"But constipation is serious, Grace"

"Not so long ago I was like you—headaches a good deal of the time, sleeping badly, and the least bit of house-work tired me out. My complexion too, was bad."

"Finally, I went to see Dr. Farman. He showed me that it was constipation that was back of my troubles. He said that it was a very serious thing because poisons from clogged waste matter were picked up by the blood and carried to every body organ. And if I didn't correct it in time I might become a victim of one of those terrible organic diseases."

"He made me drop laxatives altogether, changed my diet, and put me on Nujol. I don't think I've ever felt better. I sleep well, my headaches have disappeared, and you can see for yourself what an improvement there is in my skin. Nujol has done wonders for me."

Nujol Works Like Nature
Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It is neither a food nor a medicine. It does not gripe. It is gentle and natural in its action and is prescribed by leading medical authorities.

Nujol simply makes up for a deficiency—temporary or chronic—in the supply of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular elimination without overtaxing the intestinal muscles.

Nujol can be taken for any length of time without ill effects. To insure internal cleanliness, it should be taken regularly, in accordance with the directions on each bottle. As Nujol is not a laxative, it does not form a habit and can be discontinued at any time.

Ask your druggist for Nujol today and begin the perfect health that is possible only when intestinal elimination is normal and regular.

Feeding Pullets to Secure Eggs
Problem Is to Keep Them Properly Developing and Milk Will Help.

Pullets should receive their share of attention in order to become profitable winter layers.

The problem of feeding birds of this sort is to keep them properly developing. If plenty of skim milk or buttermilk is available, either of these will supply most of the animal protein needed, but if they are not available then some of the commercial buttermilk feeds or meat scraps or tankage must be included in the mash.

Scratch Feed Mixture.
A scratch feed consisting of two parts cracked corn, one part wheat and one part heavy oats is suitable for the major portion of the ration for pullets until they are at least four-fifths grown. If skim milk or buttermilk is available so that the pullets can have all they will drink, a simple mash of equal parts of bran, middlings and cornmeal may be fed. If skim milk or buttermilk is not available, provide from 5 to 10 per cent meat scraps or tankage in the mash.

As the pullets reach full maturity supply more protein to induce them to begin laying. This can be accomplished by increasing the animal food in the mash up to 15 or 20 per cent and encouraging the pullets to eat more of the mash and less of the scratch grains. If necessary, one feed a day of moistened mash may be fed. This should be mixed so that it is crumbly. Moistened mash is usually fed at noon.

Separate Pullets.
In order to feed the pullets this way they must be separated from other birds. If it is not practical to separate the pullets from the rest of the flock be sure to cull the whole flock rigidly. All male birds should be sold, or separated from the hens and pullets. This will leave room for the pullets with the hens. If the pullets run with the hens it is essential that all be fed liberally.

Purposes of Plowing to Improve Soil Condition
One may well ask: What are the purposes of plowing?
One purpose is to turn under organic matter lying on or growing in the soil; another is to pulverize the soil, so as to make it a better seed bed; another is to cover weed seeds and insects. In order to destroy them; and still another reason for plowing is to enable the soil better to take in the rain that falls upon it and better to check the runoff.

One reason for deep plowing or subsoiling is given as providing a loosened soil in which the roots of plants may better grow, the assumption being, seemingly, that the roots of plants use only that portion of the soil that is broken up by the plow.

There is no good reason for believing that crop plants differ in their root habits much from wild plants, which grow luxuriantly on soil that has never been plowed within the memory of man or the race.

Fruits and Vegetables Best Food for All Ages
Fruits and vegetables should furnish more than half the daily food. They contain the most valuable elements for health and strength. They are the best sources of vitamins. As a food for the young, the old and those of all ages, apples and other fruits take first rank. The only way to have them good, fresh and appetizing is to grow them. Every farmer is interested in a home vegetable garden. Why not a home orchard? It is just as important as the home garden and should have a place upon every farm. No equal area on the farm will yield as profitable returns. The farmer who learns how to care for the home orchard is also likely to be a better live stock and grain grower because of his orchard experience.

Grease Very Necessary for Plows and Shovels
The time to grease the plow and the cultivator shovels is just after they have been used the last time, but the time to put them up is before the alternate freezing and thawing weather comes along. This is what checks the paint and puts the rust right in on the ground floor. Decay in the wood parts generally starts where the bolts are put through.

Every winter a lot of binders and the like make bouquets for the fence corners, but generally it is a matter of not taking time to get them under cover rather than a matter of not having shelter for them.

Put them up and remove the share that must be pounded out or replaced and the parts that need repairing.

A Rust-Proof Wheat
A rust-proof wheat is claimed by Samuel Larcombe of Birtle, Man., as a result of years of selection and hybridizing. Mr. Larcombe is well known as a seed grower who has won many prizes for his farm at different shows. The new wheat has been named Axminster, and while not claimed to be an absolutely rust resistant, it shows almost perfect freedom. It yields 30 per cent more than Marquis, and is said to be equal in milling value to Red Fife and Marquis.

