LOCAL AND PERSONAL

W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs.
Kryder Frank, Saturday evening at 7:30.

At the time the Reporter went to press, William H. Keller was very critically ill and was not expected to recover. A brief notice of an injury received through an accidental fall appears elsewhere in this issue.

Frank E. Wieland, of Linden Hall, has been in Altoona during the past two weeks or more assisting in remodeling the home of his brother-in-law, John F. Ziegler. The last improvement made was to enclose a large porch with glass.

Franklin McClellan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. McClellan, of Tusseyville, is finding the trapping of fur-bearing animals quite good this fall.
To date he has captured twenty-one skunks; also an opossum.

In the case of Mrs. T. F. Royer against her husband, one of the charges being surety of the peace, listed to have been heard at a special term of court on Tuesday, the attorney for Mrs. Royer had not recovered papers lost prior to a previous hearing, necessitating a second postponement of the case.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Williams and daughter Marion were accompanied by Mrs. Clyde E. Bradford on an auto trip to Pittsburgh on Saturday. Coraopolis was one of the places visited by the Williams family, while Mrs.
Bradford was a guest of her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Bauer, at Edgewood, also in the Pittsburgh district. On their return home Sunday evening they were accompanied by Hon. Garnet and Mrs. Speer, of Coraopolis. Mr.
Speer is one of the members of the Stow Rock hunting club, who last year built one of, if not the, finest hunting lodges in the Seven Mountains.
The location is the Krise farm, west of Sunset club house.

DEATHS.

GEPHART.—Mrs. Emma Gephart, widow of Jacob Gephart, died at her home at Rebersburg, Thursday morning of last week, following an illness of six weeks, aged over seventy years.
Her maiden name was Emma Kreamer.
Her first husband was Ammon Wolfe, by whom she had one daughter, Mrs.
Nevin Moyer, of Rebersburg, with whom she had made her home for a number of years. Her second husband was Harvey Miller, and her third, Jacob Gephart, all of whom preceded her to the grave. She was a member of the Reformed church all her life.
Burial was made in Rebersburg cemetry on Saturday.

The deceased was a daughter of Daniel and Susanna Kreamer, and was born in Rebersburg, in January, 1853, making her age almost seventy-three years. Besides the daughter named above, there survive the deceased a granddaughter, Mrs. Roy Masteller, of Bloomsburg, and John Nevin Masteller, a great-grandson; also, two sisters, Mrs. Amanda Luckenbach, Tyrone, and Mrs. Eliza J.
Meyer, Centre Hall.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. A. McClellan, of the Reformed church, assisted by Rev. Stephen Traver, of the Lutheran church.

WION.—After an illness of but a few days Lungur Wion died at his home in Bellefonte, Saturday afternoon. Interment was made Tuesday, the pastor of the Bellefonte Lutheran church, of which the deceased was a member, officiating. The services at the grave were conducted by members of the Elks club, of which organization he was a member. Members of that order and that of the Knights of the Golden Eagles also acted as pall bearers.

Mr. Wion was a son of the late Peter Wion and was born in Spring township, in the vicinity of Pleasant Gap, and was aged 65 years. His wife who survives him before marriage was Miss Florence Miller. Four daughters also survive the deceased, namely:
Mrs. Ward Showers, Pleasant Gap; Misses Catharine, Martha and Edna, at home. The surviving sisters and brothers are George Wion, McKeesport; Mrs. Emma Labe, Altoona; Mrs. Annie Derr, Harrisburg; Mrs. Mary Mc-Culley, Mrs. William Gehret, Bellefonte; Mrs. Kate Brunner, Harrisburg.

Mr. Wion had long been employed by the Atlantic Reeking Company, but less than two months ago was retired.
Since then he had been working on State roads.

TAYLOR.—R. B. Taylor, contractor and road builder, died suddenly at his home in Bellefonte about midnight Tuesday. Infestation is given as the cause of death. Only a few weeks ago he was a patient in the Centre County hospital, suffering with pneumonia.
Deceased was aged about sixty years.
His wife passed away two years ago, but a number of children survive, as do also the following brothers and sister: Hugh S. Taylor, E. R. Taylor, Sheriff of Centre county, both of Bellefonte; James Taylor, of Carnegie; and Mrs. William Zerby, Bellefonte.

No funeral arrangements had been made when this notice was written, Wednesday morning.

FOUST.—A message was received by Mrs. Rebecca Foust, at Centre Hill, announcing the death of her son, John L. Foust, at Burlington, Kane county, Illinois, and that interment would take place to-morrow (Thursday) at Elwood, nearby. No further particulars of the death were given.

