the highest grades attained by any student, Miss Anna Haddow, a State College girl in the senior class at the Pennsylvania State College, was awarded a special certificate for her unusual record.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Gardner Grove drove to Pittsburgh, on Saturday, to visit their son, Russell Grove, who is secretary of the Commercial Box Co. in that city. They were accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Grove's father, Peter Hockman, who has his home with the Groves in Centre Hall, and who on Tuesday previous celebrated his eighty-second birthday.

Mrs. Ezra S. Tressler is completing her arrangements for leaving State College Sunday, November 14, for the Pacific coast, expecting to visit en route with three sisters in Kansas City and a brother in Topeka, Kansas, until after Thanksgiving. Mrs. Tressler's present plans are for reaching Long Beach, Cal., her destination before Christmas and remaining there with another sister for a year.

Mrs. Jane Roads, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. William Sholl, in Millheim, was unfortunate in breaking the bones in her left arm near the wrist when she fell in the kitchen at the show of the late John Roads Civil War veteran. It is pretty well along in years and is subject to attacks of dizziness, and it was while she was so afflicted that the accident happened.

Some of the good Democrats in Bellefonte are philosophizing how the Democrats in a few of the districts in Penna Valley could have elected Mr. Walker Judge had they turned out on election day. If it were not to save embarrassment for some of these old Democratic war horses the Reporter might give a much nearer correct solution of the defeat suffered and it would not put the blame on the candidate.

The borough is to be posted with speed limit signs every eighth mile. Measurements for that purpose were made on Saturday by County Surveyor H. B. Shattuck, and an assistant, of State College, together with two paid local men and several councilmen, who presumably are "throwing in" their time. The first measurements were made from a point at the southern boundary of the borough, beyond the railroad station, and the second from the mountain boundary line at Biand's road. To conduct a speed trap the borough must be posted every eighth mile with a sign giving the permissible speed limit. The post must be of regulation height, which is approximately five feet, and the sign board and lettering as to size are also defined by law, as is also the position of the sign with relation to the street.

The location of the posts, which post and sign are not a desirable ornament, is up to the council. Heretofore in locating electric light poles and telephone poles members of the council have shown skill sufficient to avoid placing them to the front of their own properties. To say the least, there will be juggling worthy of attention.