Individual Drinking Cup Is Profitable
Milk Flow Decreased by Lack of Water in Winter.

Many progressive dairymen have found from experience that the installation of individual drinking cups is a profitable investment for cutting labor and feed costs.

"It has been found," says E. A. Gaunt, assistant state dairy specialist in New Jersey, "that a 10 per cent increase in milk flow can be made by the addition of this equipment. A herd of 25 cows producing 400 quarts of milk under the old system would be expected to produce 440 quarts, or an extra can of milk, with the drinking cups."

"A Holstein cow producing 100 pounds of milk a day needs about 300 pounds of water. If turned out on a cold winter day, she will not drink enough ice-water to produce that amount of milk even if watered twice a day. Then, too, much of the feed she consumes is wasted in warming up her body again. With an individual automatic drinking cup installed in the barn she may drink little and often, and the water will not be ice cold. Hence, much heat energy is saved, which means a saving of feed. Furthermore, weather conditions do not affect her as acutely when it is no longer necessary to turn her out in a cold driving storm to get water.

"Drinking cups cut labor by saving labor. They make it unnecessary to turn the cows out and perhaps even drive them down to the pasture for water. It seems like poor economy to reduce the milk flow by failing to supply the dairy with plenty of pure water, which, with the exception of fresh air, is the only free ingredient essential for milk production."

Feeding Timothy Hay to Dairy Calves and Cows
Many breeders raise the question: "What kind of hay shall I feed calves?"
"This depends on several things," says C. B. Bender, assistant dairy husbandman at the New Jersey College of Agriculture, New Brunswick. Are you feeding the calves Guernsey or Jersey milk with grain? If so, clover or alfalfa hay would be likely to cause scours. In this case timothy or timothy and clover hay may be fed to good advantage. If skim milk and grain low in protein is being fed, either alfalfa or clover hay is satisfactory.

The value of timothy hay is often greatly overestimated as a feed for cattle. As a general rule it is unpalatable unless cut early. The most serious objection to it is its low protein content, which makes necessary the feeding of expensive concentrates.

It is sound economy to feed the high protein hays and balance the rest of the feed to suit the hay, except where only Guernsey or Jersey whole milk is available for calves.

Barley Contains Large Percentage of Protein
Barley is a grain that contains a somewhat higher percentage of protein than corn, and, for that reason when the two grains have the same market value per pound, should be a more economical feed for hogs than corn. On the other hand, the large percentage of hull attached to the kernel gives barley a high percentage of crude fiber, which is one of its disadvantages for hog-feeding purposes. There is practically no food value in the hull and the stomach of the hog is not well adapted for handling roughage. It is generally considered that, pound for pound, barley has about 95 per cent of the food value of No. 2 corn when fed to hogs in connection with a high-protein supplement like tankage. A five-year investigation at the North Dakota experimental station shows barley up in a somewhat more favorable light.

Control Chinch Bugs
Fall is the time when the chinch bug can be most successfully controlled. Whenever the bugs have caused injury during the preceding season, 98 per cent of them will be found in the fall hibernating in the clump-forming grasses, such as bunch grass and bluestem, in meadows, pastures, ravines, waste places, and along roadsides. Co-operative experiments with farmers in many localities have shown that where these bug-infested areas have been systematically burned, the chinch-bug problem has been solved for the ensuing year.

FARM FACTS

Horse radish should be harvested just before winter.

The winter courses at the state college of agriculture are tuition-free to residents of New York state.

It is not at all necessary to confine the hogs on the corn by means of hog-tight fences. Just give them a taste of corn and you will have no trouble with them breaking into other grain fields.

The first time a man sells a little misrepresented produce, he sells all of his reputation and has none left thereafter. A record of reliability requires no safe deposit box and pays interest without the necessity of clipping coupons.

Light and Shadow in Actors' Lives
Charlie Chaplin hurried into his luxurious suite at the Ritz-Carlton in New York, and an actor said:
"Charlie's a good actor, and he deserves his millions. But what a different fate good actors had in the old days!"
"Stephen Kemble was a good actor—as good as Charlie, maybe. Well, one day Stephen met a friend, and the friend, a tragedian, complained that he hadn't had a square meal for three days."
"Come with me," said Kemble. "I'll take you to a place where you can eat your fill and it won't cost you a penny."
"The hungry tragedian laughed for joy, and Kemble led him to an enormous turnip field on the outskirts of the city."
"There," he said, "Go to it!"
"It was October, a cold October twilight, and the turnip field looked very dismal and uninviting."
"This is a cruel joke," said the tragedian bitterly. "You've played a cruel joke on me, Kemble."
"Joke nothing," Kemble answered, as he pulled up a turnip. "I've dined here myself all the week!"

Complete Outfit
"Some day," says the editor of the Erie Record feelingly, "a smart man will wake up and make a suit that consists of two coats, one vest and three pairs of trousers." . . . There's only one smarter thing he can do, omit the vest. However, if his smartness rises to the point of genius he will throw in three pairs of shoes with the suit.—Capper's Weekly.