Mr. Foust was the son of Howard Foust, now deceased, and Rebecca Foust, and was aged about forty years.
He went west sixteen years ago and engaged in farming. There survives the deceased his wife, who before marriage was Miss Nina Zerby, daughter of the late Aaron Zerby, of Gregg township, but no children. Also his mother named above and the following sisters and brother: Mrs. Harry Cummings, Centre Hall; Mrs. James Reed-years. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Confer, of Penn township.

Surviving her are her husband, her parents, two brothers, one sister, and four children—two boys and two girls —the eldest of whom is 12 years and the youngest an infant of three months.

Funeral services were held Friday morning in the Coburn Evangelical church, her pastor, Rev. H. C. Kieffer, officiating. Interment was made in Paradise cemetery.

SAYS MISSOURI, NOT MISSISSIPPI, RIVER IS
"FATHER OF WATERS."

Dr. Alfred Bierly Produces Official Data Proving the Missouri River Is Entitled to Distinction Held by Mississippi.

[Written for The Centre Reporter by Alfred Bierly, Doctor of Music, Philadelphia, Pa.]

Recently in one of the leading Philadelphia daily newspapers an article appeared relating to larger rivers on the globe. In it that author made mention of certain rivers as matching that condition and declaring the Mississippi River to be the "Father of Waters."

The same error has been exploited repeatedly for a century and over.
Following is the true state of affairs as ascertained by actual discovery.

The earliest settlers of North America, very seldom ventured across the Mississippi River, hence never discovered what really existed beyond merely presuming that, being very potential in appearance, it must therefore be the "Father of Rivers," and accordingly so named it.

Great Events in Our National History

When, in the year 1803 the great, far sighted Thomas Jefferson, then President of our young Republic, decided to obtain first-hand knowledge regarding the kind of geographical and territorial conditions that existed beyond the Mississippi River, westward to the Rocky Mountains, and, as to what might be the real possibilities towards beneficial developments throughout the vast domain then known as the "Louisiana Territory," he had purchased from the French Emperor, Napoleon Bonaparte, a very Empire stretching from the Gulf of Mexico to British America, and westward to the Rocky Mountains, now comprising fourteen great states, for which the nation paid fifteen million dollars ($15,000,000), very wisely Mr.
Jefferson resolved to ascertain what he actually had achieved for his country.

Being convinced of the potency of his plans, he selected two of his most trusted aids and co-workers, Colonel Lewis and Colonel Clark, and sent them on an exploring journey. These soldiers were supplied with necessary armament and about one hundred able, trustworthy men. Fitting out the expedition, President Jefferson sent it forth for the acquirement of knowledge and conquest over the Redmen to be encountered and subdued.
The adventure proved a triumphant achievement and success. One of the other features of the expedition was to discover the headwaters of the great Missouri River, which fact was fully attained. The expeditionary force encountered numerous fierce clashes with the Indians but never suffered defeat.

The Redmen, up to that period, seemed not to have come in contact with the "Indian pony," offspring of the magnificent horses brought to America when the Spanish "cavaliers" came over to exploit the new world in search of gold and perpetual youth, neither object they even partially realized, for they perished from hunger and disease, while the horses survived the hardships and became the projectors of what is now known as the "Indian pony."

Wonderful Achievements.

Up and onward traveled the Jefferson warriors, mostly over the great rivers, the Ohio and Missouri, and through or along the great states of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, and westward through Montana, reaching after many battles and hardships, the headwaters of the great Missouri River near the furthestmost section of Montana.

The journey occupied the greater part of two years, but the wonderful success won amply justified the adventure and expense entailed. The fourteen great states acquired through that enterprise, at the minimum estimate, are now rated to be worth fifty billion dollars ($50,000,000,000).

The Jefferson army of discovery eventually reached what is now known as the "Jefferson River," discovering also two other rivers, approximately 398 miles in length, all located in Montana. Those three streams are the real headwaters of the great Missouri, coursing from western Montana to the Gulf of Mexico, a distance officially computed to be four thousand, six hundred and sixty-six miles (4666), which fully establishes the fact that the Missouri River is entitled to the distinction of being designated the "Father of Rivers," not alone of America, but also of the whole world, since its length being greater than that of the Mississippi River by several thousand miles.

The head of the Mississippi River is located six miles beyond lake Itasca, which is situated near the head of Lake Superior, hence it is only a BRANCH of the greater Missouri River. It loses its identity some miles above St. Louis where it joins the Missouri.

Length of the Missouri River—4666 miles.
Length of the Mississippi River—1,

260 miles.
Length of the Nile River—4,090
miles.

United States Department of Geological Survey, Washington, D. C., U. S.
